RHYS SULLIVAN

The Dolphins were able to strike early, with Isaiya Katoa and Trai Fuller combining to send Jack Bostock over after 6 minutes. But Souths didn't take long to reply, and Jye Gray was awarded a penalty try when he dropped the ball over the line but was impeded on his chase by Fuller.

The Dolphins soon hit the front through a Tevita Pangai Junior barge over, but Connolly Lemuelu dropped the ball from the kickoff and Souths hit back through Jacob Gagai to make it 12-10.

The Phins were able to extend their lead not too long later through a great individual try by Herbie Farnworth. They had chances to add onto it even further as the first half ticked down, however great defence by Souths and some poor attacking execution kept the score 18-10 at the break.

It was a set piece that got the Dolphins across to start the second half, when Katoa grubbered in behind and Kodi Nikorima was the only man on the peninsula who saw it coming.

But Souths began to win back momentum, and a couple of quick tries from Gagai and Alex Johnston brought the game back to 24-18.

But just as the tide was turning, a penalty kick by Jack Wighton failed to find touch, and the Phins capitalised on the ensuing set when a Pangai Junior offload created a linebreak that concluded in Jake Averillo putting Sean O'Sullivan over the line.

Then they aced the set after points when Katoa put Bostock through the line, who duly found Fuller on the inside to put the Dolphins up 36-18.

Late tries by Johnston and Gagai threatened to bring the game close, but the Dolphins held on for a good win.

They didn't escape unscathed unfortunately, with Euan Aitken suffering a suspected ruptured pec while Kodi Nikorima succumbed to a shoulder injury. For Souths Davvy Moale had a late HIA and it's unclear whether or not he passed.

SHARKS RUN RIOT AS API FINISHES ON ICE

AJ LUCANTONIO

The Cronulla Sharks have inflicted their most ruthless performance of 2024 with a 58-6 thrashing of the Wests Tigers as the struggling club lost their captain Api Koroisau to a calf injury in the second half.

Cronulla had early ascendency following an early line-break from Daniel Atkinson, splitting some shocking middle defence. From the ensuing tackle, the Sharks moved the ball left as Braydon Trindall delivered early, quality ball to Kayal Iro as he got past some would-be tacklers for the first try. Trindall added the extras to cement a quality start for the home side inside the opening 5 minutes.

Despite a poor start, the Tigers stuck to their basics and got rewarded with a silky try following a yardage penalty. Samuela Fainu hit a strong line and was able to get an offload away to Jahreem Bula. Bula was then able to offload to Solomona Faataape to restore order for the visitors. Api Koroisau added the extras to level the scores after 11 minutes.

After a strong kick return from Ronaldo Mulitalo who combined with try-scorer Iro, the Sharks turned momentum back in their favour almost immediately. The home side stripped the Tigers for numbers and Mulitalo fended away from Alex Lobb to score for the Sharks. It looked like the Sharks were going to add a third after another break from Mulitalo, he linked up with Trindall and was brought down. The Sharks winger forced a professional foul by Koroisau and despite the Tigers hooker pleading his best case, he was sin-binned by Adam Gee.

The Tigers have struggled when being down to 12 men this year. That continued here, as after successive sets on the line the Tigers wall cracked. A brilliant, lofted pass from Briton Nikora delivered a saloon passage to the line for Sione Katoa who crossed for the home side in the dying stages of Koroisau's sin bin period. This was nearly extended further but just as the sin-bin period came to a close, the Sharks butchered an easy scoring opportunity.

Wests seemed to dominate field position after a prolonged period with the football. However, Aidan Sezer's pass was picked off by Jesse Ramien who sprinted 80 metres before getting caught by Bula and Staines. There was a lack of onside players in defence which allowed Katoa to run from dummy half and cross for the fourth try of the night and make it a 24-6 half-time lead for the Sharks.

After the break, Cronulla continued on their scoring ways. A well worked set play saw Atkinson draw in some horrific edge defence to send Mulitalo away in the corner after 48 minutes. Six minutes later, the suffering continued when Blayke Brailey delivered a brilliant pass to Braden Hamlin-Uele to cross. The returning prop delivered one of the best celebrations of #TryJuly so far to extend the gap to 28.

Four minutes later, Mulitalo grabbed his hattrick after a brilliant kick return from deep inside his own end. He got on the outside of Bateman and got up to halfway before finding Trindall. The half juggled it but did well to haul it in before offloading back to Mulitalo to cross for his hat-trick. Three minutes later, Trindall again delivered with a brilliant pass to Nikora to make the deficit 40 points for the home side. The Tigers did show some fight with a brilliant cover tackle from Fonua Pole saving a certain four pointer for Trindall with 15 to go. Despite showing some fight, the Tigers defensive inefficiencies again reared themselves to the forefront. Ramien brought up the 50 as he manhandled Heath Mason on his way to the line. In the dying moments, Trindall crossed through two middle forwards to cross to bring up 22 points for the evening and secure a 52 point win.

The only sour note for the Sharks was a potentially serious knee injury to returning prop Jesse Colquhoun. The front rower was returning from injury for his first NRL game of the year when his knee gave way with 20 to go. While for the Tigers, Koroisau was assisted with a calf injury and left the match with 15 to play.

NRL ROUND 18 WRAP

CAMPBELL STARS IN MILESTONE AS PARRA DROP TO FIVE STRAIGHT LOSSES

AJLUCANTONIO

Jayden Campbell starred in game 50 setting up three Titans tries as the Gold Coast secured three straight wins for the first time since 2021.

Gold Coast capitalised early after a suspect tackle in the air penalty. Jojo Fifita broke through for the opening line-break before sustained field position eventually took it's toll on the Parramatta defence. A lovely cut-out ball from Jayden Campbell found Alofiana Khan-Pereira who crossed untouched to go top of the try-scorers tally for 2024 and his 17th try in 17 games at CBUS Super Stadium. Campbell capped his return from injury with a great sideline conversion for 6-0.

The Eels refused to do little favours for themselves after conceding a penalty which allowed the Titans to march down field. David Fifita linked up with Campbell who found Khan-Pereria to cross for his second in three minutes to continue his impressive streak with his 11th career double. Within a blink of an eye, it was 12-0 after 14 minutes.

