NRL ROUND 3 WRAP

PENRITH 34 BRISBANE 12

CLEARY GUIDES PENRITH TO DOMINANT VICTORY

AJ LUCANTONIO

A superstar performance from Nathan Cleary has guided Penrith to a 34-12 win over a Broncos side who lost Reece Walsh to a facial injury in the opening minutes.

The match began with a frantic pace early and it was a superstar that got caught in the firing line. Walsh was aggressive into the line but collided heads with Taylan May and was forced to leave the field after 4 minutes and didn't return. To the shock of everyone at Penrith, the referee placed May on report for the contact and Kotoni Staggs added a penalty goal for an early 2-0 lead. That was as close as the Broncos got in the first half, as Penrith very quickly put their opposition in a vice-like grip and kept them there for the remainder of the first half. Off the back of a six again, the Panthers camped down the Broncos end and it was the familiar combination of Isaah Yeo and Cleary who combined nicely. Cleary then provided a lovely pass to Sunia Turuva who dived across for the opening try of the contest after thirteen minutes to lead by two points. For the second week in a row, Izack Tago found himself opposite a second-rower after the reshuffle which saw Brendan Piakura shift to the centres, and after going down the Brisbane left for the first try. The Panthers went back there again and Tago showcased his strength, power and speed to cross for the home side's second try crashing over the top of multiple defenders to score and lead 10-2. Three minutes later, Mitch Kenny took a dart from a dummy half and fooled Billy Walters to crash over for a try. There was a suggestion of a double movement but the bunker confirmed it. Right on half-time, Cleary again showcased his masterful playmaking and delivered a magical short-ball to Tago to crash across in the shadows of half-time for a 22-2 lead.

The second half began just how the first ended. To start the second stanza, they go down the left edge this time and they expose Jordan Riki out of position this time and the quick hands of the "Head-Gear Trio" of Jarome Luai, May and Brian To'o combine to score first in the second half. Cleary was able to doink it off the posts for a 28-2 lead. To'o quickly added a second when he received a magical pass from Luai and ran straight over the top of the much bigger Fletcher Baker to extend the margin out to 32. Brisbane got a reward when Selwyn Cobbo broke through on a monster kick return. They earned a set restart and worked the ball right with Cobbo injecting himself in the back-line and finding Deine Mariner who crossed to get Brisbane's first after 55 patient minutes. Five minutes later, Ezra Mam sneaks down the sideline, passing it almost certainly forward to Piakura who broke down field before finding Jesse Arthars who bumped away from Dylan Edwards to cross for their second unanswered try, Staggs converted for some extra respectability on the score-board at 34-12.

CANTERBURY 32 GOLD COAST 0

BULLDOGS FIND THEIR BARK IN BELMORE HOMECOMING

ROB CROSBY

It was a day to remember for the blue and white faithful as the Canterbury-Bankstown Bulldogs trounced the Gold Coast Titans 32-0 to post their first win of the season.

Scoring six unanswered tries, while keeping an opposition scoreless for the first time since the final round of the 2021 season, the win marked the first time the Bulldogs held a team to nil at Belmore since 1996. Surviving an early

NORTH QLD 46 ST GEO ILLA 24

COWBOYS FINISH EMPHATICALLY TO LAP DRAGONS

AJ LUCANTONIO

A rampaging comeback from the North Queensland Cowboys has propelled them to the top of the ladder with a 46-24 verdict over St George Illawarra at Kogarah.

The game began frantically with both sides starting in the set for set grind. However, four minutes in. The Dragons conceded a penalty and they were pushed down the other end by the Cowboys forward pack who worked the ball down the right. It took a magical pass by Scott Drinkwater which found Murray Taulagi on the chest and he crossed in the corner. Val Holmes' conversion was waved away and it was an early lead. St George quickly imposed themselves crossing for three quick tries in the space of eight minutes to go out to a surprise 18-4 lead. First, in the ninth minute, the ball was worked well over to the right edge and Zac Lomax quickly took the footy and ran it around underneath the posts to get the lead. Four minutes later, Benny Hunt drew in

WARRIORS 18 CANBERRA 10

WARRIORS OPEN THEIR ACCOUNT IN CHRISTCHURCH

AIDAN EDGECOMB

A superb team performance from New Zealand featuring grit and spark gets them their first win of 2024 - triumphing 18-10 over the Canberra Raiders.

Addin Fonua-Blake was the story of the first half, scoring a try inside the first 10 minutes off a beautiful Shaun Johnson pass, and nearly crossing a second time in what was a dominant performance up the middle. It stayed 6-0 for most of the first 40, as New Zealand cautiously controlled the tempo.

Some solo brilliance from Matthew Timoko put Canberra back in the game, with Jamal Fogarty's kicks keeping the milk in with a chance. Canberra looked like scoring again before half time, with a few silly errors from The Warriors putting them in a vulnerable position. Ethan Strange showed his craftiness at 5/8 by regularly threatening New Zealand's try line, but the hosts defence held strong and they ultimately took a narrow 6-4 lead into the break.

Young fullback Taine Tuaupiki looked elusive to start the second half, with sharp footwork causing plenty of headaches for the visitors. Unfortunately, a 48th minute HIA which he ultimately failed cut his night short, forcing returning superstar Roger Tuivasa-Sheck to shift to fullback. Although they soon were gifted a golden opportunity through a penalty, strong Canberra defence forced an error. To make matters worse, the hosts conceded a penalty only a couple sets later to give The Raiders their first attacking chance of the second half. The new-look Warriors backline struggled with their defensive reads, and winger Marcelo Montoya shot up out of his line and left an overlap for Nick Cotric to score a simple try. After Fogarty converted from the sideline, Canberra led 10-6 and seemed right on top with 25 minutes to go and New Zealand down their fullback. After a confusing bunker referral, The Warriors were handed possession and began to build pressure. Ricky Stuart's men struggled to keep their composure, giving away a penalty and providing an opening for their opponents. New Zealand spread the ball wide, but Dallin Watene-Zelezniak cut against the grain and ran back field, finding a beautiful hole for 5/8 Luke Metcalf to scoot through and score. Suddenly, after a successful conversion the hosts were back in front with a 12-10 lead. A Nick Cotric error gave New Zealand good field position, and they took no time capitilising. Interim fullback Roger Tuivasa-Sheck broke the line to score, in a show of strength and determination. Metcalf converted, and New Zealand were 8 in front with only 13 minutes to play, leaving Canberra firmly under the pump. Backed by a fired-up Christchurch crowd, the iron grip began to tighten and desperate defence shut down any attacking effort The Raiders seemed to make. Although a scrappy last 5 minutes saw Canberra attack New Zealand's line a number of times, a lack of composure blew any fighting chance they had to pull off a miracle win.

