STORM HOLD ON FOR ANOTHER CLOSE WIN AS THEY DOWN ROOSTERS

RHYS SULLIVAN

The Storm have cemented their place at the top of the NRL ladder with an 18-12 win on the road against the Roosters.

You can't power defibrillators without electricity, and the Storm are continuing to live up to their name with another close win - this time downing the Roosters 18-12.

The game started at a frantic pace, with the Roosters showing their gameplan of targeting Melbourne's wings with high kicks while the Storm struggled to build momentum. But that changed when Jahrome Hughes put up a bomb which was knocked back by William Warbrick before Eliesa Katoa found Hughes backing up on the inside to get over the line. The Storm almost had back to back tries, but Lindsay Collins managed to knock down a Nick Meaney pass that could have sent Warbrick over.

The try saver swung momentum, and the Roosters struck soon after when Warbrick failed to defuse a Luke Keary bomb and the bouncing ball beat Nick Meaney to be grounded by Michael Jennings. Both teams made mistakes in the next ten minutes, but the Storm would hit the front when a Cameron Munster bomb was caught by Katoa who managed to get the ball to the ground. There were suggestions Nelson Asofa-Solomona had tried to maul the ball across the line but the Bunker did not intervene and Melbourne would go into halftime with a 12-6 lead.

The second period started a lot slower, and the game was almost begging for someone to break it open. It looked like it would be after 55 minutes when the Roosters get a 20 metre restart, and while the Storm players remonstrated over a hit on Hughes, Cameron Munster grabbed James Tedesco and as a result was sent for a 10 minute spell. But despite the 13 on 12 advantage, the Chooks couldn't take advantage.

That was until Munster returned to make the teams even again, when a Keary bomb was batted back by Joseph-Aukuso Suaalii into the chest of Joseph Manu who finished in the corner. As he had for his first 21 attempts at Allianz Stadium, Suaalii converted the try to bring the game back to 12-12.

But cometh the hour, cometh the man, and as he has all season Xavier Coates found himself in the right place at the right time to win the game for Melbourne. This time Hughes put up a bomb which was dropped by Manu, then picked up by Harry Grant who grubbered over to his winger with plenty of work left to do.

Coates was tackled by a gang of Roosters but still got the ball down to give the Storm the 18-12 lead they would ultimately hold onto.

While questions will obviously continue to be asked about how sustainable their start to the season has been, the reality is the Storm have gotten through a quarter of the season with a 5-1 record. That's even without Munster at his 100% damaging best. Hughes has been excellent and was again in this one, and Papenhuyzen continues to bounce back from his horror injury history.

The Roosters meanwhile have dropped to 3-4 and while injuries have certainly played a part, there are questions that need to be asked as to why they are losing these types of matches. Sam Walker coming back next week should be helpful, however it's not a magic sponge for this wounded side.

LOMAX STARS IN GAME 100 AS DRAGONS AMBUSH ILL-DISCIPLINED WARRIORS

AJ LUCANTONIO

Zac Lomax has celebrated game 100 in style with a great individual performance to guide St George Illawarra to a commanding and upset 30-12 win over a sloppy and ill-disciplined New Zealand Warriors at WIN Stadium.

Both sides started with intent, but the first blink from either side would prove to be critical. After the penalty for a slow peel against Jaydn Su'A. The Warriors executed an attacking raid down the right edge, Shaun Johnson went through a yawning gap between Kyle Flanagan and Moses Suli to cross for the opening try. Johnson added the extras for a 6-0 lead after just 12 minutes of playing time.

New Zealand dominated field position from that point on, having 30 tackles to 1 inside opposition territory through the opening quarter hour. To St George Illawarra's credit, they hung on in determined fashion to limit the Warriors to one try through the first twenty. The home side did have a chance when Su'A had a half-break 21 minutes in, but the pass was forward and the opportunity was squandered.

The fairly disciplined Warriors, conceded a soft penalty allowing the home side to get their second attacking chance. Ben Hunt delivered a lovely flat pass to Suli who got on the outside shoulder of Rocco Berry to get the Dragons on the board with 15 to go before the break. Zac Lomax couldn't hook it back and it remained a 2 point gap.

After a Marcelo Montoya error coming out of yardage. The Dragons added a second try with 10 minutes to go. Hunt combined well with Tyrell Sloan who got on the outside of Roger Tuivasa-Sheck who was able to get it away to Mikaele Ravalawa to cross for his first of 2024 for their first lead of the game.

The Warriors discipline issues continued through the first half as another penalty, which compounded into a set restart gave the Dragons some further field position. Hunt was able to beat three defenders including a vicious fend on Wayde Egan to score. Lomax added a two point field goal from beyond the 40m line to give the Dragons a 16-6 lead.

Off the back of the first set of the second stanza. Hunt went high to the air, and after two unsuccessful efforts in the first half. Lomax flew highest and came down with it to give the Dragons opening points of the second half and a 16 point lead.

The Warriors had some attacking chances, but poor execution ruded their opportunity. Johnson's dropout failed to break the plane and Lomax continued his flawless milestone game to date with a penalty goal. Any hope for the Wahs evaporated with 17 to play when Johnson put down a pass which went straight to Hunt. Hunt then got it away to Sloan who sprinted the best part of 90 metres to score beating the cover defence for his seventh try of the season.

St George got complacent in the final minutes and allowed a consolation try. Johnson and Charnze Nicoll-Klokstad combined with Dallin Watene-Zelezniak to get it down in the right corner despite Sloan's best efforts with a finish that needs to be seen to be believed. Johnson converted well from touch to reduce the gap to 18 points. But that was all that troubled the scorer with the Dragons best effort of the season rewarded with an upset victory forming a real defensive identity that has been lacking over the last few seasons. The Warriors will need to regroup quickly with their worst performance of the Andrew Webster era to date.

PHINS FLY PAST SLUGGISH EELS

ANDYP

On a hot and steamy night in Darwin, a coachless Dolphins came up trumps against a shell-shocked Eels team, with a 46-10 win at TIO Stadium.

With Wayne Bennett stuck in Brisbane due to illness, it was up to Kristian Woolf to help guide an injury-struck Dolphins side up against Brad Arthur's Eels, keen for back-to-back wins.

In the first half, it looked like the Parramatta would get their first win in two games in the northern capital. Bryce Cartwright showed early signs of trouble up their right edge, proving a handful running and kicking the ball for his open runners.

It was the Eels who, after a number of attacks on the Dolphins' line, finally got over in the 18th minute thanks to Shaun Lane hitting the line hard against Kodi Nikorima.

The 'home' team continued to apply pressure to the visitors, who were able to hold off the number of raids to their credit. But it was some lazy play by the Dolphins that saw a penalty for hands on the ball, backed up by a six again, and finally ended with Will Penisini going over. Woolf's outfit could not contain the Eels and paid the price for the Eels' handy work with late offloads.

A change in momentum came after Josh Kerr received a penalty for high contact by Bryce Cartwright. The Dolphins were able to turn around the advantage. Isaiya Katoa began to take control and soon sent Jack Bostock over in the 31st minute to give the Dolphins a whiff. The opening half ended with the Dolphins looking good but behind the pace of the Eels.

The Eels took the first points after the break, as a late hit on Daejarn Asi gave the Eels a penalty right in front and an easy two points. But it would be the last points the Eels would taste until near the end of the game.

