MELBOURNE STORM 34 BRISBANE BRONCOS 32

STORM BEAT BRONCOS IN GREATEST NRL ADVERT YET

ANDREW FERGUSON

A magnificent array of attacking skills and open football between the Storm and Broncos produced a stunning contest with a thrilling finish, ending in a 34-32 victory to the Storm.

After a reasonably even opening 15 minutes, the Storm looked to have the upper hand, however neither team had troubled the scoreboard. Then Ezra Mam took an intercept and raced 65 metres.

On the next play, the Broncos sent the ball right to Kotoni Staggs who ran to the line, drew the final defender and then put Deine Mariner over for a try in the corner. Adam Reynolds converted superbly from the sideline.

Melbourne hit back just 3 minutes later when Eli Katoa ran hard and straight onto a pass, steamrolled through Mam and scored. Nick Meaney added the extras.

The Storm took the lead only 3 minutes later when Jahrome Hughes kicked to the left corner and found Xavier Coates flying high, caught it superbly and then fell down in the Broncos in-goal to score. Meaney failed to convert from out wide.

The Broncos responded immediately to claim the lead in the 28th minute. Arthars found some space down the left edge courtesy of a beautiful long ball from Tristan Sailor. Arthars then kicked in-field and Mam got a peach of a bounce, regathered and scored a great try. Reynolds converted.

Brisbane extended their lead to 8 points just 3 minutes later. Brisbane went right on the last, the play broke down, Mariner ran the ball back into the middle, linked with Sailor who quickly passed to Reynolds who kicked to the left corner and Arthars flying through regathered and scored. Reynolds converted from the sideline.

Melbourne reduced the deficit just shy of halftime when Hughes held up a pass before putting Katoa into a huge gap and he scored his second try. Meaney converted. At halftime the Broncos led 18-16.

The Broncos took their lead back out to 8 points, ten minutes after play resumed after Billy Walters kicked down field, the Storm let it bounce and the ball sharply bounced back towards the Broncos end, into the waiting arms of a flying Mam who then zoomed between the back two defenders and raced 30 metres to score a spectacular try. Kotoni Staggs converted.

Melbourne's reply came in the 57th minute with a gorgeous play. Katoa got the ball on the left, turned and offloaded in the line, a-la Arthur Beetson, back to Ryan Papenhuyzen, who then sent a long ball out to William Warbrick unmarked, and he dived over for the try. Meaney converted from the sideline.

Staggs kicked a penalty goal in the 69th minute to take their lead out to 4 points.

With 6 minutes remaining in the game Tyran Wishart stormed onto a crash ball and barged over to score. Meaney converted and the Storm took the lead.

Melbourne crossed again spectacularly in the 76th minute when Hughes kicks to the left, close to the Broncos line and Coates kicks the ball on the full back infield and Hughes follows through and grounds it for a try. Meaney converts.

Within the next minute the Broncos hit back when Tyson Smoothy at dummy half on the Storm line, threw a magical pass back inside to Ben Te Kura who barged over to score. Staggs converted. The Storm hung on for the final 90 seconds of the match to win an entertaining clash by 2 points.

CANTERBURY-BANKSTOWN BULLDOGS 30 SYDNEY ROOSTERS 26

KIKAU, BURTON STAR AS ROOSTERS SWALLOW THEIR PRIDE DESPITE NEAR RECORD COMEBACK

AJ LUCANTONIO

The Canterbury Bulldogs paid tribute to their 2004 premiership-winning side in style with a 30-26 win over the Sydney Roosters, despite leading 26-0 at the break and playing 55 minutes with an extra man advantage.

The Roosters set the tone for the way they would play in just the second tackle of the match when Dom Young lost possession, followed by a failed challenge. Canterbury capitalised with a well-executed scrum play to send Blake Taaffe over for the first try out wide. Matt Burton converted from wide for a 6-0 lead. The Bondi boys continued their error-plagued opening half when a failed backline sweep forced another error. The Dogs capitalised brilliantly when Kurt Mann wrestled his arm free to find Burton for the second try and a 12-0 lead.

The Roosters had opportunities but let themselves get in the way, Dom Young streaked away down the wing but opted against going back inside and backed himself. Taaffe made a brilliant cover tackle and stopped the raid. Canterbury again exposed the right edge defence of the Roosters when Viliame Kikau streaked away and got what was a suspect pass to Burton for his second and it was 18-0.

Trent Robinson's men were going missing, both figuratively and literally with James Tedesco and Sam Walker leaving the game with failed HIA's. Young found himself back in the spotlight, again for the wrong reasons when he was sent off for a horror high shot on Taaffe which also ended Taaffe's night prematurely. Burton landed a penalty goal and it was 20-0 after 26 minutes. After a mini resistance, Sam Hughes crashed through some soft tackles to score and make it 26-0 at the change of ends.

The second half began and it was almost a brand-new game. The Roosters treated it like it was 0-0 and looked immediately better. Luke Keary broke through some would-be tacklers and linked up with Egan Butcher for the first of the second half after six minutes. Four minutes later, Naufahu Whyte provided much-needed impact and crossed for a strong first try at the NRL level and it was quickly a competitive ball game.

From a glut of possession that was executed with great precision, it was back to two possessions when Keary's bomb wasn't defused by Jacob Kiraz, Daniel Tupou was on the spot and basket-balled it to Butcher for his second try. With Suaalii off for an HIA after a head-slam from Sam Hughes, Keary's lack of goal-kicking experience would mean the Roosters were going up by fours. Two minutes later, Keary combined with Angus Crichton who turned it back on the in-side to Manu to reduce the margin to just six points.

Canterbury clinched the match with 16 to go when Burton completed his hat trick finally taking advantage of the 12-man Roosters. The missed kick kept them in the game prematurely. Victor Radley ended up in the sin-bin courtesy of a contentious hip-drop ruling from the Bunker, but replays showed the hip-drop mechanisms that we're all familiar with.

Despite being down to 11 men, the Roosters weren't done with yet and Tupou crossed following a shift to the left to give them some life and the gap was just four points after Suaalii came back to convert. The Roosters threw everything at the Dogs but it just wasn't enough for victory and the Bulldogs held on in the spirit of the 2004 premiership-winning side.

NEWCASTLE KNIGHTS 30

ST GEORGE ILLAWARRA DRAGONS 10

WINNING IN THE WET PROVES NO WORRIES FOR NEWCASTLE

ROBERT CROSBY

The weather was wet but that didn't stop the Newcastle Knights from grinding out a 30-10 win over the St George Illawarra Dragons at home.

On a night that saw both sides brave torrential rain from start to finish, the Knights sealed their second win of the season in front of a small, yet hearty crowd of 9,448 supporters at McDonald Jones Stadium.

Taking advantage of multiple penalties inside their own half, the Knights struck an early blow with recalled halfback Jackson Hastings (4th minute) swooping on a Jack Cogger grubber kick to open the scoring.

The Dragons responded with Ben Hunt laying on a well-placed kick of his own for Zac Lomax (14th minute) to touch down out wide; the duo combined again moments later with Lomax executing a spectacular flick pass for Hunt (21st minute) to put the visitors in front for the only time during proceedings.

Capitalising on the poor discipline of their opponents, the Knights regained the lead with Kalyn Ponga delivering a precision pass to send Enari Tuala (25th minute) over in the corner.

Gaining the ascendancy with Daniel Saifiti (29th minute) swooping on a Cogger kick that landed in a pool of water in-goal, the Knights established a double-digit buffer with Dylan Lucas (35th minute) sliding over for a 24-10 lead at the break.

Appearing to go further in front after the resumption only for the bunker to rule a knock-on against Bradman Best in the act of scoring, the Dragons were left to rue a missed opportunity of their own with Lomax unable to hold onto an inside pass from Luciano Leilua with the try line in sight.

The Knights looked to secure the result with Leo Thompson diving through the legs of Phoenix Crossland only for the bunker to rule the front-rower had obstructed the Dragons goal-line defence.

Sealing only their sixth win from 24 meetings against the joint venture at McDonald Jones Stadium, Tuala raced down the touchline and kicked in-field for Ponga (73rd minute) to slide over for the only try of the second half.

Next week, the Knights will host the Roosters in Newcastle on Thursday night, while the Dragons will travel to Campbelltown to take on the Tigers on Sunday afternoon.

