The Stonestreets won't forget Cronulla's Magic Round win

Rob Crosby

The Cronulla Sharks have held off a Parramatta Eels comeback to record a 28-18 win in the first match of the NRL's 2025 Magic Round.

Kicking off the first of eight matches to be played over three days at Suncorp Stadium, the Sharks led from start to finish, despite having their lead reduced to four points in the final quarter, to bounce back from the disappointment of last week's golden point defeat.

Opening the scoring after a run of penalties in quick succession, Nicho Hynes put KL Iro (10th minute) into space with a well-executed pass for the first try of the night.

Points were hard to come by for most of the first half with a quarter of the match passing before Josh Addo-Carr (34th minute) finished off a left-side move to get the Eels on the board.

Despite being a man down after Siosifa Talakai was ruled out with concussion, enacting a try-saving tackle on Isaiah Longi, the Sharks rallied to hit the front just before the break with Hynes sending Briton Nikora (38th minute) on a rampaging run to take a 12-6 lead to the sheds.

The Sharks extended their lead early in the second half with Will Kennedy outfoxing Addo-Carr with a superb grubber kick pounced upon by Sam Stonestreet (49th minute) out wide.

A sin bin against Jesse Colquhoun did little to deter the Sharks with Cameron McInnes (57th minute) spinning his way over the line, however the Eels were able to eventually capitalise on their one-man advantage with Addo-Carr (60th minute) and Dylan Brown (63rd minute) slashing the deficit to four points.

Ronaldo Mulitalo came within an inch of scoring a remarkable try, catching a bomb and grounding the ball over his head, only to lose possession just before the line; upon review from the bunker, the Sharks received a contentious penalty with Bailey Simonsson deemed to have held Mulitalo's jersey midway through contesting the kick.

An error from Longi paved the way for Stonestreet (71st minute) to collect his fourth double of the season, while a penalty goal on fulltime capped the Sharks' third win at Magic Round with a 28-18 final score.

Next week, the Sharks will face the Sea Eagles on Sunday afternoon at 4 Pines Park, while the Eels will face the Dolphins at home on Thursday night.

Roosters win back-to-back, Dolphins go down swinging

Andrew Ferguson

After a first half which ended with the Dolphins in the ascendancy, the second half saw defence thrown in the bin as both sides combined to score a point a minute after the break.

The Roosters copped a heavy blow in the opening minutes of the game when Sandon Smith was fended off heavily by Herbie Farnworth. Smith banged his head on the ground and was ruled out for the rest of the game with a Grade 1 concussion.

It didn't stop the Roosters attack though and shortly after they opened the scoring in the tenth minute when Hugo Savala linked with Sua Wong, who got a fantastic flick out the back to James Tedesco. The fullback turned the ball inside to Robert Toia who skipped out of the cover tackle and scored on the right side. Savala failed to convert.

The Roosters crossed again 7 minutes later when Victor Radley ran onto a crash ball and barged over for a good try. Savala converted.

The Roosters extended their lead further in the 21st minute, going right-side again to Tedesco, who linked with Toia outside his defender. Toia then flicked a great ball out the back to Mark Nawaqanitawase who tiptoed down the sideline and scored a remarkable try. Savala's sideline conversion struck the upright and was waved away.

The Roosters produced a great run of fast passes near the Dolphins line just 3 minutes later which looked to produce a try for Zach Dockar-Clay, but the bunker picked up a little knock-on as he attempted to ground the ball. It was looking like the Roosters were going to run up a cricket score.

The Dolphins slowly got themselves back into the match and in the 36th minute they got on the board via Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow, who chased a bomb and plucked it out of the waiting arms of James Tedesco in the most perfectly timed run and catch. He strolled in for a brilliant try. Jamayne Isaako converted. On the stroke of halftime, Isaako landed a penalty goal to reduce the margin to 6 points.

4 minutes into the second half and the Roosters were awarded a scrum inside the Dolphins 20 metres. From the back of the scrum the Roosters went right to Tedesco who swepted around the back as second receiver, drew the winger and then puts Nawaqanitawase in for the try. Savala converted.

3 minutes later, Savala put in a lovely grubber near the Dolphins line and Radley regathered to score. Savala added the extras.

in the 50th minute the Roosters crossed again. This time they went down the left edge where Daniel Tupou made a good run down the sideline before turning it inside to Connor Watson who just gets to the line to score. Savala converted. In the space of 8 minutes the Roosters had scored 18 points.

Ray Stone looked to have opened the scoring for the Dolphins in the second stint, but a last gasp tackle effort by Billy Smith saw his fingers do just enough to knock the ball loose just as Stone was about to fall over the line for a try.

It was just three minutes later that the Dolphins fightback began. A lovely outside-inside play saw Tabuai-Fidow beat the defence before racing 40 metres to score a good try. Isaako converted.

Two more minutes passed before the Dolphins were in again, this time courtesy of a great ball to Jack Bostock who improved the position before scoring. Isaako landed the conversion and the Dolphins trailed by 12 points with 11 minutes remaining.

Robert Toia sealed the game for the Roosters in the 73rd minute when he stepped his defender and darted in to score a good try. Savala failed to convert.

The Dolphins got a consolation try shortly after through some clever work by Kodi Nikorima. Isaako converted. At full time the Roosters ran out winners 36-26.

Knights attacking woes disappear against poor Souths

Josh Robertson

The first attacking set from the Knights looked worrying as they didn't throw much at Souths at all but the red and green were their own worst enemy struggling in defence and with their discipline.

It was all through an eight minute burst that did the damage for the Knights as Fletcher Sharpe chased through a Ponga grubber to score with some good work trying to keep control of the ball to score. The birthday boy then soon added a second try when despite a valiant attempt from Jye Gray in defence to initially get Sharpe back into the field of play but Sharpe had the strength to get the ball down to the satisfaction of referee Liam Kennedy and the bunker.

A third try within fifteen minutes put Souths to the sword when Jack Cogger broke through a poor tackle from Sean Keppie and the Knights 7 had scored. Kalyn Ponga put over his third conversion to give the Knights an 18-0 lead.

The conditions turned beyond poor and neither side could trouble the scorers especially the Rabbitohs who turned the ball over almost at every opportunity they could get in attack as Euan Aitken was denied with a poor effort from dummy half.

The conditions improved in the second half but the Souths defence was worse than what the weather was as the Knights continued to make metres on the outside of the Rabbitohs. The Knights took advantage of this straight off a kick with Kalyn Ponga and Bradman Best combining with the latter scoring a strong try.

Just after the hour mark, the Fletcher Sharpe made his 21st birthday a truly magical one as he went over for his third try. The conversion from Kalyn Ponga went out to a 30-0 lead.

The Rabbitohs picked up a consolation try just under 15 minutes from full time when Campbell Graham contested a kick knocking it backwards before it ended up with Isaiah Tass who scored in the corner. The conversion was very wide and the score remained at 30-4.