From that point on, the Dolphins had some players lift in key positions, and the game was theirs. Isaiya Katoa's performance in controlling the game and kicking was exceptional, and his efforts were supported by his teammates. It was the spirited work up the middle from forwards like Josh Kerr and Max Plath that laid a foundation for the Dolphins to expose a tired Parramatta team.

Jeremy Marshall-King began running, and teammates continually backed him up. Trai Fuller showed he's as good as any first-grade fullback by constantly being in the right spot. The Dolphins went on to score eight straight tries for the next 30 minutes, which saw Jack Bostock get a hat trick, Max Plath and Test Niu get two tries apiece, and Trai Fuller and Jake Averillo also got one on the scorecard with a try each.

The Eels seemed to fall apart, as many would expect any team to do in the hot and humid conditions, but the Dolphins appeared to find another gear, and they took full advantage.

16 - 44

TIO Stadium, Darwin / Larrakia

Dylan Brown found the visitors' defence lacking as his left footsteps close to the line in the 77th minute got the Eels some points, but the scoreboard showed how they had well been off the pace in the second half.

A number of Dolphins players gave standout performances. Katoa led from the middle, rallying his troops. Kerr was inspiring, Plath and Fuller were always in support, and Fuller and Liu terrorised the line. It's easy to single them out, but it really was a team effort by the boys from Redcliffe.

Parramatta, after a promising start, fell away. With Guhterson and Brown left to pick up the pieces. Cartwright was promising at the start, but alas, his impact wasn't there in the second half, and the team's effort will not have gone unnoticed by coach Brad Arthur as they look to a clash with Manly next week. The Dolphins meanwhile, will take plenty of confidence into their home game against Newcastle next Sunday.

PANTHERS PROVE TOO STRONG FOR TIGERS IN BATHURST

ROB CROSBY

The Penrith Panthers have continued a strong record in Bathurst with a 22-6 victory over the Wests Tigers.

Posting their sixth win from ten appearances at Carrington Park over the past decade, the hosts, led by Central West junior Isaah Yeo, were a class above in the 'Battle of the Big Cats' to the delight of a 12,000 strong crowd.

Having stunned the premiers with an upset victory in Bathurst last season, the Wests Tigers impressed in the opening stages and were rewarded with Junior Tupou (9th minute) crossing for his first try of the season.

The Panthers held their nerve defensively after the initial blemish and were rewarded with Sunia Turuva (15th minute) touching down in the corner to lock the scores up at 6-all.

Tupou's inability to catch a long-range kick from Brad Schneider proved costly with the hosts shifting the ball right to send Turuva (26th minute) over for his second four-pointer.

Holding a 10-6 advantage for more than half an hour, the Panthers struck a huge blow midway through the second half with former Bulldogs centre Paul Alamoti (63rd minute) crashing over for a try on his club debut.

Wrapping up a hard-fought result following an error from John Bateman brought on by desperation, James Fisher-Harris (71st minute), charged over next to the posts to finish an emotional week for the departing New Zealand forward.

Next week, the Panthers will take on the Cowboys in Townsville on Saturday night, while the Tigers will host the Broncos at Campbelltown earlier on Saturday.

MANLY BEAT TITANS IN A HIGH-SCORING CONTEST

ANDREW FERGUSON

A high-scoring, see-sawing contest on the Gold Coast has resulted in Manly secure a vital victory in an entertaining 34-30 victory over the lowly Gold Coast Titans.

Manly opened their account in just the fifth minute when they shifted the ball right to Tom Trbojevic who threw a dummy, a gap opened up and he walked in for a try. Reuben Garrick converted.

After some entertaining lead-up plays, Manly travelled close to the length of the field before again going right where a lovely cut-out pass put Jason Saab in for a try. Garrick failed to convert from touch. After 10 minutes, Manly lead 10-0.

The Titans finally responded in the 15th minute when a lobbed ball over the top to Alofiana Khan-Pereira allowed him to score in the left corner. Tanah Boyd converted superbly from touch.

The Titans levelled the scores in the 19th minute when Brian Kelly opened up the Manly edge defence, drew the fullback and then got a good ball to Khan-Periera who ran 32 metres to score his second try. Boyd from wide on the left again, converted and put the Titans in the lead.

Back-to-back set restarts for Manly inside the Titans red zone resulted in Manly taking the lead back when Daly Cherry-Evans turned Haumole Olakau'atu inside and the big bloke barged over for a strong try. Garrick converted.

The Titans wouldn't go away though and in the 32nd minute David Fifita stormed over to score. Boyd converted.

A Kieran Foran break was followed by him putting in a perfect banana kick back infield and AJ Brimson took it cleanly and scored a great try. Boyd converted.

On the stroke of haltime Manly's fullback Tom Trbojevic bagged his second try when he backed up on the inside and strolled in for a easy try. Garrick converted and at haltime the Titans held a 24-22 lead.

Manly regained the lead 6 minutes into the second half when Tolutau Koula took an intercept and raced 60 metres to score. Garrick converted.

30 - 34

Cbus Super Stadium, Robina / Yugambah

In the 53rd minute, Brimson bounced out of two tackles, linked with Foran who then passed back out to Boyd in support who scored untouched. Boyd converted.

As per usual in this game, Manly immediately responded when Ethan Bullemor barged over for a tough try. Garrick converted.

Both sides began to tire in the final 20 minutes which saw neither side add any more points, errors crept into both sides performance, but in the end, Manly hung on to record a 34-30 victory

BRONCOS CLINICAL OVER RAIDERS

ANDREW FERGUSON

Brisbane put on a clinical first half display to set up cruisy victory over the Raiders in the rain.

The Broncos got on the board first when Reece Walsh received a lovely ball out the back, 40 metres from the Raiders line, stepped Matthew Timoko and then raced away to score a brilliant solo try. He then converted his own try.

In the 17th minute, Brisbane crossed for the second try when Ezra Mam put in a shallow cross-field kick which Fletcher Baker caught and then offloaded to a storming Jordan Riki and the big man barged over for a try. Walsh converted.

Brisbane scored again from the very next set. Jock Madden with a great kick resulted in Chevy Stewart dropping the ball cold and Mam gently toed it forward and then planted the rolling ball for a try. Walsh converted from in front.

In the 27th minute on the last tackle, Billy Walters at dummy half, grubbered for himself, regathered and scored a brilliant solo try under the posts. Walsh converts from in front.

In the 31st minute, Brisbane crossed again when Walsh, out wide on the right side, chimed into the backline movement, held a pass up and then a hole opened up in front of him and Walsh strolled in to score. He then failed to convert from out wide.

Brisbane looked like they scored first after the break when a lovely cut-out pass put Kotoni Staggs into space. He grubbered ahead for himself and Jesse Arthars reached out to score but the ball was grounded by his elbow. The bunker ruled a knock-on.

The next set saw Canberra finally get on the board. Simi Sasagi ran onto a pass from Josh Papali'i and a gap opened up in front of him and the back rower scored. Chevy Stewart converted.

Mam holds up a lovely ball for Cobbo, who runs an angled line back infield and he scores. Walsh converted.

Canberra scored again in the 67th minute when Xavier Savage shrugged off a tackle and dived over to score. Stewart failed to convert.

Neither side could trouble the scoreboard in the final 13 minutes as the rain and weariness took over.

DOGS BITE BACK AS KNIGHTS LOSE THEIR ARMOUR - AND PONGA

RHYS SULLIVAN

The Bulldogs have claimed win number 3 on the season with a dominant 36-12 victory over the Knights.

The 2024 Newcastle Knights season is on tenterhooks after just seven weeks, after suffering a fifth loss in 24-point beat down at the hands of the Bulldogs.