scare after Kieran Foran dropped a pass from AJ Brimson with an open run to the try line, the Bulldogs were left to rue a missed opportunity of their own with the bunker overturning a try to Blake Wilson due to an obstruction in the lead up. Fan favourite Jacob Preston (17th minute) endeared himself to the Belmore faithful with the opening try of the game, running onto a pass from Drew Hutchison close to the line. In an opening half which saw both sides lack cohesion, Viliame Kikau (30th minute) charged down a clearing kick from Tanah Boyd to extend the lead for the home side. The Titans managed to hold their line for multiple sets late in the half but were unable to strike back with points of their own as the Bulldogs took a 12-0 lead to the sheds.

some poor Cowboys defence (Holmes in particular) and broke through before finding Tyrell Sloan as he raced away to score. Five minutes after that, Kyle Flanagan beat some defenders that should know better in Reuben Cotter and Jason Taumalolo to cross for their third of the opening quarter hour and it was a three possession lead. It should've been a 20 point margin when Hunt put boot to ball and Ray Faitala-Mariner put it down with the biggest bombed try so far of 2024. That play was a complete pendulum swing in favour of the visitors. North Queensland responded after Reece Robson delivered a great deception of his old club's defensive line and Sam McIntyre crossed for his first try as a Cowboy to reduce the gap to eight. With eight to go in the first half, a clever grubber wasn't defused by Sloan and Griffin Neame placed downward pressure on the ball to get the margin cut to two. Right on the half, a pinpoint Chad Townsend bomb was batted back brilliantly by Kyle Feldt into the waiting arms of Drinkwater and despite trailing early, the Cowboys led 22-18 at the half.

The second half began just the way the first ended. St George Illawarra bombed a chance, and the Cowboys capitalised on it. Leilua delivered a peach of an offload to Flanagan. He kicked, missing the flying Sloan in support

SYDNEY 48 SOUTHS 6

ROOSTERS CELEBRATE JWH'S 300TH WITH BIG WIN

ANDREW FERGUSON

The Sydney Roosters have absolutely blitzed a mediocre Souths side on the night that Roosters prop Jared Warea-Hargreaves celebrated his 300th NRL game.

Roosters with a standard set play from a scrum in the 4th minute, sent the ball right to James Tedesco who drew the winger and the passed outside to Dominic Young wrapping around, who scores untouched in the corner. In the 16th minute, Sam Walker grubbered ahead, Cameron Murray got a hand on the ball which slowed it down. Walker followed through, toed it ahead to get past Latrell Mitchell and then he planted the ball for a crafty try. He then converted. The Roosters scored again in the 27th minute when Tedesco threw a dummy and then a glorious long ball out to the unmarked Young who raced around the edge defence before passing inside to Walker in support who skipped over the line to score. He again converted his own try. At halftime the Roosters were in complete control and lead 18-0.

An offload by Naufahu Whyte goes to ground 10 metres from the Bunnies line, before Sandon Smith kicked it off the deck to the right side where Joey Manu caught it and scored a brilliant try. Walker added the extras. Souths finally got off the mark in the 50th minute courtesy of a perfect short ball from Cody Walker to his lead runner and Jacob Host scored. Latrell Mitchell converted the try. Sam Walker copped a stray elbow to the back of his head as he went into a tackle on Jack Wighton. He walked off the field and was shortly after ruled to have a category 1 concussion, ruling him out for the remainder of the game. On the hour mark, the Roosters returned their lead to 24 points, when Sandon Smith took on the Bunnies line and then grubbered. The ball bounced up and Connor Watson leapt up, caught it and fell heavily to score. Joseph-Aukuso Suaalii converted.

A battle between Latrell Mitchell and James Tedesco over a rolling ball in the Souths in-goal ended with Mitchell pushing Tedesco away, which earned Latrell a sin-binning. From the ensuing penalty, the Roosters went right and found Manu in space and he scored easily. Suaalii converted. With 8 minutes remaining in the game, the Roosters crossed again when Young got into space, grubbered in field, then Tedesco toed it forward again, the ball popped up nicely in the Souths in-goal, Tedesco caught it and planted the ball just before the dead-ball line to score. Suaalii converted. With 3 minutes remaining, the Roosters crossed again. An Angus Crichton offload close to Souths line found Brandon Smith, he then fires a ball to the middle and hits Tedesco running a great line back infield and he dives over to score under the sticks. Suaalii converts. The Roosters finished with an immense 48-6 win.

Going close to extending their lead through Josh Curran, only for the bunker to deem an obstruction against Matt Burton moments after the resumption of play, a barge-over effort from Reed Mahoney put the Bulldogs up by three converted tries. Forcing another error out of Boyd with tremendous defensive pressure, a powerhouse run from Jacob Kiraz (53rd minute) sealed the result to give the Bulldogs only their fourth win from 13 appearances at Belmore since 2015. Piling on further points with Connor Tracey (60th minute) and Blake Taaffe (63rd minute) crossing for their first tries in blue and white colours, the Titans were dealt further insult to injury with captain Tino Fa'asua'aleaui assisted from the field with concerns over his knee. The 32-0 victory, played before a crowd of 12,037 supporters, was a deserved reward for underrated front-rower Max King in his 100th first grade appearance.