As the rain came down, both sides couldn't test the scorers again.

Next week, the Rabbitohs play host to the Broncos back at Accor Stadium next week whilst the Knights will be boosted in confidence as they take on the hot-and-cold Gold Coast Titans at home in Newcastle.

Metcalf mania guides

Warriors home in first half blitz

AJ Lucantonio

A 28-point first half from the New Zealand Warriors set the scene for a dramatic 30-26 verdict over the North Queensland Cowboys as the Warriors withheld a fast finishing Cowboys side.

The Warriors were playing enterprising footy early and were denied by the Bunker when Luke Metcalf was offside from a Chanze Nicoll-Klokstad grubber kick. After repelling several sets down the other end of the field, the Warriors were able to capitalise on their next opportunity as Metcalf put Kurt Capewell into space before finding the halfback to score the opening try after seven minutes.

Three minutes later, Metcalf again turned provider with a terrific set-play out to the left. He found Chanel Harris-Tavita who delivered a magic pass to Edward Kosi to score their second and the Warriors were looking ominous. The Cowboys attack finally got into gear after 14 minutes. Scott Drinkwater dug into the line to put Jeremiah Nanai into space before linking up with Jaxon Purdue to get the Cowboys on the board for Magic Round.

As the rain continued to tumble down, the Warriors were playing like they would never have this time again. A great reverse grubber kick from Chanel Harris-Tavita caught the Cowboys unaware, Tom Dearden couldn't handle it and Harris-Tavita picks the loose ball up and gets it to the ground first.

Metcalf once again became the star of the show, after a huge break to get the Warriors back in attacking territory. He did it on his own, getting on the outside of the Cowboys right edge to get the ball to the ground and it was a 16 point lead in the first half an hour.

Very quickly, the away side got back into it as Tom Dearden fought his way to the line to score and reduce it to a 10 point game. In the dying stages of the first half, Adam Pompey intercepted a Jake Clifford pass to sprint 50 metres to score and make it a 28-12 scoreline at half-time.

Metcalf added a penalty goal early in the second half to make it a three-converted-try game and it looked an uphill battle. North Queensland needed to be the next team to score and they delivered some magic of their own with 25 to play. An early kick from Clifford sat up perfectly for Robert Derby. The PNG international beat the cover tackle of CNK to score a much needed four pointer.

Two minutes later, Murray Taulagi continued his history of magic tricks at Magic Round. Despite juggling the ball, he was able to beat the cover of Capewell to slam the footy down in the right corner. As the Cowboys continued to have all momentum. It wasn't long before the away side were within a try of the Warriors. A clever Drinkwater kick wasn't defused by Taine Tuapiki as he was crunched by Purdue and Jeremiah Nanai picks it up and scored for the Cowboys.

Despite an enthralling final twenty minutes. The Warriors were able to push back every attempt at the Cowboys attacking twenty, including a big try saver from Luke Metcalf to hold on for a famous win at Magic Round, their second on this stage in succession as the Cowboys first half fadeouts continue to be of significant concern to coach Todd Payten.

Tigers topple Dragons

Andrew Ferguson

Despite the sluggish, and later wet, conditions, both sides were more than keen to throw the ball around and were scoring points aplenty.

The scoring opened in the sixth minute when Kyle Flanagan sent a short, flat ball in the line to Dylan Egan, who hit a gap near the Tigers line and he went in to score. Valentine Holmes converted.

The Tigers hit back four minutes later when Jarome Luai sent a pass to Lachlan Galvin, who perfectly tapped it along to Charlie Staines and the winger sneaked in down the narrow passage to score. Adam Doueihi converted from the sideline.

Four more minutes later the Dragons replied when Holmes threw a dummy and split the defence. Holmes got down to the Tigers line where he was tackled by Sunia Turuva, but Holmes rolled over and scored. Holmes failed to convert his try.

The Tigers scored in the 20th minute after they put it through the hands with some precise draw and passing before Turuva gets space and he dived low to avoid the cover defence, scoring in the right corner. Doueihi converted.

Eight minutes later the Tigers extended their lead when Doueihi contested and caught a Luai bomb, popped a ball back to Samuela Fainu, who then quickly sent it along to Staines who scored in the corner. Doueihi failed to convert.

On the 33rd minute Luai ran to the line, shaped to pass and then grubbered. Fainu followed through and forced the ball for a try. Doueihi missed the relatively easy shot at goal.

The final minute of the half looked almost certainly like the Dragons were about to score, when Jayden Su'A was about to dive over for a try when his knee bumped the ball out of his grasp. Jahream Bula collected the loose ball in his own in-goal and then ran the length of the field to score at the other end. Doueihi converted and at the break the Tigers were up 26-10.

The Dragons struck first in the second half when Jacob Liddle burrowed over from dummy half. Holmes converted. Three minutes later Liddle crossed again and Holmes converted. In five minutes the Dragons went from trailing by 16 to trailing by 4.

An Adam Doueihi penalty goal in the 61st minute extended the Tigers lead to 6.

The Dragons had a few near opportunities but poor execution cost them. The Tigers then extended their lead further in the 70th minute when Doueihi grubbered, regathered, scored and even converted.

The Dragons didn't stop fighting though and crossed in the 78th minute when Hamish Stewart skipped out of a tackle to score. Holmes converted, however the Dragons ran out of time to score again. The Tigers hanging on to win 34-28.

Brusing Bulldogs overcome Titans

Tim Costello

18 – 38

Canterbury have won over Gold Coast on Sunday at NRL Magic Round, 38-18 victors at Suncorp Stadium.

The Dogs started the stronger, with Jacob Kiraz scoring the opener after six minutes, converted dutifully by Stephen Crichton. The try came mere moments after Gold Coast half Tom Weaver left the field with concussion, the #7 falling awkwardly trying to tackle Bulldogs hulk Viliame Kikau.

By the 13th minute the 'visiting' side had doubled their lead with a Connor Tracey try laid on by Jacob Preston out on the right edge. Crichton converted again for 12-0.

The Gold Coast got on the board through Beau Fermor after momentum had begun to shift their way, and looked the stronger side at the half-hour mark when Phil Sami had their second... but goalkicking let them down with Brian Kelly - stepping up in Weaver's absence - wayward with the boot.

Five minutes from the break, Kelly himself would find his way to the sin-bin after a professional foul and the Bulldogs booted a penalty goal through Crichton to take a 14-8 lead into the sheds.

Kelly returned to the fold at 45 minutes and the Bulldogs returned to the scoresheet at the same time, having not taken advantage while the Gold Coast centre was off the field.

Kiraz scored his second at that point from a short-side play involving Stephen Crichton, and it was backed up shortly after by Jacob Preston who pounced on an empty ball and crossed - with Crichton converting both, the lead suddenly ballooned out to 26-8.

