NRL ROUND 12 WRAP

BULLDOGS UNLEASH ON THE DRAGONS

ANDY P

The first game of the Indigenous Round has been a night out for the Bulldogs as they found their legs for a destructive second half over the Dragons, victorious 44-12 at Accor Stadium tonight.

The first half saw a fairly even contest, with some strong performances from Jack De Belin and Jacob Liddle. Off the back of some penalties against the Dogs and errors with ball control, Jack De Belin's barnstorming run set up Moses Suli to go over the line.

Instead of backing down, this got the Bulldogs fired up. After an error and a six-again, Toby Sexton chipped a nice ball through after seeing Tyrell Sloan out of place, a big mobile Matt Burton going over with millimetres to spare on the dead ball line.

Another run of errors around the 30-minute mark by the Bulldogs gave the Dragons too much ball, and Jacob Liddle was rewarded for his hard work in the middle when he rushed through broken defence at the 32-minute mark. The end of the opening half was marred by a nasty ankle injury to Jack Bird, rolling it trying to tackle. He was driven off on the stretcher after play had been stopped for some time.

Although fairly even at halftime across the board, it was the missed tackle count of the Bulldogs that would have been a worry for coach Cameron Ciraldo. At fifteen to three it was lopsided and something Dragons coach Shane Flanagan would have been ready to take advantage of, if it wasn't for the turnaround to come. Ultimately, St George Illawarra held a 12-6 advantage with the two sides in the sheds.

Ciraldo released the hounds and created havoc in the second half, with his players going over within the first five minutes after the resumption. A relentless out-of-the-gate approach pinned the Dragons early with a line dropout. A quick through-the-hands move finished off with Jaeman Salmon landing a four-pointer. The Dragons' fire seemed to be fizzing out, and after a penalty for taking a tackle too far, Jaeman Salmon ran over for his second try in the 53rd minute. The Dogs were in a fever, the Dragons made more errors, and after a scrum at the Dragons' 20m from a Zac Lomax knock-on, Jacob Kiraz went over for a try at minute 57.

Stephen Crichton had seen some opportunities open up without Jack Bird on the defensive line and was keen to exploit it and kept calling the attack his way. Only a few minutes later, Jack De Belin knocked on in the Dragons' quarter, and the Bulldogs made them pay with Jacob Preston falling over soft Red V defence.

It was shaping up to be quite the turnaround by the Dogs, and everything was going their way. After some broken play and a Bronson Xerri break down the Bulldogs' left side, Zac Lomax found himself 10 minutes in the bin for a professional foul in holding back a player following some analysis by the bunker. Oddly, down to 12 men, the Bulldogs showed some brief mercy and only took the two points slotted by Burton at the 62nd minute.

The Bulldogs were running downhill, and with some fresh legs in the form of Jake Turpin on the ground, they continued to maul the Dragons through the middle. Front rower Max King demanded respect and attention, having a solid session. As were Josh Curran, and Viliame Kikau.

The 70th minute saw some slick work with an early kick in the set from Connor Tracy being taken up by a speedy Stephen Crichton.

Accor Stadium, Sydney Olympic Park / Wanngal

A tired and frazzled Dragons side was limping through the game's back-end while the Dogs were in a feeding frenzy. Not content, the hosts kept the pressure up, and Jacob Kiraz finished off the evening by flying through the air in the south-west corner of the stadium, landing his second try and a dominating performance from his side. The Bulldogs eventually put on 34 unanswered points in the second half to completely outclass the St George club.

With a final score of 44-12, it was a demolition by the Canterbury team; and a bad night out for the Dragons, who will be counting the cost after losing Jack Bird and Hame Sale to injury. Their best effort came through Jack de Belin and Jacob Liddle in the first half, but it all fell apart in the second. The Bulldogs turned around all the stats from the first half with a dominating performance across the board. The resulting high completion rate and momentum it created was an impressive turnaround.

Canterbury stepped up as a team, with big performances from the forward pack and players like Curran, King and Kikau. Kiraz ran over 220 meters and got a double for his trouble, while Burton had a performance that left the NSW selectors salivating.

COWBOYS STARS PRESS ORIGIN CHANCES IN HIGH-SCORING WIN

TIM COSTELLO

A 42-28 win for the Cowboys over Wests Tigers has said more about Origin selection than either side's chances of surging up the NRL table at QLD Country Bank Stadium tonight.

North Queensland shot out of the blocks in front of a near 16,000-strong home crowd, Kyle Feldt was first on the board six minutes, taking advantage of numbers out to the right wing.

Three minutes later Jeremiah Nanai went in and the signs were becoming ominous. It only grew more concerning when Val Holmes popped over a penalty goal at the 13th minute, and not long after Feldt had a double and before the 20 minute mark, the hosts led 20-0.

Once the visitors got some possession, the tide turned. At 26 minutes Solomon Alaimalo got his side on the board and just minutes later Jahream Bula had the Tigers within ten points after snatching a bomb contest from Scott Drinkwater.

The Cowboys looked like they might stumble further before the change of ends when Valentine Holmes was sin binned for a hip drop at 37 minutes, but the hosts were able to hold on to the ten-point lead headed into the halftime break. All eyes will be on the match review committee's findings on Saturday morning as to whether Holmes will be eligible to play in the first State of Origin clash for the Maroons.

With Holmes still off the field, the Tigers did take advantage just after the resumption of play when Samuela Fainu chased through a Lachlan Galvin kick and crashed over and the margin narrowed right down to just 4 points.

That, however, would be as close as the Tigers would get. With Holmes back on, the Cowboys crossed for two quick tries at the 54th and 57th minutes, Sam McIntyre flying through and Val Holmes getting one himself. 20-16 quickly became 32-16.

The game was iced for the Cowboys six minutes from time when Nanai secured his second off a great setup from Chad Townsend.

Down 38-20, the Tigers did push for two late tries through Stefano Utoikamanu and Alex Twal, but the Cowboys had the last laugh with Holmes securing his double on the siren, the final score ending 42-28.

EAGLES ROCK THE STORM IN THE BATTLE OF BROOKVALE

SAM BOURKE

Manly have held off a fast-finishing Melbourne Storm to come away with a valuable and well deserved 26-20 win at Brookvale Oval tonight.

Queensland halfback and Sea Eagles skipper Daly Cherry-Evans was instrumental in the win, having a hand in several tries, in what was a terrific battle in game management with Storm half Jahrome Hughes.