The Dogs started off well, picking up a penalty and forcing a dropout before Reed Mahoney set up a crash play to give Samuel Hughes the opening try. They thought they had a second 10 minutes later when Jaeman Salmon lost it over the line, but it wasn't too long before a slick backline movement put Jacob Kiraz over in the corner to stretch the lead to 12-0.

But when the Dogs weren't peppering the line, they were making errors, and eventually the Knights took advantage with Tyson Gamble putting Dylan Lucas into a hole to half the deficit. But after Greg Marzhew dropped the ball on the first tackle off the kickoff, the Bulldogs sniffed blood and Mahoney put his hands in the cookie jar and again pulled out chocolate chip, setting up Bronson Xerri for his first try in over four years and an 18-6 half time lead.

It didn't take long for the Dogs to make their mark in the second half, when Bailey Hodgson pounced on a Mahoney grubber for his first try in the NRL. After that they opened the game up, Josh Addo-Carr going over once and almost twice, however the second one was walked back after replays showed he dragged his foot across the sideline. But shortly after another shift by the Dogs saw some hot potato which eventually landed in the hands of Stephen Crichton, but instead of burning him it got him a four pointer to push the lead to 36-6.

The match finished off with some heated moments, a few scuffles ultimately seeing Mahoney and Jack Hetherington being rewarded with early showers. Bradman Best also crossed late for Newcastle but it did little but flatter their efforts in a difficult loss.

It's a statement win for the Dogs, after coming so close in the last few weeks they've finally thrown the gauntlet down and shown the type of team they are. The bye comes at an almost imperfect time given the momentum being built but the team will be hoping to attack coming into a Round 9 clash with the Tigers.

Accor Stadium, Sydney Olympic Park / Wanngal

For the Knights, their start to the season couldn't have been worse. Not only are they 2-5 and in 15th, Kalyn Ponga is potentially out for an extended period with a suspected ankle injury. Forget about going a step further than 2023, the Knights are on the verge of needing a miracle just to get back into the finals. The clock is ticking on Newcastle's season and a clash with the Dolphins can either be a chance to prove they're still here, or the proverbial final nail in the coffin.

SHARK ALARM SOUNDED AS COWBOYS SURRENDER ON SYDNEY ROAD TRIP

AJ LUCANTONIO

A ruthless home display has seen the Cronulla Sharks sound the alarm that they are a force in season 2024 with a 42-6 rout over a disappointing North Queensland Cowboys side at PointsBet Stadium.

A high kick from Nicho Hynes was defused by Scott Drinkwater, but as he was getting dragged towards the sideline. He flipped the ball back in play, but it was intercepted by Will Kennedy who fooled the lone Cowboy in cover defence to score for his maiden try of 2024 after just 2 minutes of play. Hynes was able to curve the kick back in from touch for a 6-0 lead.

The game had a good flow and tempo throughout the first half, but territorially it was played down the Cowboys' defensive end. As a result, they had to do a lot of defence on their line and eventually, it took their toll. Tom Hazelton beat a handful of defenders to get his way to the line and give the Sharks a handy 12-0 lead after 22 minutes. A few minutes later, a Braydon Trindall kick was batted back by Jesse Ramien. Jack Williams was on the spot who got it onto debutant Sam Stonestreet who showed off to his friends and family in the Stonestreet Corner of Shark Park to cross for his maiden try in the NRL. Hynes again showcased his curve on the conversion for an 18-0 lead.

North Queensland weren't helping themselves either when they got rare glimpses of attacking footy. After Drinkwater's pass was intercepted in good ball territory, the Sharks again set up camp down in the Cowboys half. Blayke Brailey capitalised on a quick play the ball finding Trindall who put boot to ball and got a room-service bounce for a great individual try and it was 24-0 in the blink of an eye. The scores remained that way heading into the sheds at the end of the first half.

Despite North Queensland having the better start in possession. Their execution was leaving plenty to be desired. As a result, Cronulla like they did in the first half were able to march down field and score. A Hynes bomb was up in the air for Drinkwater to take. But under pressure from Briton Nikora, he spilled the ball and Trindall was jolly on the spot for his second try.

Following off another Cowboys mistake out of yardage. The Sharks shifted play to the left edge and Hynes delivered a wonderful pass to Ronaldo Mulitalo who was allowed to run untouched right round underneath the sticks. Just after the hour mark, the Cowboys crossed for their first try. After forcing a goal-line dropout, a well-worked set play saw Chad Townsend put the ball on the toe which landed behind the defensive line and Valentine Holmes was able to pounce and score for the visitors and reduce the gap to 30. North Queensland thought they scored a penalty try with Jeremiah Nanai who was crunched in a total and fair tackle by Mulitalo and the score remained at 36-6. From that missed opportunity, Mulitalo was able to capitalise for his third consecutive double of the year to push the margin to 36.

Cronulla were brutal and deserving of the two points, while for the Cowboys it was a disaster of epic proportions tonight. A mission they will need to quickly forget and move onto their next assignment, which isn't an easy one against the Panthers at home.

MATCH PREVIEW Beth NICHOLLS

For the first time since 2015, the Warriors have the privilege of hosting the Titans in Auckland, for the first of the three ANZAC Day clashes this year.

Since 2009, the Warriors have played the Storm in Melbourne for their annual ANZAC Day match, except for 2015, where the Titans faced the Kiwi side in Auckland to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Gallipoli landings. (They also did not play in NZ for majority of 2020, including ANZAC Day, due to the pandemic).

The Warriors will be looking for redemption after being on the end of a shocking loss to the Dragons last week. With a draw to the Sea Eagles in Round 6, that leaves the team on the East of the Tasman with an equal three wins and three losses record for the season so far, sitting in 10th place.

Kurt Capewell misses this clash after suffering a throat injury against the Dragons last week, he is replaced by Jacob Laban, who has played off the bench for the Warriors past three matches.

Dylan Walker returns from an ankle injury to the bench and is joined by Zyon Maiu'u who is making their NRL debut. This forces Adam Pompey to drop to 18th man.

Gold Coast are in the trenches still looking for their first win of the season, currently sitting in 17th place, keeping the position warm and toasty. Over the last two rounds, the Titans have fought bravely, losing to the Raiders by one point in the final minute of golden point in Round 6 and coming within four points of a win against Manly last week.

The Titans front the same 17 that were close to securing a win last week, with David Fifita being named to start, after making the late switch from bench to starting side last week. Phil Sami and Keenan Palasia are still sidelined with respective ankle and quad injuries.

History is stacked against both sides, with the Warriors losing eight of their past ANZAC matches, with the Titans also having won their past four games against the Warriors, however they do not have a good track record across the ditch, only having won one of their past five games in New Zealand.

WHO TO WATCH: After Luke Metcalf suffered a leg injury that is seeing him on the sidelines for a lengthy stint, Te Maire Martin has taken his place in the halves. Playing three games so far this year, Martin has made one try assist and one line break assist whilst also scoring a four-pointer of his own.

Tanah Boyd is currently playing in five-eighth, with Kieran Foran being shifted to halfback since Round 4. Making an appearance in all five of the Titans games so far this year, Boyd has had a lacklustre start, only scoring one try of his own with no try assists or line break assists.

Both of these players play an integral role in their team's spine, and it will be a good contest between the two who are partnered with senior and experienced halfbacks.

FAVOURITE: The Warriors are favoured to get the job done at home and add another two points to their tally.

