Raiders hold off fast finishing Tigers to make it five in a row

Sam Bourke

Canberra has held off a fast-finishing Wests Tigers to secure a crucial 16-12 victory at Campbelltown Sports Ground this evening.

The win was the Raiders fifth in a row and secures their spot in the Top 4 - a position not many pundits predicted they would be at the start of the season.

While coach Ricky Stuart will be delighted with the win, he will be concerned with another second half fade out, after his side looked to be on the path to a big win after leading 16-0 at halftime. Blues half Jarome Luai shook off the disappointment of Wednesday night to spark the second half revival for the Tigers, which in the end fell just short as the Canberra defensive line held firm late to secure a valuable two points.

Canberra came into the match looking for their fifth straight win and they were on the scoreboard first through the front row combination of Josh Papali'i and Joseph Tapine, which saw Tapine stroll over untouched close the line.

Minutes later following a bust from fullback Kaeo Weekes, the Raiders had their fans up and about when Ricky Stuart's son, Jed Stuart scored on debut following a superb flick pass from Sebastian Kris to make it 10 - 0.

Canberra were well in control of the match, when just before halftime Kris then put Ethan Strange away down the sideline who found Tom Starling in support who kicked ahead. Jeral Skelton then came across to clean up for the Tigers but made an absolute mess of it and Starling then picked up the ball to score a fortunate try to extend the lead to 16-0 at halftime.

Wests needed to score first in the second half to have any hope in the match, and they did just that following a neat kick in goal from Jarome Luai which saw Alex Seyfarth dive on the ball to get the crowd on their feet.

The Tigers were a different side in the second half, as Latu Fainu came on to combine with Luai to provide some spark off the back of some strong runs from their front row in Terrell May and Fonua Pole. This momentum led to back-to-back tries as Jarome Luai sparked another attacking play which saw Starford To'a crash over to narrow the scoreline to 16-12.

Wests continued to gain the momentum and Jahreem Bula went agonisingly close to evening the score when the lanky fullback was cut down just centimetres short. The Raiders continued to hold on and poor discipline from Tigers winger Jeral Skelton who was penalised for a hair pull on Xavier Savage when in possession proved a crucial mistake with seven minutes remaining.

From there the Tigers continued to push forward for victory but the Canberra defence held on to give the Green Machine a crucial away win and consolidate their position in the Top 4.

In Round 17, Canberra travel to Newcastle next Friday night, where they will look to push for top spot on the ladder. Wests will also turn their attention to Friday night, where they will travel to the northern beaches to take on the Sea Eagles in a must win clash for both sides.

Undermanned Panthers stun Warriors in statement win

Andrew Jackson

The Penrith Panthers, without their Origin stars, produced their most complete performance of the year to upset the high-flying Warriors 28-18 on Saturday and send a warning shot to the rest of the NRL.

It is worth pointing out that the Warriors were also without Kurt Capewell and Mitch Barnett, while they also lost Marata Niukore (concussion) and Dallin Watene-Zelezniak (ankle) by halftime. Luke Metcalf also struggled through a leg issue and clearly wasn't himself, only running the ball once in the second half for nine metres.

But even before those injury setbacks, Penrith was already well in the fight and even after the Warriors scored first in the second half, the understrength Panthers only grew further resolved. It was a stark contrast to the last time the Panthers were without their Origin stars, when they found themselves on the wrong end of a 24-0 halftime score line against the Knights in Bathurst. This time around, Penrith's forward pack in particular made a statement early which made it obvious this was going to be a very different result.

Moses Leota, going up against former teammate James Fisher-Harris, looked like he was taking the running battle personally with an inspired performance. Leota had 10 runs for 85 metres in his first stint, setting the tone for what was a high-intensity opening from the Panthers, who eventually capitalised on their field position to take a 4-0 lead after 18 minutes. Penrith had 62 per cent of the ball at that point with 15 tackles in the Warriors' 20 compared to just three for the home side.

There was a chance the Panthers could have fallen into the trap of being frustrated into mistakes by a relentless Warriors defence, but they eventually broke the down as a sizzling step from Casey McLean put Thomas Jenkins over. But just as the Panthers took the lead, the Warriors hit right back as a side-stepping Roger Tuivasa-Sheck drew a penalty which marched the home side up the field - and they were quick to take advantage. On this occasion, Metcalf put it into the air as Izack Tago couldn't handle the bomb, spilling it straight into the bread basket of Jackson Ford.

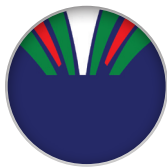

The Panthers then had to weather the storm as the Warriors turned up the pressure and while Penrith had showed the right intent in attack, the challenge was to replicate that without the ball. And unlike that Newcastle game, the Panthers looked far more committed and in-sync as a defensive unit. That eventually led to more points as beautiful ball-playing from Talagi put Scott Sorensen over in the 36th minute as Penrith capitalised on a Warriors' right edge defence that without Watene-Zelezniak.

The Warriors winger was down receiving treatment and had to be helped from the field, later being ruled out with what looked a potentially serious ankle injury. It left the halftime score at 8-6 in Penrith's favour, with Paul Alamoti missing both conversions from the sideline. There could have been far more points but both fullbacks Daine Laurie and Charnze Nicoll-Klokstad came up with huge one-on-one tackles on their own line to deny what were otherwise certain tries.