With key attacking weapons Tom Trbojevic and Toutau Koula watching from the stands and off the back of three straight losses, many had written the Sea Eagles off against the high-flying Storm. However it was their young guns in Tommy Talau, who scored two tries and debutant Lehi Hopoate who lifted for the home side to help secure arguably their best win of the season.

It was billed as a big occasion on the peninsula for their clash with their bitter rivals and Manly managed to get on the scoreboard first, thanks to an early penalty goal from Reuben Garrick.

The home side then extended their lead when Luke Brooks put Ben Trbojevic through an enormous hole off a scrum play, where Trbojevic the third wrestled his way over the line to score the first try of the night. Garrick nailed the sideline conversion to give his side a confidence boosting 8-0 lead.

Tommy Talau made it back-to-back tries for the Sea Eagles after the former Tiger collected a nice pass from rookie fullback Lehi Hopoate to slide over in the corner and it was all the Sea Eagles at 12-0 with haltime looming.

In typical Melbourne fashion the Storm hung in, and it was Eliesa Katoa who dived on a deft grubber at the line from Jahrome Hughes to score a crucial try just before haltime and reduce the score to 12-6.

Manly regained the momentum in the second half when NSW forward Jake Trbojevic crashed over next to the posts following a superb short ball from the skipper Daly Cherry-Evans. Garrick converted and it was 18-6 to the home side.

Melbourne again hit back through Nick Meaney who scored next to the posts after collecting a neat pass from Sualauvi Faalogo to narrow the margin to a converted try following Meaney's conversion.

The Storm continued to apply pressure to the home side, when Harry Grant made a bust and Manly were penalised for being offside in marker defence from the ensuing play. Meaney took the gift two points to narrow the scoreline to 18-14 with a quarter of the match remaining.

Manly then nudged themselves ahead on the scoreboard when Talau picked up his second try after Cherry-Evans created an overlap on the left-hand side. Garrick converted and the home side led by 10 with as many on the clock.

Luke Brooks then looked to have got Manly the win, however replays showed he lost the ball over the line. Melbourne was penalised for a high tackle in the lead up however, and Garrick extended the margin to 12 points through a penalty goal.

Melbourne refused to go away as the halves in Wishart and Hughes combined to put their halfback over late in the match putting them behind by a converted try.

The Storm had the wind in their sails and they kept coming for the Eagles late, but Manly scrambled and scrapped their way to a morale boosting 26-20 win in front of their ecstatic home fans.

ROOSTERS RUN RAMPANT AGAINST RAIDERS

JUSTIN DAVIES

Sydney Roosters bounced back with a 44-16 win over Canberra Raiders at Canberra Stadium on Saturday afternoon.

The Roosters backline were in fine fettle in their 28-point win against a lowly Raiders side. James Tedesco continued his sparkling form with a pair of tries in the one-sided contest to kick off Super Saturday.

Roosters struck first in the contest in front of a big crowd in the capital. It was a superb line run by Victor Radley who sliced through some soft defence and Sam Walker converted for 6-0.

Next, it was the link up from the Roosters halves. Walker stabbed through a kick which Luke Keary looked to put down. It went to a bunker review and judged that Morgan Smithies impeded the five-eighth and was ruled a penalty try.

Raiders absorbed the early body blows and threw their first punch of the game. It was a high kick that Elliot Whitehead tapped back right to Nick Cotric who went over for 12-6.

The visitors started to get into their rhythm and made it 18-6 before the break. Joey Manu was a nuisance with some strong carries and the centre finished off a backline, fending off a defender.

Coming out of the break, James Tedesco felt just fine. The representative fullback showed off evasive skills to brush off the Raiders defence and slammed it down for a 24-6 Roosters lead.

The Raiders got themselves back in the contest again through their toy scorer. Hudson Young kept his legs pumping and went over for his seventh try of the season to get them back within 14.

Roosters kept them at arms length again with another four-pointer. It was set up from a Tedesco run then they kept it alive before Manu drew in his defender and went over for his second try.

The tri colours were in an attacking mood and kept the scoreboard ticking over. It was shape to the left this time which finished with Joseph Suaalii got himself on the try scorers list.

They added another long range effort from a Raiders error. Manu and Dom Young exchanged passes to get them upfield then it was a simple pass combination for Angus Crichton to score.

There was some late consolation for the Raiders. Young half Kaeo Weekes went through the line and sliced through to make it 38-16 after Rapana's quick conversion.

The Roosters finished the game off with one final party piece. Radley went through again, linked with Keary before they found a trailing Tedesco to get his second four-pointer.

LUAI MAKES A STATEMENT AS PREMIERS PULVERISE CONTENDERS

ROB CROSBY

Jarome Luai exhausted all superlatives with a rarified performance as the Penrith Panthers asserted their premiership credentials with a 42-0 victory over the Cronulla Sharks.

Having a hand in multiple tries and suffocating the competition leaders with his kicking game, Luai sent a timely reminder to NSW coach Michael Maguire ahead of the opening State of Origin fixture, while Nicho Hynes will be racing to prove his fitness after passing a HIA but sitting out the second half with calf tightness.

The reigning premiers were ruthless in recording their first victory at PointsBet Stadium since 2012 while extending their record against the Sharks to seven wins from nine matches during Ivan Cleary's second stint at the club.

Setting a dominant tone from the outset with James Fisher-Harris (4th minute) capitalising on an error forced by Luai's kicking game, the Panthers established a double-digit lead ahead of the clock with Luai (8th minute) taking on the line to leave the hosts stunned.

The Panthers continued to heap pressure on their shellshocked opponents, forcing Hynes to kick out on the full multiple times and exposing the presumptive NSW halfback in defence off a scrum which allowed Paul Alamoti (26th minute) to cross from close range.

The Sharks were powerless to prevent further tries when Hynes was ruled out of the match as Dylan Edwards (32nd minute) and Jack Cole (39th minute) crossed to send the Panthers to the sheds leading 28-0 at the end of a near flawless opening half.

Maintaining the one-way flow of points with Liam Henry (47th minute) pouncing on a kick from Mitch Kenny to collect his first NRL try, the Panthers relentlessly forced repeat sets until a chip kick from Cole allowed Scott Sorenson (65th minute) to score against his former club.

The final stages of the match saw Edwards slot a penalty goal as Izack Tago and Moses Leota were both placed on report.

The Sharks had one final attacking chance after Leota was sent to the sin bin with seconds remaining, however the Panthers remained resolute in defence to run out 42-0 victors.

