ROOSTERS HOLD ON BY THE FEATHERS AGAINST RESILIENT KNIGHTS

RHYS SULLIVAN

A Roosters side without James Tedesco, Sam Walker or Dominic Young has claimed an upset 22-20 victory over the Newcastle Knights at McDonald Jones Stadium on Thursday night.

It was the Knights who started the game well, with Kalyn Ponga and Bradman Best combining for a line break off a kick return. Later that set, Jackson Hastings got the ball from Adam Elliott and sold Victor Radley a dream before stepping inside and getting the games opening try. Just minutes later the Roosters gave away a cheap penalty after failing to beat the dropout shot clock, and the Knights extended the lead to 8-0.

But the Roosters picked up a relieving penalty and went straight on the attack, with Luke Keary and Joseph Manu combining to sent Daniel Tupou over in the corner. Making matters worse for the Knights, Ponga injured his hip while trying to challenge for the ball and would be significantly impacted for the remainder of the first half.

The injury began to swing the momentum, and a short time later Brandon Smith attacked out of dummy half and found Manu, who offloaded it to Keary who shifted it to Victor Radley for the try. Not long after that Smith dove out of dummy half again and not a single Knight laid a finger on him before he crossed the line to make the scores 16-8.

But the Knights would not yield, and in the dying stages of the half and completely against the run of play, Kai Pearce-Paul made a line break before finding Ponga who hit Bradman Best with plenty of work to do, but he got it done for the four pointer to make the halftime score 16-14 in favour of the Roosters.

Ponga took some painkillers in the sheds and emerged for the second half looking in a lot less pain, but the opening stages of the half didn't offer much chance to stretch his legs. After 25 minutes where not much happened, the Roosters made a line break where Michael Jennings should have scored, but a play later Smith shifted the ball left where Terrell May turned into a textbook centre to send Tupou over for his second and push the lead to 8 points.

But Newcastle wouldn't die wondering, and with less than five minutes remaining Phoenix Crossland engaged the line and got a nice offload to Elliot who worked his way under the posts for the try. Then in their final chance with the ball, Ponga made an excellent line break to set up an attacking opportunity, but the set ended meekly with Crossland grubbering the ball straight to May.

Manu was the clear cut man of the match for the Roosters, running for over 300 metres and having a hand in two of the teams tries. May was also phenomenal up the middle, while Smith was a menace around the ruck.

For the Knights, their reliance on Ponga was exposed as the team looked completely rudderless with him inebriated in the first half. While players like Elliot, Dane Gagai and Leo Thompson were excellent in their own right, they were overcome by a Roosters side which was missing multiple key players.

LATE STORM SURGE HOLDS OFF A DETERMINED DOGS REVIVAL

AJ LUCANTONIO

A late Shawn Blore try with under five to play has managed to get the Storm over the line by 16-14, holding off a brave Bulldogs fightback at AAMI Park.

Canterbury started how they finished against the Roosters last week with some silly errors inviting Melbourne to camp down their end. Ryan Papenhuyzen imposed himself after just three minutes, beating some sloppy outside defence to cross for the try. Despite the Bunker being called upon, it took Grant Atkins one look to overturn the on-field decision of no-try. Melbourne were losing troops with Tui Kamikamica injured in the opening 5 minutes, while his replacement Alec MacDonald left with a HIA midway through the first half (which he passed).

Despite Canterbury working into the contest and chances coming which included Bronson Xerri finding open space, they were unable to cross the stripe in the opening quarter hour. Melbourne capitalised on the lack of attacking execution up the other end with another miraculous try assist by Xavier Coates.

A clever cross field kick was marked by Xavier Coates. Despite Jacob Kiraz doing all he could, Coates somehow got the boot to it and it was miscued by Drew Hutchison and Reimis Smith was urgent and got to the ball to ground it for a 10-0 lead after 24 minutes. Despite both sides looking promising throughout the remainder of the half including a Matt Burton chip to Josh Addo-Carr which saw the flyer tackled by Papenhuyzen. The Storm fullback was put on report for an alleged hip-drop tackle on the Fox, and the scores would remain the same at the change of ends.

After Connor Tracey and Jacob Kiraz completed a Houdini act to escape from the in-goal. The Dogs exposed the lack of defensive numbers of the Storm which allowed Xerri and Addo-Carr to combine. The Fox sprinted the best part of 50 metres to score untouched for the Dogs opening try of the second half. Burton added the extras for the gap to be reduced to four.

Canterbury were looking for fire in defence but unfortunately, Sam Hughes' lowered the elbow into Christian Welch's face and was sin-binned. Fortunately, the Bulldogs held firm and forced an error from Melbourne's attacking set. Melbourne were also reduced to 12 moments later when Papenhuyzen was binned for a professional foul on Stephen Crichton.

Canterbury quickly struck back when it was 12 v 12. Xerri again showcased magnificent skill to get a pass away to Addo-Carr who crossed for his second try to level the scores at 10-10. Canterbury were gutting the Storm's right edge apart with linebreaks galore through the second half. Burton delivered a majestic pass to Addo-Carr who crossed for his hatrick within 14 minutes (of game time).

With time running out and Canterbury failing to put away their opposition. Melbourne continued their tradition of scaring the pants off their home fans. Papenhuyzen and Hughes combined nicely to break through the middle third. Munster demanded the ball off the next set and found a crashing Shawn Blore who crossed inside the last five. Meaney added the conversion to lead with limited time left. Despite a late scare, the Storm hung on for a tough and tenacious victory. The match was very well handled by debutant Wyatt Raymond who deserves an amazing amount of praise for his effort tonight in his maiden game.

BRONCOS RULE BRISBANE AFTER COBBO DOUBLE ACT SINKS THE DOLPHINS

SAM BOURKE

The Broncos have defeated the Dolphins by 28-14 in front of a packed Suncorp Stadium tonight.

After a tense first half, Brisbane poured on four tries in just fifteen minutes to blow their local rivals out of the water with Selwyn Cobbo bagging two tries for the home side.

The loss for Wayne Bennett's side was further soured by a hamstring injury to star fullback Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow who was ruled out of the match in a huge blow for the Dolphins night and potentially for Queensland, with State of Origin just over six weeks away.

It was a frenetic start to the Battle of Brisbane with both sides testing each other's resolve early on. Brisbane were camped on their goal line early, turning away the Dolphins for five consecutive sets.

After both sides went close to scoring, it was the Dolphins who struck the first blow when Broncos winger Corey Oates spilled a bomb on his own line. Kenny Bromwich then picked up the scraps for Redcliffe, with the backrower finding a steaming Jarrod Wallace fresh off the interchange bench to score the first try of the game.

The good news for the visitors quickly soured, as star fullback Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow was ruled out of the match with a hamstring injury in a huge blow for the visitors chances.

After being camped on their line for the majority of the first half, the pressure was on the Broncos to score before halftime. The Broncos interchange bench then made the desired impact, with Tyson Smoothy finding the giant Xavier Willison close to the line who reached out to score next to the posts. Reece Walsh took the goalkicking duties and put his side up by 6-4 at the end of the first stanza.

Following the halftime break Corey Oates made up for his error in the first half, collecting a beautiful cut out pass from Ezra Mam to score in the corner to extend the Broncos lead to 10-6 to give the home side the ascendancy.