WARRIORS 34

SOUTH SYDNEY RABBITOHS 4

WARRIORS WALLOP RABBLE RABBITOHS

JUSTIN DAVIES

New Zealand Warriors won 34-4 against South Sydney Rabbitohs in front of 13,184 fans at Stadium Australia on Saturday afternoon.

The Warriors won their third game in a row with a comfortable win against a downbeat Rabbitohs side which was masterminded by Shaun Johnson who scored 18 points in the one-sided win.

Souths were looking to win back-to-back games and got off to a flyer. They spread the ball down the left for a flying Izaac Thompson who stepped past the Warriors fullback to make it 4-0. Stung by conceding, the Warriors clicked into gear quickly. Shaun Johnson took the ball to the line, fed a short pass to Rocco Berry who steamed onto the ball and gave the Warriors a 6-4 lead.

Both sides engaged in an arm wrestle through the middle of the first half. Warriors had several chances due to Rabbitohs errors to punish them on the scoreboard but couldn't break through. They did eventually break through and led 18-4 going into half-time. It was another superb pass from Johnson which sent Jackson Ford over then Wayde Egan pushed through and fed the ball to Johnson to get his own four-pointer.

It felt like deja vu when Egan sliced through again after the break, linked up with Te Marie Martin who found a supporting Johnson who strolled over for his second try.

There was a cause for celebration just after the hour mark for the Warriors. Roger Tuivasa-Sheck, who was playing his 200th game, was on the end of another slick backline movement to make it 28-4. Martin put the icing on the cake for the Warriors late on. He weaved past some tired Rabbitohs defence and went over to make it 34-4 and a rare win for the New Zealand side at Stadium Australia.

For the Rabbitohs, they are back to soul searching after another tough loss. Latrell Mitchell was put on report twice in the first half and they looked like a side which doesn't know how to win a game.

MILESTONE MEN STAR AS MANLY DOMINATE DEFENDING PREMIERS

AJ LUCANTONIO

Great performances from milestone men Daly Cherry-Evans and Corey Waddell have capped a great night for Manly, dominating the three-time reigning premiers by 14 points at Brookvale Oval.

Manly were intent on celebrating the milestone of Daly Cherry-Evans breaking Cliff Lyons' mark of 309 club games in style. But, the Panthers had other ideas in the early exchanges. Penrith capitalised on an offside penalty and built field position down the Manly end. Dylan Edwards snuck out of acting half and found support in Brad Schneider to cross for the first try of the evening. Edwards converted from next to the posts for an early 6-0 lead.

The game then turned into a scrap after the early Schneider try, with both sides having attacking chances. Manly had the better of them, but execution against the top defensive sides again is proving to be a problem. Brian To'o almost made Manly pay but some brilliant defensive work in the 19th minute stopped the scoreboard ticking over.

After some defensive resilience down their own end. Manly finally took some advantage of field position when Luke Brooks combined with Tom Trbojevic. Turbo was able to get on the outside of Izack Tago and beat Edwards to cross for the home side's first try. DCE was able to bend it like Beckham to level the scores at six. They nearly grabbed a second but the final pass to Corey Waddell was put down. Capitalising on penalties, Manly added a penalty goal eight minutes from the break for their first lead of the evening.

We got a spicy bit of controversy when Tommy Talau attempted an intercept just before the break. Talau touched the floating pass while Penrith were on the attack, Todd Smith let the play run and Tolu Koula sprinted the best part of 95 metres to score. The decision to confirm the try has left everyone wondering what constitutes a knock-on in 2024 with the replays showing that the ball was probably knocked on. DCE converted for a contentious 14-6 lead at the break.

Despite things going against the premiers with contentious calls and Liam Henry leaving with a cat 1 concussive incident. They changed momentum quickly when Edwards scored a sensational individual try to open the second half. DCE tried to put boot to ball and Edwards raced the best part of 70 metres to score to reduce the gap to two.

With 25 to go, Manly built some great momentum in attack and Turbo turned the pass back on the inside to a juggling DCE who scored. On the ensuing set, Taniela Paseka busted the Penrith defence wide open. From there, Manly worked it right and DCE put boot to ball, Izack Tago lost the ball and the other milestone man in Corey Waddell (an Emu Plains junior) crossed in game 100 and it quickly became 26-12.

Penrith were out on their feet following a Waddell intercept and were struggling to get back in defence. A shift back to the right saw DCE find Ben Trbojevic who got a magical offload to Jaxson Paulo to score and put the match beyond the reach of the Panthers with 15 to go. Ben Trbojevic wanted to add to the fun, but the ball bounced around in the in-goal like a pin-ball and it was denied. Penrith capitalised when Daine Laurie combined with Garner to streak away before finding Edwards to reduce the margin to 14 points.

Penrith will have some injuries headed to the bye with Henry, Garner and Luai leaving the game under a cloud. Manly weren't escaping with Reuben Garrick leaving with a category 1 concussive incident early in the fixture. They will go to Auckland full of confidence.

DOLPHINS 26

WESTS TIGERS 16

DOLPHINS STAY TOP WITH ENTERTAINING WITH OVER WESTS TIGERS

JOSH ROBERTSON

The Dolphins have reclaimed their spot back on top of the NRL ladder following an impressive 26-10 win over the Wests Tigers at Suncorp Stadium in an entertaining affair.

The first half was all Dolphins as the Tigers were not able to get anything going where their opponents were able to do it straight from the kick-off. The home side opened the scoring inside five minutes when Jack Bostock got on the outside of the Tigers defence before linking with Isaiya Katoa who scored.

Two penalty goals to the Dolphins extended their lead out to 8-0 before the Hammer got his name on the scoresheet but it was Felise Kaufusi who did all the work as he went through space and needing a fresh set of legs to finish it off, it was Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow who was able to get over for

The injury crisis of the weekend continued for both sides as the Tigers lost two players to concussion and there were some concerns throughout the second half for the Dolphins as well.

The Tigers looked much better in the second half as things started to click and the return of Api Koroisau to the field sparked things up as Solomon Faataape got the first of his double as he charged over the line and fought his way to the line. The second try for Solomon Faataape again wasn't exactly easy again and had a bit of a talking point to it as he chased through an Aidan Sezer kick and despite some questions on the grounding it was confirmed by the bunker and the Tigers had closed the gap to 14-10.

Despite the momentum being with the Tigers, the Dolphins were able to shift it back their way and it was off the boot of Isaiya Katoa setting up Kodi Nikorima with a beautiful grubber through before Felise Kaufusi was able to pick up a rare try to seemingly seal the win.

Not finished yet though, the Tigers showed some more tenacity when they got over inside the final 10 minutes through Alex Seyfarth but that was it and the gap couldn't get any smaller.

The Dolphins will have a clash against the Broncos next week again at Suncorp Stadium whereas the Tigers head to Campbelltown for a clash with the Dolphins.

NORTH QUEENSLAND COWBOYS 35

GOLD COAST TITANS 22

THE COWS GET BACK ON TROT AT HOME

AIDAN EDGEComb

Points were aplenty as the Cowboys triumphed 35-22 over their QLD rivals, the Gold Coast Titans.

North Queensland got off to a flying start at home - with a strong defensive effort followed by flashy attack which suppressed anything Gold Coast threw at them. Zac Laybutt opened the scoring only 6 minutes in, with a show and go to scoot over off the back of a Chad Townsend ball. Despite his strong start, his afternoon ended after only 20 minutes as he limped from the field with a suspected ACL injury and did not return.

6-0 became 10-0 after a Valentine Holmes tip off put Murray Taulagi over in the corner. Holmes missed the kick, but it was all Cowboys up north. To make matters worse for the Titans, key playmaker Kieran Foran went down injured and left the field 7 minutes later with an injured ankle.

An error to David Fifita gave the Cowboys an attacking chance with 8 minutes to go in the first half, and Scott Drinkwater took advantage to score a brilliant solo try which Holmes converted to give the hosts a 16-0 lead. It looked as though Harley Smith-Shields scored on the brink of halftime after a fantastic kick from Brian Kelly, but the bunker reviewed the play and found Jayden Campbell was offside, overturning the call.

Making amends for the disallowed try, Brian Kelly started the second half in style - or rather in strength by muscling his way over from dummy half in the 46th minute. Although Tanah Boyd missed the conversion - it was game on.