Matt Doorey thought he capitalised on a rare mistake from the Titans, but with the line open he spilled it. After some back and forth moments, Jake Tago was crunched in a great shot from Campbell which forced the ball loose. The Titans capitalised on the error by shifting the ball to Phil Sami. Sami was able to beat the covering defensive efforts to cross for the Titans' third and it was 18-0 after 20 minutes.

Parramatta were guilty of over-trying, but eventually some chances were going to stick and it did in bizarre circumstances. AJ Brimson went for a dart out of dummy half and offloaded it straight to Blaize Talagi who got it onto Luca Moretti. The Clovelly Crocodile crossed with his first touch to bring Parramatta back into the contest with ten to play in the first half. Both sides did squander good field position and scoring chances, so at the end of the first half, the Titans were in front by 18-6.

Parramatta started with fire and were nearly rewarded when debutant Lorenzo Mulitalo got within metres from the line in the opening set of the second stanza. AJ Brimson had a successful return from injury and was replaced un-injured with 25 minutes to play by Keano Kini. The Titans had the first of the second half after a clever grubber from Campbell caught Clint Gutherson out of position. Brian Kelly won the race to the ball for the first of the second half to extend the gap to 18.

Parramatta weren't going away. After Klese Haas was slow to clear the ruck, the Eels responded as Will Penisini muscled his way to the line. Penisini beat three disappointing defensive efforts from the Titans on his way to the line with 20 to go. Gold Coast suffered a blow with 20 to go, with David Fifita having to depart following a category two concussive incident following a tackle on Penisini, but would return in the dying moments.

Gold Coast were starting to fall off tackles and Parramatta were marching up field. With 15 to go, Gutherson got into dummy half and managed to beat three defenders on his way to the line. Referee Todd Smith was in the best position to see if the ball hit the line and awarded the try which was confirmed. Asi quickly converted from in front and Parramatta had gotten the margin back to a two possession game.

The Parra half would come from the field with 10 to go, making that task even harder. Gold Coast thought they had the game secured with 5 to go after Khan-Pereria thought he had a hattrick but he was denied in a brilliant try-saver from Brown. Despite last ditch efforts, Parramatta were unable to muster up the score to set-up a grandstand finish.

DRAGONS SNEAK HOME AGAINST RESURGENT BRONCOS

ANDREW FERGUSON

The Dragons got out to an unassailable lead in the first half, before the bits-and-pieces Broncos assailed, but were unable to reel in enough of their deficit, going down by 4 points in a spirited performance.

The Dragons opened the scoring in the seventh minute when Christian Tuipulotu got outside the defence, stepped back inside and then barged through the cover defenders before twisting over to score in the corner. Kyle Flanagan failed to convert from out wide.

The Broncos hit back in the 13th minute when Billy Walters barged over from dummy half, scoring a trademark rake try. Kotoni Staggs added the extras to give the Broncos a 2 point lead.

A Jesse Marschke break came to an end when Staggs pulled off a great tackle from behind, but then when at marker, Staggs illegally knocked the ball out of the hands of dummy half Tyrell Sloan. The referee had no hesitations in sending Staggs to the sin bin. Kyle Flanagan landed the penalty goal to level the scores.

Mikaele Ravalawa was denied a try in the corner in the 20th minute, however the Dragons weren't to be denied five minutes later when Moses Suli got between two defenders, shrugged off a feeble tackle effort by Jordan Riki and scored a soft try. Flanagan failed to convert.

The Dragons then went up a gear. In the 31st minute Tuipulotu barged over despite the best efforts of three defenders. Flanagan converted from the sideline.

In the 34th minute, Tristan Sailor dropped a bomb and Jaydn Su'A cleaned up the loose ball and barged over to score. Flanagan converted and at halftime the Dragons had skipped away to a 22-6 lead.

Just three minutes into the second half, the Dragons crossed again, this time some quick passing to the left gave Tuipulotu a waltz to the line and he scored his third try of the night. Flanagan converted from out wide.

The Broncos crossed next in the 54th minute when Ezra Mam powered out of a tackle close to the Dragons line and dives over to score. Staggs converted.

The Broncos scored again 8 minutes later when Staggs received a brilliant flick pass from Sailor. Staggs then stepped the last line of defence and then outran Marschke to score in the corner. Staggs failed to convert.

With just 2 minutes remaining Staggs received a long Hail Mary pass. He accelerated past his defender, gets flung over in the tackle however he rolls over and into the Dragons line to score a good try. Staggs though fails to convert.

NRL ROUND 18 WRAP

GOLDEN DAY FOR MANLY LIVES UP TO THE NAME

JOSH ROBERTSON

Golden Day for the Manly Sea Eagles lived up to it's name as a new breed of Sea Eagles stepped up to deliver Manly a 44-6 win over an insipid Newcastle Knights side who didn't look as if they wanted to be there.

The opening try for Manly was a golden moment for debutant Jamie Humphreys who was able to score after just six minutes but it didn't come without controversy as the officials gave the all clear to a pass inside from Jason Saab to Humphreys despite replays showing it looked forward.

To rub salt into the wounds of the Knights, minutes later they had a try to Adam Elliott denied on the basis of a forward pass call that looked flatter than what was let go.

The Sea Eagles quickly added another try when Tom Trbojevic was able to get his first try after returning from injury when he was able to outleap Fletcher Sharpe to score. The Sea Eagles added a third try when Garrick and Saab combined with the latter having to tip toe the sideline to stay in the field to score.

Manly's fourth try of the half was probably one of the best they've produced this season when Luke Brooks kicked across field putting the ball beautifully on the chest of Lehi Hopoate who quickly got the ball back inside for Tommy Talau. Despite the last two conversion attempts being waved away, the Sea Eagles still had a comfortable 20-0 lead at the break.

The second half started the same way that the first half finished at the Sea Eagles opened the scoring when the right side defence of the Knights was yet again torn apart easily as Saab got into open space before Reuben Garrick scored under the posts. The conversion was successful from in front for 26-0.