A hat-trick awaiting Kiraz 24 minutes from fulltime and at 32-8 the contest was effectively over, although against the run of play the Gold Coast did strike back on the hour-mark with Fermor's second try of the day, reducing the margin back to 20 points.

Alofiana Khan-Pereira would've had the Dogs fans worried in the 65th minute when he ran 90 metres to score and bring the scoreline to 18-32, but Canterbury settled things after his try and the Gold Coast wouldn't trouble the scoreboard again.

Chris Randall (GLD) added his name to the sin bin list at the 70th minute for a professional foul and Jacob Preston (CBY) joined him four minutes from fulltime for a Crusher Tackle, with the game effectively ending 12-on-12 save for a few seconds late in the contest when Randall returned. Reed Mahoney scored a 79th-minute try to bring the fulltime margin back to 20 points for the ladder-leading Bulldogs.

Broncos inconsistencies continue as perfect Panthers return to form

Adam Huxtable

The Penrith Panthers road back to the top 8 has become a little clearer, the four time defending premiers producing their best performance of the year to sink a disappointing Broncos outfit by a scoreline of 32-8 at Suncorp Stadium on Sunday.

Despite the one sidedness of the match, it was the Broncos who had the better of the early runnings, pinning the Panthers inside their own 20 and building pressure with good kick returns. The first try of the game came when Adam Reynolds chipped across the field for his halves partner Ben Hunt, who won the aerial contest to score under the posts.

From that point on, it was all the Panthers on both sides of the ball. They quickly took advantage of a relieving penalty through Izack Tago, who was the beneficiary of a pinpoint chip kick on the 3rd from Nathan Cleary. The sides then exchanged penalty goals to lock things up at 8-8 and with less than 10 minutes to go in the first half it was still anyone's game.

It very quickly went from anyone's game to the Panthers' game, with Penrith tapping into the defensive resolve that saw them win four premierships in a row, turning away some admittedly poor attack from the Broncos with ease before a Cleary 40/20 put the "home" side on the attack.

Unlike their opponents, the Panthers wasted no time taking advantage of their opportunities. Off the back of the 40/20, young forward Luron Patea muscled his way through some soft defence to give his side a 6-point lead with two minutes left in the half.

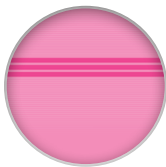

In the ensuing set from the kickoff, the Panthers were given a set restart that the Broncos were too pea-hearted to defend. Their defence collapsed in a broken field situation, and the man of the moment Nathan Cleary took advantage with a left foot step to score a try that was eerily similar to his famous four pointer to seal the 2023 Grand Final against the same team. All of a sudden, the Panthers were heading to the sheds with a 12-point lead despite the Broncos having the lion's share of possession and field position.

Any hopes of a second half comeback were quickly dashed as the Panthers made short work of the Broncos right side defence, some slick ball movement from the likes of Cleary and Tago put Tom Jenkins over in the corner untouched.

Penrith continued to turn the screws, winning the field position battle and building pressure that eventually resulted in a Jaidyn Hunt dropped ball. Another shift to the left saw the same outcome, with Tom Jenkins diving in for his second try in 10 minutes.

The Broncos attack continued to underwhelm for the rest of the match, with poor last tackle options plaguing the majority of their redzone sets. A chaotic final 10 minutes somehow didn't produce any more points as Penrith cruised to a third win in what has otherwise been a poor 2025 campaign.

Next week the Broncos will be on the road as they prepare to face the Rabbitohs at Homebush, while the Panthers will travel further North for another game against the Cowboys.

Raiders steal dramatic and controversial Magic Round win

Josh Robertosn

Drama and controversy have reigned along with the rain in the final game of Magic Round, as Canberra pulled out a miracle 20-18 victory over Melbourne in Golden Point at Suncorp Stadium.

It was all Purple in the early stages of the first half as the Storm dominated field position and possession after being given the perfect position from the very first hit-up of the game which was lost by the Raiders. The speed of Sua Faalogo set up Melbourne's first try when he found space on the outside of the Raiders before Munster saw the numbers heavily favoured the Storm and instead of risking it through the hands, Munster went to the boot and although aimed for Xavier Coates the bounce went perfectly to Grant Anderson who scored.

A penalty goal for Melbourne put the lead to 6-0 before probably the try of Magic Round and what will be one of the tries of the season lit up Suncorp Stadium. It was the speed of Sua Faalogo again to get on the outside of the Raiders edge defence before kicking back inside and finding Ryan Papenhuyzen on the chest in a play that most AFL players would appreciate. The conversion was good and following another penalty goal, the Storm lead 14-0.

The momentum then swung suddenly as the Raiders scored two tries in the space of five minutes when on the half-hour mark Savalio Tamale was able to get the ball down just inside the corner. The Green Machine then added a second through some unusually poor Melbourne defence when Matt Timoko beat the efforts of three Storm defenders to get it down. Fogarty converted for a 14-12 lead.

The second half was an arm-wrestle for the most part before Sua Faalogo scored for the Storm around the hour mark as he got over out wide. Papenhuyzen's iffy boot hurt the Storm again as he pushed the conversion across the face of the posts.

Drama started to flow more than the rain inside the last five minutes of the game when initially it was thought that Ryan Papenhuyzen had put Melbourne 7 points clear with a field goal however, on the advice of the bunker, a penalty went to the Raiders. It was ruled that in possession Trent Loiero had dropped an elbow into the attacker which was deemed as foul play.

The disallowed field goal gave Canberra hope which they took when some Kaeo Weekes magic when he took on Ryan Papenhuyzen 1-on-1 with a chip over the top to score a try and after Fogarty converted it was 18-18.

The drama didn't stop in golden point as Canberra were penalised for a second effort pushing Sua Faalogo into touch after the held call. The replays showed that Faalogo didn't go into touch however after the kick for touch went out, referee Gerard Sutton then overruled his own penalty call to go back to a late tackle in bizarre circumstances.

The call put Melbourne into attacking position but again when they had the chance to seal the game, a brain snap from Stefano Utoikamanu to lash out at a Canberra player saw him penalised and sent to the sin bin after a first half warning for players coming in which also saw Josh Papalii given ten minutes as well.

The Raiders then went up field and had one field goal attempt charged down and then in the dying seconds Trent Loiero cost the Storm potentially a second time when he was penalised for high contact. The penalty right in front of the posts gave Canberra an easy two points to seal the 20-18 win.

Lachlan McIntyre

Kaufusi and Donoghoe bolster Dolphins side travelling South to Parramatta

Parramatta plays host to the Dolphins this Thursday night to open round ten in what both teams will be seeing as a key opportunity to get a much-needed win on the board. The Eels have been performing better since the return of their halfback Mitch Moses, however they are still sitting in dead last on the competition table. The Dolphins have been unable to back up their surprise win over Melbourne three weeks ago, with defence looking to be the significant issue for the 14th-placed side.