The moment of competition looked to be short lived as a Valentine Holmes line break put North Queensland in a very good attacking position, and the lack of defensive resolve from Gold Coast was put on display with Scott Drinkwater bagging his double and giving his side a 22-4 lead.

The Titans lack of discipline was further exposed with an ugly high shot from Sam Verrills which opened Reece Robson up to scoot over and score from the subsequent penalty. Although 25 minutes remained, the 28-4 lead looked touch to break until... enter Jayden Campbell. AJ Brimson made a linebreak out of nothing to put the fullback over the line. Tanah Boyd made no mistake on that occasion, and they only trailed 28-10.

Only three minutes later Chad Townsend was sent to the sin-bin for a nasty hip drop and Sam Verrills went from zero to hero with a wonderful short pass to put Kleese Haas over to score. Tanah Boyd converted and two minutes later the Titans halfback set Beau Fermor up for a linebreak, where he found Jojo Fifita who gave it back to him to score. Somehow, it was 28-22 and Gold Coast had 15 minutes to score 6 points - it looked very possible.

It was AJ Brimson who started the Titans resurgence, but also AJ who ended it with an intercept pass which Kyle Feldt pounced on to score his 131st try for the club - making him the Cowboys all-time top tryscorer. Valentine Holmes converted, and three minutes later just after returning from the sin bin, Chad Townsend nailed a field goal to give the hosts 13 point lead of 35-22 with seven minutes to play.

Gold Coast threw everything they had at North Queensland, but it wasn't enough to get over the line, or to score another point as the Cowboys held on at home. The win would certainly be pleasing, but their defensive lapses at times are a concern for their season. Still, they were victorious over the winless Titans who will need to do some serious soul searching.

CANBERRA RAIDERS 41

PARRAMATTA EELS 8

RAIDERS TAKE SWORD TO THE EELS AND CARVE UP

ANDY P

The Raiders will have earned some praise tonight as they belt the Parramatta Eels 41 - 8 at GIO Stadium in Canberra. The Raiders tore through the Eels defence putting over 7 tries to the Eels 2.

The Raiders showed early promise and a willingness to move the ball around early. There was some worry as Jordan Rapana had an injury early which saw Simi Sasagi come into the game. With a ruck infringement early and an inferno too the goals the Raiders took an easy 2 points at the 10 minute mark to start scoring proceedings.

The Raiders made the most of an Eels error, with Ethan Strange making a line break and good meters down their left. With momentum in their favour, Sebastian Kris went over at the 15 min mark to push out the Raiders lead.

The Eels did keep up their attack but when they were in a position to pressure the Raiders on their goal line they voided it with errors. With them not making the most of their chance Canberra hit back with Xavier Savage going over for 4 points at the 30min mark.

A dominant performance in the first half ended with Jamal Fogarty putting a cheeky field goal in to push it to 13 - 0 as the players ran off.

Ricky Stuart would have wanted his team to hit back first and they didn't let him down. A red hot Matthew Timoko busted through a rattled Eels defence to set himself up for a try just 3 minutes into the second half. Only to have the Eels make the most of a penalty from offside Raiders, sending Maika Sivo over the line in minute 47.

But with some poor choice of kicks from Dylan Brown, the Eels kept putting themselves on the back foot. A dead in goal by Brown was soon turned around by the Raiders as their outside backs had a field day up the Eels right edge. Xavier Savage ran into space and with a slick kick found Danny Levi in support to go over for the Raiders forth try.

The Raiders continued to find chances in the Eels armour with James Schiller running into the corner for 4 points and Hudson Young earning a try as he backed up another line break from Matthew Timoko.

In the last ten minutes the Eels found themselves at the Raiders goal line, and after many failed attempts finally got Maika Sivo over again for his second.

But you could still see the Raiders didn't want to sheath their sword and they got right back to business taking apart a lacklustre Eels defence. In the final minute after more unrelenting attack, Matthew Timoko gets his second try after picking up a loose ball. Jamal Fogarty bought the game to an end getting his final conversion for the night.

The Eels failed to capitalise on any time or position they had with the ball, and rarely had any moments of flare against the Raiders. Canberra were ravenous and didn't let up at whole game, it was an 80 minute performance which was truly reflected in the score. Blaize Talagi was quiet and Dylan Brown didn't have much more to offer the team. Even Clinton Gutherson was not as present as he usually is. With little sting coming from the Eels forwards, bar J'maine Hopgood, it was always going to be the Raiders night.

MATCH PREVIEW

Aidan EDGECOMB

Newcastle and Sydney do battle in round six.

Last Friday saw slippery conditions and staggered attack across high scoring affairs between the Roosters and Bulldogs, and Knights and Dragons. Sydney were heavy favourites, but fell 30-26 to a determined Canterbury-Bankstown outfit, whilst Newcastle relatively easily dismantled St George 30-10 at home.

For the Roosters, it was a tale of two halves - going into the break 26-0 after a dreadful display where i'll-disciple and sheer stupidity saw Dom Young sent off in the 26th minute. Somehow, despite being down to 12 men for the second half (11 when Victor Radley was in the sin bin) they managed to put on 26 points to the Bulldogs' 4. The contrast in performances left fans wondering what could've been if they started the match stronger.

Although conceding two tries in 21 minutes, the Knights were otherwise flawless in their statement win, where halves pairing Jackson Hastings and Jack Cogger looked at ease, and star fullback Kalyn Ponga continued to revel in his magic. After a mixed start to the season, there was plenty to like from Newcastle in round five.

The Knights good luck continues, with no injuries or suspensions allowing coach Adam O'Brien to name the same 17 that took on the Dragons. Unfortunately, the Roosters don't have the same luxury, and are rocked with the loss of James Tedesco and Sam Walker due to concussion protocols, and a two game suspension to Dom Young.

Joey Manu will move to fullback with Michael Jennings replacing him at centre. Luke Keary shifts from to halfback in Walkers' absence, and Connor Waston starting in the number 6 jumper. Junior Pauga replaces Young on the wing, along with the unforced changes of Nat Butcher being named in the second row, bumping Sitili Tupouniua to the bench alongside the returning Zach Dockar-Clay.

WHO TO WATCH: After previously being dropped to NSW cup in favour of a Cogger/Gamble halves pairing, halfback Jackson Hastings proved he was there to stay in his comeback match last Friday. Scoring one try and setting up another, Hastings has given himself a solid foundation to build upon across the remainder of the season.

It's almost cliché at this point to say be on the lookout for Kalyn Ponga as the game breaking fullback continues to soar to new heights. Claiming 6 Dally M points last week, Ponga was easily best on ground and shows no signs of slowing down. It'll take a mighty defensive effort from the Roosters to contain KP who's starting to find some dangerously good form.

It's always a delight to see Joseph Manu get a crack at fullback, with the prolific ball hog (I mean runner) relishing in the chance to get maximum involvement in the game. We've become accustomed to seeing some monster performances from Manu at fullback over the years. He's started the year well at centre, and will undoubtedly have something brewing this coming Thursday.

Playmaker Luke Keary has really struggled to start 2024, with a lack of clarity with his role in the halves and level of involvement in the game being glaringly obvious for fans, with his performances suffering as a result. A shift to halfback where he can maintain greater control may be what Keary needs, as he looks to snap out of a string of poor performances and return to the player he once was.

FAVOURITE: The Newcastle Knights are favourite to beat the Sydney Roosters.

MY TIP: I'm usually good at NRL tipping, but somehow have only tipped one from five games I've previewed for League Unlimited. I'm hoping Newcastle can turn my fortune around, as I think they'll be too strong for an undermanned Roosters side. Knights by 14.

MATCH PREVIEW Olivia T

The Bulldogs were the last team to beat the Storm at AAMI Park, but can they do it again?

After an unconvincing 34-32 win over an undermanned Broncos side, the Melbourne Storm had their 12th straight victory at home and are looking for their 13th. Even with their preferred spine starting altogether for the first time in 627 days, they still lacked cohesion. So, will 13 be lucky for the Storm or will the under(Bull)dogs strike down the Storm once again?