The game then got away from the Dolphins as they simply imploded, first through a loose kick that saw Reece Walsh race 85 metres down the sideline to score. Then makeshift fullback Kodi Nikorima spilled a spiral bomb which saw Selwyn Cobbo pick up the ball to score an easy try. Cobbo then had a double minutes later, as the Queensland outside back pounced on a loose pass to run 70 metres to give the Broncos a commanding 28-4 lead.

Redcliffe rallied late to see rangy winger Jack Bostock leap over in the corner, which was followed by Jamayne Isaako who turned the defence inside out to score a late consolation try to narrow to final score to 28-14.

Brisbane return to Suncorp in Round 7 for a clash with Canberra next Saturday, while the Dolphins head north to Darwin where they will play Parramatta on Friday night.

SJ, DCE SHARE THE SPOILS IN GOLDEN POINT DRAW

ROB CROSBY

The rivalry between Shaun Johnson and Daly Cherry-Evans delivered in a thrilling contest as the New Zealand Warriors and Manly Sea Eagles split the points in a 22-all draw at Go Media Stadium.

Having faced off for more than a decade in club games, grand finals and test matches, the two veteran halfbacks were heavily involved for their respective clubs in an outstanding spectacle of rugby league played before 23,076 supporters.

Fresh from becoming the most-capped player for the Sea Eagles last week, Cherry-Evans (10th minute) opened the scoring after pouncing on a fortuitous offload from Tom Trbojevic which was knocked back by Wayde Egan and rolled through the legs of Tohu Harris into the in-goal.

The Sea Eagles extended their lead after spreading the ball from inside their own half, which allowed Tommy Talau to sprint down the sideline and kick in-field for Cherry-Evans (23rd minute) to collect his second four-pointer.

Establishing a 16-0 lead moments later after Tom Trbojevic delivered a cut-out pass for Talau (27th minute) to score in the corner, the Sea Eagles appeared equally impressive in defence when Ben Trbojevic produced a try-saving tackle to deny Marcelo Montoya at the opposite end of the field.

The Warriors managed to claw back the lead with Harris sending Jazz Tevaga (35th minute) underneath the posts with a short pass; the joy was short lived as the interchange forward hobbled from the field with a hamstring injury.

Striking a crucial blow on halftime courtesy of Luke Brooks throwing an ill-conceived pass, Dallin Watene-Zelezniak (40th minute) raced 50 metres to narrow the margin to 16-10 at the change of ends.

Both halfbacks demonstrated their class early in the second half with Cherry-Evans firing a superb pass to put Ben Trbojevic (44th minute) into a hole, before Johnson (53rd minute) responded with a solo run reminiscent of the highlights he made his name on as a younger man.

In a tense second half which saw the visitors hold a 22-14 lead, after Johnson missed a conversion from close to the posts, the Warriors set up a thrilling finish with Watene-Zelezniak (79th minute) crossing for his second.

Landing a sideline conversion to narrow the margin to 22-20, Johnson's attempt at a two-point field goal fell short; however Josh Aloiai was penalised for making contact with the legs of the kicker, resulting in a penalty from in front which levelled the scores at 22-all at the end of regulation time.

Both sides played field position during golden point with both Cherry-Evans (0/2) and Johnson (0/1) unable to land the decisive score, leaving the two sides to walk away with a deserved point each at the end of 90 minutes.

Next week, the Warriors will travel to Wollongong on Friday night to take on the Dragons, while the Sea Eagles will head to the Gold Coast to face the Titans on Saturday evening.

NRL ROUND 6 WRAP

EELS DIG DEEP AGAINST COWBOYS

ANDY P

The Eels turn up for a full 80 minutes to beat the Cowboys by 7 points in a thrilling game at CommBank Stadium.

The game's pace was set from the start, with Jeremiah Nanai going over five minutes in after a Scott Drinkwater kick on the opposition's line.

Only five minutes later, the Eels pounced on a penalty for foul play to push towards the Cowboys' line. Dylan Brown made a momentum-shifting tackle to put even more pressure on the Cowboys in their quarter of the field. The Eels capitalised on the possession, with Joe Ofahengaue storming over to level up the scores.

The game continued to see-saw, and it was only a lazy tackle from Jason Taumalolo on J'maine Hopgood in the Cowboy's 20m zone that gave the Eels a penalty in front and easy points to take the lead by 2 points.

The Eels continued to attack, and although it looked dangerous, they failed to put any polish on the ball when it mattered. With a forward pass penalty, the Cowboys took the opportunity with possession to send Tomas Chester over in the 18th minute, to the dismay of the home crowd.

The game continued again with momentum shifts, and good phases of attack only really being undone by errors. At the 27th-minute mark, Griffin Neame's loose hand in the ruck was all the Eels needed to regain composure. During some broken play on the Cowboys' line, Joey Lussick jumped over to give the Eels the lead.

Until halftime, both teams continued to march up the field and back again. Both teams were finding space, and the Eel's game plan seemed to centre around the movement of the ball and trust in their players to be there when it mattered. The Cowboys were doing the same, with Tom Dearden and Drinkwater racking up the meters in the middle and out wide.

Drinkwater started the second half started with a penalty, as Bailey Simonsson showed excellent game awareness to catch the ball off the kickoff with a leg over the line. From here, the Eels pushed forward continually with venom. Even in the face of some stiff-line defence by players like Val Holmes, the Eels finally broke through as Morgan Harper got his hands on the end of a nice Dylan Brown grubber.

It was a tight game, and teams only really got ahead when errors occurred. Shaun Lane failed to finish off the Eels set, getting out of their half, and in a few minutes, Val Holmes went over to put the Cowboys right back in the game.

The Eels looked like they had another try after some more sustained pressure on the Cowboys' line saw Joey Lussick get over from a line dropout. But the Bunker found him offside.

Credit to the Eels, as this could have easily taken the wind out of their attack, but they hit back five miners later, with Daejarn Asi going over to push the Eels out to

CommBank Stadium, Parramatta / Burramattagal

26-14 after Clinton Gutherson's successful conversion.

With desperation seeping into the Cowboys' game, a series of bad passes managed to break the play up enough that they found a hole down the Eels' right, sending Drinkwater over for a try in his 100th NRL game. And with 10 minutes left and at 26-20, all the sights were a cracker of an ending.

But it was the Eels who continued to complete sets and put the pressure on the Cowboys, who seemed tired and on the back foot for the last 10 minutes,

With 4 minutes to go, Daejarn Asi managed to get a field goal in, and it sent that it would be a bridge too far for the Cowboys, who were out on their feet after a stop attack by the eels.

A great expansive game of footy and it's the style that players like Brown and Gutherson thrive in and the team bought into it. The Cowboy's talent just wasn't enough, and it seemed the last 10 minutes were them done. The Eels definitely came for the 80 minutes.

SOUTHS SPIRITED BUT FALL TO CRONULLA

JOSH ROBERTSON

If the writing wasn't on the wall for Souths coach Jason Demetriou then it truly is tonight as an injury hit South Sydney fall to their fifth defeat of the season with a 34-22 defeat to the Sharks at Accor Stadium.

The pressure on the Rabbitohs didn't show early as they were able to defend an initial attacking raid from the Sharks but couldn't use their own chance to pressure the Cronulla line. An error in attack gave Cronulla a strong attacking position and off an attacking scrum the Shire side got the opening four pointer when Ronaldo Mulitalo went over.

South Sydney were able to hit back minutes later when some good play down their left saw Michael Chee-Kam have too much size and strength for the Cronulla defence and he was able to get the ball down. Dean Hawkins conversion gave the Bunnies a 6-4 lead.