which forced a dropout which wasn't defused by the home side. Following a Drinkwater 40/20, the Cowboys camped up the other end and it was the rampaging Kuliketu Finefeuiaki who charged across for the first try of the second half. That 12-point turnaround proved very costly once more when Lomax failed to come down with a spectacular bomb take. From there, Holmes broke through before finding Tom Dearden who crossed. Just after the hour mark, Drinkwater delivered a great short ball to Holmes who runs between Hunt and Bird who scored his first try of the evening. Three minutes after that effort was the softest defensive effort of the night when Chad Townsend carried three defenders to the line and he was able to contort his arm to not illegally promote the ball to score to make it 46-18. St George Illawarra finished with a consolation effort when Hunt grubber kicked the ball ahead and Lomax was able to dive on it to end the night with the last try and a score of 46-24. North Queensland's effort in the final three quarters of the match was very impressive and sets a tone for the rest of the season. St George Illawarra should take positives from the first quarter, but Shane Flanagan should take the defensive effort of the final hour and blow it up completely. That isn't what the Dragons stand for defensively, and expect a big response next weekend.

WESTS TIGERS 32 CRONULLA 6

SHARKS TOOTHLESS AS TIGERS ROAR BIG WARNING

JOSH ROBERTSON

The Wests Tigers have showed things could be very different in the Benji era after they were ultra impressive in their 32-6 win over a toothless Cronulla Sharks at Leichhardt Oval.

It was actually a good start for the Sharks who dominated field position early on and Nicho Hynes looked on and it was the unlikely Tom Hazelton who got over the line first to score first. The game was an even arm-wrestle as the Tigers were slowly able to fight their way back and the wheels started to fall off the Sharks attack which continued to gift the Tigers field position and they took advantage when an Aiden Sezer kick was tapped back to Isaiah Papali'i who scored. Dominance began to grow for the Tigers as Api Koroisau's dominance continued when he looked to go out the back from dummy half before he elected to go short to Alex Seyfarth who went through with pure ease. The first half ended perfectly for the home side and it was Api Koroisau who went through some very soft defence and Justin Olam went through to score.

The Sharks needed a big second half but it was anything but that as they lost the plot conceding a penalty goal soon after half time when Justin Olam copped a high shot and then Jesse Ramien was penalised for just shoving over the man playing the ball. Cronulla then gifted the Tigers points as Braydon Trindall kicked the ball back into his own in-goal area and then failed to clean the ball up as the Tigers pounced. Things turned into a bit of slogfest between the two sides though things hadn't improved for the Sharks as they continued to struggle and it was Jahream Bula who added a second sliding through some pretty average defence from the Sharks again.

PARRAMATTA 28 MANLY 24

EELS DOWN SEA EAGLES IN THRILLER ANDREW JACKSON

The Parramatta Eels have handed the Manly Sea Eagles their first loss of the 2024 season, holding on for a thrilling 28-24 win at CommBank Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

The Sea Eagles were challenging the clock early in Sunday's game, racing out to an 8-0 lead after just seven minutes as Parramatta's left edge was torn to shreds. Tom Trbojevic finished off a linebreak he set up in the fifth minute as he first put Reuben Garrick away before trailing in support and Parramatta's left side opened up again a few sets later.

On that occasion it was a simple draw and pass to put Jaxson Paulo over, sounding serious alarm bells for coach Brad Arthur as the combination of first-game rookie Blaize Talagi and Morgan Harper continued to struggle defensively. That try had the Sea Eagles up 14-0 after 13 minutes but the injection of Ryan Matterson and Junior Paulo off the bench paid dividends for the hosts, sparking Parramatta's attack to life with second-phase play through the middle. It also helped that Manly started to make a few errors to gift the Eels opportunities, leading to a simple try for Will Penisini in the 18th minute off a Mitchell Moses kick. That second-phase play eventually led the points directly too as Paulo popped a late offload to put Moses over in the 25th minute as suddenly Parramatta only trailed 14-12.

Talagi then celebrated his debut with a try as quick hands from Moses off a scrum set play saw the centre power over Trbojevic to give Parramatta an unlikely 16-14 lead after 34 minutes. For all of the positives in attack, the Eels' left edge defence still remained a work in progress though and was exposed once more in the final moments of the half as Garrick scored to put Manly ahead 18-16 at halftime. Paulo had 85 metres and three offloads in the first half while Matterson had 52 metres to his name. As for Manly, Garrick and Paulo feasted on Parramatta's inexperienced left edge on the way to 144 metres between them to go with five tackle busts, four linebreaks and two tries.

That Eels left edge though continued to produce points as the second half opened with Harper going over untouched in the 43rd minute to see the home side regain the lead. Struggling for field position, Manly conceded again in the 59th minute as a bullet pass from Moses put former Sea Eagles forward Kelma Tuilagi over as the Eels went ahead 26-18. Manly looked to have hit back in the 65th minute as Luke Brooks brilliantly turned it back on the inside to a charging Trbojevic, who then somehow fit a pass through a tight window for Tolutau Koula to run away and score. But the Bunker later took the try off the board, ruling Jake Trbojevic had obstructed Luca Moretti in the lead-up by denying the forward a chance to get to the Sea Eagles fullback. Parramatta later slotted a penalty goal up the other end to push ahead 28-18 before a determined effort down the short side from Corey Waddell set up a grandstand finish entering the final six minutes. In the end the Eels just held on to hand the Sea Eagles their first loss of the year.

NEWCASTLE 14 MELBOURNE 12

KNIGHTS HOLD OUT STORM IN HUNTER SCRAP ANDY P

Newcastle have held out Melbourne with a 14-12 win at McDonald Jones Stadium today, despite being kept scoreless after halftime.