A slippery start to Friday's night footy at Accor Stadium saw the Bulldogs fly out of the blocks and just barely retain that energy to win 30-26 over the Roosters. After leading 26-0 at half time, the 12-man Roosters side fought back and only allowed one more Matt Burton try in the second half. The multitude of injuries hurt the Bulldogs in the last 40 minutes, but they did well to keep fighting until the end.

The injury toll from the last match sees Stephen Crichton shift to fullback to replace Blake Taaffe who is out due to concussion protocols, so Jacob Kiraz takes Crichton's spot at centre. Josh Addo-Carr returns from his concussion back onto the wing. Kurt Mann broke his hand last game, so Jaeman Salmon moves to No.13 and Josh Curran moves off the bench into the second row. Warming the benches on a cold Melbourne night will be Poasa Faamausili and NRL debutant Bailey Hayward.

The Storm are fortunate to only make one change to last week's team, with Tepai Moeroa joining the bench in place of Jack Howarth, who goes to the reserves. Joe Chan returns from a hand injury and is listed as 18th man.

WHO TO WATCH: In his second year at the Storm, Eli Katoa is still impressing fans. With a double under his belt and a tackle efficiency of 94%, Katoa was named Melbourne's man of the match. His performance was near perfect, and he will be looking at copying that to once again stun Storm fans and the Bulldogs at home.

In his first game back from suspension, Jahrome Hughes caught the Broncos off-guard with his ball-running, amassing a staggering 106 run metres, the most out of any halfback in the round. His 14 kicks for 290 metres were pinpoint and gave the Storm multiple try opportunities. Looking towards this week, with the exclusion of Blake Taaffe for the Bulldogs, Hughes' kicking game should once again shock the opposition and allow for Coates or Warbrick to pounce on a well-placed high ball.

Scoring a hattrick, two line breaks and overall 22 points, Matt Burton's performance shone through the rain. Boasting strong numbers in both attack and defence, Burton helped his team in all aspects of the game. To beat the Storm, Burton will need to strengthen his display to ensure that his defence is tight so that any second-half efforts like the Roosters' are shut down.

A player who was relatively quiet in the second half was 2nd rower Viliame Kikau. After a big first 40 minutes, which included a fend on Manu and a try assist for one of Burton's tries, Kikau felt absent for the rest of the match. With a 74% tackle efficiency, his inconsistency is partially to blame for the Roosters comeback. This week, Kikau will want to be present the whole match, in order to stop the Storm at home.

FAVOURITE: The Storm are tipped to have their 13th straight win at home.

MY TIP: It's been hard to predict how the Bulldogs will play this season, but I'll be watching this match at the pub in my finest Storm attire hoping I don't look like a loser. Storm by 16.

Battle of Brisbane III: "Banged Up" Broncos vs "Phins Up" Dolphins

Across the city of Brisbane a divide is starting to set in, one that threatens to tear families apart and destroy friendships at their very core.

North vs South. Young vs Old. Those who celebrate 36 years of history against those that want change and want it now. Put simply, it's Brisbane vs The.

Just like when these teams met for the first time just over 12 months ago, the stakes are high for both clubs. The Dolphins are flying off the back of three straight wins, while the Broncos are looking to kickstart what has been a season so far defined as much by the players on the field as by those who have to be left off it.

And just like each of the first 5 games of 2024, there are new unavailabilities for the Broncos to navigate. Captain Adam Reynolds is set to miss a fortnight after suffering a strained hamstring, while winger Deine Mariner is out for at least the next month after fracturing bones in his back.

But they aren't the only side hit by the injury bug last week, and their opponents are no better. Herbie Farnworth misses the first opportunity to go toe to toe with his former teammates after picking up an AC Joint injury in the dying stages of their win against the Tigers, while Felise Kaufusi picked up a linebreak, a try assist and a hamstring strain in one single play. And while he was named, prop and fellow ex-Bronco Tom Flegler is also in doubt due to an AC Joint issue of his own.

Brisbane won the first two clashes against the Dolphins last season, including the famous Round 4 clash which saw Kotoni Staggs declare Suncorp Stadium as their [bleep]ing house. And I'm sure those results did not sit very well with those in red, white and gold, much less in the mind of coach Wayne Bennett.

WHO TO WATCH: The return of Reece Walsh feels like a massive weight has been lifted from the shoulders of the Broncos. As good as Tristan Sailor is (and certainly he's been good enough to force his way onto their interchange bench), he lacks the ability to control opposing defences like Walsh seemingly can any time he touches the ball. Walsh was flying before his fractured cheekbone suffered against the Panthers, and he'll want to continue that form.

But his opposing number 1 has been just as impressive, in the shape of Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow. With 5 tries in the first 4 games, the Hammer is in a rich vein of form. And with Origin now starting to move to the front of minds, outplaying the incumbent Queensland fullback could see him emerge as a bolter for the number 1 jersey himself.

Assuming he does play, how Tom Flegler performs against his former teammates - especially with the absence of Payne Haas - will also capture attention. The Tank from Tully is averaging 111 metres per game, which even while being diluted by his shortened appearance last week is still more than he did at Brisbane last year.

This match is also a chance for a pair of halfbacks to make a statement in Jock Madden and Isaiya Katoa. Madden has been handed a great opportunity to show that he can step into the void at number 7 once Adam Reynolds retires. Katoa meanwhile has looked a completely different player to what we saw in 2023, and leading the Dolphins to their first ever win against the Broncos might make some armchair observers sit up and take notice.

FAVOURITE: Even with the loss of their captain, the return of Reece Walsh has left the Broncos as the favourites in this one.

MY TIP: Wayne Bennett will have the Dolphins fired up for this match, but ultimately he can't go and play it for them. When you look at each team 17 against 17, the Broncos have the clear advantage on paper. Broncos by 12.

MATCH PREVIEW

AJ LUCANTONIO

Last start winners look to prove premiership credentials

It might only be six weeks into the season, but the New Zealand Warriors will have an almighty test when they take on season surprise packets Manly Warringah at Mt Smart Stadium.

The Warriors were ruthless and dominant in a 34-4 ambush against South Sydney at Homebush last Saturday afternoon. Their spine combined brilliantly to absolutely dominate the middle third of the Rabbitohs. Charnze Nicol-Klokstad returned brilliantly from injury which will continue to give the Warriors some attacking flare. We've been critical of the bench output of their forwards to start 2024, and after a solid impact from guys like Bunty Afoa and Tom Ale, they will need to go to another level to match Manly.

To beat the Eagles, they will need to win the middle of the field. Manly's more dominating wins this season have come after ambushing teams through the middle third of the field. When the Eagles haven't done that is when they have struggled. So watch for AFB and Tohu Harris to set the standard early and look to bully Manly into submission. This will allow Shaun Johnson and Te Marie Martin to play on the front foot and combine nicely with their edges to execute attacking chances.

On the team front. Dallin Watene-Zelezniak and Kurt Capewell (return to the line-up after missing Round 5. That means Roger Tuivasa-Sheck return to centre with Adam Pompey dropping, while Capewell's inclusion moves Mitch Barnett back to prop. Bunty Afoa is out for the next 6-8 weeks with a hamstring injury.

For Manly, they come into this one after surprising the "undisputed" premiers in the Panthers at home last week. Albeit there was some controversy there's no doubting that they played a brand of footy that frustrated Penrith and forced them to be off their game. Their bench impact really set the standard after a poor start from their middles, this allowed Paseka and Siplely to realise that they needed to strike back with vengeance if they wanted to keep their spots. They absolutely delivered with a strong second half. This allowed DCE and Turbo to be at their destructive best.

To beat the Warriors, they will need to replicate that on a week to week basis to show that they are dominant enough to match it with the best teams. It's good to strike with impact and ambush teams, but if it isn't done consistently than that's where problems will arise. That being said, we saw Turbo at his best last weekend after a poor game a week prior. If everything comes up Milhouse for the Eagles, then back to back wins are on the cards.

Manly face one change following their win. Reuben Garrick is out after having category 1 symptoms. His place is taken by Ben Trbojevic with Corey Waddell starting in the second-row. This sees Ethan Bullemor join the bench.

WHO TO WATCH: You may notice I haven't mentioned Wayde Egan so far. Well that's because he's mentioned here. The form number 9 of the premiership so far. His constant exploitation of the middle third has frustrated every side so far this season and consistently puts the Wahs on the front foot. After missing two weeks through injury, Egan has returned with vengeance setting up linebreaks and tries through his work out of 9. If he stays fit (touch wood), then he might have a NSW birth.