Things just continued in the procession as Lehi Hopoate channelled Peter Jorgensen when he pulled out the aeroplane celebration after his first try when it was down the left that the Sea Eagles found success.

An 80m run from Luke Brooks after swooping on a Knights error before Manly swept to the right and Haumole Olakau'atu was able to stroll over. Jamie Humphreys added his second conversion to his tally to put Manly up 38-0.

The Knights hit the scoreboard inside the final ten minutes when repeat sets paid off as Tyson Frizell went over and Will Pryce converted. Manly finished things off with Lehi Hopoate going over for his second try before half time.

Next week, Manly will be back at home on the Northern Beaches again when they host the Titans meanwhile the Knights will take on fellow out-of-form side the Broncos in Newcastle.

MATCH PREVIEW

Andrew FERGUSON

A rather topsy-turvey Origin series will be decided on Wednesday night at Suncorp Stadium in Brisbane, when New South Wales takes on Queensland.

Queensland dominated a 12-man Blues side in Game I, winning 38-10 after Joseph-Aukuso Sua'ali'I was sent off very early in the match. In Game II, New South Wales turned the tables with arguably the most perfect first half in Origin history, as they raced out to a 34-0 lead. Queensland fought back in the second half but the task was too great as they lost 38-18.

When it comes to Game 3 deciders, Queensland absolutely dominate the Blues, winning 15 of the 22 occasions, 2 other occasions were draws which resulted in Queensland retaining the shield, while New South Wales has won just 5 deciders.

The injured Latrell Mitchell has been replaced by 2023 Blues Origin centre Bradman Best, while extended bench player from the first two games, Mitch Barnett has been brought onto the bench to make his Origin debut, replacing Haumole Olakau'atu.

For the Marcons, a number of changes have been made. Jaydn Su'A, Murray Taulagi and Xavier Coates all set to miss the decider. This see's Selwyn Cobbo getting a call up to replace Taulagi on the wing, Dane Gagai will line up at centre to replace Coates, Kurt Capewell moves from the bench into the run-on side to replace Su'A. Capewell's place on the bench has been filled by Kalyn Ponga.

The Maroons bench is smaller than the Blues, with Moeaki Fotuaika and Felise Kaufusi as the only forwards on the bench, which will place a lot of extra work on the Maroons middle forwards.

The Blues have less versatility on their bench, running with just one genuine prop in Spencer Leniu, however Isaah Yeo is capable of playing as a front rower if needed. If the Blues have an injury in their spine or backline, there may be a few players getting shuffled about which is never great to a teams defensive cohesion, especially in Origin.

Both teams are very strong on the edge of the ruck and that is precisely where much of this game will be played for both outfits. Holmes shifting to the wing from centre is a good move, as he was outmuscled frequently by Mitchell in Game II and with Best playing a power game, he may have had similar success against him.

WHO TO WATCH: Jake Trbojevic hasn't played many minutes in either game, and with little in the way of middle forwards to rotate with on the bench, he really needs to provide more minutes and for those minutes to be powerful. Dane Gagai is a modern-day Dale Shearer – club form means zero, put a Maroon jumper on him, put him anywhere in the backline and he'll deliver a brilliant performance every time. He will be featured in many Queensland attacking raids. Mitch Moses had a glorious match in Game II and all eyes will be on him to see if he can repeat that performance here. Kalyn Ponga is a genuine x-factor on the Maroon's bench. How, when and where he will be used is a mystery, but what isn't a mystery is his ability to turn a game on its head.

FAVOURITES: New South Wales will likely be the favourite coming into this game due to their complete dominance of the Maroons in Game 2. Game 1 is less of a guide given so much of the contest saw Queensland have an extra player. Home ground advantage and history is hugely on Queensland's side.

TIP: This will be a very close game. It's an absolute coin toss here. But it's hard to go past the Blues on form. NSW by 1.

Finals hopes on the line as Raiders host the Warriors

Round 20 NRL action gets underway in Canberra on Friday night as two teams are looking to keep their outside finals hopes as the Raiders play host to the Warriors who themselves make a rare 7:30 Friday appearance in Australia.

The Raiders come off a much-needed Bye last week after a string of losses sees them sitting in 11th on the NRL ladder and needing to pick up a win to make sure that they can stay within two points of the top 8. The Green Machine have been pretty spluttering this season as they have only won once in their past six matches which was a golden point win over the Dolphins.

A fortnight ago the Raiders were again at home but just struggled for any consistency as they went down 16-12 to the Knights who themselves weren't that impressive. The Raiders whilst having not been awful have barely set the world on fire and just little things haven't clicked for them and that has been their downfall and the reason why they are looking unlikely to stick to the top 8.

The Raiders have received some massive boosts with Jamal Fogarty set to return after missing 12 weeks with a bicep injury meanwhile Hudson Young and Zac Hosking also return to the side with Emre Guler, Simi Sasagi and Albert Hopoate dropped to the reserves.

Just like their opponents, the Warriors are coming off a much-needed bye as their indifferent season continues and will need to win this one to keep their hopes alive as they risk being 5 points astray of the top 8.

The New Zealanders have won 2 of their past five games but their last outing against the Bulldogs despite being a defeat showed there are still signs for the Warriors as they suffered a 13-12 loss in Golden Point and if a controversial non-call went their way they could have won. The Warriors have struggled for consistency this season and their win over fortnight their performances against the Gold Coast where they lost by 60 and then beating the Broncos a week after comfortably showed the struggles for the Wahs this season.

Injuries haven't been kind to the Warriors this season and they are yet again impacted with Charnze Nicoll-Klokstad and Marcelo Montoya ruled out with injuries suffered in the Bulldogs clash whilst Tohu Harris this week was ruled out for the season with a wrist injury. The Warriors have named Taine Tuaupiki at fullback whilst Roger Tuivasa-Sheck comes onto the wing.

WHO TO WATCH: The return of Jamal Fogarty is going to be a big boost for the Raiders and whilst it is going to be hard to have him back at full form, there is going to be all eyes given the magic that he can pull out and the need for the Raiders to pull out the performance is at it's highest if they want to cling onto the finals

Roger Tuivasa-Sheck has had a stop-start season with injuries and a strange decision to play him as 18th man stopping him from a consistent return to Rugby League this season. The Warriors will need the RTS magic to silence the Raiders crowd who will be expecting the Green Machine to win.