The Knights went into today's game, looking down the barrel of a 0-3 start to the season - and the pressure was on not to let the home crowd down. Melbourne travelled north with a team missing some key players from the spine, as well as a couple of big boppers in the middle. The game was a battle of field position as Cogger and Pezet traded kicks to advantage their teams better. It was an arm wrestle until about the 15-minute mark when Kalyn Ponga started to get involved in the plays, opening up some space on their left for Kai Pearce-Paul. A rib injury to Reimis Smith around the 20-minute mark caused a big shift for Melbourne position-wise. Kane Bradley shifted into the centres, and the Knights started to take more aim with him playing an unfamiliar spot. A quick shift by the Knights down their right side and the strength of Dane Gagai were too much as he took on three Storm players to open up the scoring for the day. There was a change in the air of McDonald Jones Stadium, and the crowd lifted a notch, and the Knights started to feed off it. With the Storm still trying to come to terms with Smith out of the play, Ponga made a skilful attack and sent a rocket of a pass to left-side winger Enari Tuala, who went over with ease for the Knights's second try. With the Storm trying to turn things around on the field, errors started to creep into their game as desperation set in to get some points. With a late attack down the Storm's right side, Will Warbrick's desperate tackle yielded a Knights penalty for stripping the ball. With that, Ponga kept his kicking record for the day and got the points for the penalty.

The Storm launched another attack at the end of the half at the Knights' line, only to make more handling errors. An error from Phoenix Crossland gave the Storm the ball back around the 47-minute mark, and they soon capitalised, putting a high ball up for Xavier Coates, who tapped it back to a willing Papehuyzen, who got the 4 points at the 49-minute mark. The next 20 minutes was an arm wrestle again for field position, with each team making handling errors and diffusing any gains made by either side. But it was Tyrann Wishart who found the Knights' defence lacking with a late attack to walk over and get the try. Nick Meaney's boot was keeping the Storm in the game, and the margin was now back to 2 points with 3 minutes to go. The Storm were unable to relive the heroics that saw them score 12 points in 3 minutes last round, and even more undermanned than when they played the Storm. The Knights' defence helped them, and there was a Storm attack around the 60-minute mark that saw Tyson Frizell stand up and push the Storm attack back. It was a fairly vanilla game from the Storm and the Knights. Only when Ponga attacked the line did the Storm get rattled, and this set the platform for the Knights to score points. The Storm were good through the middle but failed to capitalise too much, which meant the outside backs had to come in if they wanted anything. Any attacks that did were shut down by the Knights forwards.

Roosters aim to end drought against a Cleary-less Panthers

In what was billed as a blockbuster match to open Round 4 has suddenly become the Sydney Roosters best chance to end their current eight-game losing streak against the defending premiers. The 31st of August 2019 was the last time the tricolours knocked off the Penrith Panthers and their two performances last year left a lot to be desired.

A 44-point loss and a 24-point loss highlighted how the Roosters struggled against the top sides in 2023, something that has seemingly been dealt with after three rounds in 2024 with wins over Brisbane and South Sydney to begin the year. Their performance against the Rabbitohs last week was particularly impressive, taking just three minutes to open the scoring in a match which they never took their foot off the accelerator. Even with the absence of Luke Keary, the Roosters looked incredibly destructive as the halves pairing of Sandon Smith and Sam Walker toyed with their biggest rivals. Smith finished the night with two try assists and Walker scored two himself before leaving and remaining off the field after failing a Head Injury Assessment early in the second half. The Roosters were able to reverse the category ruling of Walker's injury and is therefore available for selection this week, a massive result for the club. However, Smith will be absent after suffering an elbow injury during his impressive performance. Keary has been named to return at five-eighth in Smith's absence and will look to aid Walker in continuing the Roosters auxiliary attacking performance from last week which saw James Tedesco return to the form that has become so customary over the fullback's career. Despite a dip in form in 2023, Tedesco was exemplary last week, scoring a double and assisting a try as he ran for 170 metres and broke eight tackles, making a great case for his re-selection as the New South Wales fullback. If the 31-year-old can back up that performance on Thursday night against the defending premiers, it would do his case a world of good.

What is of the most interest heading into this clash is whether the Roosters forward pack can match the intensity and discipline of the Panthers. Their pack has been on fire to start the season, and if they're to announce themselves as premiership contenders on Thursday night, a strong performance up front against the Panthers is a necessity. To make the task more difficult than it already is, Lindsay Collins will be absent with a hamstring injury, yet the tricolours have a plethora of quality forwards to come into the side as Terrel May starts in the front row and Egan Butcher joining the pine. The Roosters aren't the only side in this clash with injury concerns. News broke on Monday that 2023 Clive Churchill medallist Nathan Cleary will miss up to four weeks with a hamstring injury, subsequently ruling him out of this contest on Thursday night. The Panthers have selected to replace him and partner Jarome Luai in the halves, who you would imagine will take a heavier attacking workload in this fixture. It's a blow for the Panthers and rugby league fans alike, after Cleary put in an impressive display against the Brisbane Broncos in the Grand Final rematch last week. In his absence, a continuation of the electric performances from their outside backs such as Izack Tago and Brian To'o will be ever more crucial to the outcome of this game, and it'll be up to Luai and club debutant Brad Schneider to make sure they are provided with enough time and space to conduct their magic.

They're no stranger to playing without Cleary, who has missed a few games in each of the last couple of seasons, so they'll know what to do. It didn't hamper their performances then and it may not do so now, yet it'll give the Roosters that extra bit of belief heading into the match. Despite the attacking implications of Cleary's absence, expect the Panthers to remain dogged in defence, having conceded just 38 points so far this season, second to only the Roosters' 37 points. Even with both teams in excellent attacking form, the game may come down to who is the most resilient and disciplined team in defence which could make for a finals-like atmosphere at Allianz Stadium. The Panthers will also be without backrower Scott Sorensen who misses out with a knee injury and is replaced by Luke Garner in the starting side with Mavrik Geyer named on the bench for his NRL debut.

WHO TO WATCH: Despite playing on opposite sides of the field, two players who have been excellent to start 2024 and could very well be the stars on Thursday night are Izack Tago and Joseph Manu. Firstly, Tago tore up the Parramatta Eels and the Brisbane Broncos over the past two weeks, scoring three tries, breaking 14 tackles and making eight line breaks. The 21-year-old has been utterly destructive, thanks to the space that Cleary has created for him on the edge, and we'll have to see if the Panthers can do so without their star half. Either way, expect Tago to be in the thick of it, someone who likes to get his hands on the ball and is not afraid to take tough carry.