For Manly, the focus is on the middle and I've opted for Taniela Paseka. Coming into the season, much was expected after showing signs of improvement towards the back end of 2023 before injury robbed him of a strong end. To start 2024, he has been super dominant carving up opposite forward packs and giving Manly much needed momentum. A big test awaits Paseka against AFB so it's his chance to prove he's ready to take the leap up the prop chart.

FAVOURITE: The Warriors are slight favourites. At Mt Smart, Manly has a strong record winning 11 of 16 clashes at the Wahs home.

MY TIP: The Warriors should have enough mongrel in the middle to win this one. This on top of the added flare out wide with CNK's return from injury, should push the Warriors past Manly. But I have a sneaky hunch that we might be doing some overtime in this one... Wahs by 2.

Courageous Cowboys aim to pile on to Parramatta's pain

Saturday afternoon will see the struggling Parramatta Eels host the North Queensland Cowboys in round six action. Despite an initial glance indicating that the second placed Cowboys should have this one in the bag, a deeper inspection shows that this could be a cracking game. The Eels have conceded less points than their opponents so far this season, and have also completed at a 7% higher rate. So even though Brad Arthur's team is sitting in 14th at the moment, don't write them off just yet.

The Eels have lost their past two matches, and despite almost getting across the line against the Tigers, last Sunday in Canberra was a different story. Maika Sivo was their sole points scorer in a 41-8 drubbing by the Raiders, however he has found himself axed by Brad Arthur, not named in the 17 on Tuesday afternoon.

Alongside Sivo, prop Wiremu Greig has also been dropped, as has youngster Blaize Talagi. Morgan Harper will play in the centres, pushing Simonsson outside him into Sivo's wing spot. Daejarn Asi will play his first top flight game of the year in the number six, partnering Dylan Brown in the continued absence of Mitchell Moses. Bryce Cartwright returns from injury in the number 12, pushing Kelma Tuilagi to the bench.

The Cowboys are four from five to start the 2024 season, but have only left Queensland once so far. This trip South to Parramatta will be a tricky away day, however they should head into the game filled with confidence after dispatching the Titans in Townsville last Sunday. They raced out to a 16-0 half-time lead before letting the Gold Coast back into the game in the second stanza, with the final score reading 35-22. Emphasis on an 80 minute performance will be strong for the Cowboys this Saturday.

There's just the one change for the Cowboys this week, forced by an unfortunate ACL injury suffered by Zac Laybutt. Tom Chester will fill his spot in the centres.

The last two meetings between these sides have ended with a 24-16 scoreline, with the teams recording one win each.

WHO TO WATCH: Daejarn Asi will bring his NRL game tally to 29 when he lines up alongside Dylan Brown in the halves for the Parramatta Eels this Saturday. He has been given the nod over young half option Blaize Talagi as Brad Arthur desperately tries to plug the hole in his team's spine left by Mitchell Moses' injury. Asi has played in all five of the Eels' 2024 NSW Cup games so far, with Parramatta unable to get a win in the competition to date, so Asi will be keen to get his first competitive win of the year. His performance will determine whether he is able to keep his spot in the NRL side over Talagi in the coming rounds.

Tom Chester will make his second appearance for the Cowboys this season, being recalled into the NRL side for this weekend's game. A season-ending ACL injury suffered by Zac Laybutt creates the gap in the 17 for Chester to fill, with him being named in the centres. His one appearance this year in the Queensland Cup saw him at fullback, which is the position he earned for a number of rounds in the NRL team mid-way through last season. Chester will be keen to show he belongs in the first grade side week in week out.

FAVOURITE: With an average of over 30 points scored per game so far in the 2024 season, the North Queensland Cowboys are the clear favourites to dispatch the struggling Eels this Saturday.

MY TIP: The Eels were nothing short of hopeless against the Raiders last week, and coming up against an on fire Cowboys team shouldn't lift their spirits. North Queensland by 22.

MATCH PREVIEW Beth NICHOLLS

The Rabbitohs are trying to find a beacon of hope, having only won one game so far this year, in a must-win clash against the Sharks come Saturday afternoon.

South Sydney are coming off of their fourth loss of the season, where they were brutally defeated by the Warriors in a 34-4 score line, where they made 15 errors and only had 63 percent completion, leaving them in 17th position on the ladder. They desperately need to turn their season around, but they struggle to create any cohesion in both attack and defence, only averaging 14 points per game this year compared to the 23.5 average last year.

Jason Demetriou makes some mass changes to his team due to injury, suspension, and overall changes. Jye Gray makes his NRL debut at fullback, filling in for Latrell Mitchell, who has a three-week suspension. Tyrone Munro returns on the wing after suffering a collarbone injury, and Peter Mamouzelos is the new hooker with Damien Cook being dropped to 18th man. The bench consists of Shaquai Mitchell who returns from injury as well as Siliva Havili and Davvy Moale, with Sean Keppie and Tallis Duncan pushed out of the starting side.

Cronulla have started off the year strong, with wins against the Warriors, Bulldogs and Raiders, leaving them in fourth place on the ladder. They are fresh off their first bye of the season and will be looking to consolidate their efforts over the coming weeks where post-Round 6 they play the Cowboys, Raiders, and Dragons.

The Sharks front an almost identical team that beat the Raiders the week before their bye, with the only change being the return of Briton Nikora from suspension. His return means that Siosifa Talakai is pushed to the bench and Daniel Atkinson being named as 18th man.

Although boasting a good record against the Sharks at Accor Stadium, winning their last seven matches at home, the Rabbitohs might need a bit more than luck and history on their side, only having won five of their past 18 matches across the 2023 and 2024 seasons.

WHO TO WATCH: With Damien Cook dropped to 18th man it'll be interesting to see how Peter Mamouzelos plays as starting hooker, especially with a younger spine (outside of Cody Walker), where fullback Grey is making his NRL debut, and Dean Hawkins having played three games so far this year for the Rabbitohs. Mamouzelos played off the bench last week for a total of 17 minutes, along with seven other first grade appearances.

Pairing well with Hynes in the Cronulla halves, Braydon Trindall, has had decent start to the year, already scoring two tries of his own along with making one try assist and one line break assist.

FAVOURITE: The Sharks are favoured to add another win to their count, to make it a 4-1 start to the season.

MY TIP: The Rabbitohs are on a slippery downhill slope which unfortunately doesn't look to looking up anytime soon. Cronulla have had a strong start to the year and will no doubt continue with this form coming into Round 6. Sharks by 18.

MATCH PREVIEW Rob CROSBY

Mergers eye consistency in Sunday afternoon showdown

Rugby league comes to Campbelltown for the first time this season with the Wests Tigers and St George Illawarra Dragons facing off in a battle of the joint ventures.

Producing their strongest start to a season since the onset of the pandemic, the Wests Tigers will be determined to rectify a dismal record at Campbelltown which has seen the joint venture lose their past eight matches at the venue.

Showing resilience on the road during last week's 26-16 defeat to the Dolphins, coach Benji Marshall has been forced into changes with Asu Kepaoa, Justin Matamua and Jake Simpkin coming into the squad in place of injured trio John Bateman, Samuela Fainu and Latu Fainu.

The Tigers have won just seven out of 27 matches at Campbelltown in the near decade since they last hosted the Dragons at the venue.

Beginning the year in form that has fluctuated to extremes in quality, the St George Illawarra Dragons will be hoping to continue a recent run of wins over their joint venture rivals.

Winning three out of their past four meetings against the Tigers, including last season's ignominious 'Spoonbowl', coach Shane Flanagan has resisted the urge to wield the axe after the side went down to Newcastle 30-10 in torrential rain last Friday.

Elevating Hame Sele at the expense of Blake Lawrie, the match will take on additional significance for Jacob Liddle who will bring up 100 NRL appearances against his former club.

The Dragons have won two out of three visits to Campbelltown Sports Stadium against the Tigers.

WHO TO WATCH: After waiting seven seasons in the top grade to score his first career try, Alex Twal will be hoping to get his second on Sunday afternoon. Returning to the scene of his most memorable career moment, 27-year-old front-rower has provided reliable service off the bench through his yardage efforts and impeccable attention to defence. Beloved by supporters for his unfashionable contribution to the team, look for Twal to make the most of his time on the field.