Next week, the Sharks will face the Eels at CommBank Stadium on Thursday night, while the Panthers will host the Dragons on Saturday evening at BlueBet Stadium.

RABBITOHS FIND RARE FORM IN BIG WIN OVER PARRAMATTA

JOSH ROBERTSON

Sin bin controversy as reared its ugly head again as the contrasting decisions left fans confused during Souths 42-26 win over Parramatta at Accor Stadium on Wanngal land.

It was a fast start for the Rabbitohs when Jai Arrow looked to go close and at first referee Chris Butler wanted him to play the ball before sending it to the bunker. It was a good thing that he did because replays showed the point of the ball hitting the line and Souths went 6-0 up after Latrell converted.

Things continued to look good for Souths as they added two more tries before the 20-minute mark as Keaon Kolomatangi charged over under the posts and then Dion Teaua slid through some very fragile defence and after both were converted the home side had a 18-0 lead.

Souths extended their lead to 22-0 after 26 minutes when Parramatta turned the ball over again and Alex Johnston picked up another try.

Things began to turn suddenly as the Blue and Gold put two tries on the board in the space of two minutes when Blaize Talagi and Sean Russell were able to go over and Parramatta closed the gap to 22-12.

A big talking point came inside the final 90 seconds when Latrell Mitchell was sent to the sin bin by referee Chris Butler for a hip drop tackle.

The Eels took advantage of the extra man early in the second half when they closed the gap to 22-16 after a cross-field kick was knocked backwards for the Eels by Bryce Cartwright and the Blue and Gold spread the ball right and Morgan Harper scored. The conversion was waved away.

Controversy reigned again around hip drop tackles and dangerous leg tackles as Joe Ofahengaue was penalised and everybody expected him to go to the sin bin but the issue was just put on report.

Souths took advantage though as Sean Keppie scored after chasing through a kick and getting to the ball first. Latrell Mitchell converted from close range to give Souths a 30-16 lead.

The ball went back and forth but it was some repeat possession for the Eels that got them back on the board and gave them a fighting chance as Maika Sivo went over in the corner.

The comeback hopes were short lived as the boot of Latrell set up the next two tries for Souths with Damien Cook chasing through and grounding a grubber kick. Soon after, a floating bomb was spilt by Eels fullback Blaize Talagi and it was Keaon Kolomatangi who got there first to score.

42 - 26

A consolation try came inside the final sixty seconds for Parramatta when Maika Sivo went over to score but a comeback hope was gone.

Luckily for Souths, a bye next week means Jack Wighton should be right for their clash against the Titans in a fortnight BUT they will have a nervous wait overnight to see what charge if any is handed against Latrell Mitchell. Parramatta don't have the luxury of the bye as they have a clash with the Cowboys next week.

NRL ROUND 12 WRAP

TITANS WIN THRILLER OVER BRONCOS

JUSTIN DAVIES

Gold Coast Titans dug deep to win 36-34 against Brisbane Broncos at Lang Park on Sunday afternoon.

It was a showcase in the sunshine in Brisbane on Sunday. The battle between the two fullbacks Keano Kini and Reece Walsh headlined the contest but the main takeaway was a gritty win for the Gold Coast Titans.

Broncos showed their hand early in the game with some long breaks. Reece Walsh was in scintillating form headed into the Origin period and looked dangerous every time he touched the ball.

The hosts were the first on the scoresheet with their fast start. It was a simple short pass to Payne Haas at the line which saw the prop plunge over followed by Madden converting for 6-0.

The Titans first four-pointer was the stuff of dreams for Tony Francis. The winger was on the end of a backline move and touched down in the corner before he was subbed off due to an arm injury.

Broncos were enjoying a rare day time game and it showed in their football. They broke down the wing again through Josiah Karapani then he turned it inside for Corey Oates for the four-pointer.

Next, it was an all effort try from the Broncos. Selwyn Cobbo rose highest to catch then ball, offloaded to Ezra Mam who kicked for Deine Mariner but the winger was taken out in the contest. Bunker then determined it would be a penalty try.

Titans continued to show fight though. Backrower turned centre Beau Fermor just did it all himself to bring it back to 18-12. He scooped it up from dummy-half, threw a dummy and went over.

Walsh continued his stellar half with another try assist. He took the ball to the line then sent the short pass to Brendan Piakura who strolled over to take it back out to a 12 point lead.

The visitors struck again on the stroke of half-time. They kept the ball alive on the right before it was swung inside for Erin Clark. The interchange forward just kept pumping his legs until he put it down.

The Titans further reduced the deficit after the break. It was a move on the left side which saw David Fifita do some ball playing before Chris Randall sliced through for 24-22.

In true Titans fashion though, they handed Broncos a four-pointer. Tom Weaver kicked it straight to Ezra Mam who won the foot race against the Titans chasers to stretch it past a converted try.

The game continued to be a see-saw affair. Titans scored back-to-back tries through

34 - 36
Suncorp Stadium, Milton / Yuggera-Turrbal

Keenan Palasia against his old club then Brian Kelly finished off a backline move for 32-30.

Titans were in full flow and went ahead by six points. The high kick created the contest, Mariner spilled it and it was sent out to Alofiana Khan-Pereira who produced a fabulous finish.

There was a final twist left in the game with the Broncos getting back within two. Walsh was the architect again with a delightful short pass for Selwyn Cobbo to go over. Jock Madden missed the conversion.

That set up a frantic final few minutes. The Broncos tried to pull off the comeback but they were held at bay by a gutsy Titans outfit who win their third game of the season.

WARRIORS HAVE BACK-TO-BACK WINS FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE ROUND 5

BETH NICHOLLS

Despite being in the trenches and missing ten of their regular starting 17 players, the Warriors claim victory over the Dolphins.

The Dolphins started out with a bang, with Jamayne Isaako contorts his body and goes over in the corner off the back of a Warriors error.

The two sides then play some back and forth footy, with Isaiya Katoa kicking his career first 40-20 which was subsequently also the first 40-20 for the Dolphins side.

Another Warriors error causes the Dolphins to score another try, with Herbie Farnworth to score his second try of the season with the Dolphins.

Finally, the Warriors get their first points of the game when the Dolphins apparently forget that they should be contesting for the ball and not blankly staring at each other... Chanel Harris-Tavita easily goes over for the Wahs' first try.

This is quickly followed up by a Dolphins try, with Farnworth combining (and remembering to pass) with Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow for a long range try.