The Eels opened Magic Round last week against Cronulla, falling to a 28-18 defeat. They were certainly in the game for the full 80 minutes, which is significant progress from where they were as a team back in March. Junior Paulo led the charge up front making 44 tackles, whilst Mitch Moses tried his best to take control. They'll be disappointed with the result, as it stems any momentum they may have been building following their victory against the Tigers.

Big name forward Ryan Matterson still can't force his way into the top grade side, listed as 18th man. NSW U19 representative Sam Tuivaiti, who played 25 minutes off the bench last week, wasn't named in the 17 on Tuesday due to an unfortunate right ankle syndesmosis injury, which will see him sidelined for 8-10 weeks. In his place comes Matt Doorey, added to the bench for his 5th appearance of the season.

Injuries within their forward pack has made the past few weeks more difficult for the Dolphins, however they only have themselves to blame for the amount of points they have been conceding. After blowing a lead against Canberra two weeks ago, 'Redcliffe' have fallen to two straight losses following their 36-26 defeat at the hands of the Roosters last week. The Dolphins were far too slow out of the blocks, letting in three tries before getting on the board themselves, and were indeed lucky to trail by only six points at the break. But three Easts' tries in the first ten minutes of the second half proved the nails in the Dolphins' coffin.

The inclusions of Felise Kaufusi and Kurt Donoghoe cannot be underestimated, with the forwards named on Tuesday to return to the side following injuries. Donoghoe will wear the number nine, with Jeremy Marshall-King again out due to an infected cut. Mark Nicholls will start on the bench, forcing Oryn Keeley out of the 17.

These teams have met twice over the past two years that the Dolphins have been in the NRL, with the spoils split one apiece.

Who to watch: Brendan Hands, Joey Lussick, and Charlie Guymer are three of the names who have taken on the role of hooker in the Eels side this year, with Ryley Smith tasked with the job this weekend. Jason Ryles has struggled with naming a consistent number nine this season so far - Lussick suffered a broken thumb in round four, Hands has been dropped to NSW Cup, and Guymer has been shifted into the back row. In comparison with these players, Ryley Smith has consistently been playing top grade hooker minutes this year. The Malta international made his NRL debut in round one off the bench, and played anywhere between 30-60 minutes as the interchange hooker through the first six rounds. Since then, the Eels have rewarded him for his efforts, upgrading him to the starting number nine, where he's made nearly two full game efforts over the past two matches. Expect the 22 year old to feature heavily this Thursday.

The Dolphins' Kurt Donoghoe is Smith's opposing hooker, replacing Jeremy Marshall-King. This will be Donoghoe's first start of the 2025 season, having previously appeared off the bench in seven of his team's games this year. He suffered an ankle injury during the captain's run prior to round eight, and has been sorely missed by the Dolphins during his stint on the sidelines. This weekend is also set to be just his second NRL start at hooker, with his first coming back in round 3, 2023 (a game the Dolphins would win). He has much more top grade experience as a part of the forward pack, especially in the back row and lock, however he has also played in positions including five-eighth and halfback for Fiji and fullback in this year's pre-season challenge. He truly can play any position and his return from injury is a great asset for the Dolphins.

Favourite: Despite sitting last on the ladder, the Eels are the favourites to come away with the 2 points.

My tip: Mitch Moses will prove the difference in this one. Eels by 10.

Newcastle
Knights

Gold Coast
Titans

Season-defining clash for strugglers

The buoyant Newcastle Knights will look to regenerate their season against a Gold Coast Titans outfit in dire need of a win.

Returning home full of confidence after a breakthrough victory at Magic Round, the Newcastle Knights will be hoping to continue a dominant home record over their weekend opponents.

Coming off their best performance in attack and defence all season, coach Adam O'Brien has retained the same squad that defeated the Rabbitohs 30-4 last Saturday.

The Knights have won 11 out of 15 matches against the Titans in Newcastle; the side has won the past six in a row, scoring at least 30 points in each of those victories.

Plummeting to second last on the ladder following five straight losses, the Gold Coast Titans will be desperate to save their season with a win on the road.

Suffering a 38-18 defeat at the hands of the ladder-leading Bulldogs last Sunday, coach Des Hasler has named Jayden Campbell to replace Tom Weaver (concussion) at halfback, while Jojo Fifita returns on the wing in place of Tony Francis.

Two of the Titans' best players will celebrate major milestones on Friday night with Moeaki Fotuaika becoming only the fifth man to appear in 150 games for the club and Tino Fa'asuamaleaui reaching his 100th first grade appearance.

The Titans last victory in Newcastle occurred in 2016, while coach Hasler has won eight out of 18 visits to McDonald Jones Stadium throughout his coaching career.

Who to watch: Making a triumphant comeback after a month on the sidelines in Magic Round, Jacob Saifiti will be determined to produce a similar effort against the formidable Titans' pack. Running for over 200 metres upon return from a calf injury to put the Knights on the front foot from the opening whistle, the 29-year-old front-rower was at his destructive best with three tackle breaks and 81 post-contact metres. Coming up against a pack containing some of the premier middle forwards in the game, a strong performance from Saifiti will go a long way towards getting the Knights a win along with enhancing his own representative claims.

Returning to the scene of his first grade debut last season, Jaylan De Groot will be hoping for a better result on the scoreboard in his second visit to the Hunter. Coming into the Titans' line-up following a long-term injury to Keano Kini, the 22-year-old fullback has shown glimpses of potential with over 100 running metres on average this season. Forcing three line drop outs in last week's loss to the Bulldogs after taking on additional responsibility as a playmaker, the Titans will need De Groot to fire if they are to record their first win since Round 4.

Favourite: The Knights are expected to build on their efforts on the road last week with only their second home win of the season.

My tip: Having disappointed in their past two appearances at home, the Knights will be determined to back up the success of last week with a strong attacking performance. Knights by 14.

Beth Nicholls

The Rabbitohs ensured their fourth straight loss against the Knights last week, where they only managed to get one try on the board, whilst they conceded five tries. This came after a flying start to the season, defeating the Dolphins, Dragons, Panthers, and Roosters in the first five weeks of the competition.

Wayne Bennett makes a host of changes to his side due to various injuries, but the biggest change is the return of Latrell Mitchell after he served a one match suspension, along with Jamie Humphreys returning after suffering a hamstring injury. Siliva Havili starts at hooker with Peter Mamouzelos out due to an injured elbow. Fletcher Myers joins the side as winger, with Isaiah Taas moving to the centres and Euan Aitken to the second row. Jai Arrow shifts from lock and prop, with Keaon Koloamatangi in the front row dropping Sean Keppie to the bench.

Rocks and diamonds; the best way to describe the Broncos. They easily and convincingly defeated the Bulldogs in Round 8, with a 42-18 score line. Then the following week they were embarrassed by the Panthers at Magic Round, not to mention conceding a Nathan Cleary try that looked all too much like the match winning try in the 2023 Grand Final. Brisbane are currently five wins/four losses, and sit in fifth place on the ladder, but if they don't get their act together, they might start tumbling.