MY TIP: The Warriors are playing at a sold out Go Media Stadium for ANZAC Day for the first time in almost ten years, which marks a momentous occasion, one which they would like to seal with a win.

The Titans have had a struggling start to the season, and whilst I feel like they might be turning around the bend, I do not think they are quite there yet. Warriors by 14.

MATCH PREVIEW Adam HUXTABLE

Dragons Look To Continue Building Against Uninspiring Roosters Outfit

In the traditional ANZAC day clash between the two sides, it'll be the up and coming 4-3 Dragons looking to for their third straight win taking on a struggling 3-4 Roosters side looking to avoid what could be a 4th loss in their last 5 outings. Just like we all expected.

The Dragons have probably been the biggest surprise packet so far this year in terms of how their actual performance has compared to what their pre-season expectations were. While things got off to a rocky start on the defensive side of the ball, new coach Shane Flanagan appears to have made some major improvements to the Dragons' ability to keep other teams from scoring tries, with the Red V conceding 12 points or less in 3 of their last 4 games, including matchups against explosive attacking sides the Sea Eagles and Warriors.

If St George Illawarra can roll this form into the ANZAC day clash, there's no reason they can't cause an upset. The Roosters looked completely lost whenever they had the ball inside Melbourne's 20 last week, their only two tries coming from cross-field kicks that were batted back to create broken field type situations. It's bad enough that it didn't look like their attack was capable of scoring a conventional try, but the embarrassment was compounded when the tri-colours were unable to capitalise within a 10-minute period where the Storm were a man down. Something is going to have to change for the Roosters to score enough points to take the win on Thursday.

In team news, the Dragons are unchanged from the 17 that easily disposed of the Warriors last start, while the Roosters have a few reinforcements coming back into the side. Dom Young returns from a 2 game suspension and will start on the wing, pushing Joseph Suaalii to the centres and Michael Jennings out of the side. Sam Walker is back from a head knock, meaning Connor Watson will come off the bench and Zach Dockar-Clay will be playing reserve grade.

WHO TO WATCH: All eyes have been on the resurgent Zac Lomax so far this year for the Dragons and rightly so, however one of the biggest "losers" from his move to the wing was Fijian flyer Mikaele Ravalawa. In 2023, Ravalawa benefitted so much from Lomax's ability to draw in defenders and make the last pass, resulting in him scoring a career high 21 tries. Without Lomax on his inside to start this year, Ravalawa has struggled to make the same sort of impact, and it isn't a coincidence that he scored his first try last week in Lomax's first game back in the centres. Another aspect of the situation is that with Lomax on the wing, he was getting a lot of the aerial targets in attack that were previously going to Ravalawa, taking away another avenue for the big winger to get involved. Lomax has again been named at centre this week as Jack Bird continues to recover from injury, so expect to see Ravalawa on the receiving end of a lot of quality ball, while the aerial battle between him and Daniel Tupou should also be enthralling.

It's been a tough year for the Roosters so far in 2024, but one of the more positive stories to come out of the club has been the resurgence of second rower Angus Crichton. Crichton sat out much of 2023 with some well documented mental health issues and there were warranted fears that he may not return to the footy field again, let alone regain the form that's seen him represent NSW and Australia. So far, Crichton has shown that he has a lot more left in the tank as a first grade and potentially representative footballer, and at only 28 years of age there's no reason he can't play at this level for another 4+ seasons. Crichton has consistently looked among the most dangerous of the Roosters forwards, constantly busting tackles and getting over the advantage line to give his side momentum. He's started and remained on the field for 80 minutes three times this year, and in those games he's averaging 160 running metres and over 3 tackle breaks per game. Crichton will again play a pivotal role setting the platform for a Roosters spine that needs all the help it can get at the moment.

FAVOURITE: The Roosters are 6-point favourites in this one at the time of writing.

MY TIP: Anything can happen on ANZAC day and I don't think there is a result that would shock me. They way both sides are playing you wouldn't think it, but the Roosters do have a superior side on paper and I'm predicting this to be a game where water finds its level. Roosters by 8.

MATCH PREVIEW Andy P

Melbourne's fortress ready for South Sydney siege.

This ANZAC Day clash will come with a different flavour for 2024, as the Melbourne Storm host the South Sydney Rabbitohs for one of the more special games of the NRL calendar.

The annual April 25 match at AAMI Park has been good for the Storm, who have won 10 of the last 13 matches since the inaugural contest in 2009. Even though Souths won in their last clash in Magic Round 2023, the Rabbitohs have never won in Melbourne's backyard. Add to that they will be competing against a team looking down the barrel of a 14th consecutive win at home; it's going to be tough for the visitors.

Melbourne coach Craig Bellamy has stuck with the same 17 that got through in a nail-biter against the Roosters in Round 7. He believes they were lucky to get away with the win and at the beginning of the game, the team was looking for easy options. Suggesting his team's grace was their defence; it was something he was proud of and what kept them in the game. Nelson Asofa-Solomona has been named in the run-on side, with Christian Welch moving to the bench. Since his debut in 2015, Nelson Asofa-Solomona has not missed an ANZAC Day game.

Many keen observers would have noted Cameron Munster playing well but still quiet when watching the Storm's last game. When questioned about his halves partner's fitness, Jahrome Hughes said Munster may not seem 100%, but is giving his 100%. This is not the most encouraging comment for fans moving forward, but Munster may show us all on Thursday.

The bye for Souths gave the team some rest from the game, as well as a rest from the media. Coach Jason Demetriou was proud of his team's effort in Round 6. Even though his team went down 34-22 against Cronulla, he said they were there for the 80 minutes, and if that's the fight they bring every week, they will get a win soon. Cody Walker said of the win, that he felt it was more of a team effort - something he said has been lacking this season.

This round has seen some more changes to the Rabbitohs lineup, and many will be happy to see Damien Cook return to number 9, Peter Mamouzelos shifting to the bench. Joining him on the bench will be Jai Arrow, a welcome return for the Maroons forward after recovering from a shoulder injury. With Tevita Tatola ruled out with a foot injury, Shaquai Mitchell will run on in the front row, and Tyrone Munro is out with a collarbone concern.

WHO TO WATCH: Xavier Coates is doing the impossible and still finding time to do the extraordinary. Coach Bellamy has said Coates has been coming up with a number of big plays this year. Easily one of the top three players in each of their games this season. It will be great to see what his big frame will do against the South's backline. Running, defence and aerial bombardments, Coates is playing with the form of someone who's always looking to better themselves.

Jahrome Hughes has the ability to turn a game on its head when he takes on the line or is around a loose ball. His speed and agility will cause headaches for any team, and he may take on more of a running role, with Munster still not being 100% due to a groin issue.

Nelson Asofa-Solomona is back, and although he has not been at his shocking best yet, this game may be his time to take it up a notch. Bellamy said it was Nelson's defence that he was keen to see improve, and after getting his game legs back last round, we could see the Storm giant suck up the energy of the game and explode.

South's last effort against Cronulla showed some promise and plenty of spirit. One of the bunnies leading that charge was Jack Wighton. Wighton made it his mission to be heavily involved in the game, and even though they lost, we saw some of the determination that got Wighton his representative honours.

Tom Burgess found an extra heart in round 6. The big Englishman was leading from the front and all Souths fans will be hoping Burgess comes to battle against the likes of Nelson Asofa-Solomona and Josh King on Thursday evening.

With Damien Cook back, there's a good chance he will be up for a fight to keep his spot for the rest of the year. Cook may be back to his dummy-half-running best and, if so, will be a nice tussle against Harry Grant.