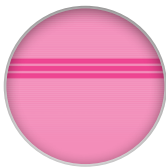

It was an exceptionally high quality first half and the Panthers picked up where they left off in the second half, almost scoring off their opening set. As they had all game, the Warriors scrambled brilliantly and were rewarded for that effort as a Matt Eisenhuth error soon after gifted them a full set on the Penrith line.

Metcalf then put Jacob Laban over as the home side took a 12-8 lead. It would have been easy for the Panthers, having already put up a better effort than against the Knights, to just let the game slip away from them as the Warriors started to get the upper-hand.

Instead, Penrith's line speed defending that first Warriors set after points spoke volumes as Sorensen came up with a crucial one-on-one tackle as Wayde Egan dummied and threatened to split the Panthers defence. Sorensen then scored his second try of the game as he came down with a Brad Schneider kick, putting Penrith back ahead 14-12.

Defence led to attack a few minutes later as Tom Jenkins stuck out a hand to stop what would have been a Warriors try and then sprinted away to put the Panthers in scoring territory. Schneider then played it perfectly, shaping to go short to draw the defence in before going out the back to Talagi for the try.

The Panthers eventually iced the win as Nicoll-Klokstad let the last-tackle kick bounce, only for it to go over his head as Alamoti pounced to put Penrith ahead 26-12. Penrith later added a penalty goal before Moala Graham-Taufa raced away for his first NRL try to give the sold-out Go Media Stadium crowd a reason to cheer.

The Panthers play the Bulldogs next week in a blockbuster Thursday night clash while the Warriors travel to Brisbane to face the Broncos.

Newcastle leaves it late to win in the west

Rob Crosby

Brodie Jones was the unlikelyest of match winners as the Newcastle Knights sealed a last minute 26-20 win over the Dolphins in Perth.

Sealing a memorable result after unsung forward Jones kept his arm elevated to prevent a double movement, the Knights reaped the rewards of opting for a bomb over a field goal to break the deadlock with less than a minute on the clock.

The Knights were well-served by a host of returning players, including Dominic Young, who delighted a hearty group of supporters among the 10,077 crowd with a try after securing a mid-season release from the Roosters earlier in the week.

Having defeated the Dolphins in their past four meetings, the Knights replicated that form with Fletcher Sharpe (4th minute) pouncing for first points after Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow failed to defuse a bomb close to his goal line.

The Dolphins struck back with a try of their own through Kodi Nikorima (11th minute), only for Kalyn Ponga to thread a grubber kick into the in-goal for Bradman Best (18th minute) to touch down in his return from injury.

A terrific run from James Schiller put the visitors in prime position to add a third four-pointer with mid-season recruit Young (24th minute) finishing off a right-side shift to score in his first appearance back in Newcastle colours.

A suspected ACL injury to Jack Bostock forced a reshuffle for the Dolphins; interchange forward Connelly Lemuelu (32nd minute) made the most of his entrance into the game by charging into a gap created by Isaiya Katoa to reduce the margin to 16-10 at the change of ends.

With Dane Gagai sent to the sin bin for holding Herbie Farnworth off the ball in a try-scoring situation, the Dolphins managed to capitalise on their one-man advantage with Jamayne Isaako (54th minute) crossing out wide before Tabuai-Fidow (60th minute) finished off a break by Jake Averillo to take the lead.

The Knights refused to wilt - despite Sharpe failing a HIA - with Ponga combining once again with Best (63rd minute) to lock the scores up at 20-all following Dane Gagai's wayward conversion attempt.

Jayden Brailey appeared to be the hero only for the referee to deny the visitors one of the tries of the season, however the Knights got the bounce of the ball they were after when Tabuai-Fidow failed to hold onto Phoenix Crossland's bomb, allowing Best to find Jones (79th minute) in support for the match winner.

Next week, the Dolphins host the Rabbitohs at Suncorp Stadium on Saturday night, while the Knights will return to McDonald Jones Stadium for a Friday night clash with the Raiders.

Storm survive Bunnies fightback

Andrew Ferguson

Four tries by South Sydney winger Alex Johnston were not enough to get the Rabbitohs the win against a rare ill-disciplined Melbourne Storm outfit.

The Storm hung on in the end though to escape with a one point victory in Golden Point, courtesy of a field goal by fullback Ryan Papenhuyzen, who had a rather mixed performance.

The Storm got off to a flying start, with all signs suggesting they were about to rack up a cricket score. In just the third minute of the game, Harry Grant picked up the ball from dummy half 3 metres from the Bunnies line, then literally jogged through a gap and scored a frightfully soft and easy try. Papenhuyzen converted.

From the restart, Melbourne shifted the ball left to Grant Anderson, who made a break down the sideline before kicking back in-field where the ball bounced perfectly for Jahrome Hughes, who regathered and scored under the posts. Papenhuyzen converted and the Storm led 12-0 after 6 minutes.

Both sides slugged it out in the middle and play become quite ill-disciplined and impatient from both ends. The Bunnies though got on the board in the 26th minute when Latrell Mitchell dished a great no-look flat ball to the unmarked Alex Johnston, who went in to score. Mitchell failed to convert from the sideline.

Just before the half came to an end, Anderson looked certain to score in the corner but Jai Arrow's tackle knocked the ball loose, just in the knick of time. Melbourne led 12-4 at the break.