The two teams continue to go tit for tat, with the Warriors then crossing the line again, with Te Maire Martin going over for his own four pointer right under the sticks.

A controversial call was then made on the stroke of halftime, with people left wondering if it should have been Dolphins ball considering Isaako did not regain possession... However, Dolphins led 16-12.

The opening ten minutes of the second half saw a lot of potential but no action or scoring, with the ball continuing to go back and forth between the Wahs and Phins.

The Warriors then finally took the lead for the first time in the match, with Dallin Watene-Zelezniak making a linebreak and getting the first points for the second half.

Much scrambling comes from the Dolphins but they are just not reaching the same level as the Warriors, with Marata Niukore going over for a four-pointer after three back-to-back line dropouts being forced by the Dolphins.

The Dolphins make a fight in the final five minutes, with Jamayne Isaako going over for his second of the night, however he fails to convert and they clearly do not have enough gas in the tank to make a magic play in the closing minutes.

Despite missing more than half of their star players, the Warriors made a statement, and managed to get another win in the bag, looking forward to a much needed bye next round.

After winning three in a row, the Dolphins succumb to a loss away from home, and they look to next round where they take on the Raiders, potentially without their star fullback due to Origin duties.

MATCH PREVIEW

Lachlan McINTYRE

Gutherson and Moses return in clash against ladder leading Sharks

It's been over a year since these two sides have met in NRL competition, but the wait comes to an end this Thursday night when the Parramatta Eels host the Cronulla-Sutherland Sharks. The visitors are still sitting high and mighty in first place, but will be looking to bounce back after suffering their first loss since round three last weekend. The situation for the Eels seems to only worsen and they face a tough task coming into this game in 15th.

The Eels suffered a 42-26 loss in their first match without Brad Arthur as the head coach since 2013. With Trent Barrett temporarily at the helm as the interim coach, they faced up against the similarly struggling Rabbitohs at Homebush last week. It had been a turbulent week for Parramatta, and they understandably struggled to perform on the field. They were down 22-0 after 27 minutes, and couldn't manage a fight back.

But in a massive boost for Parramatta, they are set to welcome three big names back to the 17 this week. After an operation on his knee about a month ago, Clint Gutherson has been named to return at fullback for his first game since round eight. Will Penisini has been named in the centres after missing last week with an infection, but in the biggest news of the lot, halfback Mitch Moses is back in the seven having recovered from his foot injury. These ins as well as J'maine Hopgood's origin call up sees a very different side named this week compared with last Tuesday, a cause for excitement for Eels fans.

Despite still sitting on top of the competition table, the Sharks will be very disappointed with their result last round. Facing tough opposition in the Penrith Panthers, the Sharks did nothing to alleviate beliefs that they simply can't get the job done in the big games. Going down 42-0 in an absolute beating, it's Cronulla-Sutherland's first loss since they faced the Tigers at Leichhardt Oval all the way back in round three.

With an injury cloud still hanging over him, Nicho Hynes has been selected to join the NSW Blues camp, handing over his number seven jersey to Braydon Trindall. Cameron McInnes will join Hynes in Michael Maguire's team, so Jack Williams will start at lock. Toby Rudolf has been named to return from a knee injury that has kept him sidelined since round nine.

This year is the 5th in a row that these two clubs have met each other only once in the NRL season.

WHO TO WATCH: Mitchell Moses returns to a side in dire need of leadership. The Eels halfback hasn't played since round three, and his side have only won one match since then.

Parramatta have looked headless in his absence, and how the team reacts to his return this weekend may just set the tone for how the rest of the Eels' season plays out. How Moses works with Gutherson this Thursday will not just be critical to the result of this game, but the result of this disappointing season so far.

The opposing halfback Braydon Trindall has been making headlines in recent weeks and he will have a lot of pressure and eyes on him when he steps out onto the field in place of Nicho Hynes for Cronulla on Thursday.

Having last played NRL in round seven, Trindall has been dealing with off-field legal proceedings which culminated this week in a fine and a suspended driving licence. After pleading guilty to mid-range drink driving and driving with an illicit substance in his system, Trindall will be looking to make it up to his teammates, coaches, the club, and the fans.

FAVOURITE: On Monday, I wrote "the Sharks understandably head into this game as the comfortable favourites." Upon team lists being released, the Eels became the favourites in a very unusual case of 15th place tipped to beat 1st by the bookies.

MY TIP: I think the Sharks can bounce back from last week, and shouldn't face too much opposition to it either against a struggling Parramatta team. Cronulla by 10.

MATCH PREVIEW

Andy P

A sharp Knights team ready for a hungry Bulldogs pack

Canterbury travel north to face the Newcastle Knights as two in-form teams look ready to stake their claim for a top eight spot. It was only Round 7 of this year when the teams met last, and Newcastle will be looking to make amends for the 36-12 defeat at Accor.

A vastly different backline will be fronting for the Knights this round, with the notable absence from this game being Kalyn Ponga. Even without the star power of Ponga, the Knights will be pleased that they are on a four-game winning streak without the need of him on the field.

Bradman Best will be rested due to a hamstring injury, and tough half Tyson Gamble is out with a foot injury. Best's absence sees Krystian Mapapalangi join the team and Jack Cogger is in the halves for Gamble. Daniel Saifiti will make a welcome return from suspension and will come on from the bench.

The Knights have had a lengthy break off the back of a bye and will be keen to look for a fifth consecutive win for the McDonald Jones Stadium faithful. In the Knights' last outing in Round 11, they showed resilience with a great second-half comeback to beat the Gold Coast Titans 28-24 at Suncorp during Magic Round.

Newcastle coach Adam O'Brien said it was some ill-discipline that let the game get away from them, but was happy how his team regrouped for the second half. He's been happy with his team grinding out the close victories, and we could be looking at a 2023-style return to form, which saw them put ten wins in a row at the backend of last season.

Canterbury had quite the flex last round with a dominating performance over St George Illawarra, sealing their first five-game winning streak at Accor Stadium since 2016 with an emphatic 44-12 deconstruction of the Dragons.

Bulldogs coach Cameron Ciraldo knew the loss in Magic round to the Raiders would be a catalyst for a bounce back, and the team clicked, something he says has been building.

Viliame Kikau is out with a finger issue for up to six weeks, with Jacob Preston moving into the second row and Kurt Mann into the lock position. Due to Origin's commitments, the Canterbury backline will be without stars Stephen Crichton and Matt Burton. Jacob Kiraz will move into centre, with Blake Wilson coming onto the wing; Wilson is a solid performer and has finished two tries out of his three games earlier in the year with the Bulldogs. The combination in the halves will be Toby Sexton and Drew Hutchinson.