FAVOURITE: Looking at a 14th consecutive win at home, with a record of 10 out of 13 of these matches notched in their belt, and against a team who has never beaten them at home, there can be only one. Melbourne Storm heavy favourites.

MY TIP: Melbourne has been winning in the last 10 minutes of its games all season, and although it's getting the results, I suspect Bellamy will be asking more of his troops now that they are getting a cohesive team line-up again. The Storm will be too big at home, and on a game day, they make their own. Storm to carpet bomb Souths by 20 points.

MATCH PREVIEW Rob CROSBY

Rivals meet in contest of contrasting fortunes

The latest instalment of a rivalry dating back to 1947 will take place on Friday evening as the Manly Sea Eagles host the Parramatta Eels at 4 Pines Park.

Beginning the year in promising form with four wins and a draw to sit in outright fifth position, the Manly Sea Eagles will be hoping to win their first three games at home for the third year in succession.

Prevailing in a high scoring, yet unconvincing 34-30 victory over the Titans last Saturday, coach Anthony Seibold will welcome back Josh Aloiai and Nathan Brown in a forward reshuffle that sees Aaron Woods and Dean Matterson drop to the extended squad.

Since 2003, the Sea Eagles have won 12 out of 18 matches against the Eels at the venue formerly known as Brookvale Oval, including four of the past five meetings.

Languishing in 14th position with three wins to show for their efforts over the opening seven weeks of the premiership, the Parramatta Eels will be determined to atone for a deplorable performance in Darwin seven days earlier.

Conceding eight tries after halftime to suffer an ignominious 44-16 defeat at the hands of the Dolphins, coach Brad Arthur has made sweeping changes headlined by emerging playmaker Ethan Sanders making his NRL debut in the halves.

Maika Sivo has earned a recall in place of Sean Russell, while Brendan Hands, Makahehi Makatoa and Kelma Tuilagi come into the squad for Bryce Cartwright, Luca Moretti and Blaize Talagi.

The Eels have won 13 out of 20 matches against the Sea Eagles in the decade since Brad Arthur commenced his tenure as head coach.

WHO TO WATCH: Enjoying life as a centre after spending the bulk of his career as a winger and stand-in fullback, Reuben Garrick will be hoping to continue his impressive strike rate against the Eels. Scoring 11 tries in as many matches against the blue and golds, including two of his three career hat-tricks, the 26-year-old will be looking to get more involved after managing just 50 running metres in last week's win on the Gold Coast. Kicking conversions at close to 90% with only three misses to date, Garrick's ability with the boot may be decisive in the event of a close contest.

Wearing the number ten jersey despite playing almost exclusively off the bench during the first third of the season, the Eels will need Junior Paulo to muscle up against one of the most effective packs in the premiership. Performing below standards in little more than 40 minutes of game time on average this season, the 30-year-old Samoan representative hasn't run for over 150 metres since the opening fortnight. Regarded among the best props in the league at his best, look for Paulo to make his presence felt on Friday night.

FAVOURITE: The Sea Eagles are expected to bounce back from the disappointment of losing to the Eels a month ago.

MY TIP: While the Sea Eagles have struggled to uphold a consist form line in their performances to date, the home side should be too strong for an Eels side that has wilted under pressure on multiple occasions in 2024. Sea Eagles by 13.

MATCH PREVIEW

Rhys SULLIVAN

The Broncos have welcomed four players back into their squad ahead of a meeting with a Tigers side that has seen their strong form to start the season somewhat reversed in recent weeks.

Brisbane are coming off strong wins back to back - first against the Dolphins and then last weeks 34-10 beat down of the Raiders. They won those matches without Adam Reynolds, Brendan Piakura, Deine Mariner and Payne Haas, all of whom have been named to make their returns this week. Although, as has been the theme this season, they are not at full strength with the team opting to rest Ezra Mam and Selwyn Cobbo to let them overcome minor injuries.

The Tigers played out a respectable 22-6 loss to Penrith in Bathurst last week, but regardless it's a third straight loss for a team that looked to be clicking at Easter. Compounding issues, Junior Tupou is likely out for an extended period with a foot injury, meaning Solomon Alaimolo has been named to make his NRL debut.

In terms of statistics, Brisbane hold the clear advantage. Their win last week took them into the "Danger Zone", and they're now a team with a top 8 attack and defence. The Tigers are just outside that mark defensively, however their attack is just 15th across the NRL. And against a side like the Broncos who can score from just about anywhere on the field, not being able to fight fire with fire is a major disadvantage.

WHO TO WATCH: By far the most important player for the Broncos will be halfback and captain Adam Reynolds who returns from a two week absence with a hamstring injury. It feels almost a miracle they were so good in both matches he missed, as is the dominance he has over the side. His kicking game will be important as the Broncos look to take advantage with their superiority across the board.

Probably the player that benefits the most from the return of Reynolds will be back rower Jordan Riki, who marked his emergence as a star with a double in this fixture last year. While he has only one try to start 2024, running off Reynolds should see that number rise very quickly. And with the return of Payne Haas and the ever-present carries of Pat Carrigan, Brisbane will want to turn the match into a game of inches, which is one area Riki has a massive advantage in (iykyk).

For the Tigers to have any hope of victory, they need their forward pack to step up. That will need to be led by Stefano Utoikamanu who was held to just 75 metres in the clash with Penrith last week. With Origin debates now beginning to ramp up, Utoikamanu needs to step up and be just as dominant as Haas will be for the Broncos.

But the Tigers will also desperately need points, and that might come from Lachlan Galvin. We saw how good he was against the Eels edge defences, and he needs to replicate it against a Broncos edge that's been somewhat suspect to start the season. It's about of pressure to put on an 18 year old, but the reward if he does rise to the occasion could be an upset win that puts his name on all the season reviews.

FAVOURITE: Brisbane. By a lot.

MY TIP: With the form they're in and the names they have returning, there's absolutely no chance you can go against Brisbane in this one. Broncos by 14.

MATCH PREVIEW

Andrew JACKSON

Are the North Queensland Cowboys legitimate contenders or was their early-season form the product of a favourable draw?

Well, last week's 42-6 thumping at the hands of Cronulla seems to suggest the latter, although a stern test against the defending premiers this Saturday should give a resounding answer.

The Cowboys travel back up north this week sitting on the fringe of the top eight and while they have four wins to their name, the only one of real note came against the Dolphins, who have emerged as early season surprise packets.

Otherwise, North Queensland has two wins against the lowly Knights and Titans along with a 46-24 victory over a Dragons team that is starting to breathe fire but was incredibly inconsistent to open 2024.

Coach Todd Payten said at last Sunday's post-game press conference that he would "absolutely" consider making changes, although there wasn't a major shake-up on Tuesday when he named his team to take on the Panthers.

There are a few changes up front though, with Griffin Neame starting and bumping Jason Taumalolo to the bench while Thomas Mikaele is the new face on the interchange in place of Jack Gosiewski.

The Panthers, meanwhile, haven't exactly looked consistent in recent weeks as they finished strong to down the Tigers 22-6 last week.

But, for the first time this year, Penrith will field a full-strength side against North Queensland as Nathan Cleary and Taylan May return in a big boost for Ivan Cleary's side.

Cleary's return bumps Brad Schneider out of the team while May is also a straight replace for Paul Alamoti, who impressed with a try on club debut in the win last Saturday.