Souths wasted no time putting the scoreboard attendant to work after the break when Mitchell sent a great ball to Johnston who dived over for his second try in the corner. Mitchell again failed to convert from the difficult angle.

Just four minutes later, Tyrone Munro made a break down the right wing but was brought down. On the next play the Bunnies spread the ball left and Mitchell produced a lovely draw and cut-out pass to Johnston who scores his third try. Mitchell converts to give the Rabbitohs the lead for the first time in the game.

In the 52nd minute the Storm spread the ball left out to Anderson who slipped down the sideline to score in the corner. Papenhuyzen's sideline conversion shaved the inside of the upright and went through.

Souths regained the lead just a few minutes later when Johnston snatched an intercept 30 metres from the Storm line and raced in to score his fourth try. Mitchell converted.

With 10 minutes remaining, Sualauvi Faalogo brilliant caught a bomb and then weaved his way through the Souths defence, ran deep into the South Sydney half and turned the ball inside to Tyran Wishart in support, who raced away to score. Papenhuyzen converted.

With three minutes remaining in the game, Mitchell put in a cheeky grubber very early in the set for Munro, who regathers cleanly and strolls in to score a clever try. Mitchell failed to convert. Mitchell took a pressure shot at field goal from 49 metres out, struck it sweetly but it was just wide of the mark. At fulltime the scores were level at 24 all.

Both side had a set each, both opting to put up a deep bomb from halfway on their last tackle. It was the Storm though who got the first real attacking opportunity in the 82nd minute. Papenhuyzen took a shot at field goal but it was charged down. Melbourne got the ball back and a minute later, Papenhuyzen slotted the match-winning field goal to give Souths a 25-24 victory.

Brisbane come from behind with lethal precision to stun Cronulla

AJ Lucantonio

Despite trailing by 16 points on two occasions, the Brisbane Broncos have completed a remarkable come-from-behind victory to stun the Cronulla Sharks 34-28 at Suncorp Stadium this afternoon.

Brisbane were made to pay for their early jitters after Jesse Arthars spilled a regulation bomb. From the ensuing play, the Sharks went down the short side down the left edge and it was Siosifa Talakai who crossed in the unaccustomed position of left centre for the opening try after five minutes.

Brisbane were poorly disciplined but hanging in there as Cronulla rushed most of their attacking plays. But, following a break from Jesse Ramien, the Sharks hit their stride. A brilliant short ball from Trindall put Teig Wilton into space, the backrower put a lethal step on Walsh before linking up with Kennedy who put it down under the posts and it was 10-0 early.

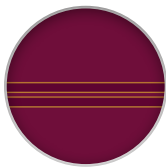

However, the Sharks conceded a plethora of six-agains and penalties and put themselves on the back-foot. On the goal-line, Cory Paix atoned for a poor start to the game by throwing a dummy and fooling the Sharks defence for the much needed try for the hosts at the half-way mark. Brisbane had several chances to tie the game up, but their short kicking game continued to leave a lot to be desired. Off their first chance in decent field position for an extended period, the visitors punished the Broncos. A brilliant short ball from Nicho Hynes sent Briton Nikora away who found Kennedy for his second try.

Off the back of a cheap penalty coming out of their own end, the Sharks worked play out to their left hand side of the field and it was Trindall putting a great pass to Hynes to stroll over next to the posts. Brisbane got a much needed try prior to the break after their much maligned forward Kobe Hetherington after an inside ball from Adam Reynolds delivered a great pass to Xavier Willison to go into space. The Cook Island international found Mam to score in the shadows of half-time. Sione Katoa committed 2025's biggest brain snap by deliberately tackling Mam in an offside position in the half's final play.

It was a frantic start to the second half for both sides with end-to-end footy the order of the day. But, the tide broke and it was the Sharks capitalised despite being a man down. Blayke Brailey was in great form this season and continued that in this one by scoring the first try of the second half, and his first in 28 games.

Brisbane capitalised on a Ronaldo Mulitalo error to get back into the contest. A bullet pass from Reece Walsh found Gehamat Shibasaki on the chest who juggled it to slam it down for the home side to keep in touch. Cronulla were imploding and the Broncos were finding their mojo. Following Trindall's kick out on the full, the Broncos attacked to the left edge and while Hynes was playing for obstruction, the Broncos kept playing football, Mam went through the gap and Josiah Karapani goes over for the Broncos.

Back to back penalties conceded by the Sharks gave Brisbane field position. It was then the magic of Reynolds, beating several defenders before launching the Holy Hand Grenade of Antioch to Karapani for a second. A sideline conversion by Reynolds put Brisbane in front. The game was practically secured when Walsh split the defence to find Shibasaki into space and the Broncos claimed a six point verdict.

Roosters rout crumbling Cowboys

Tim Costello

A second-half surge has seen the Sydney Roosters consign North Queensland to a second-straight heavy defeat, the Tricolours winning 42-8 in front of 21,143 at Allianz Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

Prop-forward Lindsay Collins - backing up from Queensland's nervous Origin win in Perth on Wednesday - opened the scoring at the five minute mark, but the Cowboys held tight for the next 20 minutes with the scoreboard untroubled for that time.

Just before the 20 minute mark Siua Wong left the field with a suspected MCL injury but it didn't phase the Roosters, who minutes later scored their second after five-eighth Sandon Smith set up centre Billy Smith.

They backed this up immediately with a freakish kick bounce benefiting Robert Toia, who in turn found Connor Watson for the hosts' third try.