FAVOURITE: The Raiders are slight favourites for the contest.

MY TIP: This is a tough game to tip because you never know what either of these two sides are going to dish out because the Raiders could pull out an impressive performance with the Warriors dishing up nothing or vice-versa. The other thing could be both sides actually put their best on the field and it goes down to the wire. I think the Warriors might just do enough to win very closely. Warriors by 2.

Andy P

Super Saturday for the NRL will open at Industree Group Stadium in Gosford, as the South Sydney Rabbitohs ready to take on Wests Tigers.

Going down to the Dolphins last round 36-28, the Bunnies didn't look the worst team but lacked intensity at the beginning and had to play catch up. Coach Ben Hornby was happy the team could apply pressure at the game's back end but felt they could have done more early to get ahead. The Rabbitohs have been in form, and this loss put an end to their five-game winning streak. Hornby singled out Jye Gray for playing a great game at fullback and says he looks forward to Gray taking ownership of that spot for the next few weeks while Latrell Mitchel is injured.

The game in Gosford will be a milestone for Damien Cook as he runs out for his 200th NRL game. Jai Arrow has been playing lame for weeks and will be out of the team for the year after much-needed surgery. Pending his fitness after Origin Three this week, Cameron Murray will come into the back row.

The Wests Tigers had one of their worst performances last round. With a mauling at the hands of Cronulla 58-6. Coach Benji Marshall apologised to the fans at the post-match press conference. Marshall conceded that his team was outplayed in all areas on the field and that it was a mindset he had not experienced yet.

Ill discipline and a lack of intensity meant the Tigers were never in the game. And with some injuries to key players at the end of the game rubbing salt into widening wounds.

Api Koroisau has been named in the reserves due to a calf injury, with Tallyn Da Silva taking on hooker duties. Luke Laulilii will run on at wing for injured Alex Lobb; Alex Twal returns from a head knock, while Alex Seyfarth will sit out a game due to concussion protocols.

WHO TO WATCH: Souths' halves are clicking, and Cody Walker was pretty adamant in the post-match presser about where they went wrong and how they could fix it. Walker and Jack Wighton have. It has been a solid combination for the Rabbitohs, and a solid performance from these two will filter through the rest of the team. Damien Cook will run out for his 200th game, and the speedy number 9 will come into it with some form. Firm in defence and sneaky in attack, Cook is probably ready to serve up a master class against the less experienced Tallyn Da Silva this round. Cooks' effort around the ruck will likely look to exploit the Wests' forwards if they mimic their last-round performance. If Cameron Murray fronts up after Origin, he will put his hand up as ever to go forward for Souths all night. Murray loves to hit space at speed, and we will see him asking questions of the West's defence all night. Jye Gray has some shoes to fill and will be out to impress again. The speedy fullback may lack size but has been shown to make up for it with inspirational plays and a hunger for the ball. Like any fullback worth his weight, Gray is always shadowing the ball in case his teammates bust the line. If Alex Johnston or Jacob Gagi finds some space, expect to see Gray in support.

At this stage, Aidan Sezer and Lachlan Galvin will have to find some dexterity in their attack and try to trouble the Souths with their kicking game. They may pressure the fresh talent, Jye Gray, possibly exploiting a height advantage in their backs against the nuggety Souths fullback. Adam Doueihi will have to step up as one of the club leaders. His first game back from injury was inspiring a few rounds ago, and the team needs some inspiration to at least be competitive after last round's performance. Doueihi was one of the better players in the previous round, being the only player to get past 100 run meters for the game. He has the ability he needs the team to get on board. With Alex Seyfarth out for the game, they must rely on some fire in the middle from John Bateman. Not one to shy away from the challenge; it's the Englishman's fire in defence that can spur the team to keep it the game. With all the talk about Stefano Utoikamanu, the club needs to see the talented forward take the Souths' pack on in attack. Utoikamanu is critical to Wests laying a foundation in the middle, allowing the halves the ball to backs like Charlie Staines and Jahream Bula.

FAVOURITE: The Tigers are yet to show any real threat in the competition. They have leaked 138 points in their last three games. Off the back of one of their worst performances this year, they are not considered in the winner's circle.

MY TIP: Souths have been playing well and were right in the game against an in-form Dolphins outfit in the last round. Judging by the spirit of some of their top players, they are likely to take Wests to town. Souths by 18.

Season definer for rivals outside the eight

The Newcastle Knights and Brisbane Broncos will fight to keep their finals hope alive when they meet at McDonald Jones Stadium on Saturday evening.

Coming off a dispiritingly poor showing on the road last week, the Newcastle Knights will return home determined to make amends for recent and historical losses.

Suffering an embarrassing 44-6 defeat at the hands of the Sea Eagles without three of their representative stars, coach Adam O'Brien will be banking on Kalyn Ponga, Dane Gagai and Bradman Best backing up 72 hours after the State of Origin decider on Wednesday evening.

The Knights could also welcome back Tyson Gamble from a fractured foot after the former Brisbane playmaker was included on an extended bench following two months on the sidelines.

Claiming their most recent victory over Brisbane in 2021, and their last at McDonald Jones Stadium in 2019, the Knights hold a 50% record from eight home matches this season.

Plummeting to 13th on the ladder following six straight losses, the Brisbane Broncos will be treating Saturday evening as a must-win encounter if they are to recover over the final third of the season.

Matching the Dragons for tries only to be undone by goal kicking in a 30-26 defeat at home last Saturday, coach Kevin Walters has named his quartet of Origin stars – Reece Walsh, Selwyn Cobbo, Partick Carrigan and Payne Haas – on an extended bench alongside halfback Adam Reynolds with a call on their fitness to be made closer to kick-off.

New Zealand Maori representative Jesse Arthars will make his 50th appearance for the club; the 25-year-old outside back joined the Broncos from the Titans in 2020 and spent a season on-loan with the Warriors before establishing himself in the top grade last season.