On the other edge, Manu has already had one of the highlights of the season for his insane flick pass in the opening round in Las Vegas. Last weekend, the New Zealand international bagged a double to help his side to a famous victory over the Roosters most prominent rivals. It's the 27-year-old's last season in the NRL (for now) before heading off to France to play Rugby Union and this could be his last chance at winning a third premiership. If that is to happen, a strong performance from Manu and the Roosters is necessary. In a season that has had so many impressive performances in the centres, Thursday night could prove to be the latest instalment of the trend.

FAVOURITE: Since the announcement of Cleary's injury, the Roosters have become the favourites to secure the two-points on Thursday night. It might be an ambitious decision, given the Roosters haven't won against Penrith in five years. MY TIP: Even with the absence of Cleary, I'm still tipping the Panthers to be good enough defensively to win this one. They're an extremely experienced side and are always up for the big contests with or without their two-time Clive Churchill medallist. The Roosters have been good to start the year, but I'm still not convinced their attack is potent enough to break down the Panthers defence. Penrith by 6.

MATCH PREVIEW Josh ROBERTSON

As traditional Good Friday afternoon action comes from Sydney Olympic Park as the South Sydney Rabbitohs play host to the Canterbury Bulldogs as both teams look to find some form as pressure builds despite the visitors picking up a win last week.

The pressure is building on the South Sydney Rabbitohs and coach Jason Demetriou after the Rabbitohs slumped to a third loss to start their season, a 48-6 defeat to the Sydney Roosters. The performance from the Bunnies was absolutely dreadful and there is very little in the way of positives to speak about the performance, as off-field dramas seem to be taking their toll on the club.

Those off-field dramas - the actions of key players and former players speaking out raising red flags about the environment at Redfern - appear to have derailed the club's season early. They were off the pace in Round 1 against the Sea Eagles in Vegas and then other than for a short time against Brisbane in Round 2, they haven't looked anywhere near their opponents. Last week was the epitome of awful as the Bunnies looked disjointed and wanting to be anywhere else.

Despite the huge loss last week, Jason Demetriou has made very minimal changes, which has to be questioned given his wont to throw players under the bus from the week before, but key players who have been underperforming have remained in their spots.

A fortnight of poor starts was put behind the Canterbury-Bankstown Bulldogs last week as they managed an emphatic 32-0 victory over the Gold Coast Titans. The win for the Bulldogs was impressive as they were able to put criticism behind them after heavy losses against the Eels and Sharks in the opening two rounds.

Starting the season, expectations were growing on the Bulldogs who have had a complete roster overhaul in recent years, but the new-look lineup struggled to find their combinations and rhythm in their opening match against the Eels. The second round clash against Cronulla seemed to be slightly stronger though a couple of calls that went against them hurt, as the Sharks were able to take advantage handing the Dogs a 25-6 loss before impressing last week against the Gold Coast.

The Bulldogs have elected to go with an unchanged lineup for the Round 4 clash which will give them a big confidence booster heading into the their clash against the Rabbitohs. Injured winger Josh Addo-Carr has been named in reserves as an outside chance of injury return.

WHO TO WATCH: No doubt that all eyes are going to be on Latrell Mitchell who has been struggling both on and off the field with the attention on his actions coming under significant focus. Mitchell has struggled at fullback and this could be the game where he needs to silence the doubters as it has been widely agreed that fullback might not be the best position for the Rabbitohs star.

Another player whose choice of position has been questioned has been Canterbury five-eighth Matt Burton, with some believing that previous attacking woes for the Bulldogs could be relieved by moving him back to the centres where he had success at Penrith. The performance last week though from Burton showed the quality that the Bulldogs have in the halves.

FAVOURITE: Despite recent form, the history of this clash has the Bunnies as favourites.

MY TIP: It's easy to tip the Bulldogs based purely off performance but an interest twist to the game's statistics is that the Bulldogs have only won 1 game in 8 years with Gerard Sutton in control and are yet to win in 4 previous Good Friday matches with the whistleblower in control. This sort of leaves some doubt and South Sydney could be a bigger chance even with their form.

On form alone, the tip is for the Bulldogs to win by a decent margin but it wouldn't a shock for Souths to pull it out of the bag. Bulldogs by 10.

THINGS TO KNOW

- Brisbane has won 8 of their last games played in Queensland, while the Cowboys have won 10 of their last 13 games in Queensland.
- The Cowboys have won their last 3 games at Suncorp Stadium, equalling their longest win streak at the venue from back in 2006-07.
- This will be just the 10th time (out of 60 games) that these two sides have met when North Qld have been placed higher on the ladder. Brisbane have won 5 of those games, North Qld 3 and there's been 1 draw.
- Adam REYNOLDS needs one more try for 50 NRL tries
- This will be Reece ROBSON's 100th NRL game.

Unbeaten Cowboys looking to rope bruised Broncos

Friday nights don't get much bigger than a Queensland derby at Suncorp Stadium. The Broncos will host The North Queensland Cowboys, and it will be a case of an immovable object coming up against an unstoppable force.

A good home record and game record against the Cowboys won't be enough as an undermanned Brisbane side takes on an unbeaten Cowboys team looking to get their first 4-0 start to a season since 2007, and it could be their best chance.

If the loss of Reece Walsh to a facial fracture and Payne Haas to knee surgery wasn't enough, young gun Brendan Piakura injured his ankle in training on Tuesday. But there is some hope, as Brisbane coach Kevin Walters announced Adam Reynolds will be running this Friday to captain the team. It's the steady head the Broncos will need after an uncoordinated effort and loss against Penrith last round. Walters said one of the problems from their round 3 loss to the Penrith Panthers was that players were trying to do work on their own and voiding any team effort to get back in the game. The veteran half-back Reynolds will instil the cool head and structure needed to guide the quality players the Broncos are still fielding for the Friday night blockbuster.