Stemming the flow of points against them, the Cowboys struck back just after the half-hour mark with Braidon Burns getting the visitors on the scoreboard. Neither side added further points before halftime, the Roosters taking an 18-4 lead into the sheds.

The second half initially started quietly before an explosion of tries and a complete capitulation in defence from the Cowboys. From the 47-minute mark, the hosts ran in four tries in 12 minutes, Billy Smith, James Tedesco, Mark Nawaqanitawase and Daniel Tupou all notching four-pointers.

The scoreline being blown out to 38-4 took the air out of the contest and once the Cowboys settled things a little and tightened their defensive resolve, they ultimately looked like a more cohesive team. The game gone, they did score a consolation try fifteen minutes from fulltime with Murray Taulagi crossing - just - in the corner.

The home side capped the win with Nawaqanitawase grabbing a brace with a bizarre final try six minutes from the siren, a movement he started with a right flank break, several passes inside and a sideline-aimed grubber that had to be flicked back inside before the rugby convert snapped up the ball and scrambled over in the corner for a remarkable four pointer.

The Roosters will now enjoy a bye before hosting the Tigers in a fortnight; while the Cowboys' bumbling mid-season slump is offered a shot at redemption with a derby contest against the Gold Coast at Robina next Sunday.

Parra move from equal last with important win over the Titans

Josh Robertson

The Parramatta Eels have put themselves clear of equal last spot on the NRL ladder with an emphatic 36-20 win over the Gold Coast Titans in front of 8,000 fans at Commbank Stadium.

It wasn't the best start for the Blue and Gold who had one of the all time butcher jobs on a certain try when a Dean Hawkins kick was left to bounce and it favoured the Eels heavily but nobody could get to it for the certain four-pointer. Instead, it was the Titans down the other end who strolled through the middle and Jaimin Joliffe had the opening four pointer.

The Blue and Gold then hit back with three rapid fire tries with Sean Russell going over in the corner before Joey Lussick went over under the posts from dummy half and then Charlie Guymer scooped up a loose ball to score. Unlike, Wednesday night in State of Origin, Zac Lomax was able to convert all three for an 18-6 lead.

Things weren't looking good for the Titans as Jayden Campbell was taken from the field after being deemed to have Category 1 symptoms by the independent doctor but the Titans were able to hit back twice. Chris Randall was able to go through close to the posts whilst Alofi Khan-Pereira took a 90m intercept to score. Beau Fermor became the unlikely kicker for the Titans being only able to slot one of the two conversions and the Eels lead 18-16 at the break.

Parramatta were able to extend their lead almost 10 minutes into the second half when Dean Hawkins was on the spot after Isaiah longi ran into the line, kicked ahead for himself only for his kick to hit the upright and Hawkins was able to get to it first. Lomax's conversion pushed the score out to 24-16.

Just shy of the hour mark, Alofi Khan-Pereira was able to score his second of the night after Parramatta struggled to hold the ball and handed the Gold Coast a lifeline back into the game. Fermor's kicking was off again and the margin remained 8.

A four minute double for Will Penisini put the game beyond doubt with the two tries coming in very different circumstances, one saw Zac Lomax outjump the Gold Coast defence for the ball and had his pass knocked into the path of Penisini for an easy try and the second he had to fight his way to the line and despite being denied initially on field, the replays showed the ball on the line. It wasn't all good though for the Parramatta centre after he was sin binned and put on report for a lifting tackle that went wrong.

The Eels win will give them confidence as they take on the Dragons next week ahead of the bye whilst the Titans will need to find something as they take on the out of form Cowboys.

Andrew Jackson

Are the four-time defending premiers really back?

Well, we may get our answer on Thursday night.

While it may be tempting to declare the Penrith Panthers a genuine premiership threat again after last week's impressive 28-18 win over the Warriors, a blockbuster Round 17 clash with the table-topping Bulldogs should be the biggest challenge yet for Ivan Cleary's men.

Of course, this is not to downplay what unfolded across the ditch last Saturday as Penrith, without its Origin stars, put in its most complete performance of the year against a high-flying Warriors team.

Now, the Warriors did lose Marata Niukore early in the contest and then Dallin Watene-Zelezniak soon after, and were also without Mitch Barnett and Kurt Capewell.

Again, not to take away from Penrith's performance but to provide full context.

Nonetheless, considering the effort the Panthers put in earlier in the year against Newcastle without their Origin contingent, this was a noticeable improvement and could be the kind of result to springboard the rest of their season.

That, of course, hinges on Penrith backing it up this Thursday. All their Origin stars have been named, although Nathan Cleary (groin) is under an injury cloud.

Scott Sorensen, meanwhile, has been suspended for two games.

But otherwise, there are no excuses for the Panthers as they look to build towards September.

The Bulldogs, on the other hand, are well rested after the bye and also have all their Origin players back on deck after Stephen Crichton, Max King, Kurt Mann and Matt Burton missed their Round 15 win over South Sydney.

Canterbury has been far from convincing in the past month or so. The Rabbitohs threatened to run them down in their last start, while the Bulldogs finished on the top of the Eels after an early struggle.

Then there was the beatdown at the hands of the Dolphins, along with another tight win over the Roosters and comeback against the Raiders.

All of which is to say that like Penrith, a statement win here could really set the tone for the back-end of the season for the Bulldogs.