Injuries began to mount for the home side as Tevita Tatola suffered a leg injury and Tyrone Munro suffered a collarbone injury as well as rookie fullback Jye Gray being forced from the field for a HIA.

The Sharks began to get momentum and put up two tries inside the final ten minutes of the half both with Ronaldo Mulitalo's fingerprints on them as one he beat Taane Milne to the before linking with Teig Wilton and then second time Ronaldo was able to chase through a Braydon Trindall kick. Nicho Hynes converted both efforts for a 16-6 lead at the break.

The injury concerns continued to mount for Souths as even though Jye Gray had passed his HIA, Souths Captain Cam Murray failed his after being collected high on the stroke of half time.

Things got worse for the Rabbitohs as it looked like Cronulla could start racing away with the game as they had luck down their right this with Nicho Hynes able to link with Sione Katoa on the outside to score. The conversion for the Sharks captain put the lead out to 22-6.

South Sydney couldn't be accused of a lack of effort tonight despite everything that went against them as Taane Milne kept the Cardinal and Green's hope alive of making a comeback as he had to pick the ball up around his ankles and forced his way to the line. Hawkins conversion closed the gap to 12 points.

Tonight could've been called the Ronaldo Mulitalo show and it was for good reason yet again as he was able to outjump the South Sydney defence when he took possession of a high kick before finding Teig Wilton who scored his second.

Souths' hopes of pulling off a miracle were looking good when Tom Burgess' strong performance tonight was rewarded with a much deserved try as Siliva Havili was able to get the ball free after a good run to Tom Burgess to score. The margin then closed to a converted try when Isaiah Tass scored on the back of a beautiful floating pass from Cody Walker.

The hope of the Rabbitohs were dashed inside the last two minutes when a lost ball from Keon Koloamatangi in his own ingoal was scooped up by Blayne Brailey to score and seal the win after Nicho Hynes conversion and seal the 34-22 win.

South Sydney's biggest concern in the next fortnight will be who their coach will be in two weeks time with the bye next week before a tough trip to Melbourne taking on the Storm at AAMI Park on ANZAC day. Meanwhile, the Sharks next week have a clash against the Cowboys back at Shark Park on Sunday afternoon.

LOMAX BREATHES FIRE INTO DRAGONS YEAR AGAINST DIRECTIONLESS TIGERS

AJ LUCANTONIO

Zac Lomax's contract saga coming to a close has given the winger a new lease on footy, providing much needed spark to give the Dragons a 24-12 win over a disappointing Wests Tigers side before a big crowd at Campbelltown.

St George took full advantage off a penalty conceded by the Tigers coming out of their own end inside the opening minutes. Kyle Flanagan and Ben Hunt combined nicely with Tyrell Sloan to create the extra man and Zac Lomax crossed for the opening try of the contest. Lomax tried to bend it like Beckham but it cannoned into the upright, which kept it at 4-0.

Wests hung in the contest and capitalised on the Dragons failed challenge. Api Korosiau pressed his claims for a NSW starting spot with a lovely deceptive crash ball to a rampaging Stefano Utoikamanu who crashed across to get the Tigers back on level terms. Korosiau hit the posts off the conversion, and we needed a rare Bunker intervention to confirm the goal was missed as both touch judges were split on whether the goal was successful. He made amends for the missed conversion when a Sloan high tackle on an evasive Jayden Sullivan gave him a gift two points for their first lead of the afternoon after 23 minutes.

Koroisau turned from hero to villain moments later when his kick went out on the full following the two points. St George Illawarra took full advantage when Tom Eisenhuth delivered a late offload to Hunt who got it out to Bird to score with under 15 to go in the first half. The Dragons struck another blow before half-time. A great kick from Hunt was marked on the full by Lomax against Jahream Bula. Lomax showcased his skill by breaking the tackle and finding Kyle Flanagan who crossed next to the posts for a vital try before half-time to give the Dragons a 16-6 advantage.

The Tigers offered the first scoring chance of the second half, but in attempting to grab the rebounding grubber kick, it was lost by Isaiah Papali'i leaving the scores where they were at the break. On the hour mark, David Klemmer tried to give his team momentum but it was a careless high tackle on Flanagan which saw the enforcer placed on report. Lomax took the shot at goal to take the lead out to twelve points.

Campbelltown Stadium, Leumeah / Dharawal

Two minutes later, following another soft penalty conceded by the home side. Francis Molo got a late offload away to Flanagan who in-turn found Moses Suli who drew in defenders. Suli was able to get the arm free to Jaydn Su'A who beat some sloppy Tigers defence to cross for the try that broke the Tigers spirit as the margin got out to three converted tries. With under 10 to go, the Tigers grabbed a consolation try when Sullivan went deep into the line and found Asu Kepaoa to reduce the gap to twelve where it stayed until full-time.

90 MINUTES FOR CANBERRA TO SNATCH VICTORY AGAINST BRAVE TITANS

JOSH ROBERTSON

The Canberra Raiders have snatched victory in the very dying seconds of Golden Point thanks to a Jamal Fogarty field goal that gave them a 21-20 over a Gold Coast Titans side who themselves sent the game to golden point in the final seconds.

If you looked at statistics alone, the Raiders should have blown the Titans off the park with a lopsided possession and territory count in their favour but they couldn't get their attack going and could only manage a six point lead at the break.

The home-side opened the scoring after 20 minutes and it was a repeat process for the Raiders to keep kicking towards their right side and eventually it worked when James Schiller outjumped Brian Kelly to score. Canberra then added a second try just shy of the half-hour mark when Hudson Young went at the line and got the ball to the line to the satisfaction of referee Kasey Badger.

Despite having the stats against them, the Titans were able to hit back on either side of the half time break when Kieran Foran connected with Jaimin Joliffe to score next to the uprights. The opening points for the Titans came after a wait for the bunker to overturn a live decision of No Try when former Raider Harley Smith-Shields got to a loose ball first.

The Raiders extend their two point lead out to four points after the Titans were penalised for a late hit on Jamal Fogarty.

The points dried up for the next 20 minutes or so as Canberra were able to clean up a short dropout from the Titans as they mounted pressure and it was James Schiller who picked up his second of the night.

Any hope of a miracle comeback looked extinguished for the Titans as Mo Fotuauka lost the ball close to the line inside the final four minutes but the hope remained for the visitors as a lost ball gave the Titans good field position and Alofi Khan-Pereira scored not once but twice in the last three minutes.

The fate of the game rested on Brian Kelly who had never even had an attempt on goal in his NRL career before tonight and after a wild shank for the first, he had a second tough chance to force golden point. As if almost a fairytale, the second sideline attempt went through and scores were locked at 20-20.

The only scoring chance in the first half of Golden Point came to the Raiders when Pasami Saulo thought he had sealed the game for Canberra when a Fogarty kick was spilt by the Titans and cleaned up by Saulo. Despite the celebrations, referee Kasey Badger initially ruled no try believing that there was a knock-on by Seb Kris in the contest and ultimately her live decision was upheld by Peter Gough in the bunker.

GIO Stadium Canberra, Bruce / Ngunnawal

The second half saw the game open up a bit more and it was the Titans who blinked first with Kieran Foran missing two field goal attempts in the mid-way part of the half and it was the second shot that went dead that helped Canberra.

A big run from Ethan Strange off the 20m restart saw Canberra get into attacking position in the dying seconds of the game. It was now or never for the Raiders and Jamal Fogarty nailed the field goal attempt from right in front to seal the 21-20 win.