Tristan Sailor, filling in for the injured Walsh, will also enter the fray. "Tristan is going to get his opportunity and a good block of footy to show everybody what he can do," Walters said. Corey Oates will be on the bench this round, and it is a chance for the big winger to get a taste of premiership footy for the first time since Round 27 last year.

The Broncos have been averaging 30-plus missed tackles a game, a worrying trend for Coach Kevin Walters and something that will need to be addressed.

Cowboys coach Todd Payten is under no illusion that his team's current form is good but not top-four good. Payten feels an early pre-season has given the Cowboys an edge in endurance compared to where they were last year. But knows that when they take on top teams, it's handling errors, which separate the wheat from the chaff. Happy with how his team dug in after an early scare to St. George-Illawarra last round, Payten says that if they don't learn to defend their errors, they will pay every time. A team like the Broncos are capable of turning other teams' errors into easy points.

The Cowboys will still be without some of their top forwards, Helium Luke, who is expected back in round 9. The only change Payten has made to his undefeated team for the last round is the return of centre Zach Laybutt, who rolled his ankle during a captains run before the round 3 game against the Dragons.

WHO TO WATCH: Tristan Sailor will be biting at the bit to show he has earned the call-up to fullback and will be pleased to have the little general in Reynolds guiding the ball around the field. Young winger Deine Mariner has impressed this year and is currently leading the tries scored in the premiership. Mariner has shown he is more than just a finisher and has attacked his side of the field with speed and skills enough to keep any one marking him on their toes. Selwyn Cobbo gave it a red-hot go last round but couldn't make the dent on the scoreboard he was trying desperately to do; watch for Cobbo to take advantage of having the kicking game of Reynolds back in the arsenal.

Valentine Holmes had a cracker of a game, making nearly 250 run meters, 21 hit-ups, and a couple of line breaks for good measure. He will be out to show he is one of the best centres in the game, and his battle against the Broncos pairing of Kotoni Staggs and Selwyn Cobbo will be one to watch. Reece Robson may be a quiet achiever, but the NSW hooker is proving problems around the ruck this year, and he is right up there with try assists. Robson's defence effort was notable last round as well. If he decides to go on the attack in the middle, the Broncos poor missed tackle form could become a factor and something Payten has the hooker put into question.

If Scott Drinkwater and Tom Dearden decide to run on the night, they will cause havoc and likely be the standouts.

FAVOURITE: There's not much in it, but the Cowboys are just edging ahead. Their unbeaten run against the Broncos, who are missing some strike power, puts them as a favourite just.

MY TIP: Todd Payten is backing his team and not making changes to a winning formula. Their last two wins this year have been hard-fought, and they will take that into a game against one of the more dangerous sides in the competition. The Broncos will be getting Reynolds back, but they may have bigger defensive issues at hand. With yet another regular forward down, the Broncos may find this a bridge too far. The Cowboys to have too much swagger and win by two tries.

MATCH PREVIEW

AJ LUCANTONIO

Dragons look to show resilience against seething Manly

The St George Illawarra Dragons will be looking to bounce back from two poor performances on the trot when they return to WIN Stadium for the first time in 2024. They will be taking on a Manly side fresh off their first loss in controversial circumstances against Parramatta.

St George Illawarra have showed impressive early signs with a dominant win over the Gold Coast. But, their last two efforts have seen them crash back to reality conceding 84 points and seen questions arise about the team's attitude and commitment. That was shown against the Cowboys last start, they had an 18-4 lead and things couldn't be better, then Ray Faitala-Mariner bombs a certain try and their heads dropped. Seven consecutive tries later and the Dragons had an embarrassing home defeat on their hands.

To beat Manly, they are going to have to restrict their edges. They have absolutely fired down both sides to start the season, exploiting any opportunity given to them to fire shots at their opposition. Shane Flanagan has stated repeatedly that he is looking to rebuild the culture and they could go a long way to doing that with a complete 80 minute performance. A rejuvenated middle led by Blake Lawrie will have to dominate from the outset and carry out how Parramatta broke them down in that middle third. Kyle Flanagan has shown promising signs so far in his running game, that along with their metre-eaters out of yardage and there's every chance of an upset.

In team news, Francis Molo, Jacob Liddle and Jaydn Su'a return from injury and suspension. This pushes Jack De Belin, Jesse Marschke and Ray Faitala-Mariner back to the bench who are joined by Hame Sele making his first appearance of 2024 resulting in Connor Muhleisen, Michael Molo and Viliami Fifita making way.

Manly will feel incredibly heartbroken after last Sunday's game. They had Parramatta on the ropes at 14-0, dominating all facets of play. But an error midway through the first half, flipped the script and they were back on the backfoot. Although, they managed to lead at the break, Parramatta were able to dominate Manly's middle creating second phase play at will for the second 40 and take victory.

To beat the Dragons, it's all about upsetting the flow of the home side. They want to dictate terms and once St George Illawarra stray away from that, they have shown this season that it is an uphill battle to get back up the mountain. Taniela Paseka and Haumole Olakau'atu caused big problems for the Roosters a fortnight ago because they won the physical battle in the opening collisions. If that happens again, it'll free up Brooks, DCE and Turbo to do what they do best.

In team news, they are 1-17. Tommy Talau is an outside chance of returning from injury while Tof Siplej will need to work his way into the 17 after his suspension for an ugly crusher tackle concluded last weekend.

WHO TO WATCH: St George will be keen to place the memories of last week behind them. One of the stars last week was Kyle Flanagan. Flanagan scored a great solo try and seems to have rediscovered his running game which went away at both the Roosters and Bulldogs. He needs to continue his strong start to the season and his combination with Ben Hunt if the Dragons want to build into 2024.

For Manly, the focus is on Ben Trbojevic. Burbo won the left edge spot over Josh Schuster after a strong pre-season. After an impressive start in Vegas, Burbo has fallen down to earth in recent weeks and will need another strong performance against a leaky Dragons defence. With Schuster and others' footsteps approaching quickly, this is the time for Burbo to deliver.

FAVOURITE: Manly favoured by the punters in this clash.