Who to watch: Casey McLean has been much-improved in recent weeks, both as a passer and a defender. But this week could be one which shows just how raw he still is. That isn't to say he needs time in NSW Cup. He is an immense talent that is worth persisting with. But the match-up against Stephen Crichton quite comfortably favours the former Panther. Add in Jacob Kiraz on the wing and this could be a long night for Penrith's left edge defence, especially with Sorensen out suspended.

Speaking of Kiraz, he was added to the Blues squad as a potential replacement for Brian To'o as the Panthers winger battled a hamstring injury. That obviously ended up being a nothing burger as To'o put on a man of the match performance. But Kiraz, like To'o, is an absolute machine when it comes to kick return metres and limiting his effectiveness in those carries will be key for Penrith. Unfortunately for the Panthers, that is only one strength of his game. Kiraz is also an aerial threat, although the fact he comes up against a pretty good leaper in the revitalized Tom Jenkins should help Penrith given To'o can be a liability in that respect.

Favourite: Canterbury are favourites for this one.

My tip: This feels like it is building towards the game where the Panthers prove they are still a premiership force but as unconvincing as the Bulldogs have been at times recently, what about Penrith? Before that Warriors game were back-to-back tight wins against the Tigers and Eels. It was good to see the Panthers icing those games, especially with the improvement in defence, but this is a much bigger step up in competition. If the Panthers play with the same defensive tenacity and line speed as last week they can do it, but the Bulldogs have been a defensive juggernaut all season and it just makes them easier to trust in a big game like this. Bulldogs by 6.

Andrew Ferguson

As far as the Wests Tigers are concerned, and that includes their predecessors Balmain and Western Suburbs, Manly at home are damn near insuperable.

Since 1965, those three entities combined have a total of 10 wins and 2 draws from 76 visits to fortress Brookie. Even today, with the evenness of the competition, Balmain still has more wins at 4 Pines Park than the Wests Tigers (for the record Balmain won 4 times there from 1965-1999, the Wests Tigers have had 3 wins since 2000).

60 years of woe is hard to ignore. So to is the Wests Tigers recent form which has seen them lose all of their last 5 games, scoring just 74 points, but conceding an alarming 152 points. It must be said though that their last 2 games have seen them become vastly improved, losing 18-14 to Penrith and last week going down 16-12 to second placed Canberra.

The Tigers will go into this game and at least their next 4 without classy young fullback Jahream Bula, who suffered a hamstring injury last week. Heath Mason who has been playing in the halves for the past few weeks will cover for Bula, just as he did at the tail end of last year. Mason did a tremendous job then and will be much more than serviceable again here. It will see Jerome Luai shift to his preferred five-eighth position, with young halfback Latu Fainu donning the 7 jumper. Livewire rake Tallyn Da Silva returns to the bench in what looks like an effort by the Tigers to field a side that will run the Manly side ragged.

Manly's form has been, to coin a phrase, all over the shop this year. They were impressive in their 26-10 win over Penrith, especially given they came into the match having lost their last 3 games. But they then lost to the Sharks, strolled to a comfortable win over the Cowboys, got spanked by the lowly Eels, then belted the Broncos 34-6. The last two weeks has seen the Sea-Eagles let struggling sides Newcastle and Gold Coast score wins over them.

Jazz Tevaga moves into the starting hooker role, with Lachlan Croker sidelined with concussion. Powerhouse back rower Haumole Olakau'atu will also be out for a month with a shoulder injury. Corey Waddell will cover his place in the run-on side. Two former Tigers in Jake Simpkin and Michael Chee-Kam will fill the two vacant bench places.

Interestingly too, it seems impressive youngster Lehi Hopoate's form has been too hard to ignore any longer and he has been handed the fullback duties, pushing Tom Trbojevic into the centres.

Who to watch: Don't be surprised if the Tigers target Tom Trbojevic, especially given as he will be defending the edge with classy ball-player Adam Doueihi and prolific finisher Sunia Turuva on the wing. The Tigers have also put Jack Bird into the back row, which could well be purely to put pressure on Daly Cherry-Evans, whose form has been down on his usual sublime standards. The plan being to put more playmaking duties and pressure on Manly five-eighth Luke Brooks, something the Tigers know all-too-well is something he has regularly struggled to handle.

Manly will be injecting Lehi Hopoate into the attack plenty, with the clear intention of having him and Tom Trbojevic performing identical duties on either edges. Given the Tigers edge defence of late has had a tendency to not commit themselves to the ball-player when defending their own line, this approach could well prove to be the key to Manly piling on a bootload of points. Manly's bench suggests they are going to try and power through the Tigers middle which is going to make this a very interesting clash.

Favourite: Manly will be the favourites for this clash and rightfully so, however they aren't exactly dominant favourites. Their see-sawing form and the Tigers improving consistency and competitiveness has now ensured they aren't the easy beats anymore.

My tip: The Tigers can definitely score a much needed victory here. Manly's edge attack looks superior. And their home record against this club(s) cannot be ignored. But I'm an idiot. Or a genius. We'll know on Friday night. Wests Tigers by 8.

A Knight to make a statement

The Newcastle Knights will be looking to claim a heavyweight scalp on Friday evening when they host the Canberra Raiders at McDonald Jones Stadium.

Positioned among a group of 12 teams separated from fifth to 16th by just four premiership points, Newcastle will be eyeing consecutive wins for the first time since the opening rounds when they take on a high-flying Canberra side that can guarantee a place in the finals with victory.