Winning their past four meetings against the Knights at all venues, the Broncos have thrived in Newcastle over the past two decades with 10 wins and a draw from 16 visits.

WHO TO WATCH: Making an immediate impression in the NRL after leaving Super League as a premiership winner, Kai Pearce-Paul has defied expectations in his first season down under. Regarded as an attacking edge forward with a penchant for offloads, the 23-year-old English international has impressed with his durability and defensive capacity. Averaging 33 tackles each week and playing less than 80 minutes only twice, look for Pearce-Paul to continue his impressive season and push for his first try in the top grade.

Making his first grade debut in Newcastle while still a teenager two years ago, Ezra Mam has developed into game-breaking playmaker in a short period of time. Considered a genuine contender for the Queensland number six jersey weeks out from the representative season, the 21-year-old has been a consistent attacking force with 11 try assists to go with eight four-pointers of his own this season. Enjoying great fortune against the Knights throughout his career, look for Mam to feature prominently as the Broncos strive to break their run of losses.

FAVOURITE: The Broncos are expected to extend their dominant record over the Knights – despite going two months without a win.

MY TIP: If the Knights are able to line up with their representative stars in tow, the home side should be able to extend the Broncos misfortune to seven straight losses. Knights by 8.

MATCH PREVIEW

Kelly HOLLIS

Will the Storm weather the Roosters' attack?

When these teams last met in Round 7, the Storm secured a gritty 18-12 win in Sydney, with Xavier Coates making a significant impact. The Storm's fortress at AAMI Park has seen them lose only one game this year, and they come into this match on a five-game winning streak.

The Melbourne Storm had a week off in Round 19, giving them ample time to prepare for this crucial clash. Coming off a dominant win over the Wests Tigers at Leichhardt Oval in Round 18, the Storm displayed their attacking prowess, although the 28 points conceded was the second-highest against them this season. Sitting at the top of the table with 13 wins, the Storm are four points clear of Penrith. A victory here could see them extend their lead further, especially if the Panthers falter against the Dolphins.

With Bronson Garlick set to miss the game due to a back injury, Harry Grant has been named to back up after State of Origin Game 3. Nick Meany returns from a calf injury, slotting back into the centres, which pushes Grant Anderson to the wing and Kane Bradley out of the team. Nelson Asofa-Solomona is named on the interchange, with Tui Kamikamica starting in the forward pack.

The Sydney Roosters also had a bye in Round 19, following a commanding 42-12 win over the Dragons in Round 18. Currently sitting in third place with 11 wins, the Roosters are in excellent form. They have won their last four games convincingly and boast the best attack in the competition. Over their last four wins, they've amassed 136 points, showcasing their offensive firepower.

In team news for the Roosters, Lindsay Collins, Angus Crichton, Connor Watson, and Spencer Leniu have all been named to back up after State of Origin Game 3, which would be huge for the tri-colours. The return of Joseph Sua'ali'i, who served his four-match ban after State of Origin Game 1, and Victor Radley, who is returning from concussion protocols, will also help to bolster the Roosters' lineup. With Jared Waerea-Hargreaves spending some time on the sideline, Terrell May moves into the starting forward pack with Sandon Smith and Naufahu Whyte added to the bench.

WHO TO WATCH: Looking to start stringing some games together before the final series approaches, Melbourne's fullback Ryan Papenhuyzen will be looking to bring back the form he has shown in times before his intense injuries. Against the current Australian fullback, this game will allow Paps to show what he has

After spending a month on the sideline for a high hit on Reece Walsh in Game 1 of State of Origin, Roosters centre Joseph Sua'ali'i will be looking to redeem himself after missing so much game time. Leading into this game, Sua'ali'i scored 26 tries in 56 games and averages 135 run meters per game.

FAVOURITE: Despite the Storm's impressive record at AAMI Park, the Roosters are slight favourites to end Melbourne's five-game winning streak and extend their own.

MY TIP: This is a tough one to call with both sides near the top of the table. If their Origin players back up well, the Roosters will have the edge across the field. This game previews what we can expect in the finals, with both teams being realistic premiership contenders. It should certainly be close. Roosters by 2.

MATCH PREVIEW

Beth NICHOLLS

The Dolphins are on the quest to make their first finals appearance, whilst the Panthers are sitting inside the top four and looking to make the Grand Final for the fifth year in a row.

Penrith have won eleven games and lost five, where they sit in second place, already having all three of their byes, their third of which being last week. They most recently took on the Broncos in the second Grand Final Rematch, where they won 14-6, and showed strong sides in defence. Having an easy run home, the Panthers have high certainty of locking in a top four, if not top two, position on the ladder.

The home side are in for a big boost, with Nathan Cleary returning after suffering a hamstring injury in Round 10 against the Bulldogs. With many of the Panthers players representing NSW, Jarome Luai, Brian To'o and Liam Martin are listing among the reserves, whilst Isaah Yeo and Dylan Edwards are being rested. This sees Brad Schneider named at 5/8, Daine Laurie at fullback, with Luke Garner and Matthew Eisenhuth in the starting forwards.

After finishing in tenth place last year, the Dolphins have had a solid season so far, currently sitting in sixth place with nine wins and seven losses, they are one of the many teams in the tight race for the eight in the final third of the season. Last week they beat the Rabbitohs 36-38, but that wasn't an easy win with the Rabbitohs attempting to make a last-minute comeback, but unable to get the job done.

Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow and Felise Kaufusi have been named in the starting 17, looking to back up come Sunday after the Game III Origin clash on Wednesday. Trai Fuller keeps a spot in the starting 17 as well pushing Sean O'Sullivan to 18th man, whilst Euan Aitkin is looking to spend a stint on the sidelines due to a pectoral injury suffered last week.

These sides met once in 2023, with Penrith coming out on top, winning 24-14, and they will be looking to continue this "streak" this year.

WHO TO WATCH: All eyes will be on Nathan Cleary, who is playing just his sixth game this year. Since losing Cleary in Round 10, Penrith have won four of their matches without him, whilst losing the other six. In the five games that Cleary has played he has made five try assists and four line break assists.