Despite being free to play after serving his nine-match suspension, Ezra Mam makes his return through the QCup, with Ben Hunt staying at five-eighth to partner Adam Reynolds in the halves. Michael Maguire only makes one other change, with Fletcher Baker returning to the bench at the expense of Jaiyden Hunt.

These two sides met twice in 2024, with each team taking home one win. In the 41 times they have played each other since 1998, the Broncos take the lead with 26 wins whilst the Rabbitohs have only won 14, with one game drawn. Although, the home side have a good track record at Accor Stadium, winning four of their past five matches against the Broncos.

Who to watch: After having missed the first four matches of the season, and only having played his first game back at fullback against the Storm in Round 8, it'll be interesting to see how Latrell Mitchell plays. During his four games so far this season he has made three try assists, five tackle breaks and one line break.

Opposite Mitchell for the Broncos is Selwyn Cobbo, who is filling in for the injured Reece Walsh at fullback. During his two games at fullback this year, Cobbo has made one try assist and one linebreak, along with 13 tackle breaks and three offloads. Cobbo plays the fullback role dissimilarly to Walsh, but it still has moments of shine.

Favourite: Broncos are favoured to take the win.

My tip: On paper, the Broncos are an easy win, but they somehow make the easy wins not winnable, so who knows how Friday night will turn out. Let's just hope it's a night of diamonds and not rocks. Brisbane by 8.

Adam Huxtable

The Nation's Capital hosts top of the table blockbuster as Raiders, Bulldogs look to continue winning ways.

It's extremely rare for a clash between first and second on the table this late into the season to not involve at least one of the Panthers, Storm or Roosters, but in a refreshing change for the average Rugby League watcher it'll be the second placed Canberra Raiders looking to knock the Canterbury Bulldogs off their perch at the top of the ladder on Saturday.

The Raiders have been the surprise packets of the season so far. While pre-season predictions for them to finish among the bottom four or even get the wooden spoon are as ridiculous as they are plentiful, you'd have to search for a pretty long time around Questacon, the Telstra Tower and Kingsley's Chicken to find a Canberra fan who thought they'd start the year 7-2.

Raiders sides under Ricky Stuart have always been willing to get in the mud and grind out a victory, and that hasn't changed (see last Sunday for an example), but what's different about this particular iteration is the fancy-free attitude and flamboyance with which they attack. Their middle can get a roll on against just about anyone and when you combine that with the speed and power they have out wide you get the best attack in the NRL through 9 rounds.

Staring at them from the other side of the field on Saturday will be the brick wall that is the Canterbury Bulldogs. At an average of 14.75 points conceded per game, the Bulldogs have the best defence in the competition by a country mile, with the next best being the Sharks at 18.44. It's exactly the kind of leap the Blue and White faithful were hoping for and expecting going into their third year with Cameron Ciraldo at the helm, a coach who is quickly proving to be even better than was advertised coming out of Penrith.

Despite the Raiders strength being attack and the Dogs' being defence, their respective victories last week were earned largely through the work done on the other side of the ball. The Bulldogs got into a shootout with a frisky Titans team, scoring 6 tries to the Gold Coast's 4. Their right-side attack looked the best it has all year, with Stephen Crichton and Jacob Kiraz toying with Titans defenders all afternoon.

The Raiders looked likely in attack a number of times against the Storm, but the metaphorical bounce of the ball just wasn't going their way more often than not. There was a period late in the first half where everything clicked and they put on two tries in 5 minutes to cut a 14-0 deficit to 14-12, but aside from that it was very much a game of holding on. They did just that, keeping the Storm to their second lowest total for the season and taking full advantage of a half chance that presented itself late in the piece.

It remains to be seen exactly what kind of paths to victory these two sides will try and take when they face off. Just about the only thing that is certain is that whatever happens, it'll be damn entertaining to watch.

Who to watch: Raiders fullback Kaeo Weekes had a real rough go of it to start season 2025. For a player who poses such a threat with ball in hand, he had little involvement in the Raiders sparkling start to the season before things really went downhill for the 23 year old, dropping what felt like a dozen high balls in consecutive losses to the Sea Eagles and Cowboys that had some calling for the young fella to have a stint in reserve grade to get his confidence back. In a show of faith, Ricky Stuart kept him in the side and has reaped the rewards in the games since. Weekes was heavily involved in the miracle last minute try a few weeks ago to beat the Sharks, while anyone with even the slightest interest in Rugby League has watched his chip'n'chase effort to tie the game against Melbourne several times. The highlight plays are fun, and there will no doubt be more of them, but what really adds another dimension to the Raiders attack is his presence in the backline shape that forces defenders into split second decisions. Weekes is at his best when chiming in to Canberra's right-side shifts, so keep an eye on his matchup with Bronson Xerri, who is having a career year in Blue and White.

For the Bulldogs, Jacob Kiraz has done all he can since returning from injury to push for consideration in the NSW Blues side, and his last start was certainly no exception. Going against an admittedly poor Titans edge, Kiraz put up the video game-esque stat line of 22 runs for 227 metres, 2-line breaks, 2 line break assists, a try assist, 14 tackle breaks, 3 offloads and a hat-trick of tries. His first one was particularly impressive, winning the aerial contest before powering his way over the line by outmuscling the defence on the ground. It's the kind of performance that Kiraz would only need to half replicate every week to earn his way into the conversation for best wingers in the competition if he's not already there, and how he fares against rookie sensation Savelio Tamale will be an interesting little sub-plot in a game filled with them.

Favourite: The Raiders are two-point favourites over the Bulldogs at the time of writing.

My tip: This is the most I've struggled with picking a game all season. I'll no doubt flip back and forth fifty times before kick-off, but I've got to make a pick right now so the home team it is. Raiders by 4.

Kelly Hollis

The Dragons will be looking to get back on track as they host the New Zealand Warriors at WIN Stadium in Wollongong this Saturday at 5:30 pm.

This game is a significant milestone for the Dragons, as they celebrate their 150th game at WIN Stadium. However, they will face a Warriors side in superb form, currently sitting in third on the ladder with a 6-2 record.

Historically, the Dragons hold the advantage in their encounters with the Warriors, winning 25 of the 37 matchups between the two teams. Despite this, the Warriors will come into this match brimming with confidence following a strong run of form, having won their last three games. The Dragons, meanwhile, have come off two tough losses, including a narrow 34-28 defeat to the Wests Tigers. With only two wins at WIN Stadium in the last 15 years, the Warriors will have a point to prove away from home.