Returning home buoyant following a last minute 26-20 victory over the Dolphins in Perth last Saturday, coach Adam O'Brien has named Jackson Hastings in place of Fletcher Sharpe, while Jacob Saifiti will make a welcome return from injury in the front-row.

The Knights have won seven out of ten matches against the Raiders under O'Brien, including a historic extra time victory during the 2023 finals series.

Phoenix Crossland will become the 41st man to appear in 100 first grade appearances for Newcastle, while journeyman Jack Cogger will bring up 50 games for the club nearly a decade on from his debut as a teenager.

Heading to the Hunter in rarified form following ten wins from their past 11 matches, the Canberra Raiders will be eyeing six straight wins for only the fifth time in the NRL era.

Getting out to a convincing lead before holding on to prevail 16-12 over the Wests Tigers last Friday, coach Ricky Stuart has rested Hudson Young with former Newcastle utility Simi Sasagi starting on an edge and Noah Martin joining the bench.

The Raiders hold an above average record at McDonald Jones Stadium during Stuart's tenure with four wins and a draw from eighth visits.

Rejuvenated forward Corey Horsburgh will make his 100th appearance for Canberra on Friday night, becoming the 54th man to achieve the feat since the Raiders joined the New South Wales Rugby League in 1982.

Who to watch: Whether as a halfback, hooker or lock, Phoenix Crossland has consistently put his best foot forward for Newcastle. Bringing up a century of appearances in red and blue on Friday evening, the 24-year-old has developed into one of the first players chosen during Adam O'Brien's tenure through determination and commitment to doing what is needed for his teammates. Getting through a tonne of defensive work while playing a key attacking role in the number 13 jersey, Crossland's milestone game could be a defining game in the side's bid to qualify for three straight finals series.

Coming up against his former team for the first time in the NRL, Simi Sasagi will be aiming to showcase the ability that has begun to be realised at the Raiders. Going from a reserve grade playmaker at Newcastle to a regular fixture of Ricky Stuart's squad over the past 18 months, the 24-year-old Samoan representative has grown into an edge forward role while retaining the versatility to play in the backline as needed. Extending his time in the nation's capital until the end of next season, Sasagi's versatility could prove vital as the Raiders strive to record six straight wins for the first time in nine years.

Favourite: The Raiders are expected to continue their winning ways with consecutive wins in Newcastle for only the third time in history.

My tip: Having struggled for consistency for much of 2025, the Knights have an opportunity to change the course of their season with an upset at home. Knights by 7.

Match preview

Kelly Hollis

Saturday’s afternoon clash at Suncorp Stadium offers an intriguing battle between two of the competition’s top five teams—and a rare chance for either side to take the lead in their tightly contested head-to-head history.

Since 1998, the Broncos and Warriors have faced off 45 times, with both sides winning 22 apiece and sharing the spoils once. The Warriors may have had the better of the recent matchups, winning their last two meetings (both in New Zealand), but Brisbane has been near-impossible to beat at home of late. With both clubs pushing for a top-four finish, this one shapes as a potential finals preview.

The Broncos head into Saturday’s clash on the back of two impressive wins, including last Sunday’s pulsating 34-28 comeback over the Sharks. After trailing 22-12 at the break, Brisbane exploded in the second half, crossing for four tries to turn the tide in front of a vocal Suncorp crowd. It was an emphatic statement from a side that’s been hovering around the middle of the ladder, with attacking flair and defensive grit finally aligning. Reece Walsh looked electric once again, while the forward pack, led by Payne Haas, laid the platform for the late-game surge.

Coach Michael Maguire has opted for continuity, naming an unchanged 17 to face the Warriors. Josiah Karapani will be one to watch—his recent try-scoring form at Suncorp has added a spark to Brisbane’s right edge. Meanwhile, Gehamat Shibasaki has also found the stripe with regularity, scoring five tries in his last four outings. With the side starting to build confidence and combinations, and the knowledge they haven’t lost to the Warriors at Suncorp since 2018, the Broncos will be determined to narrow the six-point gap separating them from the top four.

The Warriors, meanwhile, are looking to rebound after a disappointing 28-18 home loss to an Origin-weakened Penrith outfit. It marked their second straight defeat in Auckland, a rare dip in form for a side that has been one of the most consistent throughout the 2025 season. Despite the result, there were still moments of promise—particularly in the way their forward rotation held its own—but lapses in execution and missed opportunities proved costly against a well-drilled Panthers side. With a 10-4 record, Andrew Webster’s men still sit comfortably in fourth, but they’ll be desperate to stop the slide.

Fortunately for the Warriors, their away form tells a very different story. They’ve won five of six games in Australia this season and are undefeated at Suncorp Stadium in 2025, having beaten both the Dolphins and the Cowboys at the same venue during Magic Round. The return of Kurt Capewell adds Origin-calibre steel to their second row, while Rocco Berry’s return from injury strengthens their backline. Edward Kosi replaces the injured Dallin Watene-Zelezniak on the wing, offering power and finishing ability on the edge. Chanel Harris-Tavita, who continues to form a stable halves pairing with Luke Metcalf, will be crucial in ensuring the Warriors’ kicking game and game management are on point against a fast-finishing Brisbane outfit.