WHO TO WATCH: If there is one thing the Panthers have consistently struggled to defend against it is fast five-eighths with a strong running game. Just look at the success Ezra Mam had burning Penrith's edge defence in the grand final last year. With that in mind, if the Cowboys are any hope of pulling off an upset it will come off the back of co-captain Tom Dearden's running game. He already burned the Panthers with his pace in the golden point win up north last year and will again be a threat every time he touches the ball, especially when you consider the strike players the Cowboys have outside of him on both edges. Having those passing options only opens up more room for Dearden to thrive.

As for Penrith, this seems like the kind of game where Izack Tago could continue to build his case for a State of Origin debut. Tago excels in space given his tackle-busting ability and the Cowboys opened up with ease last week against the Sharks. It wasn't an isolated occurrence either, with only the Rabbitohs conceding more points than the Cowboys so far this season. North Queensland leaks plenty of metres after contact and that is where Tago really shines, either getting clear of defenders with fends or using his leg drive to fight for more yardage.

FAVOURITE: Penrith is well-backed to make it two on the trot.

MY TIP: If there was no Nathan Cleary, the Cowboys may actually be in with a shot given Penrith's uninspiring attack. If there is one thing North Queensland can do it is score points and should Payten's men get on top early on Saturday they are one of the best teams in the league playing from in front. But the loss to Manly seems to be more of a defensive aberration than anything for the Panthers, who should be too clinical with Cleary back steering the ship. Penrith by 18.

MATCH PREVIEW AJ LUCANTONIO

Phins look to strike wounded Knights armour

The Dolphins will look to gather back to back victories when they host a struggling and injury hit Newcastle Knights side as part of ANZAC Round at Suncorp Stadium.

The Dolphins have faced a lot of injuries to start the season but presented their best performance of 2024 with a commanding 28 point victory over Parramatta. Trai Fuller delivered a great performance at fullback which shows that he's more than ready for a top 30 spot. Isaiya Katoa continues to improve, despite a slow start. The former Panther and Tongan international had his best performance of the season, while Max Plath was scintillating in his return from suspension.

Against Newcastle, the main challenge is complacency for the home side. This is a match they are expecting to win and win well in front of their home crowd. They will have to continue to expose the Newcastle middle especially with the impact that Josh Kerr and Ray Stone have provided in recent weeks. Out wide, their task is harder given that Marzhev and Best have worked hard out of yardage. They'll be made to work hard for the two competition points.

Onto team news, just the one personnel change with Fuller retained at fullback. Kurt Donoghoe comes onto the pine with Sean O'Sullivan making way onto the reserves. Connelly Lemuelu appears for the first time since the opening round and is an outside chance of returning.

For Newcastle, their season is getting from bad to worse quickly. If they lose game number six on the year, Adam O'Brien might be reaching for a life preserver to save his job. They were outplayed in every facet of the game by a vastly improved Bulldogs outfit. It got worse when Kalyn Ponga was forced off injured. A significant turn around in performance will be required if they are to come within the NRL's best attacking side through seven rounds.

To beat the Dolphins, the big task will be in creating attacking points. A halves combination generated it seems by Wheel of Fortune on an almost weekly basis has seen the most exciting attack to finish 2023, produce a distinct lack of flair in recent seasons. It needs to change quickly or else the Knights will continue to tumble down the ladder. On top of that, they need to get more production out of their forwards, a point that will be addressed below.

Ponga is out, coming into the big shoes is debutant David Armstrong who has starred in the KOE NSW Cup to start this season. Dane Gagai returns pushing Enari Tuala onto the wing and Tom Jenkins out of the 22 altogether. Jed Cartwright also joins the bench replacing Jack Hethrington after his brain snap against the Bulldogs. The Gamble/Hastings halves combo gets another chance.

WHO TO WATCH: For the Dolphins, the focus is on Jeremy Marshall-King. One of the game's most explosive dummy halves. JMK's impact through the middle third against a weary and fatigued Parramatta defence was instrumental in their attacking raid which saw victory assured. Against a Newcastle middle which is known for leakage, JMK could have a field day against the Knights.

Newcastle's forward pack is problematic, and the focus is on both Jacob and Daniel Saifiti. As the leaders of this pack, their output has been less than desirable. Jacob will be looking for an improved output in game 150, having under 100m against the Bulldogs pack. On the other hand, Daniel has been disappointing only running over 100m twice this season and was also very poor against the Bulldogs. Against a highly improved Dolphins pack, the Knights duo need to win the battle.

FAVOURITE: Given Ponga's injury, the Dolphins are runaway favourites for this game. Both teams split the season record in their first season series last year.

MY TIP: It's hard to go past the Dolphins and some stats to back it up. Newcastle are 3-7 without Kalyn Ponga in the last ten matches. Given their attacking output so far this season and YET ANOTHER change in the spine, I think it's too far gone for the Knights. They will improve on last outing, but they will need significant improvements and a performance that frustrates the Dolphins. Dolphins by 16.

MATCH PREVIEW Josh ROBERTSON

The Canberra Raiders are looking to put a poor week on the field behind them when they take on a Cronulla Sharks side who had their best week on the field this season but their worst off the field.

Heading to Brisbane is no easy feat for any side and Canberra learnt that the hard way following their 34-10 loss in atrociously wet conditions at Suncorp Stadium. The night for the Raiders was just a non-starter as the Broncos turned up to play and they weren't going to be stopped as the Raiders could only stare down the barrel of a 28-0 first half scoreline where what could go wrong, did go wrong with a poor night for rookie Chevy Stewart as well as a serious injury to halfback Jamal Fogarty.

The season for the Raiders has been a mix of consistency and inconsistency with some strong performances scattered with some pretty mixed performances with the Raiders picking up four wins from their seven matches so far but even in those wins they haven't been exactly consistent. Sitting in seventh place, this is the chance for the Raiders to show whether they are in the contenders or pretenders category.

Following the injury to Jamal Fogarty, Kaeo Weekes gets his first start of the season for the Raiders whilst Simi Sasagi who is named in the run-on side after being an addition last week. The faith has also been kept with talented fullback Chevy Stewart despite things not going his way last weekend.

A big win for the Cronulla Sharks should have given them a lot of confidence heading into this weekend as well as the news of the retirement of fan favourite Dale Finucane to give the Sharks a big boost. However, the 42-6 win over the Cowboys has been overshadowed following the news of five-eighth Braydon Trindall's subsequent run in with NSW Police over alleged driving offences potentially weighing on the Sharks this week.

Sitting on top of the NRL ladder, the Sharks have only lost one game this season and that came in embarrassing fashion when they were big losers to the Wests Tigers at Leichhardt Oval. The Sharks haven't necessarily been fully impressive but have been good and were very good in their win over North Queensland. Despite losing just one game, the Sharks will still have a lot of questions on them going forward.

The Sharks have made two changes with Braydon Trindall obviously stood down following the off-field issues. Despite demands from certain Sharks fans about bringing in Kade Dykes, Cronulla coach Craig Fitzgibbon has selected Daniel Atkinson in the halves to play alongside Nicho Hynes. The only other change sees Sam Stonestreet dropping out of the side with Sione Katoa returning from injury.

WHO TO WATCH: It's never nice seeing a player having a shocking game early in their career but for Chevy Stewart there is plenty of proof in the game that one disappointing game doesn't make a career (Dylan Edwards for example). The debut performance of Chevy Stewart shows there is plenty of talent and back on home soil and under better conditions can see the youngster bounce back.