Having missed the past three games due to injury and Origin camp, the Dolphins will be welcoming back Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow with open arms (although it must be noted that Trai Fuller has done an amazing job in the fullback position in the Hammer's absence). In his eight appearances, the Tabuai-Fidow has scored nine tries (including a double and hat trick), made two try assists and seven line breaks.

FAVOURITE: Penrith are favoured to get their twelfth win of the season and hold on to their top two position.

MY TIP: The Panthers will be fired up with the return of Nathan Cleary and an excited home crowd cheering them on. Although the Dolphins have had some strong form this year, I don't think it will be enough to get them over the line against the Panthers at Penrith. Panthers by 12.

AJ LUCANTONIO

The man known as the Mad Scientist in Des Hasler will prepare his troops to take on the Harvard graduate in Anthony Seibold in what promises to be a heated Sunday arvo at Brookvale Oval.

For Manly, this season has been one of confusion. We say that because there's been occasions where they have beaten the best in the comp, they have beaten the top three teams this season. But then the next, they are in an arm-wrestle and lose to a team that is inferior to them on the ladder. They have started to find their groove in recent weeks and having Turbo at the back last start certainly helped.

The question for Manly is how do you frustrate an improved side in the Titans against a coach that will be searching for revenge. It's quite simple, win the middle and earn the right to play good ball footy. That's what Manly's middle did last weekend and earlier in the season on the Gold Coast. They also need to shut down David Fifita, he will be looking for a point to prove regardless of the outcome of Origin III to prove Billy Slater wrong for not picking him. Manly also need to match the energy that comes from Randall, we all know what a back-fence bandit Nathan Brown is. So the challenge is on him, to reduce Randall's scheming through the middle.

Onto the team cards, DCE and Jurbo will back up which means no room for debutant hero Jamie Humphries. Brown reverts to prop while Tof Sipley moves to the bench. Ben Trbojevic returns from concussion protocols on the bench and Taniela Paseka is listed among the reserves as he looks to return from a thumb injury.

Des Hasler left the Eagles in what could be described as controversial circumstances two seasons ago. While we could go into that sordid affair once more, it's time to focus on the football. The Titans started the year poorly as they battled injuries and inconsistency. But now, there is starting to become a blueprint in how the Titans play football and that goes on defence. For the last few seasons, there's been no denying that the Titans are a great attacking team, it's just defence that let them down. But, since their first win of the season, the club has only conceded over 30 points on two occasions which they deserve immense credit for.

To beat Manly, they need to shut down their speed-men of Saab, Garrick and Turbo. Much like the Titans did against Parramatta, they were able to massacre an opposing team's edge with speed, speed and more speed. Alofiana Khan-Pereria will be opposite Saab this time around, so we might get one heck of a sprint race at Brookvale. However, their attack has improved and their middles have lifted in the absence of Tino and Jaimin Jolliffe. Chris Randall has improved out of sight, being a constant energiser bunny through the middle while Sam Verrills is crafty as ever out of 9.

Onto the team cards and Mo Fotuaika will back-up following the decider and he's named at prop. Elsewhere, Josiah Pahulu reverts to the bench while Keano Kini moves back to fullback while the club takes a cautious approach with AJ Brimson.

WHO TO WATCH: Let's focus on Tommy Talau. Unwanted by the Tigers in 2024, Talau took a significant gamble by joining the Eagles. Since winning a spot in the team back in Round 2, he hasn't taken a backward step being one of Manly's unsung heroes of the 2024 season. Talau has averaged 141 metres along with 38 tackle-breaks this season. Watch for Talau to work hard on his own end and add to his try tally of 12 in 15 matches.

For the Titans, I am going to be focusing on Sam Verrills. Verrills has had an up and down time on the Coast and it's been a slow burn for him. He had a limited role on the bench to start, but given Randall's emergence through the middle, it has allowed Sammy to go back and play his natural position with great results. Verrills has caused headaches for opposition teams around the play the ball and it allows guys like Campbell, Foran and Brimson to cause carnage out wide for opposition teams. Look for Verrills to inflict some pain on his junior club.

FAVOURITE: Given Manly is at home where they have been great in 2024, they go into this deserved favourites. Gold Coast did spring an upset here last season by the tune of 26-10.

MY TIP: It's a really interesting affair this one, I can sense it going either way but I believe with Manly just hovering around the bottom half of the eight and needing a win to get some security. This is the match to stand up, Des will have his boys primed for a Brookvale ambush so I am expecting a physical and close encounter. Manly by 4.

THINGS TO KNOW

- Cowboys have won just 3 of their last 9 games at QLD Country Bank Stadium. In 15 of their last 20 games at home, the Cowboys have conceded at least 20 points.
- This week will be the second time (after Round 18) that the Bulldogs have been placed in the top 5 since the 2016 season.
- Heilum LUKI has played 49 NRL games.

MATCH PREVIEW

Run to September begins for Cowboys and Bulldogs in crucial clash

The Cowboys and Bulldogs will want to keep their momentum rolling when they clash in a match that could be heavily effected by Origin.

The Cowboys are still licking their wounds from a narrow golden point loss to Manly prior to their Round 19 bye-just their second loss in 7 matches. Scott Drinkwater was at his best out the back, while Jeremiah Nanai and Rueben Cotter showed why their Origin players and Jason Taumalolo ran for over 200 metres, however disappointing performances from Chad Townsend and Tom Dearden cruelled their chances.

Todd Payten has named all 5 of his origin reps in the reserves and will make a call later in the week as to whether or not they back up. Semi Valemei is also in the reserves as he nears a return from an ankle injury. Jaxon Purdue, Jake Clifford, Jake Granville, Kulikefu Finefeuiaki and Sam McIntyre were named in the starting side but could drop out if Origin stars back up.

The Dogs by contrast picked up a second straight golden point win before their own Round 19 bye, downing the Warriors 13-12 after Matt Burton iced the win in the 89th minute. Burton was brilliant, as was halves partner Toby Sexton as well as forwards Max King, Reed Mahoney, Viliame Kikau and Josh Curran.