Who to watch:

For the Broncos, Gehamat Shibasaki is enjoying a rich vein of form with five tries in his last four appearances. His combination with Reece Walsh on the edge has developed nicely and could cause real problems for the Warriors’ left-side defence.

For the Warriors, Chanel Harris-Tavita is central to their fortunes. With his halves partnership with Luke Metcalf nearing 1100 minutes this season, Harris-Tavita’s game control and ability to take on the line will be key in dictating terms, particularly in the back end of each half.

Favourite: The Broncos are slight favourites, buoyed by recent home form and the Warriors’ stumble last week.

My tip: This match is shaping up as a cracking contest between two clubs jostling for a top-four finish. Brisbane will be confident on their home turf, but the Warriors’ outstanding away record and more settled combinations might give them the edge in a tight one. Warriors by 4.

Luke Jobson

Wollongong gets treated to a Saturday afternoon special as the St George Illwarra Dragons look to turn the tables against the much improved Parramatta Eels.

The last time these two teams met, Zac Lomax broke his foot and kicked the winning field goal to give the Eels a 23-22 golden point win at CommBank Stadium, the Eels first of 2025. It ruined the homecoming of the King, Clint Gutherson, as the Eels looked to rise from what was a dour start to the season.

Coming into round 17, it really hasn't improved for either side. The Eels, albeit hit by the injury bug once again, are starting to gel at the wrong end of the season as they linger in a tie for 16th place. The Dragons have more questions than answers in regards to their form, struggling all over the park under Shane Flanagan.

The Dragons walked into half-time at Shark Park with a 12-point lead, having played some of their best football in 2025. What followed in the second half is best described as a puff of smoke coming out of a decrepit dragon with no will to move on. Fans have called for Flanagan to be sacked - whether it be the half in Kyle or the coach in Shane, remains to be seen.

Questions have been asked about the outside backs, the halves and how the Dragons could turn 2025 around. The return of some key strike weapons will help this week, but it doesn't account for the awful track record that the Red V has against Parramatta (lost 13 of the last 16). Playing at WIN Stadium may help though, with the Dragons winning 10 of the last 14 against the Eels at the home of the Illawarra Steelers.

The Eels looked shaky at times with a rookie spine against the Gold Coast Titans, but the Blue and Gold rewarded the 9,000 fans who rocked up on Sunday night with a 36-20 win. Dean Hawkins played his best game for the Eels, while the lethal combination of Josah Papalii and Isaiah Longi showed why they could be the Eels spine alongside Mitch Moses for years to come.

It wasn't all smooth sailing, with two guns in Ryley Smith and Will Penisini copping bans for their respective dangerous tackles. Mitch Moses is still a while away, but it is worth noting that he was out of the side when Parramatta played the Dragons earlier in the season.

The Dragons have changes galore as they look to keep in touch with the top eight. Corey Allan and Christian Tuipulotu come back from hamstring injuries, sending Tyrell Sloan and Nathan Lawson out of the side. Val Holmes returns to the side in place of Nick Tsougranis, while Viliami Fifita is named for his first top grade action of the season in place of Loko Pasifika Tonga.

Parramatta lose Will Penisini and Ryley Smith to suspension, but gain Dylan Brown back from his contrary conduct charge. It means that Jordan Samrani moves into the centres, Dylan Brown goes to five-eight and Josah Papalii takes the bench spot that Ryley Smith occupied.

Who to watch: Clint Gutherson will be looking to replicate his performance from last time out against his old side, having scored a double on his return to Parramatta in round five. The also managed to break the line four times, set up a try and run for 160 metres in a best on ground performance. While he maybe hasn't quite lived up to the expectation in 2025 at St George, the King of WIN will be stamping his authority early against the side that he knows best.

Zac Lomax seems to feature almost every time this forlorn writer grabs an Eels game. By far the most dangerous man on the park, Lomax will be embracing the opportunity to get the double against his former club. The Eels leading man in run metres per game at 205m, he will lead from the back and aim to add onto his try-scoring tally this season against a very leaky Dragon defense.

Favourite: The Dragons have the bookies' backing here.

My tip: It is at the point where it is nearly a do or die game for both sides. The Dragons will start to lose touch with the finals spots if they lose this week, while the Eels need this win prior to their bye to get back within striking distance. A nightmare run follows for the Eels, who will see this as a catapult into confidence after the Round 18 bye against a worrisome Dragons. Eels by 6, Lomax to score a try.

Dolphins and Bunnies prepare for battle to the death after tough last start losses

The Dolphins and Rabbitohs will do battle in the second leg of the "double header that's not actually a double header" at Suncorp Stadium, with one side looking to keep their finals ambitions afloat while the other desperately tries to resurrect their season.

This match was initially scheduled to be played at Accor Stadium, but when Cyclone Alfred threatened to postpone the Round 1 match between these sides, Souths offered the Dolphins a chance to swap the home and away games around.

Coming off the back of a momentum shattering loss to the Knights last week, the Dolphins sit just outside the eight and are searching for ways to get back inside, with a win against Souths and their former coach Wayne Bennett a great way to start that chase.

They have had to make one change to their side, with Jack Bostock joining a growing list of Dolphins out for the remainder of the season after tearing his ACL. Junior Tupou replaced him on the wing, while in an unforced change last week's debutant Aublix Tawha drops out of the side to be replaced by Josh Kerr.