Next week, the Raiders head to Brisbane for a fierce battle against Brisbane whilst the Titans return home where they take on the Manly Sea Eagles.

MATCH PREVIEW

 Josh ROBERTSON

Thursday night Rugby League heads to Allianz Stadium as the Sydney Roosters take on the Melbourne Storm in a rematch of a dramatic semi-final battle from last season.

The Sydney Roosters have had a patchy start to the season, currently sitting in 9th place. They come off the back of a last-start 22-20 win in Newcastle against the Knights. Pressure has been on the Roosters both on and off the field, with a mixed start to the season and off-field drama potentially playing a part in the contest, including debate surrounding Michael Jennings' 300th game.

The Roosters currently sit in 9th place, having won 3 of their six games so far this season, showing inconsistencies. They started with a strong win in Las Vegas before a loss against Manly, followed by a big win over the poor-performing South Sydney side. Back-to-back losses against a heavily understrength Panthers side and then against the Bulldogs raised concerns before a good win against Newcastle.

Roosters coach Trent Robinson has made two changes, with James Tedesco returning to his fullback role after missing last week due to a heavy concussion. This move sees Joey Manu return to the centres, with Joseph Suaalii moving back to the wing. The only other change in the Roosters' side is Sitili Tupouniua, who suffered a head knock last week, with Egan Butcher coming into the side. Sam Walker is a chance of returning, having been listed on the reserves bench.

The Melbourne Storm have been far from convincing this season, despite sitting in second place. The Storm's inconsistencies were evident last week, where they managed only a 16-14 victory over the Canterbury Bulldogs at AAMI Park. Despite having most of the possession in the first half, Melbourne couldn't take advantage and actually looked second-best for most of the second half before a late try secured victory.

Inconsistencies have been the story of the Storm's season, even though they sit second on the ladder, having only managed a combined 16-point margin across their four wins this season. Their wins were by 8, 4, 2, and 2 points respectively, and their loss was also by a 2-point margin. The Storm have been struck by injuries and suspensions, which may have prevented them from reaching their full potential.

The Storm have made two changes to their side for the clash against the Roosters, with Nelson Asofa-Solomona coming into the side for his first game of the season, replacing Tui Kamikamica who is ruled out due to a calf injury. Joe Chan also returns to the side, replacing Tepai Moeroa who suffered a back injury last week.

WHO TO WATCH: A lot of criticism is directed towards Roosters fullback James Tedesco. Whether you believe it's justified or not, Tedesco's impact on a game is crucial for the Roosters, especially in a big game like this against the Storm. The Roosters captain will be under intense scrutiny as he will need to make an impact if the Tricolours want to beat the Storm.

Melbourne Storm five-eighth Cam Munster has been under a lot of scrutiny this season, but more for his physical condition due to a mystery groin injury that hampered him, causing him to miss the first four weeks of the season. His return last week was promising, as Munster looked very fit despite reports suggesting he may not reach 100% fitness this season. The concern will be how Munster backs up a week later after his first game of the season with this injury.

FAVOURITE: The Storm are narrow favourites for this one.

MY TIP: It's hard to go past the Melbourne Storm in this one. The Roosters haven't been impressive in their performances, and I think the Storm have the edge with players like Ryan Papenhuyzen, Cam Munster, Jarome Hughes, and Harry Grant in their spine, which should be too much for the Roosters. I don't expect the Storm to dominate, but they should have enough to win. Storm by 10.

MATCH PREVIEW Andrew JACKSON

The Dragons will be shooting for back-to-back wins for the first time since the end of the 2022 season when they host the Warriors at WIN Stadium on Friday night.

As is the case with many teams in the early stages of this year, it is hard to get a read on just how good the Dragons could be this year, following up wins with heavy defeats.

In fact, Shane Flanagan's side have lost three games this year with all coming by 20 points or more.

In other words, there is just far too much of a gap between their best and worst.

The Dragons sent a reminder of what they are capable of when switched on for the entire 80 minutes when they claimed a relatively comfortable 24-12 win over the Tigers last Sunday.

That victory did come at a cost, with Jack Bird (head knock) sidelined for this week's game, seeing Zac Lomax move to the centres after a standout few weeks on the wing.

It sees Christian Tuipulotu named to make his club debut on the wing.

Elsewhere, the Warriors are now undefeated since dropping their first two games of the season to the Storm and Sharks.

Last year's preliminary finalists played out the first draw of the 2024 season in a 22-all stalemate against the Sea Eagles which was soured by a hamstring injury to Jazz Tevaga.

He is not available for selection this week, with Adam Pompey joining the interchange bench in his place.

Both teams will have added motivation ahead of Friday night's game, with Mitch Barnett playing his 150th NRL game while Lomax hits the century mark.

WHO TO WATCH: The battle of the centres shapes as a particularly entertaining one, starting with Lomax, who shifts to the centres to cover for Bird this week. Lomax continued his strong start to 2024 by stuffing the stats sheet again last week against the Tigers, scoring another try to go with 131 metres, a try assist, linebreak and three offloads.

Moving closer to the action on Friday, Eels fans will get a glimpse into the future after the club confirmed Lomax's signature for beyond the 2025 season. The Warriors have been one of the better defensive units in 2024 and a player like Lomax, with his freakish offloading ability, could be the best bet of creating try-scoring opportunities.

Elsewhere, he may not be making headlines like Lomax but Rocco Berry has to be one of the most improved players in the NRL.

Berry had already taken a step last year but he has carried it into 2024 too, making better decisions in defence while providing consistent metres to help ease the workload on the Warriors' forward pack. Berry is averaging a career-high 82 metres this year to go with 12 total tackle busts and a try.

FAVOURITE: The Warriors are well-backed to claim Friday's game.

MY TIP: Both teams have similar records to open the 2024 season but the Warriors have performed at a pretty consistent level, with both of their losses to the Sharks and Storm coming in tight contests. They are simply easier to trust to perform at a high level based off their performances so far and what they showed last season too. Warriors by 14.

MATCH PREVIEW Tim COSTELLO

How do you get a read on these teams?

Sitting down to write this preview, the form lines of these sides are perplexing. Parramatta have been all over the shop - wins over Canterbury, Manly and North Queensland tempered by losses to premiers Penrith, spooners the Wests Tigers and 2024 contenders Canberra. The latter was a significant thumping - 41-8 in the national capital, but the blue-and-golds' last outing against the Cowboys seemed far more representative of what we should expect of them.

It should be noted though - the Eels have been without enigmatic halfback Mitch Moses since that Round 3 win over Manly, and will be for at least another month.

After a strong start to their campaign, the Dolphins sit in the top eight, but looked very ordinary in their loss to Brisbane last Friday. Similarly to Parramatta, there are injury concerns to deal with which have decimated the Redcliffe-based club, their depth being tested also by suspension with both Kurt Donoghoe and Anthony Milford unavailable due to disciplinary infractions in past weeks. The loss of Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow after Friday's game at Suncorp Stadium will make things even harder.

So what to make of this game? On paper, outside Moses the Eels are the surer bet. They still have a decent lineup with quality across the park, evidenced by a range of players stepping up to guide their side to a home win over the Cowboys last Saturday. The Dolphins on the other hand? Decimated by that injury toll, they're having to dig deep into their roster to field a decent side.