Undergoing a remarkable transformation from a teenager sacked by the Tigers for failing to meet team standards, Moses Suli has developed into a pillar of consistency following years of dedication. Increasing his work rate over the first five rounds of the season, the 25-year-old Tongan international has averaged 150 metres to go with 11 tackle breaks. Currently in the midst of the longest try-scoring drought of his career, spanning 16 games going back to May last year, look for Suli to reap the rewards of his efforts with a four-pointer against his former club.

FAVOURITE: Despite their last win at Campbelltown occurring in 2020, the merger of Western Suburbs and Balmain is favoured to get the job done off the back of a much-improved start to the season.

MY TIP: Finishing last season as the two worst teams in the premiership, the Tigers and Dragons have made significant strides under their new coaches to win two games each during the first five rounds. While neither side is expected to seriously challenge for the finals, the team that prevails on Sunday afternoon will go a long way towards avoiding the prospect of another miserable campaign. Dragons by 6.

Titans seek form against a Raiders side on the hunt

It's unlikely to be a friendly welcome for the visiting Gold Coast Titans in Canberra this Sunday; with the Raiders finding form last round, Des Hasler's challenge to find his team a win will seem even harder.

Raiders Coach Ricky Stuart finally gave praise to his team after a solid effort in round 5 saw them chop up the Eels 41-8. It was an effort that Stuart knew his team was capable of. The Raiders played an expansive game last round, with Matthew Timoko having a standout game, showing off his speed and agility.

Stuart also singled out the work of winger Xavier Savage, saying his efforts last round were what he had finally been waiting for from the gun back. The team was under pressure to bounce back from a dismal loss in round 4, and they answered Ricky with a resounding win and team effort.

The game came at a cost for the Raiders this round, losing Jordan Rapano to a knee injury and Corey Horsburgh with groin problems. The Raiders will debut Chevy Stewart in full back, and the team will welcome back Zac Hosking from concussion protocols.

Des Hasler will be looking to his potent attack weapons of David Fifita, Jayden Campbell, and AJ Brimson to make a competition of Sunday's game, but the attack may not be the problem. The Titans are averaging 28 points a game being put on them. Hasler has pointed out that the team are allowing the opposition to access field position too easily. And that even when they were putting some pressure on the North Queensland Cowboys last round, they failed to pull the trigger on the gun to make a contest. It's still a testing period for Hasler and the Titans, but if there's a time to show your team can handle the middle of the park, it will be against the mobile, solid and hungry pack of the Raiders.

Despite an ankle injury last round, Titans captain Kieran Foran will run out to take charge. Issac Liu will also make a return, with Joe Simpson pushed back to reserves.

WHO TO WATCH: The Raiders' outside backs had a field day last round. Matthew Timoko played at a scintillating pace and carved the Eels up like a Sunday roast, with Xavier Savage adding the gravy. Ricky Stuart, who was tight-lipped on players' praise last round, couldn't speak highly enough of his team and pointed out that what we all saw on Sunday was a taste of the player Savage will be. Watch for these two to star again in what will likely be an open field for them to operate in and draw a mighty Viking clap from the home crowd. These backs will no doubt thrive under the high ball of Jamal Fogarty, who was back to his best with both a short and long kicking game.

Zac Hosking is all but biting at the bit to return to a forward pack that oozes dominance. With the big boppers of Josh Papalii and Joseph Tapine laying a solid middle, the likes of Hudson Young and Hosking will follow up to cause chaos with offloads and attract more opposition to open up cracks in defence. Morgan Smithies is showing he is quite the workhorse and adds an unrelenting presence to the formidable forward pack of the Raiders.

Jayden Campbell showed plenty of fight last round, and the team will lift if he starts to make the inroads he is capable of doing. If Campbell can inspire effort from Brimson and Fifita, then the Titans are in with a chance. But they will only be competitive if they can match a battle in the middle. Moeaki Fotuauka will be one to watch for a big game, as the Maroons player will hopefully ignite his forwards to get competitive and give his attacking players a chance to keep up on the scoreboard.

FAVOURITE: Canberra all the way. The Titans have yet to prove to anyone that they are a threat of any kind in this competition.

MY TIP: It's going to get ugly for Des Hasler and his Titans. The resolve that Ricky Stuart got out of his players from a loss to give a top team like the Eels a shellacking can only mean the Titans are in for a rough night. They will be exposed on the edges and in the middle by a ravenous Raiders team in hunting mode. Canberra by 18.

ROUND 7 SUPER LEAGUE WRAP with ROB McHUGH

WIGAN 40 LEIGH 12

Wigan Warriors got back to winning ways in the Battle of the Borough, following their Good Friday defeat against title rivals St Helens, comfortably seeing off Leigh Leopards 40-12.

While Leigh owner, Derek Beaumont fired off missives criticising the club's social media coverage from the director's box, his side continued to fire blanks on the pitch as they continue their wait for a second win of the season. Wigan did not take long to open the scoring, working the ball to the right wing for Abbas Miski to dive in and score the game's opening try in the 8th minute, thanks to a pinpoint final pass from Jai Field. Field was then caught high by Matt Moylan, who received a yellow card in the 11th minute, reducing the Leopards to 12 men. It was no surprise, therefore, when Wigan extended their lead in the 16th minute. However, the try scorer was a surprise, as Willie Isa collected a smart kick through to score his first try in three years.

Field's influence on the game continued to grow and his break released Bevan French, who collected his own kick through, thanks in part to a kind bounce, to add Wigan's third. A sharp break from dummy half from Kruiise Leeming put Wigan in again, with Leeming finding Harry Smith to score a simple fourth Wigan try in the 29th minute. Smith kicked 2 of the first 4 conversions to give Wigan a 20-0 lead on the half hour mark. To this point, Leigh had struggled to get a foothold in the game, but Moylan's return from the sin bin lifted them, and he played an important hand in the Leopards first score of the night. Moylan kicked through for Charnley to chase. The ex-Wigan man showed good footballing skills to poke the bouncing ball through with his toe, which allowed Ricky Leutele to pick up and score. Moylan converted to make the score 20-6 in Wigan's favour at half time.

Any brief glimmer of hope Leigh had of mounting a comeback were extinguished in the 46th minute when Wigan scored the first try of the second half. Harry Smith intercepted 5 minutes from his own line, and offloaded well to Field, whose lightning pace saw him go the distance to score. Wigan then extended their lead in the 52nd minute, after Bevan French was denied by the video referee earlier in the set. French had stepped inside, wrong footing the defence, but was held up whilst trying to ground the ball. Wigan then spread the ball wide to the right, finding Adam Keighran who dived into the corner to score. Junior Nsemba then scored his first Super League try, finishing from close range after finding a gap in the Leigh defence. Smith converted 2 of these three tries to make the score 36-6.

Charnley scored a consolation try for Wigan in the left-hand corner, which was converted by Moylan, before Liam Marshall added the final points of the night after good work from Jake Wardle to release him. Wigan's win keeps them in touch with the leading group, whilst Leigh remain entrenched in the bottom half. With a significant number of players off contract at the end of the season, it may not be long before Beaumont turns his ire to shortcomings on the field.

CASTLEFORD 36 SALFORD 24

Castleford produced the shock result of the weekend, picking up their first win of the season at home to Salford, thanks to an awesome foursome from Innes Senior.

Salford will be left wondering how they snatched defeat from the jaws of victory, having led 24-18 in the second half.

Salford opened the scoring through an early Sneyd penalty, before full back Ryan Brierley scored the first try of the night in the 12th minute, after being released by winger Deon Cross, with Marc Sneyd kicking the extras.

Castleford soon struck back, thanks to a brilliant solo effort from Innes Senior, who scored his first of four tries. He evaded the Salford defence deep in his own half, running 75 metres to score, despite a valiant last-ditch effort from Brierley which nearly stopped him.

With Salford hooker Amir Borough sin binned for a tip tackle on Alex Mellor, Castleford took advantage when Salford's defence were slow to react to a quick play the ball, and Samy Kibula put Sam Hall in to score from close range. When Jacob Miller kicked for Innes Senior to collect for his second try in the 32nd minute, the Tigers looked comfortable, leading 18-8.