In a bitter blow King has been sidelined and could miss the rest of 2024 with a wrist injury. Josh Curran moves from the bench to starting prop as a result while Jacob Preston returns from a foot injury in the back row. Poasa Faamausili is the new man on the bench. Skipper Stephen Crichton has been named to back up from Origin while Blues 18th man Matt Burton and Maroons reserve Reed Mahoney are also set to play.

The Cowboys defence has improved dramatically throughout the second half of the season, and that could play to their advantage against a Bulldogs outfit that has shown some weakness with their attacking game. By contrast however should the Cowboys Origin stars not back up, the Dogs defence could be what wins them the game.

WHO TO WATCH: Regardless of whether or not the Cowboys stars back up, Scott Drinkwater will be their key to winning this one. He's run for over 200 metres in two of the Cowboys last three games, including 280 metres against Manly. Throw in 11 try contributions in the last 7 and you see one of the big reasons as to why the club has turned around their season to be on the brink of the finals.

The return of Jacob Preston could prove crucial for the Bulldogs, especially given the loss of Max King. Preston's 2024 has been interrupted by injury but he's been superb, with 5 tries in 9 games to go along with 33 tackles a game at an efficiency of almost 97%. If he can hit the ground running against the Cowboys, it will go a long way to helping the Dogs win the battle of the packs.

FAVOURITE: The Cowboys have been installed as favourites, presumably on the assumption their Origin stars back up.

MY TIP: As the squads are named I believe the Bulldogs have a clear edge, but that doesn't hold up if the Cowboys stars do back up. Cowboys by 8.

WIRE MAKE IT THREE STRAIGHT AT HALLLIWELL JONES STADIUM

The Warrington Wolves have won three games on the bounce after a dominant first half to defeat the Leeds Rhinos by 30-18. Warrington started with early field position and crashed over for the opening try of the contest. A well weighted grubber kick from George Williams was grounded first by Matty Ashton and the Wire had an early 6-0 lead after just two minutes. That lead was extended minutes later thanks to another Wire try. Danny Walker took off from dummy half through some amateur defence before linking up with Matt Dufty and the Wolves were already out to a 12-0 lead. Leeds quickly responded in front of new acting coach Brad Arthur and were looking to stay competitive. Fortunately, they were next to score thanks to David Fusitu'a. Brodie Croft delivered a well-weighted cross-field kick, and it was caught spectacularly by Fusitu'a to get the margin back to eight points. The rest of the first half was a slug fest, but four minutes before the break, the Wire struck with brutal efficiency. Dufty crossed (36th minute) after weaving his way through some poor defence. Roderick Tai added another before the half-time siren after Jack Sinfield nailed kick which was ricochet to Tai to make the scores 24-4 at the break.

Leeds responded well to start the second half with two tries in the opening 10 minutes of the second stanza. Lachie Miller crossed to give the Rhinos life, before Williams' sin-binning gave newfound energy to the Rhinos. This saw Ned McCormack cross for his maiden SL try and cut the gap further. But, the Rhinos failed to execute and Warrington capitalised crossing through Tom Whitehead to put the game beyond doubt. A late try to Paul Momirovski did little to help Leeds' cause with Arthur having work to do in his limited cameo to try and get the Rhinos into semi-finalists.

TIGER REVIVAL WIPES OUT BRONCOS AT KUFFLINK STADIUM

The Castleford Tigers have recorded back to back victories, downing the hapless London Broncos away from home today. Cas had all the early running, crossing for the game's opening two tries inside the first ten minutes. Tex Hoy has found himself at home since departing Hull FC and crossed for the first try after just four minutes. Hoy crossed for an individual try when he scooped the ball out of dummy half and caught London asleep at the wheel to score. Five minutes later, the run continued when the halves and Hoy combined to send Innes Senior away down the sideline to score in the corner to make it 12-0. London responded well and were next to score after 23 minutes. A cross-field kick from Oliver Leyland couldn't be defused and Josh Rourke was there to take the ball and score, this reduced the gap to just eight points. The Tigers added two quick tries before the break to put the game seemingly out of London's reach. Alex Mellor crossed for the first of his two tries after 29 minutes after hitting a great hole from a scrum. Cas were having strong success down their left edge and went there again as Senior was able to capitalise and cross for his second try and it was 22-4. The Broncos were on the ropes but fortunately for them, they crossed for a try before the break to stay in the contest. Leyland again turned provider with a lovely pass to Will Lovell to cut the gap to 14 at the break.

The Tigers started strongly in the second half, adding the hammer blows after 53 minutes. Jacob Miller was carving up and set up another try with a clean break before finding Mellor to score. Miller had his fourth try-assist of the game and Mellor had his second try. Two minutes later, Rowan Milnes backed up another break down the left edge to make the score 34-8. London added two consolation tries in the last twenty to make the score competitive. Marcus Stock crossed with twenty to go. Stock had the ball stripped from him legally, but he was able to win the race to the loose ball. After several replays, he video referee awarded the try for the London interchange forward. Lewis Bienek crossed with ten to go crashing through some soft defence to reduce the gap to 14 points.

Wigan have continued St Helens' recent Super League collapse after dropping their third game in a row following a 16-12 loss this evening. Matty Lees was yellow carded for high contact in the first set of the game. The decision looked incredibly harsh as the Wigan player was slipping and stayed down waiting for the video ref intervention. Despite the controversial start, the Saints were able to hang on and keep their line in tact. After the roughening up period, Saints responded well and crossed for the first try after 19 minutes. Some creative work around the ruck from Daryl Clark put Curtis Sironen through a hole before finding Harry Robertson in space before linking up with Jack Welsby to make it 6-0. Wigan responded efficiently and thoroughly three minutes later. A well worked set play to the left edge saw Zach Eckersley into space before passing to his support man in Jake Wardle to level the scores at the break.