With 'Hammer', Milford and Lachlan Hubner all out of last week's side, Trai Fuller, Sean O'Sullivan and Max Plath all join the teamlist. Plath at lock displaces Ray Stone, who drops to the bench. Parramatta have just one change with Kelma Tuilagi dropping to the reserves list in favour of Blaize Talagi.

WHO TO WATCH: For the observant among our readers, you'll notice this contest is being played in balmy Darwin, NT. That means essentially that these players will be taking the field in a sauna. It's likely to be around the 30 degree mark come kickoff on Friday night, which is going to place a lot of pressure on the forward packs of both sides. How quickly the respective hookers - Joey Lussick and Jeremy Marshall-King - tire, will be key to who gains the ascendancy as the contest wears on.

Of the pair, one gets the feeling Marshall-King might have an edge - all 121 of his top-grade matches have been played in Australia across three clubs, while the bulk of Joey Lussick's career has been in the cooler climate of the United Kingdom, 111 games there compared to just 22 in the NRL. Sure, it's not a definitive guide of what to expect from their pair, but it could be illustrative as to longevity and fitness of the two key players heading into this contest. Of further concern for Parramatta will be the lack of back-up with Brendan Hands not included in the 17, while the Dolphins have Sean O'Sullivan in the side if JMK finds himself needing a breather.

FAVOURITE: Parramatta are favourites as last-start winners.

MY TIP: The Dolphins side doesn't look as high quality as the Eels at least on paper, but the conditions are probably going to suit them better given what they're used to. That and the fact that Parramatta have lost their last two Darwin matches, and I think it's Phins up on Friday night in the Top End. Dolphins by 6.

MATCH PREVIEW Lachlan McINTYRE

Panthers head over the mountains to take on Tigers

Saturday afternoon will see the Penrith Panthers take their annual home game to Bathurst's Carrington Park, with the Wests Tigers their opposition. This is becoming somewhat of a tradition, with the two sides meeting in Bathurst for the second year running. Last season, it was the Tigers who took the chocolates in a nail-biting 12-8 win, and with both teams coming off losses in their most recent match this is shaping as a much more interesting matchup than a premiers vs wooden spoon battle should be.

Penrith head into this game in 6th on the ladder with a 3-2 record - a little underwhelming from the three-peters so far in 2024. Two weeks ago they travelled to Manly to face a mid-table Sea Eagles side, and despite scoring first through Brad Schneider they trailed by eight at the break. Two second half tries from Dylan Edwards wasn't enough to overcome Manly-Warringah, with the surprise final score reading 32-18 Manly. Last week the Panthers had the bye, giving them plenty of opportunity to reset before their trip to Bathurst.

Despite hopes that Nathan Cleary would return from injury back to his halfback role this weekend, he has not been named, meaning Brad Schneider will yet again line up alongside Luai in the halves. Scott Sorenson has been named to return from a knee injury meaning that former Tiger Luke Garner shifts to the bench and second former Tiger Matt Eisenhuth drops out of the 17. Daine Laurie will face off against his old club, named in the 14 on the bench, whilst Jarome Luai is up against his future home.

The Tigers are coming off a more than disappointing twelve point loss to the St George Illawarra Dragons at Campbelltown last Sunday. Branded as the club's member appreciation round, the Tigers sold out Campbelltown Sports Stadium for the first time since 2005, their premiership year. Hopes were high despite the loss to the Dolphins the week prior, and the Dragons were a beatable side on the day, however the Tigers were not up to the task. Benji has the tough job of ensuring that that result doesn't completely annihilate the momentum the club has built early on in the season.

Returning from a two game suspension for the Tigers is half Lachlan Galvin, who will line up alongside Sezer in the halves. The Tigers are 2/3 with Galvin in the 17. Brent Naden returns to first grade in the centres providing some welcome experience in the backline, with youngster Solomona Faataape dropping out. The Fainu brothers both return meaning Justin Matamua and Jake Simpkin miss out, whilst the inclusion of John Bateman sees Alex Seyfarth drop back to the bench.

During the past three seasons, in which the Panthers have won the premiership three times and the Tigers have finished wooden spooners twice, these two sides have met a total of four times. The Tigers have won two of these encounters, making the Panthers one of their best teams to play against. Not only western Sydney rivalry runs between these two clubs, but also bad blood over Ivan Cleary's exit from the head coaching role at the Tigers to go to the Panthers back in 2018.

WHO TO WATCH: Daine Laurie is back at the Panthers this season after spending the past three years in Tigertown. Laurie was a big signing for the Tigers back in 2021, when he had only three NRL games next to his name. He was a product of the acclaimed Penrith juniors system, and he quickly claimed the fullback role fairly consistently throughout 2021 and 2022. Some controversy and a performance lull, as well as the discovery of Jahream Bula saw him fall out of favour with the Tigers last year, and he officially re-signed with Penrith mid-year. In the four NRL games of 2024 that he has been named on the bench for he has an average of playing under ten minutes per game, but expect to see a larger chunk of minutes this weekend for Laurie.

Brent Naden is set to play in his first NRL game of the year in the centres for the Tigers. Having made his debut back in 2019 whilst playing for the Panthers, Naden spent three years with the club before a short stint with Canterbury-Bankstown. Joining the Tigers mid-year in 2022, he then only made eight first grade appearances last season. Struggling with injury to start the year, his inclusion is largely a welcome one for Tigers fans, with promising but inexperienced centre Solomona Faataape making way. Naden has been playing all over the place for the Magpies to start the year, and had a particularly good performance on Easter Monday filling in in the halves for a 32-26 win over the Eels.

FAVOURITE: Panthers are heavy favourites to use the home crowd and week off to crush the Tigers this Saturday.

MY TIP: False dawns are nothing new for Tigers fans, and with Wests given the perfect opportunity against the Dragons at a sold out Campbelltown last week, failing to capitalise could prove fatal for their newfound hopes. Panthers by 20.

MATCH PREVIEW

Rob CROSBY

Des-tiny awaits as winless Titans host Sea Eagles

The Gold Coast Titans will be striving to claim their first win of the season when they host the Manly Sea Eagles at CBUS Super Stadium on Saturday evening.

Producing their worst ever start to a season with five straight losses to sit in 16th position, the Gold Coast Titans will be hoping this is the week they become the final team to register a win in 2024.

Coach Des Hasler, coming up against the Sea Eagles for the first time since being sacked in the wake of the Everyone in League jersey calamity, has made minimal changes from the side defeated 21-20 in golden point by the Raiders on Sunday night.

Phillip Sami will start at fullback for the first time in four years with Jayden Campbell sidelined with a knee injury; David Fifita has been named to start after coming off the bench last week.

Aiming to post three consecutive wins over the Sea Eagles for only the second time, the Titans boast the second worst defence in the league with 29.2 points conceded on average this season while managing just 12 points per game with the ball in response.

Enjoying a much-improved start to 2024 with multiple scalps to sit inside the top eight, the Manly Sea Eagles will be aiming to continue a dominant record on the Gold Coast.

Squandering a game-winning lead to draw 22-all with the Warriors in golden point last Saturday, coach Anthony Seibold will welcome back Jason Saab and Reuben Garrick in the backline, while Matthew Lodge and Nathan Brown have been included a reshuffled forward pack.

Winning eight out of 13 matches against the Titans at CBUS Super Stadium, the Sea Eagles have historically struggled against sides coached by Des Hasler, winning four out of 14 contests during the 2010s.