Salford gave themselves hope on the stroke of half-time, however, through Tim Lafai's try after 38 minutes, thanks to quick hands from Sneyd and Brierley, with Sneyd converting to reduce the deficit to 18-14 at half time.

Salford struck first in the second half, to re-establish their lead, thanks to a brilliant try from Nene McDonald. McDonald picked up the ball 30 metres from his own line, and none of the Castleford defence were able to match him for pace, as he went in to score, with Sneyd adding the extras to give Salford a slender 20-18 lead. Salford then capitalised on some weak Castleford defence, to further extend their lead through Brierley, and looked well placed to claim a fifth win of the season.

But Castleford, and Innes Senior, had different ideas, and it was Senior's second try from his own half which turned the tide, as he brushed off two Salford defenders to score from 50 metres out in the 57th minute. And when Brad Martin showed a good turn of pace and strength to score from a similar distance, in the 60th minute, the Tigers were back in the lead.

Danny Richardson added a late penalty, before Innes Senior scored in the corner, this time from close range, to make it four tries on the night and seal the points for the Tigers. Their victory leaves London as the only winless team in Super League and moves the Tigers above Hull FC into 10th. Results elsewhere mean that Salford remain in 6th place, on 8 points from 7 games.

HULL KR 50 LONDON 10

A Matt Parcell hat-trick of tries and 18 points from star man Mikey Lewis ensured Hull Kingston Rovers ran out comfortable winners against the London Broncos.

Whilst London took an early lead, they never looked to be in with a chance against a strong KR side, and their wait for a first Super League win continues for another week.

The first try of the night was scored by London's Sam Davis, after a clever kick through from full back Alex Walker; in the fourth minute of the game. But their lead lasted less than 5 minutes, when Matt Parcell scored Hull KR's first try of the night. London tried a short goal line drop out, but only succeeded in knocking the ball down to Parcell, who scored a simple try from less than 10 metres out. Mikey Lewis added the conversion to give KR a 6-4 lead, which they never looked like relinquishing.

After taking the lead, Hull KR turned on the style, blitzing the London defence with 6 further tries before half time. James Batchelor scored from close range, after a neat offload from Tyrone Maty to extend their lead in the 19th minute, before Kelepi Tanginoa took in a neat inside pass from Niall Evalds to score a simple try. Ryan Hall took advantage of some sloppy defending to score the Robins' fourth try, picking up the ball at dummy half and running down the blindside to score effectively unopposed.

Mikey Lewis then scored a great try of his own, stepping through the London defence on halfway before rounding London fullback, Walker to score under the posts. Parcell scored his second of the night, getting on the end of a break from Niall Evalds to add KR's sixth try of the night. Petr Hiku dummied his way through the line from 10 metres out to add the final try of the half, which gave Hull KR a 40-4 lead, with Lewis kicking 6 from 7.

Hiku turned creator as KR opened the scoring in the second half, with James Batchelor scoring his second try of the game. Hiku broke through the line and faced with the attentions of the covering defender Iliess Macani, chose to unselfishly pass to Batchelor for an easy score. Macani did, however, manage to get himself on the scoresheet, after London took advantage of a loose ball in midfield, with Davis picking up before passing to Leyland, who found Macani. The winger still had plenty to do but had enough pace to score in the corner after a 40-metre run, with Leyland adding the conversion.

It was fitting, though, that Hull KR scored the final try of the night, and it was Matt Parcell who scored to complete his hat trick. Parcell picked up the ball from dummy half and put Lewis through a gap in the defence. Lewis passed the ball back inside to Parcell, cutting London's full back out of the defence, and he scored under the posts, with Lewis converting to make the final score 50-10.

WARRINGTON 34 LEEDS 8

Warrington Wolves went back to the top of the Super League temporarily, after securing a 34-8 win at AMT Headingley.

Whilst the final margin of victory suggests an uneven contest, Leeds were in the game for large parts and were partly the architects of their own downfall, making several errors, particularly in the first half. Leeds took the lead in the 9th minute, thanks to a pinpoint kick from Matt Frawley, which allowed Harry Newman to outjump the Warrington defence to score. Leeds nearly extended their lead thanks to a spectacular effort from Ash Handley who broke from near his own line. Handley stepped inside and out to turn the chasing Warrington defence around and looked set to score. Equally spectacular, however, was the covering effort from Matty Ashton, who stopped Handley five metres short and dragged him into touch. Warrington then levelled the scoring in the 18th minute, when a slick passing move from left to right found Matty Nicholson, who showed great strength and determination to hold off Paul Momirovski and score. The Wire then took the lead in the 30th minute, as England captain George Williams danced through two tackles to score, after good play from Ben Currie and Matt Dufty. Stefan Ratchford kicked the conversion to put Warrington 10-4 ahead. When forward Joe Bullock crashed over from close range in the 37th minute, Warrington had made the Rhinos pay for several sloppy errors to lead 16-4, with Ratchford kicking 2 goals from 3 attempts.

But when Leeds opened the scoring in the second half, it appeared that the game was not over. Receiving the ball 15 metres from the Warrington line, Brodie Croft ran to the short side, before playing a perfect kick through for Luis Roberts to collect and score in the right corner. Leeds then thought they had scored again through Paul Momirovski, after a deft kick through to the left touchline from stand-in centre, Rhyse Martin. The try was overruled for a double movement, which frustrated the Leeds faithful, but was correct by the letter of the law. Warrington did not need another warning and proceeded to put the game to bed in emphatic fashion. First, hooker Danny Walker scooted over from dummy half at close range, the latest in a pattern of tries that Leeds have conceded in this manner and is something coach Rohan Smith needs to address. Then, in the 73rd minute, Williams threatened to offload the ball, before running and passing to Dufty with a no look pass, who burrowed over the line to kill off any threat of a Leeds fightback. With Leeds trying to force a way back into the game, Josh Thewlis intercepted a Croft pass and broke clear to score. Ratchford, having converted all but the first try, kicked his fifth goal of the night from the touchline to round off the scoring. Warrington's win continues an impressive start to the season, which has seen them fall to just two defeats, home and away against Catalans Dragons. As ever with Warrington, they must now prove they can keep the pace with the competition's favourites, St Helens and Wigan to win silverware.

For Leeds, this defeat is another reminder of the gulf of quality between them and the competition's top sides, leaving them in 7th place. Whilst they were not expected to be challenging for the top spot, hopes of competing for silverware appear to be drifting away, following an early Challenge Cup exit, much earlier than fans would expect after a significant investment in the playing squad over the close season.

ROUND 7 SUPER LEAGUE WRAP with ROB McHUGH

HUDDERSFIELD 56 HULL FC 22

Hull FC's woeful start to the 2024 season continued, as the Black and Whites suffered another drubbing at the hands of Huddersfield Giants.

Two weeks after losing 50-6 against the Giants at the MKM Stadium, Huddersfield again ran in a half century, this time registering a 56-22 win, a performance which saw the Giants score seven first half tries. Former Hull FC winger Adam Swift opened the scoring in the first minute, diving over in the corner after Matty English pushed through a gap in the defence, finding Connor who offloaded to Swift to score. At this stage though, the eventual margin of victory was not clear, as the teams traded scores in an entertaining opening period. Hull FC hit back through Liam Sutcliffe's first try of the season, in the 9th minute, before Swift gave Huddersfield the lead again in the 15th minute, after Esan Marsters was quickest to react to a fumble by Hull FC's Lewis Martin, to send Swift away to score.

Jack Murchie extended Huddersfield's lead in the 20th minute, collecting a deft kick through from Adam Clune before Sutcliffe got his second to give FC hope. Teenager Jack Charles showed some of his promise, chipping through for Sutcliffe to collect and score, cutting the Giants' lead to 8 points. But by the time the two teams went in for half time, the game was effectively over as a contest. First, the evergreen centre, Leroy Cudjoe, exposed a defensive weakness on the Hull FC right edge, providing the assist for Esan Marsters to score in the 29th minute. Adam Swift then completed a first half hat trick in the 32nd minute, with Cudjoe again providing the assist for his winger. At this point, Hull FC's inexperience line up, which included three teenagers, began to look ragged and Luke Yates took advantage, barging his way over to mark his 150th appearance with a try. On the stroke of half time, Jake Connor broke through the line, releasing Kevin Naiqama to score, with Connor kicking 6 conversions from 7 attempts to give Huddersfield a 40-10 lead at half time.