WHO TO WATCH: The Knights have given us yet another rising star in full-back David Armstrong, scoring five tries in his last four games. It is his willingness to put himself into game that has impressed O'Brien, who believes it also lifts the team as a whole in attack.

Greg Marzhev enjoys a day out at the home ground, scoring 16 tries from the last 15 at McDonald Jones. With his 250 meters from the last game, the nuggety winger will be one to watch as he takes the line on and has the likes of Armstrong sniffing around for any opportunity he may create.

The battle in the middle between Jayden Brailey and Reed Mahoney will be good to see. Both hookers are workhorses in defence and can be pests to the tired forwards. Mahoney being a pest more than most, may be good to see if the fire between himself and Jack Hetherington has simmered down.

Josh Curran will be coming off the bench, but even with his 40 minutes of play last round, he managed 19 runs for 170 meters. Curran seems to be relishing the role Ciraldo has him playing in the middle and edges, and his form is sure to get attention from the Knights forward pack.

Jacob Kiraz has been quite the quiet achiever in his roles for the Bulldogs. Being able to shift from wing to centre, his speed in running the ball back will generally draw a number of defenders. Kiraz runs hard and fast, and this is the same ethos as Connor Tracy. Watch for this stinging attack from the Doggie's backs to play a role in their game.

FAVOURITE: With some of the star power on the Bulldogs' side going to Origin commitments, a home game, and a winning streak, the Knights are edging the Doggies out for this one.

MY TIP: The Bulldogs have a good record against the Knights at home, with seven of their last 9 games going their way. They are the second-best defensive team so far, and with the big bone of the top eight dangling in front of them, I can see this team's energy being too much but only just. Bulldogs by 2.

MATCH PREVIEW

Robert CROSBY

Cubs become Panthers as the Saints come to Penrith

The premiers will have their depth tested on Saturday evening when the Penrith Panthers host the St George Illawarra Dragons without their representative stars.

Heading into the middle-third of the season with eight wins in the bank and the best defensive record in the league, the Penrith Panthers will be without five players – Dylan Edwards, Brian To'o, Jarome Luai, Liam Martin and Isaah Yeo – selected in the NSW Origin team.

Returning home buoyant after suffocating the Sharks in a near-flawless 42-0 shut out last Saturday, coach Ivan Cleary has named Trent Toelau and Preston Riki on debut, along with Jesse McLean, Brad Schnieder, Mavrik Geyer and Tyrone Peachey in a revamped squad.

The Panthers have performed strongly in the lead up to State of Origin with seven wins from ten matches over the past decade, including an 18-14 win over the Dragons in 2014 featuring Isaah Yeo as a teenage centre.

The St George Illawarra Dragons will be without three representative stars of their own as they strive to record their first win in seven years at the foot of the mountains.

Coming off a second half capitulation during last week's 44-12 loss to Canterbury-Bankstown in the opening match of Indigenous Round, coach Shane Flanagan has made a host of changes with Ben Hunt, Zac Lomax and Jacy Su'A unavailable.

Sione Finau, Max Feagai, Mat Feagai, Toby Couchman and Ryan Couchman will all make their first appearances of the season, while Jesse Marschke will start at halfback for the first time in the NRL; Moses Suli and Francis Molo will make their 50th appearances for the joint venture.

The Dragons have struggled without their representative stars in recent years, winning four out of 12 matches prior to State of Origin over the past decade.

WHO TO WATCH: Few clubs have planned as well for the impacts of representative football quite like Penrith. During a time of year where stars of the future gain a taste of the big league, a shrewd recruitment strategy has allowed players like Daine Laurie to keep the reigning premiers in touch with the top four.

Playing limited minutes after rejoining the club from the Wests Tigers, the 24-year-old Indigenous utility will be a major attacking threat at fullback as the Panthers look to maintain an unbeaten home record in 2024.

Only three current players remain from the last Dragons team to experience a victory at Penrith – for Blake Lawrie, that rarity came only five games into his career. Going onto become an established first grader in the years following his 2017 debut, the 27-year-old has played predominantly off the bench under Shane Flanagan with just under 100 running metres on average each week.

Touted as a potential representative player earlier in his career, the Dragons will need Lawrie to stand up if they hope to take advantage of the premiers.

FAVOURITE: The understrength Panthers remain favourites to get the job done after winning the past six clashes against the Dragons in succession.

MY TIP: With James Fisher-Harris and Moses Leota still on board to lay a platform up front, the Panthers should have enough to overpower a Dragons side that hasn't won without Ben Hunt since 2021 and only three times out of 17 attempts. Panthers by 10.

MATCH PREVIEW

Beth NICHOLLS

Both teams are looking to claim redemption after suffering Round 12 losses, which succeeded their respective wins at Magic Round.

The Dolphins have had a surprisingly strong start to the season, coming away with seven wins and four losses (plus a bye), which leaves them sitting in fourth place. They fell short last week, against an extremely depleted Warriors side away from home, where they lacked cohesion and flare.

With Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow and Felise Kaufusi in QLD Origin camp, Trai Fuller slots back into fullback position, Mark Nicholls shifts from bench to starting prop and Anthony Milford joins the bench. Other than these forced changes, the team remains unchanged from the side who was defeated by the Warriors.

Floating around 8th position on the ladder, the Raiders have won six and lost five matches (along with one bye) so far this season. Last week they endured a disappointed 44-16 loss to the Roosters at home. Canberra's season has been up and down, with injuries constantly plaguing the side.

Josh Papalii returns for the Raiders after serving a one match suspension, Ata Mariota also moves from the bench to the starting side with Hudson Young on Origin duty for the Blues. Peter Hola has been dropped to out of the bench and into reserves, whilst Simi Sasagi moving into the starting 17.

These teams met twice during the 2023 season, and both came away with one win. The Dolphins won their first meeting, 20-14, then the Raiders lost their second match-up in a golden point thriller.

WHO TO WATCH: Playing four games this year so far whilst Tabuai-Fidow was out injured, the energetic Trai Fuller has scored two tries, whilst making one try assist, 25 tackle breaks and five line breaks. His energy, alongside the halves partnership of Katoa and Nikorima, will be important for the Dolphins to unlock a better chance of winning come Saturday.