WHO TO WATCH: Returning to the halves last week after an ill-conceived shift to the centres to begin the year, the Titans will be looking for AJ Brimson to stand tall and deliver the side's first win. Regarded as one of the best attacking players in the league, the 25-year-old has enjoyed strong returns against Manly with six tries from eight matches.

Contracted on the Gold Coast until the end of 2026, look for Brimson to be heavily involved if the Titans are to break through for a desperately needed victory.

Playing without the burden of having to direct play from first receiver, Luke Brooks has opted against asserting himself at Manly in favour of a supporting role. Scoring a try, setting up three and defending respectably over the opening six rounds, the 29-year-old playmaker produced a costly intercept and failed to demand the ball with the game on the line during last week's draw in Auckland.

Capable of offering much more to the Sea Eagles – even with Tom Trbojevic and Daly Cherry-Evans in the team – Brooks has an opportunity to stand up against a struggling side on Saturday evening.

FAVOURITE: The Sea Eagles are expected to better handle the fatigue of playing an additional 10 minutes last week and inflict further misery upon their winless opponents.

MY TIP: Having allowed two premiership points to slip through their fingers last week, the Sea Eagles will be determined to atone at a venue that has brought great success over the years. Sea Eagles by 10.

MATCH PREVIEW

AJ LUCANTONIO

Match of the Round billing as the 90's glamour clubs go head to head

An unlikely candidate for match of the round sees the Brisbane Broncos take on the Canberra Raiders at Suncorp Stadium as the main course on Super Saturday.

Brisbane continued their win loss tangent to kick start 2024 with a commanding 28-14 victory over the Dolphins. The Broncos set aside a poor opening forty minutes to capitalise on every Dolphins mistake to blow the Phins back to Redcliffe. Reece Walsh capped a great return from injury with a length of the field effort but was overall kept in touch by the opposition. Pat Carrigan and Corey Jensen carried the forward progression as well as Xavier Willison who had his best game at NRL level.

For the match against the Raiders, they need to match the opposition forward intensity from the outset. Papali'i and Tapine are absolute gamebreakers, while Morgan Smithies is starting to get into the grind of NRL footy. If they switch off for just a second, they will struggle to wrestle momentum back. Their backs have an edge in this one, so they will fancy their chances to attack the Raiders down the edges. Also the kicking game of Jock Madden will be key, especially targeting the rookie Chev Stewart.

On the team front, the Broncos remain as per program. Payne Haas and Adam Reynolds are set to earn another week on the sideline as they recover from injury.

Canberra have been competition surprise packets so far, dominating most opposition this year and being in every match they have played. Going against most predictions made about the green machine so far in season 2024 (including yours truly). A 90 minute epic against the winless Titans will spark some questions about their attack, but given it was an NRL debut for Stewart, it gets a pass for now.

To beat the Broncos, they will need to complete attacking chances. Due to the poor discipline of the Titans, the Raiders had so much possession. Given the Titans defensive history, three tries seems like a bit of a disappointing effort. On defence, they had some lapses on the edges which will be fixed with more continuity. Given the attacking flair of the Broncos, if it isn't fixed fast, then it will continue to be a problem and Brisbane will have an absolute field day.

On the team front, Zac Hosking is out, replaced by Ata Mariota. Simi Sasagi joins the bench. James Schiller is again on the wing in the absence of Albert Hopoate, who has been left out for another week after suffering burns in a cooking accident last month.

WHO TO WATCH: The focus for me is on Billy Walters. Given the depth at hooker for the Broncos, Walters must be feeling the pressure to perform on a weekly basis with Tyson Smoothy, Blake Mozer and Cory Paix chomping at the bits. Walters' running game has been of notice in the past, but he needs to be more creative with Smoothy showcasing better options with ball in hand in recent weeks. Look for a bounce back for Billy.

Ethan Strange has showcased a strong running game in recent weeks. His break against the Titans was critical in getting the Raiders into field goal range. Another asset has been his defensive game, tackling at a high rate. His touches has gone up in recent weeks to a career high 38 on the weekend, given that he's getting more confident on the football, Strange will be one to watch this weekend.

FAVOURITE: Brisbane are slight favourites for this clash. Canberra would feel confident after completing an ambush at Suncorp Stadium last season.

MY TIP: I am going to back the Broncos in for this one. Canberra have been the surprise packets of the comp as mentioned previously, but with the Broncos getting troops back. I feel that it will be a victory based on attacking flair. Canberra have the slight edge in the middle and will fight hard but just lacking attacking instinct. Broncos by 6.

MATCH PREVIEW Andy P

Bulldogs at home to put bite on Knights

Sunday afternoon will kick off the end of round 7, with the Canterbury-Bankstown Bulldogs hosting the Newcastle Knights at Accor Stadium. With both teams on two wins and four losses apiece, one team has the chance to set their season up for greater results.

We've seen a much improved Bulldogs side emerge over the last few rounds, with some players finally finding the form they were pegged to bring to the side. Josh Addo-Carr's hot form last week, against his old club and home ground, no less, saw him put together a hat trick of tries against the Melbourne Storm in what could have been the upset of the round and the year. Falling short by 2 points, coach Cameron Ciraldo still praised the team highly.

That, as well as the form that Viliame Kikau has found on the Bulldogs' left edge, could show that the penny has finally dropped for them, who have been languishing at the bottom end of the ladder for the last seven years.

Ciraldo feels his players have been turning up each week. In the last round against Melbourne Storm, they did very well but were let down by "moments." Those moments were reflected in their completion rate not being up to par and ruck infringements that invited the opposition back into the game.

Ciraldo welcomes back Blake Taaffe to the team but will keep speedster Connor Tracey at fullback. Kurtis Morrin returns from suspension and his energy off the bench will be welcome for the Doggies.

Knights coach Adam O'Brien will be happy his team has finally had a longer rest and less travel for games. He felt the travel commitments in the previous rounds left his players a little tired, even though they were putting in gutsy performances.

If there was any fatigue, it was outshone by a gritty performance by the Knights against the Roosters last round. However, a glaring problem still seems to exist for the Knights. After a deadly start from Ponga in the opening first half, an injury to his hip flexor saw him go quiet and allowed the Roosters back into the game. Ponga returned in the second half to push his team close, but it begs the question of how they would have gone had a lethal Ponga been on the field for 80 minutes. The halves combination of Hastings and Cogger seems to be on track but may bear more fruit with a fit spine.

O'Brien has rewarded his men's gutsy efforts by naming an unchanged lineup for round 7. The Knights will still be without forward Tyson Frizell due to his ongoing hamstring issue, while Adam Elliot will be running out for his 150th NRL appearance.

WHO TO WATCH: The left-side combination of Viliame Kikau, Bronson Xerri, and Josh Addo-Carr has everyone's imagination jumping. They gave the Melbourne Storm headaches when they got on the front foot, and their short passes stuck. Give Addo-Carr space, and he will eat up tries all day. Connor Tracey was a man possessed, taking the ball back with blistering speed off the kick returns. It's not that his style was tough to deal with, but it laid a platform for his team to gain momentum each time. Jacob Kiraz must be drinking the same water, as his performance echoed Tracey's venom but with an extra dimension of being able to stand up tacklers on his first touch and generally make life difficult for defenders.