Opposing fullback Will Kennedy comes under heavy criticism at times from rival fans and this is the opportunity to show the NRL that he can stand up when needed. The Sharks fullback has the opportunity to make himself a big part of the Sharks attack stepping up along side Nicho Hynes and rookie Daniel Atkinson. The big key for the Sharks will be Kennedy's runs from the back.

FAVOURITE: Cronulla's table-topping form has them well backed to take the two points on Sunday.

MY TIP: This is a game that could go either way, the Raiders are always a much better team at home and will get the confidence boost but the demons of last week could be on their minds and the loss of Fogarty hurts. The Sharks on the other hand are in good form but the loss of a key playmaker and an emotional and dramatic week off-field could hurt them. This game has the hallmarks of a close one but then also a smashing either way. With almost zero confidence I'm tipping the Raiders by 6.

SUPER LEAGUE R8 WRAP with ROB McHUGH

HUDDERSFIELD 30 LEEDS 24

Huddersfield Giants produced a stirring second half comeback, twice overturning a 12-point deficit, to shock Leeds Rhinos at AMT Headingley.

Leeds looked set for victory at half time, and again at the midway point in the second half, before Huddersfield's rousing comeback. Leeds had the best of the opening exchanges and looked like a side who had enjoyed a 10-day break between games. Huddersfield, on the other hand, were slow out of the gates, and Leeds opened the scoring in the 16th minute. Lachie Miller fielded a Huddersfield kick, and appeared to be pinned in the corner, near the Leeds line. But some sharp footwork saw him escape the Huddersfield, setting up a Leeds break, which was finished by Paul Momirovski after a strong run from Rhysy Martin. Leeds then extended their lead in the 32nd minute, taking advantage of Giants loose forward Luke Yates being sent to the sin bin for a high tackle. Returning winger, David Fusitu'a picked up Brodie Croft's pinpoint grubber kick to score in the corner. Rhysy Martin was on target with both conversions to give Leeds a 12-0 lead. Jake Connor's penalty goal on the stroke of half time got Huddersfield on the scoresheet, meaning Leeds led 12-2 at half time, and Huddersfield raced out of the blocks after half time, scoring their first try through the impressive Esan Marsters. Marster's combination with Adam Swift was electric and they consistently troubled the right edge of the Leeds defence.

In the act of defending Marsters' try, both right centre, Harry Newman, and right winger, David Fusitu'a, seemed to pick up injuries, with both limping back into position for the restart. Huddersfield took full advantage of this, quickly shifting the ball to their left wing, with Adam Swift breaking the line and racing deep into the Leeds half. Whilst Swift was denied, Leeds only delayed the inevitable, as Huddersfield worked the ball right to Elliot Wallis, who dived in to score in the corner. Connor kicked one of the two conversions to level the scores at 12-12, and Fusitu'a and Newman were both substituted, forcing Leeds to reshuffle their backs. The change seemed to spark Leeds into life, and they quickly scored two tries to re-establish their lead. First, Momirovski, now playing on the right wing, scored his second of the game after a quick passing move. Then Matt Frawley found substitute Jarrod O'Connor, who burst through a gap in the Huddersfield defence to score in the 55th minute. Martin kicked both goals and, at this stage, Leeds looked like they would take home the points. But a late four try salvo from the Giants stunned Leeds. First, after Marsters barrelled through the Leeds defence once again, Adam Swift picked up the ball from dummy half to score in the corner, taking advantage of some sloppy Leeds defence. The Giants then took advantage of Leeds' paper-thin right edge once again, with Marsters and Swift combining again, before Swift offloaded to Harvey Livett for a simple try. Huddersfield levelled the scores in the 70th minute, after a brilliant pass from Adam Clune found Jake Connor, whose quick hands tipped the ball on to Kevin Naiqama, who stepped inside to score. However, Jake Connor missed the conversion, to mean Leeds were still in the game. However, with 5 minutes left to play, Lachie Miller inexplicably attempted a short goal line drop out, which failed to go the required ten metres. This gave Huddersfield an easy penalty from in front of the posts, which Connor converted to give them a late lead. Clune's late interception try was the cherry on the cake for the Giants, who thoroughly deserved the win. The defeat was met with a mixture of shock and resignation by the few Rhinos fans who remained in the stands at the end of the game, and there was a smattering of boos. Huddersfield's win opens a 2-point gap with Leeds, whose season is running out of steam before the first May bank holiday. Having invested heavily in the off season, Rohan Smith's position may come under pressure if results do not improve quickly.

ST HELENS 58 HULL FC 0

St Helens bounced back from their cup defeat against Warrington to put a beleaguered Hull FC side to the sword.

The Saints ran in ten tries in a dazzling performance, consigning Hull FC to a seventh defeat of the season.

Tommy Makinson opened the scoring for Saints in the fourth minute, taking in a short pass from Konrad Hurrell and diving into the right corner to score, with Mark Percival adding the conversion. Saints were then when Sione Mata'utia took in a smart inside pass to break the line, before finding Jonny Lomax to run in to score from twenty metres out, with Percival again adding the extras.

Waq Blake was the next to score, in the 27th minute, after a great offload from Matt Whitley found Jack Welsby, who passed to the winger to score in the corner. James Bell then crashed over from close range to add Saints' fourth, with Percival maintaining his 100% record, to make the score 24-0 at half time. FC's defence parted in front of the forward's eyes, and he raced through to score.

The half time break did not help Hull FC, who were never in the contest. Saints quickly scored the first try of the second half, through Joe Batchelor. Percival then grabbed a try from himself, getting on the end of a flowing passing move from right to left to score. Percival scored one of the two conversions, as the Saints extended their lead to 34-0.

Powerhouse centre, Konrad Hurrell, ran in virtually unopposed to score Saints' next try, which Percival converted, before Curtis Sironen exposed the same defensive weakness to brush off four defenders to score.

Waq Blake scored his second of the night in the right-hand corner, after Percival delayed his pass long enough to draw in the FC defence, before finding the winger in acres of space for a simple run in.

Jack Welsby scored the Saints' final try of the night, joining the attacking line with two Hull FC defenders drawn to the lead runners. Jon Bennison, taking over the kicking duties from Percival, was successful with the conversions for the final three tries, to make the score 60-0.

St Helens will to be pleased to have bounced back so comprehensively from their cup defeat last weekend. For Hull FC, if performances stay at this level, it is hard to see where their next win comes from.

SUPER LEAGUE R8 WRAP with ROB McHUGH

WIGAN 36 CASTLEFORD 14

Wigan Warriors defeated the Castleford Tigers for the second weekend in a row, after last weekend's 60-6 cup win, but the Tigers but up more of a fight in this game.

Wigan needed two tries each from Ryan Hampshire and Liam Marshall to see off Castleford, 36-14.

Wigan opened the scoring through Bevan French, after 8 minutes, with quick hands from right to left eventually finding Liam Farrell, who broke through the line. He engaged full back, Jack Broadbent, for just long enough to create the space to pass to Bevan French to score, with Adam Keighran kicking the conversion.

But Castleford struck back in the 19th minute, after Wigan's attacking kick bobbled around, the Tigers reacted quickest, and new signing Louis Senior raced ninety metres to score under the posts, with Rowan Milnes levelling with the conversion.

The scores remained level until the 35th minute, when Harry Smith's clever chip over the defence found Marshall, who touched down in the corner. But a Milnes penalty right on the stroke of half time meant the Tigers were very much in the game, with Wigan leading 12-8 at half time.