The Dragons were involved in a thrilling 34-28 loss to the Wests Tigers in Magic Round, where they showed plenty of fight but ultimately fell short. The match was a shootout, and the Dragons' resilience, especially with interchange duo Jacob Liddle and Luciano Leilua, almost saw them pull off an improbable comeback. Liddle scored a superb double, and Leilua's powerful runs helped the team close the gap to just four points. However, a nightmare first half, which included a crucial knock-on near the try line leading to a long-range try for the Tigers, meant the Dragons were always playing catch-up. Despite the loss, there were positives for the Dragons, particularly their intensity in defence and the creativity of young halfback Lyhkan King-Togia, who orchestrated the first try with a brilliant grubber.

This weekend, the Dragons will be hoping to put on a strong performance for their home crowd, particularly for their 150th game at WIN Stadium. There's only one change to the lineup with Emre Guler (shoulder) being replaced by debutant Loko Pasifiki Tonga. Meanwhile, the Dragons will be hoping for a big performance from Leilua, who will mark his 150th NRL appearance.

The Warriors continued their impressive rise with a thrilling 30-26 victory over the Cowboys in Magic Round. The match was a nail-biter, with the Cowboys mounting a fast-finishing challenge, but the Warriors held strong thanks to some inspirational performances. Halfback Luke Metcalf was instrumental, scoring two tries and making a game-saving tackle on Murray Taulagi when the Cowboys threatened to steal the win. Metcalf's all-around performance also included 164 run metres, two line breaks, seven tackle breaks, and four conversions. The Warriors' forwards, including Clark and Halasima, were dominant, combining for 35 runs and 331 metres, continuously bending the Cowboys' defensive line. Despite the Cowboys' resurgence, the Warriors' resilience in defence and their physical dominance helped secure the win.

Although the Warriors have historically struggled at WIN Stadium, their recent form on the road has been excellent, having won three of their last four games in Australia. With changes to the lineup, including the return of star winger Dallin Watene-Zelezniak from injury and Kurt Capewell shifting to the centre, the Warriors will look to maintain their strong form. Watene-Zelezniak's return adds a new attacking dimension for the Warriors, and he will be eager to find the try line after missing the first nine rounds of the season.

Who to watch: It only took Lyhkan King-Togia five minutes to put his stamp on just his third game in the NRL with a pinpoint grubber that saw the Dragons score the first try of the game. With each game, his skill will only continue to grow and will make it harder for Ilias to make his way back into the first-grade squad.

Superstar winger, Dallin Watene-Zelezniak, is set to return from injury in this weekend's game against the Dragons. Known for one of the best 'dos' in the league, Watene-Zelezniak is also one of the best finishers, demonstrating his aerial skills on a number of occasions. After missing the first nine rounds of the season, he will be champing at the bit to find the try line.

My tip: While the Dragons will be motivated by their 150th game at WIN Stadium, the Warriors' momentum and the return of key players should see them edge out the Dragons. With their strong forward pack and the dangerous Luke Metcalf leading the way, the Warriors should have enough to win this one. Warriors by 12.

Andrew Jackson

The last time these two teams met earlier this year, the Cowboys were coming off a much-needed win over the Raiders but had otherwise been easily beaten in three-straight games while the Panthers, even if disappointing against the Roosters, looked their usual selves the week after in a tight loss to the Storm.

Since that point, North Queensland rattled off three consecutive wins, including over Penrith, to rocket up the ladder before a poor first half was too much to overcome last week against the Warriors.

The Panthers, meanwhile, spiraled to the bottom of the ladder but could be on the cusp of finally putting it together after their best win of the year against the Broncos.

It is a daunting prospect for the Cowboys, but Penrith seemed to have turned a corner with a 40-12 victory over the Roosters only to turn around and revert to bad habits in a loss to Manly.

So, as impressive as the 32-8 win over Brisbane may have been, the Panthers need to back it up this week against North Queensland before anyone truly declares the four-time premiers back.

The Cowboys, meanwhile, will be looking to quickly put that defeat to the Warriors behind them so as to not lose all that momentum they built up in the three-game winning streak.

In team news, North Queensland is without Reuben Cotter (two-game ban) which sees Sam McIntyre replace him at lock forward with Thomas Mikaele joining the bench.

On the flip side, Penrith is bolstered by the return of Mitch Kenny from suspension. It means Luke Sommerton drops out of the side with Brad Schneider returning from injury on the bench as the utility.

Elsewhere, Brian To'o is back from a hamstring injury in a huge boost. Meanwhile, Luke Garner retains his spot in the centres so it is Tom Jenkins who drops back to the bench, potentially as in-game cover for To'o.

Who to watch: The Panthers have typically struggled defending against small, quick five-eighths and so this could be a game, particularly in the balmy Townsville weather, where Tom Dearden may shine. Dearden's name has been floated as a potential option for Queensland off the bench in Origin I and a strong performance here against Penrith will do his hopes of earning selection no harm. While Dearden is often a pass-first playmaker, his pace off the mark and underrated strength makes him tough to bring down too and it wouldn't be a surprise to see tired Panthers defenders fall for a Dearden dummy midway through the game as he shapes to go outside and instead cuts back inside.

For the Panthers, the return of Brian To'o cannot be understated. An injury-interrupted start to 2025 has kept To'o sidelined for most of the season and it is no coincidence that Penrith has struggled without his carries out the back. To'o is one of the best metre eaters in the league and without him, fullback Dylan Edwards has needed to shoulder even more responsibility in that regard. With To'o back in the frame, both Edwards and the Penrith forward pack will be given a much better platform to work off, although the key is that the likes of Paul Alamoti and Izack Tago still remain committed to putting their hands up for a carry and don't just let To'o take on the majority of the work now that he is back.

Favourite: The Panthers are slight favourites to make it two on the trot for the first time this year.

My tip: A hard one to read given the way Penrith performed after that win over the Roosters earlier in the season. The Panthers simply need to win as many games as possible before the Origin period and this will be another tricky game up north. While it is hard to trust the defending premiers, even after last week's performance, the return of To'o and Kenny means they are near full-strength outside of Scott Sorensen being unavailable due to suspension and if they can't do it now, you can put a red line through them making it five-straight. Panthers by 8.

AJ Lucantonio

Storm look for renewal against rejuvenated Tigers

The Melbourne Storm are looking for revenge after their Magic Round heartbreak when they host the highly improved Wests Tigers at AAMI Park on Sunday afternoon.

The Storm have been a mixed side this season, at times they have looked like the most damaging side in the competition with the attacking blowing teams off the park. Then there's the Storm that let teams back in the game and it proved costly on Sunday night. When things dry up for the Storm, they get rattled easily, and Canberra took full advantage of that on the weekend. A couple of costly penalties in golden point was the icing on the cake, something that Craig Bellamy will be reminding his players of throughout the week.