A fit Kalyn Ponga is a dangerous Kalyn Ponga who can leave the best defensive structures in tatters. If the Bulldogs wait for him and are bedazzled, it will be good night, Irene. Jackson Hastings's boot was finding form again, and with a good week of training with Jack Cogger, they may find the rub of the green against Matt Burton. The Kai Pearce-Paul show was on last weekend. The English forward was a leader up front; watch for the tall timber to have a showdown with the Doggies' pack.

FAVOURITE: Sitting in 14th and 15th, with two wins and four losses apiece, there is not much in this, but the Knights may be ahead with the touch of class that Ponga can bring to the team.

MY TIP: The Bulldogs have been humiliated in the last two outings against the Knights, but I feel that trend will stop this round. A solid team effort across the board, combinations starting to light up, and intestinal fortitude, being a man down against the Melbourne Storm and keeping within a whisper of winning that game, have won me over. Bulldogs to knock the Knights off their horse by 2 points.

MATCH PREVIEW

 Rhys SULLIVAN

Sharks hoping to take big bite out of wounded Cowboys

Fresh of a post-bye win over the Rabbitohs and with a key forward back in the side, the Sharks will be looking to retain top spot on the NRL ladder when they take on a Cowboys side still licking their wounds from a last start loss to Parramatta.

The 27-20 loss to the Eels was already bad enough, given they were without Mitchell Moses, but just to really sink the spur of the boot that little deeper the Cowboys lost winger Murray Taulagi for an extended period of time after he suffered a hamstring injury.

Their opponents meanwhile are still riding high - a loss to the Tigers aside, they have been the form team of the first six rounds and as a result sit top of the table. Combinations within the side are continuing to click and develop, making them even more potent in attack.

Just two seasons ago these sides played out a qualifying final epic, which went all the way through extra time and into golden point before former Shark Val Holmes sank a two point field goal. Ultimately though it can be argued neither side benefitted from the match - the Sharks falling a week later to the Rabbitohs, while even after a week off the Cowboys looked somewhat sluggish in their Prelim final loss to the Eels (yes, the irony of both of those clubs having been their Round 6 opponents is not lost on me)

But as significant as the memories of that match are, these two teams are playing for a much bigger prize in this one. That would be the Chad Townsend Cup, the (hypothetical) celebration of Cronulla's only premiership winning halfback who doubles as the greatest Cowboys number 7 since Jonathan Thurston. In my mind, the fireworks and celebrations for the winner will be phenomenal.

WHO TO WATCH: The return of Braden Hamlin-Uele is a major boost for a Sharks side that looked quite strong even without him. The big no frills prop averaged 94 metres per game in 2023, his best figures since 2020 and numbers that earned him a new extension at Cronulla. The Sharks have struggled to get the best out of their props this season (with the exclusion of the Bald Eagle Tom Hazleton) so having another body on the bench will only benefit them.

But he's not the only new face on the Sharks side with Samuel Stonestreet set to make his NRL debut. The tall and pacy winger has impressed for Newtown in the NSW Cup, with three tries and an average of 134 metres through the first 5 games of the season. Replacing the suspended Sione Katoa, he'll be hoping to replicate Kayal Iro and put in a performance that makes next weeks selection meeting very interesting.

For the Cowboys, one of the big things I will be keeping an eye on is how they use Jason Taumalolo. Dealing with consistent knee pain, his minutes have been about as consistent as Steve Roach getting something right during commentary. Coming off an ok performance against the Eels, you'd think in a perfect world he will see some extended minutes as a counter to the Sharks forward-loaded interchange.

The battle of strike back rowers between Teig Wilton and Jeremiah Nanai will also be a joy to watch. Between them they have 6 tries and are an enormous part of their respective sides attacking game plan. Whichever player puts in a better performance could go a long way to deciding which team comes away with two points.

FAVOURITE: The Sharks come in as slight favourites in this one.

MY TIP: The form of the Sharks is nearly irresistible right now, and the return of Hamlin-Uele threatens to add a new element to their game that makes them even stronger. Sharks by 7.

CHALLENGE CUP QF WRAP with ROB McHUGH

HULL KR 26 LEIGH 14

Hull Kingston Rovers and Leigh Leopards met in the weekend's first Challenge Cup quarter final, in a repeat of last year's final which saw the Leopards take home the big prize.

Leigh came into the game hoping that the cup could provide some relief, after a difficult start to the season with just one win from 6 league games. Hull KR, on the other hand, were the bookies favourites and were hoping to avenge last season's defeat in the final. After a tense opening period, in which both defences showed bared their teeth with some big hits, Joe Burgess scored the first try, with a spectacular break from deep inside his own half. Burgess left Tom Amoné for dead with a sidestep, before rounding full-back Matt Moylan for pace to touchdown in the 9th Minute. Mikey Lewis took on the kicking duties, but skewed the kick wide, with goal kicking continuing to be an issue for the Robins. Leigh responded quickly, scoring their first try in the 13th Minute, through Kai O'Donnell. On the last tackle of the set, with Hull KR expecting a kick, Matt Moylan showed right, but passed back inside to Lachlan Lam, who found O'Donnell in space to score, with Moylan converting to give Leigh a 6-4 lead. Hull KR came closest to scoring the next try, with two tries disallowed, the second of which was particularly controversial, with Hadley crashing over from close range, only for the referee to call a forward pass, which looked to be a harsh call. But it was Leigh who would increase their lead before half time, through the boot of Moylan. Hull KR lost the ball deep in their own half, giving Leigh a scrum 10 metres out. KR were then penalised for breaking early from the scrum, handing Moylan a simple shot at goal, which he gratefully took, to make the score 8-4 at half time.

Hull KR then opened the score in the second half, with Burgess scoring his second try of the game. Zak Hardaker knocked on in his own half, which handed the Robins great field position. The Robins did not waste this chance, with a great pass from left to right by Tyrone May found Petr Hiku, whose quick hands put Burgess in to score. Mikey Lewis kicked from the touchline to put KR back in a 10-8 lead. Hull KR were now on a roll, and extended their lead in the 51st. Mikey Lewis, who had a quiet first half by his high standards, burst into life, breaking through the Leigh line to put KR on the front foot. And it was Lewis who then received the ball a couple of tackles later, throwing a short pass to free Tanginoa for a simple finish. KR were on a roll, and through they had extended their lead further in the next minute, but had another try disallowed for offside. And Leigh capitalised on this let off, scoring off the ensuing set. Leigh worked the ball from left to right, with the ball ultimately finding winger Umyla Handley, who scored in the corner, to continue his run of good form, Moylan kicked from the touchline, with Leigh's deficit reduced to 2 points. However, Niall Evalds' 71st minute try killed any hope of Leigh retaining the Challenge Cup and allowed Rovers to banish last year's demons. A Leigh knock on, from an attempted interception, gave the Robins close to the Leigh line, and a slick passing move released Evalds to score. Lewis missed the conversion, to keep the Leopards in touch, with KR leading 20-14. Despite some late Leigh pressure, Elliot Minchella sealed the win with a late try, picking up a loose ball 10 metres out with Leigh keeping the ball alive, trying to force a late score. Lewis added the kick from in front of the posts to make the final score 26-14, and book Rover's place in the semi-finals. On current form, they will be hopeful of going one step further than last year.

HUDDERSFIELD 34 CATALANS 6

Two sides with recent cup pedigree met in Saturday's second cup tie, with 2018 Challenge Cup winners, Catalans Dragons, meeting Huddersfield Giants, who were beaten by Wigan in the 2022 final.

On league form, the Dragons came into the game as favourites, but it was the Giants who raced into an early lead through Jake Connor, who stole the show with 14 points, and inspired the Giants to a comfortable win.