MY TIP: I can see St George being competitive early, but if one thing goes wrong it'll be a real litmus test to see where they are at in season 2024 through the opening month. Manly have just enough class to be able to run away with victory, especially with how sharp they looked out wide through all their matches so far. Manly by 14.

MATCH PREVIEW Beth NICHOLLS

The Titans will be looking to find a sliver of hope against the rested Dolphins who just came off their first bye of the season.

Gold Coast's season goes from bad to worse, after losing their opening match of the season to the Dragons, they were held scoreless against the Bulldogs in their Round 3 Saturday clash fresh off the bye, conceding 32 points. Not only have they started the season in poor form, Tino Fa'asuamaleau has been ruled out for the season with an ACL tear, joining David Fifita who has been out in the casualty ward since December since undergoing surgery for a partial pec tear.

In a much-needed boost, Jayden Campbell has been named for his NRL return at fullback, along with Fifita in for a chance, joining the squad as 18th man. Keenan Palasia starts at prop, with Joe Stimson the new face on the bench.

After an unpromised season opener being beaten by the Cowboys, the Dolphins showed up in Round 2, where they held the Dragons scoreless and piled on 38 points. Round 3 saw them have their first bye of the season, letting them be well rested ahead of their trip down the coast to Cbus Super Stadium.

Ray Stone returns from concussion, replacing Jarrod Wallace on the bench, this being the only change to the 17-man team who decimated the Dragons with Round 2. Kodi Nikorima is good to go after suffering a head knock in that game, pushing Sean O'Sullivan back to reserves.

Dolphins won both QLD clashes between the Titans last year, with both matches being won by a two-point score line. The first of those two clashes being decided by a questionable penalty in golden point to the Dolphins.

The Titans have only won one of their last four matches at their home ground, and only have scored one try in their opening two matches of the year. They are really struggling to get going and will only further struggle with the loss of experienced forwards.

WHO TO WATCH: After suffering a knee injury late last season, Jayden Campbell might just be the spark the Titans have been looking for. A young and potential filled fullback, Campbell scored five tries in 22 games last year, and it'll be exciting to see him back in action on Saturday night.

Bagging his first career hat-trick against the Dragons, Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow is an unstoppable force a fullback. Also running for 204 metres in 14 runs, whilst making one line break and four tackle breaks last match. Regularly leading the team for run metres, Hammer is an important piece of the Dolphins attack.

FAVOURITE: Dolphins are favoured to make it 3-0 against the Titans in their history as an NRL club.

MY TIP: The Titans season is off to a rough start, and I think it'll be an uphill journey, but the return of Jayden Campbell could provide them with a boost and some energy, however I think that will take some time. Though far from perfect, the Dolphins have shown some promise in attack. Dolphins by 20.

MATCH PREVIEW

Lachlan McINTYRE

Easter Sunday Auckland Eggstravaganza

The first of two games on Easter Sunday afternoon footy sees the Newcastle Knights travel to Auckland to meet the New Zealand Warriors. Both teams will be happy with their results from round three, with both the Knights and the Warriors getting the chance to string together back-to-back wins when they clash. Although there was some initial disappointment from fans of both clubs to start the season, a win for either side this weekend will get their season well and truly back on track.

The Warriors had two heartbreaking losses to open the year, going down by four points against both the Sharks and the Storm. But in front of a home crowd in Christchurch New Zealand came back from a small deficit early in the second stanza to finish 18-10 winners. Tohu Harris racked up 50 tackles in an impressive 80 minute performance at lock, whilst Roger Tuivasa-Sheck gained 200m across the 80, filling in successfully at fullback for Taine Tuauapiki, forced off the field due to a failed HIA.

Tuauapiki's concussion shifts Tuivasa-Sheck into the number one jersey that was consistently his not so long ago. Adam Pompey will plug the gap left in the centres, whilst Marata Niukore joins the bench as he makes his return from a foot injury. Wayde Egan has been named to return to the number 9 meaning Freddy Lussick will start on the bench, alongside Dylan Walker who also returns.

In similar fashion to the Warriors, the Knights suffered a heartbreaking round two loss to the Cowboys after losing convincingly to the Raiders in round one. But Newcastle were able to get over the line against Melbourne, holding on in the dying moments in front of their home fans to come out 14-12 victors despite going scoreless in the second half. The tight nature of both the Knights' and the Warriors' games against Melbourne indicates that this clash should be a close one.

A one match ban to Leo Thompson for his incident with Ryan Papenhuyzen sees Daniel Saifiti handed the number 10 for this weekend, alongside his brother Jacob as the starting props. Brodie Jones takes up the final bench spot, whilst Jackson Hastings is still nowhere to be seen in the first grade 17.

In 49 meetings, the Warriors and the Knights have both won 24 games, with just the 1 draw. This match is the final instalment in the best of 50 series, with the nearly 30 years worth of matches hanging in the balance.

WHO TO WATCH: Lock Tohu Harris plays a significant role week in week out for the New Zealand Warriors. Since joining the club in 2018 injuries have unfortunately hampered some seasons, however Harris has now racked up over 100 first grade appearances for the club. He has also never gone an NRL season without scoring points, an impressive state for a forward who has been around for over a decade. Whilst at the Storm he was a back-up goal-kicking option too, getting to showcase his wide range of footballing talents.

Jack Cogger has been given a massive opportunity by his coach Adam O'Brien at the Knights, getting the halfback role over the more experienced (albeit slightly) Jackson Hastings. Hastings was expected to have the number 7 jersey locked up for the season, but he has been dropped to reserve grade. Cogger's performances over the next few weeks will likely seal the fate of the Knights' halves pairing for the rest of the year, whilst also playing a significant role in the outcomes of said matches.

FAVOURITE: With both teams getting their first win of the season last weekend, this game should be a close one on paper. Nevertheless, it is the Warriors that are favourites to get the job done on home turf.

MY TIP: I think both sides will be up and about after their respective hard fought wins, but the home ground advantage for New Zealand should be enough to get them over the line. Warriors by 8.