Making his NRL debut late last year, Ethan Strange has found himself as the permanent five-eighth at the Raiders, and he has a standout season so far. In his eleven games this year he has scored one try, whilst making five try assists and four line break assists.

FAVOURITE: Dolphins are slightly favoured to get back into the winning circle and gain their eighth win of the season.

MY TIP: Both sides have had a rocky start to the year and find themselves navigating losses due to injury and Origin selection.

Despite missing their star fullback, I think the Dolphins will be able to get the job done and Trai Fuller will help in the void, with the Phins being able to bounce back from the narrow loss against the Warriors. Dolphins by 12.

MATCH PREVIEW

Rhys SULLIVAN

The Roosters and Cowboys may have been battered by Origin, but one team is clearly hurting more than the other heading into this matchup.

The Chooks bounced back from a loss to the Sharks with a strong 44-16 win against the Raiders. Unfortunately the win came at a cost, helping to convince Michael Maguire to select Joseph Sua'ali'i, Spencer Leniu and Angus Crichton for Origin, while Lindsay Collins was an obvious call up for the Maroons. Making matters worse, Egan Butcher's season has ended after suffering a torn ACL in the match.

But the biggest name not pick was James Tedesco, who for the first time in his Roosters career will be able to play through the Origin period. The rest of the side has been reshuffled, with Nat Butcher, Junior Pauga, Sua Wong, Sitili Tupouniua and Michael Jennings the new faces in the 17.

The Cowboys poor run of form has been snapped, with a change to take a third win in a row after victories over the Tigers and Rabbitohs. But they've lost a massive 6 players to Origin duty, namely co-captains Tom Dearden and Reuben Cotter, on top of Murray Taulagi, Valentine Holmes, Jeremiah Nanai and Reece Robson.

As a result the team has had to make mass changes, a rarity under Todd Payten. Tom Chester and Braidon Burns return in the outside backs, Jake Clifford comes in at five-eighth with the other Jake, Granville, at hooker, while Harrison Edwards and NRL debutante Jamal Shibusaki have been added to the bench.

This match shapes up as a chance for the Roosters to really put points on the board. They have the best attack in the league, averaging 31 points a game, while the Cowboys have one of the worst defences, giving up 26. And while the Cowboys aren't impartial to putting points on the board themselves (26 a game), the removal of some of their best attacking options as well as a strong Roosters defence (20 points a game) spells worrying signs.

WHO TO WATCH: James Tedesco's omission from the NSW squad, while admittedly a shock to few, was a surprise nonetheless. And the Cowboys are poised to be the first victim on his revenge tour. Already with 16 try contributions through his first 11 matches, Tedesco will be looking to rack up even more points to keep himself in the Origin picture in case he is required.

For the Cowboys this feels like a bit of a make or break game for Chad Townsend. The last season and a half a lot of the argument against him has been that Dearden makes him look better than he really is. And with his foil now in Queensland camp, it feels like any slip up will be placed under the microscope, especially if he is outperformed by Clifford.

Finally, the debutant Jamal Shibusaki is an exciting back row options for a team that has produced several in recent years. Still just 18, he's scored 7 tries in 10 games for the Mackay Cutters this season and has proven strong defensively, averaging 21 tackles a game at an efficiency of 91%. With Kulikeyu Finefeuiaki leaving at the end of the season, this doubles as an audition for Shibusaki to seal a spot on the bench full time in 2025.

FAVOURITE: The Roosters are very heavy favourites in this one.

MY TIP: The amount of talent lost by a team already outside the top 8 is almost unheard of, but that's a challenge the Cowboys will need to overcome. I don't see them being able to pull it off unfortunately. Roosters by 14.

MATCH PREVIEW

Aidan EDGECOMB

Showtime in Sydney

Origin is here. Two depleted sides go head to head, down on troops but not on spirits. The 2024 State of Origin series kicks up with New South Wales hosting Queensland at Accor Stadium.

After losing the last two series, pressure is on new coach Michael Maguire who delivered a mass cleanout from 2023, some changes forced along with some brave calls.

Long term skipper James Tedesco has been dropped, with arguably the form player of the competition, Dylan Edwards, replacing him in the fullback jersey. Brian To'o and Stephen Crichton are familiar faces in the backline, but will be joined by debutants Zac Lomax and union bound Joseph-Aukuso Sua'ali'i.

Jarome Luai returns at 5/8, following a stellar performance, where he was instrumental in a 42-0 flogging of premiership leaders in Cronulla. Speaking of the Sharks, he's joined in the halves by Nicho Hynes, who'll enjoy the luxury of a full match in his preferred position...

With the Blues bravely opting for four forwards on the bench, it's Reece Robson at dummy half who gets the nod to debut over Api Koroisau who missed out on squad selection entirely. It's Jake Trbojevic who will captain the side and be gunning for a monster performance to lead from the front.

Cameron McInnes makes his debut at lock, pushing Issah Yeo to the bench, although a late change is possible. Perhaps the most surprising selection was Spencer Leniu on the interchange, who'll have plenty to prove in justifying his selection in the side.

For Queensland, the backline is relatively as expected, with Valentine Holmes escaping suspension after a sketchy hip drop in the round prior. Cowboys teammate Tom Dearden narrowly beats out Ezra Mam in the 5/8 jersey, making his second appearance in the origin arena.

Jaydn Su'a plays his first origin game since 2021 on the back of some very strong club form. Surprisingly, David Fifita was overlooked with coach Billy Slater stating his club form was not to the same standard as his strong 2023 campaign.

J'maine Hopgood debuts off the bench after yet another consistent season at lock for Parramatta. Outside back Selwyn Cobbo joins dummy half Harry Grant as the non-forwards on the interchange. Queensland's middles will have to play big minutes, but Cobbo's presence looms as an ominous threat to break open the game.

WHO TO WATCH: Dynamic fullback Reece Walsh has had a mixed month performance wise, as he's battled lingering injuries and niggles. At times, he's been outstanding, but a lacklustre performance against the Titans places high expectation on him to perform. Dylan Edwards got the better of him in last year's grand final, but Walsh will be looking to have a field day in Sydney.

With Nathan Cleary's injury, it's Nicho Hynes who gets the nod in the Blues number 7 jumper. Forming a solid partnership with Luai early on will be critical, and the intense line speed of the origin arena will place immense pressure on his kicking game. A poor showing may destroy his confidence, but dominating on the highest stage will further assert Nicho on his rise to the top.

FAVOURITES: QLD are slight favourites to win the series opener away from home.