Connor took in a smart inside pass from Adam Clune, before holding off two defenders to score after 15 minutes. Adam Milner then quickly added to Huddersfield's lead, in fortuitous circumstances. Tom Davies tried to clear Connor's kick to the corner with his boot, but only succeeded in scuffing the ball back into the centre of the field. Milner was quickest to react, scooping up the loose ball to score under the posts. Connor added the two points to give the Giants a 10-0 lead after 22 minutes.

Huddersfield did not have to wait long to extend their lead, against an unusually subdued Dragons side. Tui Lolohea showed great vision to cut out the right edge of the Catalans defence, finding winger Adam Swift with a brilliant pass for a walk-in try in the corner, with Connor kicking the conversion to make it 16-0 after 28 minutes, with no further score before half time.

And it was the Giants who opened the scoring in the second half, through prop Sebastine Ikahihifo. The influential Connor hoisted a kick high into the air, which Tom Davies failed to deal with, dropping the ball into the grateful arms of Ikahihifo who ran 20 metres to score. Connor's conversion extended their lead to 22-0.

Esan Marsters showed great strength to score the Giants' next try, capitalising on some weak defending from the base of a scrum 10 metres out, holding off four Catalans defenders to score after 49 minutes.

Matt Ikuvalu got on the scoresheet for Les Dracs, to ensure they avoided being nilled. Tom Davies launched a speculative kick towards the posts on the last tackle, which Huddersfield failed to deal with. The ball was picked up by Chris Satae, who passed to Ikuvalu to score. Mourgue added the extras to reduce the deficit to 26-6. Connor added a penalty after 60 minutes, before the Giants rounded off a handsome victory through Kevin Naiqama, after Arthur Romano and Elliot Wallis were both sin binned. Jack Murchie found Naiqama 10 metres out. Naiqama stepped inside two covering defenders to score the final try of the game, with Connor adding the conversion to make the final score 34-6.

WIGAN 60 CASTLEFORD 6

Castleford Tigers, fresh off their first league win of the season, entertained Wigan Warriors in Sunday's first Challenge Cup quarter final.

Wigan are among the favourites to lift the cup and made short work of Castleford in a dominant display, which featured four tries for in-form winger Liam Marshall.

Wigan opened the scoring after four minutes, their first of twelve tries in the game, with Jake Wardle releasing Liam Marshall to dive in to score in the corner, with Harry Smith missing the conversion. Wigan scored their second try straight from the restart, after a break from Brad O'Neill got Wigan near the line. The ball was played out to Adam Keighran, who passed back to O'Neill to score under the posts after 8 minutes, with Smith on target with the conversion.

Bevan French scored Wigan's third try, picking the pocket of the Castleford defender who had caught French's kick, stealing the ball in a one-on-one tackle and touching down. After 18 minutes, Liam Marshall scored again, registering his 150th career try, getting on the end of a Jake Wardle break to score under the posts, with Smith converting to make the score 22-0. A try saving tackle from Bevan French denied the first Tigers score of the night, but they were not denied when Innes Senior touched down before half time, after collecting a kick through from Jack Broadbent, with Danny Richardson adding the extras off the post to make it 28-6 at half time.

But there was never a realistic possibility of Castleford forcing their way back into the game, and Wigan struck first in the second half through Abbas Miski, who collected a long, spiralling pass to the right edge to score in the corner. Soon after, Kruise Leeming was over for the next score, after Junior Nsemba broke the line and released the hooker to dive over, with Smith's conversion extending Wigan's lead to 38-6.

Liam Marshall completed his hat-trick, cutting inside from his wing to evade the defence and showed good strength to get the ball down. He then scored his fourth try of the night after 57 minutes, taking in a pass from Bevan French to take the score to 46-6. Jake Wardle got a well deserved try in the 65th minute, breaking through the defensive line before sprinting away to score unopposed. An acrobatic finish from Abbas Miski in the right-hand corner, before forward Tyler Dupree scored the last try of the game, crossing under the posts late in the game. Harry Smith converted the final try to round off the scoring, completing a 60-6 win for Wigan and setting up a semi-final tie against Hull KR.

WARRINGTON 31 ST HELENS 8

St Helens hosted Warrington Wolves in the blue riband tie of the quarters, as two of the early Super League pace setters met in the cup.

The game did not disappoint, living up to pre-game expectations as the two sides produced a cup classic at the Totally Wicked Stadium. Warrington took an early lead, through Josh Thewlis in the 10th minute, capitalising on their early chances. Having forced two dropouts in a row to build the pressure, Warrington spread the ball from left to right, with Matt Dufty finding winger Josh Thewlis to open the scoring, with the kick missed to give the Wire an early 4-0 lead. However, Saints were not behind for long, as they levelled through Konrad Hurrell after the Warrington defence let a Jonny Lomax kick bounce. Joe Bachelor picked up the loose ball, before finding Hurrell to touch down and level the scores. Joe Bennison kicked the conversion to give Saints a 6-4 lead. Saints threatened to extend their lead in the 31st minute, after Tommy Makinson had a diving effort ruled out for a forward pass, after an offload from Hurrell when surrounded by four defenders. George Williams then saved what appeared to be a certain Saints try, stopping Lewis Dodd on the last. Despite the Saints pressure, it was Warrington who went into half time with a lead. First, after Curtis Sironen tackled Williams off the ball, Josh Thewlis kicked a penalty from 30 metres to level the scores. Then George Williams showed all of his big game experience, dropping a goal on the stroke of half time to give Warrington a slender 7-6 lead.

The second half started at an electric, chaotic pace, with Warrington attempting to throw the ball around to find a way through the resolute Saints defence. But the lead changed hands again after 52 minutes, with Warrington penalised for offside, and Bennison kicking the penalty to put Saints back on top. Warrington struck back almost immediately, through a world class finish from Matty Ashton. An error from Jonny Lomax, who misjudged the kick off to give Warrington the ball from a goal line drop out. Warrington worked the ball wide to Ashton, who dived into the corner at full speed, defying the laws of physics, reaching an arm out behind his body in mid-air to touch down in the corner, despite the attention of Jack Welsby. Thewlis kicked from out wide to put Warrington 5 points ahead. Warrington extended their lead in the 61st minute, with Williams' influence on the game growing. The England captain kicked through, and Connor Wrench collected to score near the posts. Thewlis made no mistake with the conversion to put Warrington 19-8 up, with daylight between the two sides for the first time. Matty Ashton was denied another spectacular solo try, after knocking on his own kick through, but Warrington could not be stopped for long, with James Harrison crashing over from close range in the 68th minute, after influential forward Alex Walmsley limped off for St Helens. Thewlis kicked his fourth goal of the night to give Warrington a 17-point lead, and effectively kill off any hopes of a Saints comeback. George Williams added the cherry on top of an excellent individual performance with a try under the sticks straight from the restart. After Saints failed to collect a short kick off, Warrington who worked the ball to Dufty, who broke the line. An ankle tap on Dufty broke his momentum with the line begging, so he smartly offloaded to Williams before he fell, allowing Williams to score a simple try. Thewlis added the conversion to make the score 31-8. At this point, the game was threatening to turn into a rout, as Saints failed with another short kick off to give Warrington another easy penalty. But Saints held out, with neither side adding to the score, and Warrington completed the win in a scintillating cup tie. The reward for their victory is a semi-final against Huddersfield.