MATCH PREVIEW Kelly HOLLIS

The Cronulla Sharks had a night they'll be hoping to forget after going down 32 - 6 to the Wests Tigers at Leichhardt Oval in their first loss of the 2024 season. After scoring in the 13th minute, not much else went right for the side from the Sutherland Shire, making 16 errors, conceding more penalties than the home side and watching the Tigers run in 5 unanswered tries.

Coach Fitzgibbon has needed to make several changes to the 17 named to take on the Raiders this weekend. Due to injury, Dale Finucane, Toby Rudolf, and Royce Hunt are all set for a stint on the sideline. As a result, Tom Hazleton will move into the starting side alongside Oregon Kafusi in the front row, and Siosifa Talaki will shift from centre to the second row. This sees Kayal Iro move into the starting side alongside Jesse Ramien in the centres. Tuku Hau Tapuha has been called onto the bench for his second NRL match as a Shark alongside Jack Williams. Versatile player, Daniel Atkinson has also been added to the bench.

The Canberra Raiders also suffered their first defeat of the season after travelling to Christchurch to take on the New Zealand Warriors. The stats sheet showed that the Raiders should have walked away with the 2 points; however, with the home-ground advantage, the Warriors finished stronger in the end.

Ricky Stuart has also named a number of changes to his side, with Sebastian Kris returning after missing Round 3 due to concussion protocols. An unfortunate cooking accident will hand James Schiller his first NRL game of the season, replacing Albert Hopoate on the wing. Ata Mariota will also return to the NRL team to replace Emre Guler, who has been relegated to NSW Cup. Several experienced players have also been named on the extended bench, including Corey Horsborough, Kaeo Weekes and Zac Woolford, so Sticky's team could look very different come Sunday afternoon.

Round 4 sees these two teams return to PointsBet Stadium again, where the Sharks beat the Raiders by 18 points in Round 27 of 2023. This is the only win the Sharks have had over the Raiders since 2018. On average, though, the games between these two sides don't usually end up as a blowout - so it should be a nice and close one!

WHO TO WATCH: Although he has been a regular starter in the Newtown Jets' Knock On Effect NSW Cup side, Kayal Iro is only set to play his second NRL game this weekend. Named the 2022 NSW Cup Player of the Year, the 24-year-old Cook Island international will play to impress Sharks coach Craig Fitzgibbon with the aim of cementing himself a regular starting spot in the side.

22-year-old James Schiller gets his first start of the year, replacing Albert Hopoate on the wing. After debuting in 2022, Schiller has pulled on the green jersey just ten times in the last two seasons. His most notable performance was in the Raiders' loss to the Newcastle Knights in the 2023 elimination final, where he scored a double. The rugby league blood runs deep in his veins as he is the cousin of Knight's player, Jack Hetherington, nephew of former Raider Brett Mullins, and grandson of former Eastern Suburbs winger Bill Mullins.

FAVOURITE: This is a tricky one, given the history of these two clubs. Both sides will be coming off a loss, so they will be hungry to get back into the winner's circle. The Sharks are currently slight favourites, but this may change if Ricky makes the changes he could make to his side.

MY TIP: Sharks at home is always a good bet, so let's go with them, but I think it will be close. Sharks by 6.

MATCH PREVIEW

Rob CROSBY

Eels, Tigers to turn up on a day off

The Easter long weekend comes to a close on Monday afternoon with the Parramatta Eels and Wests Tigers facing off in a newly traditional derby at CommBank Stadium.

Sitting alongside seven teams closing out the first month of the season with two wins and a loss, the Parramatta Eels will be looking to follow up a resilience building victory last Sunday.

Clawing back an early 0-14 deficit to emerge with a 28-24 win over the Sea Eagles, coach Brad Arthur has been forced into a major change with Blaize Talagi replacing Mitchell Moses in the halves; the Eels have underperformed without Moses, winning seven out of 16 matches in his absence.

The blue and golds will also welcome back Maika Sivo for the first time this season after the Fijian flyer completed a suspension incurred during the pre-season.

The Eels have dominated all meetings against the Tigers since the opening of CommBank Stadium with eight wins from nine clashes.

Riding high following their first win under coach Benji Marshall last Saturday, the Wests Tigers will be eyeing off back-to-back wins for only the sixth time this decade.

Showing vast improvement from their previous effort with a thorough 32-6 victory over the Sharks at Leichhardt Oval, underrated forward Alex Seyfarth will make his 50th appearance for the club while Asu Kepaoa will replace Alex Twal on the bench.

The Tigers hold a 33% record from 24 appearances at CommBank Stadium; the joint venture emerged with a last-gasp victory over the Dolphins in their most recent visit to the venue in the final weeks of last season.

The Easter Monday derby between Parramatta and Wests Tigers was first contested a decade ago with the Eels holding a narrow lead with five wins from nine clashes.

WHO TO WATCH: Set to take on added responsibility as Parramatta's dominant playmaker for the foreseeable future, Dylan Brown will be looking to continue his strong form displayed during the early weeks of the premiership. Bringing up a century of appearances in the opening round, the 23-year-old playmaker has produced four try-assists to go with more than 100 running metres on average over the first three rounds. Wearing the number seven jersey for only the third time in first grade, the Eels will be looking for Brown to retain his running game, while stepping up to handle last play options, to ensure they get the chocolates on Easter weekend.

Beginning his NRL career with Parramatta before shifting to the joint venture three years ago, Stefano Utoikamanu will be aiming to assert his standing as a formidable front-rower against one of the best packs in the league. Producing a much-improved performance in last week's win over the Sharks with nearly double the output with the ball in hand from a week earlier, the 23-year-old shapes a pivotal figure in improving the Tigers fortunes in both the short and longer-term. Facing off against fellow Samoan and New South Wales prop Junior Paulo in a key positional duel, the Tigers will be looking for Utoikamanu to make his presence felt through the middle of the field.

FAVOURITE: The Eels are expected to make the most of a rare opportunity to play consecutive matches in daylight hours.

MY TIP: The two previous Easter Monday clashes between the Eels and Tigers at CommBank Stadium have seen the victors kick a field goal. Eels by 7.