However, Ryan Hampshire's quickfire double at the start of the second half gave Wigan a comfortable lead. His first try came after Bevan French broke the line, before passing inside for Hampshire to score under the posts. The second came thanks to some quick thinking from Liam Marshall, who kicked back inside from the left wing, which Hampshire collected to score under the posts for a second time, with both tries converted by Harry Smith.

Liam Marshall then grabbed his second try of the game, getting on the end of a lovely looping pass from Liam Farrell to score in the corner, which Smith converted to give Wigan a dominant 30-8 lead.

Abbas Miski put the game well out of reach, scoring in the corner after collecting Bevan French's kick through, with Smith again converting. Rowan Milnes scored a late consolation for the Tigers, collecting his own kick through after Harry Smith failed to deal with the bouncing ball, but it was too late for the Tigers to mount a comeback.

Wigan remain in the running for silverware on all fronts, with twelve points from their opening seven games. Castleford remain on one win, with only Hull FC and London Broncos below them in the table.

SALFORD 12 LONDON 4

Salford Red Devils overcame a spirited London side, to seal a narrow win at the Cherry Red Records Stadium.

London have been on the wrong end of some heavy home defeats this season and, although favourites Salford eventually ran out winners, the margin of victory was much closer than many expected.

It was the Broncos who took an early lead. Oli Leyland, who has been one of the standout players in a difficult season for London, looped a pass over the Salford defence for winger Illies Macani to score in the corner, with the conversion missed. This gave London a 4-0 lead in the 18th minute.

Salford responded quickly, through second rower Kallum Watkins. Influential Red Devils full back, Ryan Brierley, broke London's defensive line, and Watkins showed good pace to get up to support Brierley, who found the veteran to score. Marc Sneyd made no mistake from the kicking tee to give Salford a slender lead.

Salford started the second half strong, extending their lead in the 44th minute, after Marc Sneyd's brilliant, long-distance pass to the left wing found Deon Cross to score in the corner. Sneyd was again on target with the conversion, scoring the game's final points in the 44th minute.

A tense closing period followed in which both sides attempted to strike a decisive blow, with Salford having a try ruled out by the video referee. Hakim Miloudi's break at late in the game saw the Broncos advance fifty metres down field, but Macani's chip ultimately found a Salford player's hands and the game ended with a Salford win.

The win keeps Salford in touch with the top six, with five wins from their first eight games, and opens up a 2-point gap with Leeds in eighth. For London, their wait for a first win of the season continues, but they can be proud of a resilient performance. If they can continue to perform like that, it will surely come soon.

WARRINGTON 16 LEIGH 14

Warrington Wolves produced a second half comeback to survive a scare against strugglers Leigh Leopards, eventually winning 16-14.

Leigh produced a much-improved performance, and pushed the Wolves close, but a 70th minute try from Matty Nicholson sealed a home win for the Wolves.

Leigh started the game in red hot fashion, opening the scoring through winger Josh Charnley in the third minute. Charnley produced a trademark diving finish in the corner to mark his 350th career appearance with a try, after a slick passing move.

However, Lachlan Fitzgibbon struck back for Warrington in the 21st minute, latching on to Leon Hayes' grubber to score. Josh Thewlis added the extras to give Warrington a 6-4 lead.

Leigh took the lead before half time, with a try from Ben McNamara. Leigh identified a mismatch in defence, with winger Umyla Hanley outjumping Leon Hayes to tip the ball back to Zak Hardaker. Hardaker found McNamara whose try was confirmed by the video referee. Moylan kicked his only goal of the night, something Leigh would live to regret at full time. This score meant Leigh led 10-6 at half time.

The Leopards then extended their lead in the 48th minute, with Ricky Leutele scoring the first try of the second half. Having shifted the ball from left to right, Josh Charnley passed the ball back inside to centre, Leutele, to give Leigh a 14-6 lead, and apparent control of the game, but Moylan's missed conversion kept Warrington in touch.

Warrington pulled a try back through Matt Dufty, after a Moylan knock on gave them the ball near halfway. Thewlis converted to put Warrington back within two points and set the stage for Nicholson's spectacular match sealing try.

With the ball deep inside Warrington territory, Matt Dufty released Thewlis who broke deep into Leigh territory. Nicholson kept up in support and was released by Thewlis, before holding off the covering defence to score and seal the victory for Warrington.

Leigh will hope to take the momentum from a better performance forward in their search for a second win of the season. Warrington's win keeps them in touch with the top of the table, level on points with St Helens and Wigan on twelve points, and two points behind leaders Catalans Dragons.

CATALANS 36 HULL KR 6

Play off hopefuls Hull Kingston Rovers travelled to the south of France to face the Catalans Dragons, with the two sides on having experienced contrasting fortunes in the cup last weekend.

The Robins came into the game fresh from avenging last year's final defeat, by knocking out Leigh, whereas the Dragons were beaten heavily at home by Huddersfield.

Catalans hooker Michael McIlorum opened the scoring for Les Dracs, touching down after 7 minutes, crashing over from dummy half, despite pressure from two Hull KR defenders. Artur Mourgue added the extras to open up a 6-0 lead. Joe Burgess got the Robins back into the game, scoring his side's first try in the 11th minute. The Robins moved the ball from left to right and found Burgess on the wing. Burgess showed all of his strength to hold off two Catalans defenders to score in the corner. Ben Reynolds added the extras to level the scores. Matt Ikuvalu put the Dragons back in the lead, scoring in the 18th minute. The side from Perpignan moved the ball to the left wing, to find winger Tom Davies in space. Davis had Ikuvalu on the inside, with Ikuvalu running in unopposed to score. Mourgue missed the conversion to keep Hull KR within four points. The Catalans extended their lead in the 25th minute, through a flying finish from winger Tom Davies. The Dragons worked the ball wide to Davies, who carried the ball in one handed, before leaping into the corner to score. Mourgue was off target from the touch line, meaning the Dragons led 14-6. Catalans were now beginning to turn the screw on the KR defence, and a six again granted them good field position in opposition territory. The pressure eventually told when French forward, Jordan Dezaria, muscled his way over from score range. Mourgue was on target from in front of the posts to extend their lead to 20-6. At this stage, the Dragons were running riot, and scored again in the 21st minute. Mourgue attacked the line, passing to Artur Romano. Romano found Theo Fages, who ran in to score a brilliant try, with Mourgue kicking the conversion to put Catalans in a dominant 20-point lead at half time, despite some late Hull KR pressure.

The two sides traded sets in a tense start to the second half, with KR keen not to make a mistake which may put the Dragons out of touch, and Catalans reluctant to open the door to KR. But the Robins were reduced to twelve men, as Matty Storton was penalised for a crusher tackle on Tom Johnstone. The Robins held strong though, not conceding during the 10 minutes that Storton was off the field. But the Catalans eventually broke through KR's resolute defence, with a brilliant Mourgue pass finding Romano, who passed to Tom Johnstone to score in the corner, and put the game beyond KR's reach. Mourgue hit the post from the conversion, meaning the score stayed at 30-6 with 9 minutes to go. Tariq Sims scored the game's final try in unusual circumstances, charging down Tyrone May's attempted kick through, before kicking the ball thirty metres forward, before touching down to seal a fine win after an excellent performance from the French side. Mourgue added a simple final conversion, making the final score 36-6. The victory gives Catalans a 2-point lead at the top of the table, with just one defeat from their opening eight games. Defeat for Hull KR means they drop back from the top four, remaining on ten points, level with Huddersfield and Salford.