To beat the Tigers, they need to go back to basics. When they are on, they are an incredibly ruthless attacking side. But we are yet to see a true 80-minute effort from the Storm in 2025, so that will be front of mind heading into the Origin period. Cam Munster and Jahrome Hughes have been combining well with a firing Ryan Papenhuyzen, but injuries out wide have threatened combinations on both sides of the ball. Their pack will be tested against the 1-2 punch of Terrell May and Victorian junior Fonua Pole, if they come on-top there, particularly as Stefano Utoikamanu goes up against his old club then victory will be easier to achieve.

Onto the seasons' big success story, the Wests Tigers. For a side that has won three wooden spoons on the trot, they have been incredible throughout the season so far as off-field issues continue to engulf the club. But, the team has shown great resilience thus far as they grow following the Galvin saga. For a side that was a bunch of 'bullies' they were incredibly tight knit as they put away the Dragons at Magic Round on the weekend.

To beat the Storm, the yardage game will be critical. The Storm's line speed coming out of yardage is incredibly quick, so the ability of the Tigers to get out of their own end will be put to the test. If that doesn't work, the pressure on Jarome Luai and Lachlan Galvin to kick out of their own end will be immense. Defensively, they will need to keep all eyes on the reformed Big Four and ensure they don't have an inch to move.

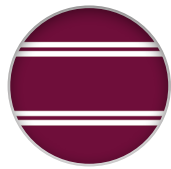

As far as team news is concerned, there's little change for either side. Both coaches opting to name the same sides' as last week. Melbourne do have big Nelson Asofa-Solomona on the reserves who impressed in QLD Cup last weekend.

Who to watch: For Melbourne it's a no brainer for mine. Their big-name acquisition in Stefano Utoikamanu. The former NSW forward has been strong for the Storm this season, averaging over 100 metres and breaking 3.2 tackles a game as well as 20 tackles a game. Yes, he had that brain snap last weekend in Golden Point. If he wins the big positional battle against Terrell May... that will be a big step for victory.

That leads us nicely into Terrell May. Yes, it seems an easy option to pick May but this prop battle is so critical for this game and is the last tick-box he needs to prove himself for NSW selection. The Samoan international is yet to play under 65 minutes in a game this season, averaging over 180 metres a game as well as 3.2 tackle breaks a game and 3.5 offloads a game. May can take one giant leap for his Origin credentials with the positional battle win.

Favourite: The Storm are short-priced favourites with the bookies. Wests Tigers haven't won in Melbourne since Round 2, 2018.

My tip: Melbourne don't lose back-to-back matches, especially in the way that the Storm blew that win last Sunday. The Tigers will give the Storm a big push in this one, but I just suspect the home side will have a massive point to prove, especially in attacking execution. Storm by 6.

Andrew Ferguson

This top 8 contest shapes as a very intriguing contest.

The Sharks are playing much more consistently over the last 4 weeks, which has seen them pick up 3 wins. It could've been 4 had they not slaughtered a 5 on 3 play on the right side against a 12-man Tigers side.

Meanwhile Manly started the season in strong form, then lost heavily to Melbourne 48-24 in Round 5, then had 2 more losses to the Sharks and Dragons before an impressive win over Penrith prior to last weeks bye.

Since 2021, Manly have won 6 of their 8 games the week after the bye, however, Cronulla have won 4 of their 6 games against teams that are coming off a bye. The Sharks have also won their last 3 straight games against Manly at 4 Pines Park and 6 of their last 8 games against Manly overall – making it the Sharks most dominant era against the Sea-Eagles ever.

Added to the mix is the looming State of Origin selections, giving many players extra incentive to play well and we have ourselves the makings of a great battle.

Manly and the Sharks are 2 of the top 3 sides for dominating possession, 2 of the 5 top sides for set completions, both rank highly and almost similarly for post contact metres and are 2 of the 4 top sides for total metres run.

One area both are lacking in is a running game from dummy half. In recent weeks the Sharks rake Blayke Brailey has started to run somewhat more frequently and it has added another dimension to the Sharks forwards running game. Don't be surprised if this is utilized more in this contest to try and get the Manly defence on the back foot to allow the Sharks to storm downfield more frequently – especially given former hooker and current Sharks lock Cameron McInnes is able to slot in at dummy half, it becomes a zero risk play.

There are some tantalising battles across the park too. Red hot fullback William Kennedy is up against superstar Tom Trbojevic; Jason Saab will be against Ronaldo Mulitalo and DCE squares off against Nicho Hynes.

Both sides love running plays on the edges of the ruck, have size, power and speed out there and send much of their attack late in sets out to the edges. Cronulla does have a slight advantage in the middle thanks to the dominant form of new recruit Addin Fonua-Blake.

This should be a cracker of a match!

Who to watch: Current Dally M Medal leader William Kennedy has been in stellar form this year. His elusiveness in the broken field coupled with his brilliant support play, ability to set up tries, or even score them himself when close to the line, defensive positioning and fielding of kicks has been near perfect this year. Braydon Trindall has also been in good form of late and when he's playing well, the Sharks are scoring plenty of points.

For Manly, Haumole Olakau'atu loves a contest and he will be keen to rip into this very solid Sharks forward pack. Tom Trbojevic has already had a few games on the sideline due to injury and with the NSW Origin selectors watching, he'll be keen to out-perform the form fullback in the NRL right now to prove that he deserves the call up once more for the Blues. Don't be surprised if he's popping up everywhere in attack, especially sniffing around the ruck looking for some second phase play opportunities.

My tip: I'm not one to think that Sharks are the underdogs here. They're in form, they have recent dominance over Manly, including at the Sea-Eagles home ground, and the Sharks beat them just a few weeks ago. Sharks by 8.

NSW strike blue blood at Suncorp

James Robertson

A strong fight late in the first half turned into a sour night for the Maroons as NSW took the opener as they did a year ago, 32-12 from the Cauldron.

It would be a night for many a debutant tonight, as 8 rookies marched into battle looking to taste their first win in the Origin arena.

From the beginning, the Maroons were uncharacteristically off, as Ali Brigginsshaw sent the ball into the grandstands out on the full. Jesse Southwell began her League Unlimited player of the match performance with the first of a few line dropouts forced for the night.

The Blueprint was clear from the start of the match, Kernick the lynchpin through the second phase setting up an offload for Yasmin Clydsdale as she put a path clear for 10-match veteran Jess Sergis for the opening try.

A fortuitous try quickly swung the momentum back for the Maroons as the ball bounced off Julia Robinson's shoulder and into the lap of Sienna Lofipo for the game tier.

The NSW Centres have been stalwarts for the last half decade and the skipper continued that leadership scoring a try of her own set up by the halfback Southwell. Jesse continued her short kicking game, constantly rolling the ball into the in-goal and causing havoc for the opposition.

Queensland had been suffocated defensively by the Blues for 10-12 minutes straight and they were re-leaved with a well-needed penalty. On the ensuing blow of the whistle, Rory Owen split a fragile Blues defensive line as they brought the game back to a two-point deficit. Right-side defenders Jess Sergis and the newly married Tiana Penitani Gray suffered injury scares and looked quite limp before the half-time interval.