Hull FC opened the scoring in the second half through Fa'amanu Brown, who went over from dummy half, but they never looked like getting back into the game, as Huddersfield scored two tries through a quickfire Tui Lolohea double. For the first, he won a foot race with Hull FC fullback Tex Hoy, to score in the corner. For his second try, Lolohea had Jake Bibby to thank, as he selflessly passed for Lolohea to score on the inside. Jake Connor converted the first of the double, and Lolohea converted his own try for the second. In the interim period, Hull FC's day went from bad to worse, as Ligi Sao was sin binned following a late shot on Connor. Hull FC scored a late consolation try through Franklin Pele in the 74th minute, but a second sin bin for Sao, meant Hull FC's afternoon went from bad to abject disaster. Jake Bibby added insult to injury adding the final try of the game with the last play, thanks to some quick footwork and a burst of pace. The kick was missed, meaning Huddersfield completed a comfortable 56-22 win. The win moves Huddersfield up to 8th place, with three wins from their first six and puts them what is developing to be a three team in a mini league, with Leeds and Salford, battling it out for the final play-off place in 6th. On the other hand, Hull FC now face a battle to win over their own fans, as the side left the field to a chorus of boos from the few hardy souls who remained.

CATALANS 14 ST HELENS 8

Catalans Dragons came out on top in the top of the table clash at the Stade Gilbert Brutus, defeating a St Helens side fresh off their derby day win against Wigan.

It was an intense, physical battle in the South of France, but strong a strong defensive effort from Alrix Da Costa and a tackle of the season contender from Arthur Mourgue laid the platform for a famous Catalans win. The opening exchanges of the game were every bit as intense as expected, with both sides trading strong defensive sets. Catalans came closest to opening the scoring in the opening 10 minutes, through free scoring winger Tom Johnstone. After an injection of pace from Jordan Abdull and quick hands from Artur Romano, Johnstone dived for the corner. But a good defensive effort from Saints centre, Konrad Hurrell, meant Johnstone bounced the ball and the Saints escaped a dangerous situation. After absorbing a period of Catalans pressure, Saints then broke, after a clever kick and chase from Jack Welsby. Winger Tommy Makinson looked destined to score, but the ball bounced wickedly and evaded him, although Saints kept the ball. Saints forced a goal line drop out, which the Catalans kicked short, and Saints regained possession. They worked the ball out to Bennis who appeared to have scored in the left corner but stepped into touch in the process. Saints' pressure eventually told through, helped by a series of Catalans knock-ons, which gave Saints field position. From the base of a scrum, having previously tried the same move but used Sione Mata'utia for the final pass, this time Jonny Lomax passed behind Mata'utia to Welsby for a simple score.

Despite losing influential playmaker, Jordan Abdull, to injury in the 23rd minute, Les Dracs began to gain field position of their own and took the lead in the 31st minute. Mike McMeeken crashed over, following a short pass out of dummy half by Alrix Da Costa, who was a key part of the Dragons' defensive effort in the first half. Arthur Mourgue added the conversion to give Les Dracs a 6-4 lead. But the Saints were not finished and struck on the stroke of half time through Tommy Makinson. A phase of play which started with a penalty to Saints 10 metres from their own line culminated with a slick passing move found Konrad Hurrell in space deep in the Catalans half. Hurrell released Makinson, who drove for the line. There was an air of controversy about the score, which was given on the field, without consulting the video referee, with the Catalans players arguing the ball was not grounded. Lomax missed both of his conversion attempts, meaning Saints took a slender two-point lead into half time with the score at 8-6. Catalans injury problems mounted, as they lost Tom Johnstone early in the second half, following a worrying clash of heads with a teammate, whilst tackling Jack Welsby. Johnstone was out cold after the impact, but thankfully was able to walk from the field of play.

Saints were denied the first try of the second half, after a wonderful tackle from Mourgue held up Lewis Dodd when he seemed certain to score. The two sides traded sets without breaking through, until Lomax dropped pass 10m out, handing Catalans an excellent opportunity. Catalans worked the ball out to Matt Ikuvalu who cut through the Saints defence to score and give Les Dracs the lead. There was a question of obstruction in the build-up, but the Video Referee believed there was insufficient evidence to overrule the on-field decision to award the try. Mourgue converted the score, with some help from the post, to give Catalans a 12-8 lead, heading into the final 15 minutes. The intensity of the game continued, and tempers threatened to fray late on after an altercation between McMeeken and St Helens youngster, George Delaney. The incident culminated in a Catalans penalty 40 metres from goal. But Mourgue was on target with 65 minutes to go, to give the home side a 6-point lead. Despite some late pressure from the Saints, the side from Perpignan held firm and registered a famous win. Perhaps most heartening for the game of Rugby League as a whole, was the key role played by the Dragons' spine of French players, in Mourgue, Fages, Rogue and Da Costa, who marshalled the team brilliantly in Abdull's absence. The win returned Les Dracs to the summit of the Super League table, with 6 wins from 7 games, with St Helens remaining in fourth on 10 points. This was a statement performance from a side who wish to go one better than last year's Grand Final defeat.

THE 300TH THAT ISN'T

VICTORIA GARRY, 8 APR 2024

VICTORIA Garry shares her views on the upcoming milestone for a Roosters player that the NRL won't be recognising.

This Thursday, Michael Jennings will play his 300th NRL game, and you won't hear anything about it from the people who gave him the opportunity.

Jennings played his first game in over three years in the Roosters' Round 5 loss to Canterbury, being activated as 18th player due to two failed head injury assessments.

With one of those players subject to the 11-day stand down being James Tedesco, and Dominic Young accepting a two-week suspension, a backline reshuffle will see Jennings named again to play against Newcastle.

This will be the 300th time he has taken the field during an NRL game which is a feat usually celebrated to great lengths.

Not this time.

Today, NRL CEO Andrew Abdo announced that they will not be recognising his 300th match due to "past conduct".

A weak statement given they're the ones allowing him to play his 300th match to begin with. They're the ones who signed off allowing his return to the game.

This decision today is just a flimsy bandaid on a self inflicted wound. Jennings is one of six current NRL players who have been found guilty of domestic or sexual assault on a female.

How is pretending he isn't playing his 300th game going to change the fact that they have allowed him and those five other players to continue their careers in the game that so many people - women included - call the greatest of them all?

No matter what they say, he will still be taking that field and it's because they allowed him to.

Will his run metres still count? Will his tackles still be made? Will a try scored still count?

They can pretend that this achievement isn't happening all that they want but at the end of the day this decision has only once again highlighted the fact that they allowed him to play his 300th game to begin with.

There is a clear issue across the NRL and I know I am not the only woman out there who doesn't feel respected by the organisation that I dedicate so much time, money and energy on.

Over 120 female fans were asked whether they feel respected by the NRL and 56% answered no.

Whether you consider that to be a big enough number to ring alarm bells or not, you can not deny that it is technically the majority.

I am a relatively young fan of the game of rugby league considering I only started following along in 2010 but I quickly became enthralled.

I loved everything about the game and I had Jarryd Hayne to thank for it. That is a name that myself and countless Parramatta fans used to cheer for proudly. Now it's a name whispered in disgust.

To this day it breaks my heart that the player who made me fall in love with this game has absolutely no respect for me as a woman.

It's infuriating having to accept that, as a woman, I'm going to most likely have to watch players who, just like Hayne, don't truly respect me.

Every couple of years or so I'll get lucky and be able to proudly say that my team isn't fielding any of those players but it's always an empty boast knowing that could most likely change in a heartbeat.

This is the attitude that the NRL have instilled in us. We can't really blame any of the individual clubs for it because they're the ones allowing it to happen to begin with.

The pressure is on the clubs to get results and if a player with these indiscretions can help get those results then they're always going to sign the players and only get rid of them when they're hands are tied.

That's the NRL's fault. It always starts at the top and time and time again they have let us down.

For this I can only ask that the NRL not insult us by pretending to care about these assaults against women when it is so clear that it only matters when they need to save face.

Pretending to take a stand against assault against women after they are the ones who have given him the opportunity is a slap in the face to the thousands of female fans, staff and players.

No pun intended.