TIP: Playing New South Wales in Sydney is a daunting task - particularly to commence a series. The Maroons fell short there in last year's dead rubber, but the occasion of an opening game may be the motivation they need. It'll be close, it'll have a twist, but I think Queensland have what it takes. Maroons by 8.

SUPER LEAGUE ROUND 13 WRAP with ROB McHUGH

CASTLEFORD TIGERS 30 HULL FC 22

Round 12 in Super League got underway with three Friday night games, including a battle between two of the league's struggling sides. Hull FC succumbed to a tenth consecutive defeat, going down 30-22 to a Castleford Tigers side who are just beginning to find their feet.

Although the final scoreline was tight, there was always a sense that the Tigers were holding FC at arm's length. Castleford made a fast start, opening the scoring through Liam Horne after just six minutes. Joe Westerman broke through the centre of the FC defence on halfway, before passing inside to Horne for a simple score, with Rowan Milnes making no mistake with the kick. The Tigers' next score which came in the ninth minute, was an absolute peach. With the ball inside the Tigers' 20, they worked the ball out to winger, Jason Qareqare who offloaded inside to Tex Hoy. When Hoy was faced with the Hull full-back, Logan Moy, he chipped the ball over his head, chasing it down to collect and score a brilliant try against his former club. Milnes was on target again to make the score 12-0. However, a Castleford mistake close to their own line let the Airlie Birds back into the game. Innes Senior dropped a simple pass 10 metres from his own line to gift the ball to Hull. From the resulting play the ball, a brilliant looping pass from Jake Trueman found Harvey Barron on the wing who touched down to cut the deficit. Ben Reynolds added the extras to reduce Castleford's lead to six points. The sides then exchanged scores before half-time, in an engaging contest. Castleford struck first through Milnes in the 31st minute. Milnes dabbled in goal, and Liam Sutcliffe appeared to have the situation under control. However, he inexplicably fumbled the ball, gifting Milnes a try on a plate, which he duly converted. However, he quickly atoned for his error, intercepting a pass and running 80 metres to score just before half-time. The conversion was missed, however, meaning the Tigers lead 18-10 at the break.

The Tigers struck first in the second half with Qareqare grabbing his first try of the night. The Black and Whites defence was unable to deal with a Milnes kick. Sylvester Namu picked up the loose ball, before finding Qareqare to score in the corner, with Milnes again on the target with the boot. Hull were unable to deal with Milnes' kicking game, and another pinpoint grubber allowed Corey Hall to score their fifth try of the night. Milnes added the extras and the Tigers appeared to be out of sight. However, FC showed some fighting spirit, and grabbed two late scores to give the Tigers fans some late nerves. On loan Wigan Warriors man, Tiaki Chan, scored the first after taking in a good offload from Sutcliffe before powering over to score. Sutcliffe was involved again in their final score, passing the ball out wide to Harvey Barron. Barron kicked inside from the wing, allowing Jake Trueman to touch down and score in the 74th minute.

Reynolds kicked both conversions to restore some pride for FC, but, in truth, they were well beaten as they continue their hunt for just a second win of the season.

LEIGH LEOPARDS 16 HUDDERSFIELD GIANTS 10

Leigh Leopards' resurgence continues, as they registered a fourth win of the season against Huddersfield Giants. The two sides' seasons appear to be heading in opposite directions at the moment.

A good run of form had propelled Huddersfield into playoff contention, however, a run of defeats and a difficult month ahead means they face an uphill battle to remain in contention for the top six. Leigh, on the other hand, have won three in their last four games as they attempt to drag themselves back into playoff contention.

This was a tight encounter, with both sides scoring two tries a piece, ultimately, the Leopards' superior goal-kicking won them the encounter. Josh Charnley opened the scoring for the Leopards after 11 minutes. Leigh played the ball 10 metres away from the Huddersfield posts, and worked the ball through hands before finding Charnley to touchdown in the corner, with Matt Moylan adding the extras from the touchline. Moylan added two points from a penalty, with Olly Russell receiving a yellow card for a high shot, before the Leopards extended their lead further before half-time. Receiving the ball from dummy half 20 metres out, Edwin Ipape ran back against the grain to score in the face of some soft defence, with Moylan adding the extras. However, two Leigh yellow cards before halftime changed the complexion of the game after halftime, with Leigh leading 14-0.

With Russell back on the field, and Leigh down to 11, Huddersfield scored the first try of the second half through Sam Hewitt. Hewitt took in a short pass to crash over and give the Giants a foothold in the game, however, the conversion was missed, meaning the Leopards remained 10 points ahead. Moylan added another penalty in the 69th minute, to extend their lead back to 12 points. The Giants scored the final try of the game in the 77th minute, through Kevin Naiqama, but it was too little too late. Naiqama latched onto a clever kick-through to score, but the Giants were consigned to another defeat. Leigh remain five points off sixth place, but they have momentum and should not be written off from the play-off picture just yet.

ST HELENS 40 LEEDS RHINOS 10

Leeds Rhinos' head coach, Rohan Smith, faced open dissent amongst the travelling Rhinos faithful, as his side slumped to another heavy defeat. A vocal section of the Leeds crowd were chanting for Smith to be sacked at the end of the game as Leeds' season threatens to come off the rails. Saints, on the other hand, were good value for their win as they look to keep up with Super League's leading pack.

Leeds actually took the lead early on, with winger Ash Handley scoring another try-of-the-season contender. The Rhinos chipped over the top deep in their own half, with Handley catching the kick and racing deep into the Saints half. He was tackled but received the ball from the resulting tackle and touched down in the corner. But that was as good as it got for the Rhinos, as Saints dominated the rest of the contest. Sione Mata'utia scored Saints' first try of the night after 21 minutes, after Curtis Sironon controversially had a try disallowed after 13 minutes. An error from Matt Frawley gave Saints the ball back. This allowed Mata'utia to take in a pass from Konrad Hurrell to score. Mark Percival kicked the extras to level the scores at 6-6. Moses Mbye scored the next try of the game, right on the stroke of half-time, taking in a good offload to score from close range. Percival again kicked the goal, to give the Saints a narrow 12-6 lead at half-time, but the second half was a rout by the Saints. They needed just five minutes to open the score in the second half. Sironon offloaded to Clark near the line, and he dived over to score.