We were indeed watching a battering contest as Olivia Kernick found herself in the firing line coping a knee from the leg of Tavarna Papalii nearing halftime. The Blues held out QLD before the break to keep it to 2.

The Maroons came out after half-time on the attack, with hooker Lauren Brown looking dangerous every time she touched the football. The night however started to sour for Queensland, losing Debutant winger Jasmine Peters to a failed HIA forcing a re-shuffle.

Jaime Chapman swung the momentum further in favour of the Women's Blues as Jayme Fressard was the beneficiary of a try double, NSW extending their lead. Blues Fullback Abbi Church growing with confidence, outplaying the normally dangerous Tamika Upton.

With the starting forwards coming back into the fray, it was yet another of the blues Debutants who found their way over the paint this time in the form of Ellie Johnston crashing over on the burst! It was a case of winning moments going against the Maroons, as a sneaky one-on-one steal from Sergis eventually led to a 2-point penalty goal taken by Jesse Southwell.

The Maroons succame to the onslaught of possession and pressure from both sides of the footy, as Abbi Church capped off a memorable night for the Parramatta Eels fullback as she bullied her way to the line emotionally in the embrace of her teammates as they realized an eventual win for the Blues.

An early expansive gameplan from the Blues transitioned to a methodical starvation of the Maroons as they could not fire a shot in the second half at all. Normally key cogs in the QLD wheel, both Ali Brigginsshaw and Tamika Upton could not get anything going at all.

The Maroons now with it all to do as the girls head to Allianz for a do-or-die clash in a Fortnight time.

Leigh 26 Catalans 24

Leopards edge Dragons in Magic Opener

Leigh Leopards won 26-24 against Catalans Dragons in the opening game of Magic Weekend at St James Stadium.

The Dragons were the first side to find the line. Theo Fages hoisted a kick for Matthieu Laguerre who plucked it out of the air.

They pushed further ahead with through their fullback. Guillermo Aispuro-Bichet who knifed through the defense to slam it down.

The Dragons moved out to 18-12 from Reimis Smith. He bumped off a few tacklers to touch down after video consultation.

The Leopards levelled up from the boot. Lachlan Lam's kick was grabbed by Ethan O'Neill to touch down.

Leigh took their first lead from the tee. An offside penalty led to McNamara piloted over the kick for 20-18.

They further extended their lead from a set piece. Owen Trout was turned inside and slipped through for a four-pointer.

Both halves combined for Catalans to get them within two. Fages chipped it for Luke Keary to go over for 26-24.

Leigh were able to see out of the rest of the time to earn themselves a vital two points on the Super League ladder.

Hull KR 54 Salford 0

Robins thump sorry Red Devils

Hull KR were 54-0 winners against lowly Salford Red Devils on the Saturday afternoon of Magic Weekend.

That result puts the Robins at the summit of the Super League ladder after ten rounds of the competition.

Hull KR barged through for the opener in the game. Dean Hadley brushed past the defenders and put it down for 6-0.

They went the power route again for their second. Sam Luckley steamed onto a pass and went over the line.

Next, Peta Hiku took advantage of the defenders backing off to score then Mikey Lewis broke through and found Jez Litten for 24-0 at half-time.

Hull KR picked up where they left off in the second half. An exchange of passes opened up Salford then Lewis flicked it to James Batchelor to score on the wing.

Following that, it was a debut score for back Noah Booth. Hiku got outside his man then passed to the youngster for 36-0.

The Robins were in full flow in the second half. Luckley and Bill Leyland kept it alive for Litten to acquire his second of the afternoon.

Leeds 17 St Helens 4

Rhinos beat Saints in low scoring thriller

Leeds Rhinos won 17-4 against St Helens in the final game of Saturday's Magic Weekend slate at St James Park.

The Rhinos bounced back into the winner's circle while they condemned St Helens to three straight losses.

They went to their right side for the next try to make it 10-0. They released Alfie Edgell down the wing who in turn found Lachlan Miller to go over.

Saints needed a response after the break. A short pass sent Matt Whitley through and he weaved past the defense to score.

Their efforts were dealt a blow after Lewis Murphy was binned after a dangerous movement in attempting to grab a kick.

Leeds used the man advantage to make it 11-4. Jack Sinfield caught the defence unaware and popped over a field goal.

Huddersfield 12 Hull FC 10

Giants break the duck against Hull FC

Huddersfield Giants won 12-10 against Hull FC to open the Sunday afternoon slate of Magic Weekend.

It was a maiden win for Huddersfield Giants who moved themselves off the bottom of the Super League ladder.

The Giants further went ahead from some smart play. Adam Clune put Leroy Cudjoe through a hole to trundle to the line.

They went close to snatching the lead. Cade Cust had the wraparound play but he couldn't wrestle free from Flanagan.

Tempers flared just before half-time after a hit from Sam Eseh. Both teams had a small chat then Eseh went to the sin bin.

Liam Knight gave us one last spark in the first half. He shoulder charged an attacker and was sent off.

Huddersfield settled down after the break and extended the lead. Clune unfurled a pass out wide to Jacob Gagai to fly over.

Hull FC brought it back to 12-10 despite being down to twelve men. The ball from Davy Litten found Lewis Martin to dive over.

The Giants held on and had huge celebrations at the final whistle after earning their first win of the season.

Wigan 22 Warrington 20

Warriors down Wolves in close contest

The reigning champions have reeled off five wins in a row and sit second on the Super League ladder.

Next, the Warriors gave the ball some air. Jake Wardle with the offload then Field and Bevan French combined for the latter to score.

Coming out of the break, Wolves felt just fine. Thewlis kept it alive then found a willing receipient in Josh Thewlis who punched through a kick for Rodrick Tai to touch down.

Wigan went into their shape quickly and responded with a backline move with Field providing the pass for Abbas Miski to score for 18-10.

Adam Keighran got an opportunistic four-pointer from a Wolves kick. Jake Thewlis fell over and that allowed Keighran to streak away.

Wakefield 32 Castleford 8

Trinity blow away Tigers to bring down Magic Weekend

Wakefield Trinity won 32-8 against Castleford Tigers in the final game of Magic Weekend for 2025.

They got back in the winner's circle and joined the four way tie for sixth place on the Super League ladder.

Wakefield decided to run the ball on last. Harry Trueman found Max Jowitt who sliced through for 6-0.

Next, they took advantage of some sloppy play after the ball hit the ground. It was fed to Caius Faatili to get his first four-pointer in Super League.

Castleford Tigers answered back with a scrum play. It was passed wide for Josh Simm who stretched out for 12-4.

Wakefield further pushed ahead after half-time. Mason Lino put the kick high and Tom Johnstone reeled it in for 20-4.

Wakefield were at the double to win 32-8. Walmsley and youngster Faatili went over for the comfortable win.