The second half began in a tense affair, as both sides tried to gain ascendency. St Helens responded strongly and got themselves back in front. Johnny Lomax again hit a short ball to Sironen who stood in the tackle before finding Waqa Blake who touched down in the corner to make it 12-6 with just over 20 to play. Wigan again responded with dynamic force to level the scores. Eckersley was causing chaos, he again stood in the tackle as Saints couldn't tackle him and he was almost over the line. But. from the next play the Warriors levelled the scores. Some interchanging passing saw the ball end up with Adam Keighran cross to make it 12-12. The Warriors crossed to win the game with 12 and a half to go after a well worked move to the right edge. Eckersley was the hardest man to tackle all night, having eight tackle breaks and two line-breaks. After looking so damaging, he was rewarded with a try of his own that secured another win for Wigan as they charge towards the minor premiership.

ROVERS' DERBY DOMINANCE CONTINUES AT MKM STADIUM

The Hull Derby has ended in triumph for Rovers with a 24-10 win over Hull FC. Rovers opened in flying style. A brilliant out the back pass from Matt Parcell sent Sauaso Sue over the line after just four minutes. The front rower crashed his way over, beating several defenders on his way to the line to lead 6-0. The hot start continued just nine minutes later. Mikey Lewis joined the scorers sheet after Parcell continued causing havoc around the play the ball. Once again scheming around the ruck, the Aussie hooker timed his offload to Lewis perfectly to cross the stripe and it was looking like a repeat of earlier this season. It was soon giving the black and whites PTSD when Matty Storton crossed in the seventeenth minute of action. Another brilliant dart from Parcell gave Rovers quick ruck speed. This gave Rovers momentum and Tyrone May was able to link up with Storton to cross and the Rovers were keeping pace with the clock after 18 minutes. Fortunately, Hull FC stemmed the bleeding for the remainder of the first half and it remained 18-0 as the teams enjoyed a rest. Clearly what Simon Grix said struck a nerve with the black and whites as they crossed for two quick tries in the second half to reduce the gap.

A well worked set play to the left saw the opening try of the half. Lewis Martin was on the end of a sweeping move which saw him touch down in the corner. FC quickly got a second, capitalising on Joe Burgess' sin-binning for a professional foul. Jordan Lane and Ligi Sao linked up to break the Rovers line. From the ensuing play, Logan Moy then crossed and after a lengthy video referral, the try was given and the gap was eight. Despite their best efforts, the black and whites couldn't strike. Elliott Minchella sealed the deal for Rovers in the game's dying moments. Ryan Hall broke away down the right and kicked back in field. An awful mix-up allowed Minchella to touch down and seal a win for Rovers by 24-10.

LEOPARDS DOWN IN-CRISIS GIANTS AT LEIGH SPORTS VILLAGE

It was a controversial affair in Leigh as the Leopards did just enough to down Huddersfield by 20-16 who themselves capped off a dramatic week after the dismissal of Ian Watson. Huddersfield had that new coach bounce early with Luke Robinson's men crossing for the first try after just six and a half minutes. A well worked move down the left edge caught the Leigh defence asleep and it was Elliott Wallis who crossed untouched to give the Giants a 4-0 lead. It took Leigh a while to warm into the contest despite some near misses. From a scrum move in attacking territory, the Leopards struck back after 26 minutes of action. Umaya Hanley drew in some shaky edge defence to find Darnell McIntosh to cross in the right corner and it remained level after Matt Moylan's missed conversion. Moylan atoned for the miss when he added a penalty shot after a high shot from Harry Rushton and it remained 6-4 at the break.

The second half started well for the Giants as Jake Connor split the shaky Leigh defence to restore the lead for Huddersfield back to two points. The refereeing entered the spotlight in the second half, after Leigh thought they got the ball back from a penalty kick. But in an officiating blunder, the touch judge waved a kick for touch out, despite the ball not bouncing over the sideline. Tempers erupted further after 55 minutes after a dangerous tackle from Chris Hill, this saw the front rower and Jack Hughes (for flaring the situation up) binned and we were 12 v 12, Moylan added a penalty goal to level the scores. It wasn't that way for long with Andre Savelio sent off with 20 to go after a high shoulder charge to the head of Robbie Mulhern. Despite being down to 11, Connor put the Giants in front with a penalty goal with 17 to go and Leigh had to act quickly. Lachie Lam got through a half-gap before unloading to Kai O'Donnell who ran the best part of 15 metres to restore the lead back in arour of the Leopards. The Leopards sealed the deal with 10 to go when Zak Hardaker crossed following brilliant lead-up work by Moylan. The Giants managed a consolation try with Wallis awarded a penalty try following a professional foul by Hughes. Despite the late efforts, Huddersfield couldn't get the last play to stick and had to settle for another loss.

CATALANS NIL SHOCKING SALFORD AT STADE GILBERT BRUTUS

Catalans have put a week of controversy behind them to shut out the Salford Red Devils by 20-0 at home. The club had sacked Sio Siua Taukeiaho, Jayden Nikorima and Damel Diakhate after allegedly skipping training and club events to attend a concert. The home side started strongly and crossed for first points in bizarre fashion. A clearing kick by César Rougé was ricochet into a Salford player before Bayley Sironen picked the ball up on half-way. Sironen ran to the 30m line before giving a suspect pass back to Rougé to cross for the opening try after six minutes of play. The conversion attempt by Arthur Mourgue was successful and things looked promising from the home side's point of view. Five minutes later, the Dragons shifted the ball to the left edge and came up with yet another try. A Rougé cross-field kick was collected by Fouad Yaha, who then kicked the ball back in field. The ball was cleverly scooped up by Arthur Romano who crossed for the first of his two tries. Despite having to go upstairs, the video referee quickly gave the green lights to the Dragons' centre. Mourgue converted for 12-0. After a back and forth affair for the remainder of the first half. Catalans decided to play some expansive football in Salford's end and crossed for their third of the opening forty. Ben Carcia stood in the tackle and offloaded to Chris Satae. He managed to find a pass to Mike McIlorum who shifted it again to the right and a clever Rougé grubber found Romano to cross for his second of the half and the Dragons led 18-0 at the change of ends.

An early second half penalty saw the Dragons extend their margin to 20 points in the second half and that's where it stayed. Salford didn't offer much in attack throughout the second half and despite a near miss, they didn't allow Catalans to cross the line for the remainder of the second half. The Devils remain in the top six with critical matches to come in their season.