Lachie Miller than failed to deal with a towering kick from Lewis Dodd for the next Saints score. With the ball hanging in the Merseyside sky, Jack Welsby outjumped Miller to pick his pocket and extend Saints' lead. Percival made no mistake with either conversion. Leeds struck back through Luis Roberts after 58 minutes, but in reality, Leeds never looked like getting back in the game. Saints had time to run in three more tries before full-time. First, Curtis Sironon crashed onto a pass to score from 10 metres out. Then, a brilliant Jack Welsby pass put Tommy Makinson in for his 200th try. Percival broke through in the 71st minute, before passing inside to Welsby to complete the scoring. Percival ended with six goals from a possible seven as the Saints won at a canter to return to the top of Super League.

CATALANS DRAGONS 8 WARRINGTON WOLVES 16

Sam Burgess' Warrington Wolves side underlined their title hopes with a famous win in the South of France. The Wire withstood a barrage of Catalans Dragons' pressure before showing their killer instinct to win a pulsating contest. The win keeps Warrington very much in the race for the Super League title race, ahead of two crucial games back-to-back against Wigan.

A tense first half passed by without either side registering a decisive blow. A penalty each, one for Arthur Mourgue, and one for Josh Thewlis, meant the two sides went in for half-time with the score at 2-2. However, an injury to Catalans hooker, Alrix Da Costa proved decisive, weakening the Dragons' attack, with forward, Ben Garcia filling in at nine for the rest of the game.

But the game came alive in the second half, thanks to some brilliance from Matt Dufty after 44 minutes. Dufty got a quick play the ball near the Catalans line and threw a deft pass, allowing George Williams to score from close range. Brilliant defence from Warrington then denied Arthur Romano, with the referee deeming he was held up on the field and insufficient evidence for the video ref to overturn the decision and award the try. A Thewlis penalty in the 53rd minute extended their lead, before Matty Ashton then scored the game's decisive try. A smart flick from centre, Toby King, got the ball to Ashton in space and he made no mistake, touching down in the corner. A try from Tom Davies in the 74th minute proved to be scant consolation for the Dragons, who lost ground in the race for the title. After a series of clunky performances, they need to find a way to improve in attack if they want to stay in the race for the title.

LONDON BRONCOS 14 HULL KR 64

London Broncos produced the surprise result of the last Super League round, defeating Hull FC to claim their first victory of the season. However, there was to be no repeat of their heroics this week, as Hull KR produced a clinical display.

The Robins ran in 11 tries in their biggest victory of the season. London can be pleased with their second-half effort. At 46-0 down at halftime, there was a possibility that they may be on the wrong end of the heaviest-ever Super League defeat. However, they salvaged a modicum of pride with three second-half tries, losing the second half 18-14. Hull KR were actually on the back foot in the opening exchanges. But that soon changed, as Jack Broadbent scored the first try of the game after six minutes, going over in the right corner after a good break from Matt Parcell. KR kicked 10 of 11 attempts at goal, with Mikey Lewis kicking the first nine, and Danny Richardson kicking KR's final conversion of the game. Broadbent added his second, scoring in the same corner as his first effort. Niall Evalds was instrumental in both tries and Hull KR's next two, as they scored from four consecutive sets. Peta Hiku grabbed the third try of the game after 12 minutes. He ran onto a reverse flick pass from Evalds to crash over. Evalds then scored the try of the game as KR passed the ball through six pairs of hands, after an initial break from Hiku. The ball arrived in Evalds' hands, and he ran over to score under the sticks. KR extended their lead in the 19th minute, as Jesse Sue broke through before finding Parcell with an offload. After a relative try-scoring drought of 11 minutes, Rovers were in again as Dean Hadley barged over after taking in an underarm pass from Tryone May. Evalds got his second of the game after taking in a pass from Sam Luckley. Luckley then got on the scoresheet himself, charging through a one-on-one tackle to score, to give Hull KR a 46-0 lead at halftime.

London scored first in the second half after Tyrone May failed to field the kick-off. The Broncos then caught the Robins offside at the scrum and, after electing for another one, Alex Walker found a gap in the line to score. The Robins were not to be denied for long though, and soon had 50 points on the board. Luckley grabbed his second try of the game for another score from close range. Eight minutes later, Mikey Lewis scored another KR try, starting and finishing a move himself. But London started to grow into the game, as KR's intensity admittedly dropped. A smart move through hands saw Illies Macani go over to score for the Broncos. Lewis added his second of the game, after providing good support to Jai Whitbread's strong carry, before London hit back with the final try of the game. Jarred Bassett went over, capitalising on a poor defensive read from Peta Hiku, to round off the scoring and consign London to an eleventh defeat of the season. With results going their way, Hull KR move up to fourth, going level on points with Catalans, and opening a two-point gap on Salford in sixth place.

SUPER LEAGUE ROUND 12 WRAP with ROB McHUGH

WIGAN WARRIORS 26 SALFORD RED DEVILS 6

Three first half tries from the Wigan Warriors ensured a comfortable victory against the Salford Red Devils. Wigan's victory means they stay level with Saints and Warrington at the top of the Super League table, having played a game less than their nearest rivals.

The Warriors only needed 10 minutes to open the scoring, as Adam Keighran went over to score. A break from Keighran provided support for a break from Abbas Miski to score. Keighran returned to kicking duties, and promptly kicked five from five, including four conversions and a penalty.

Young prospect, Junior Nsemba, scored his second Super League try of the season in the 16th minute. Nsemba barged over Marc Sneyd, showing all of his power, as he went over to score after a powerful run. Marc Sneyd received a green card after the incident, much to the chagrin of the Salford coaching staff.

Wigan took full advantage of Salford being a man down, through Brad O'Neill in the 24th minute. Brad O'Neill produced a powerful run to crash over, with his try being confirmed by the video referee. Keighran kicked all three conversions to give Wigan an 18-0 lead at half-time. Remarkably, Wigan produced a perfect half in possession, completing at 100% in a dominant display.

Former Wigan forward, Oliver Partington, scored Salford's only try of the half in the 46th minute, but Wigan were in complete control of the game. Keighran kicked a penalty to the 64th minute to extend Wigan's lead to 20-0.

Bevan French produced a moment of magic late in the game, going it alone from the base of the scrum to add Wigan's final score of the night in the 78th minute, with Keighran kicking the extras to make the final score 26-8. Wigan's side was depleted by injury and suspension coming into the game. They produced a polished performance with a weakened side to keep up their title charge.

With two games against Warrington to come, first in the league, then in the Challenge Cup final, the Super League season is moving into its decisive weeks.