The Rabbitohs were also defeated last week, in a golden point loss to Melbourne, showcasing their improvements from the start of the season but highlighting they still have further to go as they look to turn around what has been a horror two years for the proud foundation club, winning just 17 of their last 52 matches.

They get the cavalry back however - former Origin stars Campbell Graham and Cody Walker returning from injury, while hooker Peter Mamouzelos has been named on the bench to return from an elbow injury. Isaiah Tass, Liam Le Blanc and Ryan Gray are the casualties of the inclusions, while Jack Wighton and Euan Aitken switch positions as a result.

Who to watch: The Dolphins look so much better when Isaiya Katoa is firing. The 21 year old is in career best form with 14 try assists, 11 line break assists and 8 forced dropouts across the season. The Knights contained him well last week, and while he did have a try assist his running game and defence was questionable, so the Dolphins will be hoping their star number 7 bounces back this week.

The Rabbitohs hopes and dreams rely on Latrell Mitchell. His second half performance against Melbourne dragged them back into the contest, and despite falling in Golden Point the Bunnies will see that as a sign they can beat anyone when the star fullback is on. With 9 try assists in as many games in 2025, including four against Melbourne, expect Trelle to be in charge for Souths once more.

Favourite: The Phins are favoured in this one, paying $1.54 on Sportsbet

My tip: The Dolphins seem a little shaky right now, while Souths are looking like they have found some form. Don't discount the upset here. Rabbitohs by 8.

Storm and Sharks reignite rivalry in crunch time!

The two combatants of the 2016 Grand Final go head-to-head in a critical match for both the Melbourne Storm and Cronulla Sharks at AAMI Park this Sunday afternoon.

The Storm return home after a tough trip to Accor Stadium fresh from Origin II, where several stars backed up less than 72 hours after the tough duel in Perth. Despite this, the Storm looked strong in the first half. Still, it was uncharacteristically sloppy with the ball in the second half. This gave South Sydney an edge before some individual magic from Ryan Papenhuyzen and Sua Fa'alofo got the Storm across the line in the first period of Golden Point.

Revenge will be at the front of mind for the Storm in this one after their seven-point defeat to the Sharks last month. That was a game they should've won following a plethora of outside backs going down for the Sharks, but they will have to win the middle to have a chance in this one. Addin Fonua-Blake rode roughshod over the Storm pack in that game and will need to be kept in check, a task easier said than done.

Onto team news, Xavier Coates returns after being rested last week so Grant Anderson shifts to the centres and Jack Howarth is out. Blues prop Stefano Utoikamanu and Maroons back-rower Trent Loiero will return to the starting side after coming from the bench last Saturday against the Rabbitohs.

The Sharks are one of the most frustrating sides to watch in the NRL. On occasion, they show us their premiership muscle under all sorts of adversity. But, over the past month, they have shown their cracks with thrashings at the hands of an understrength Roosters side, the Warriors and their second-half collapse at the hands of the Broncos.

It's not unfair to say that the Sharks were disappointing, but they were disappointing due to their own coaches malpractice. For a side to run small-ball (three small middles) against a Broncos pack of Payne Haas and Pat Carrigan, it's little wonder why the Sharks collapsed as hard as they did in the second half. To beat Melbourne, they need to copy/paste the script from their last meeting, dominate the middle and let the halves dictate terms off the back of it.

Onto team news, and if you know the Sharks this season, there is very little to report despite their poor second-half fadeout. Oregon Kaufusi returns after being a late out last week with a hamstring injury so Braden Hamlin-Uele goes back to the bench and Hohepa Puru drops out.

Who to watch: After being dominated by Keaon Kolomatangi last week, Stefano Utoikamanu needs a big game to retain his NSW jersey, you suspect today. He has averaged over 100 metres a game this season on top of 13 offloads and a tackle efficiency of 98% this season. He just needs a statement game against AFB to prove he is ready to reclaim his Origin jersey.

Looking at the Sharks and the focus is on Will Kennedy. The Sharks need to find a spark in their attack and it has to come from the back. After a strong start to the season, Kennedy's form has tapered from the lofty standards set at the beginning of the campaign and if the Sharks are to experience some renewal in the second half of the season it has to come from the back.

Favourite: Melbourne is the overwhelming favourite with the bookies. Cronulla did win at AAMI Park under adversity last season in a famous victory, with much-maligned Dan Atkinson turning the saviour.

My tip: It is hard to go past the Storm but the Sharks have an incredible knack of pulling victories out of their backside. Melbourne will be once again searching for an 80-minute performance after their second-half fade-out against South Sydney, and if they do that here, it will be a tough afternoon for the boys from the Shire. Storm by 8.

A Sunday afternoon Queensland Derby sees two sides out of form trying to break their downward spiral as the Gold Coast Titans play host to the North Queensland Cowboys at Cbus Super Stadium.

The Titans come into the contest sitting in last spot on the NRL ladder with just four wins this season. The performances from the Gold Coast this season have been the definition of inconsistent with some excellent performances scattered with some poor performances through the season which has been shown by the decent performance against the Storm three weeks ago despite losing that game. The inconsistencies were on show with a heavy loss against Brisbane but then a win over Manly before the loss last week against the Titans.

Last weeks performance against the Eels was typical of a side at the bottom of the ladder as they went through stages of playing good football but at the same time struggled at times against the Eels who themselves weren't exactly perfect. The loss of Jayden Campbell during the game didn't help the Titans but they shot themselves in the foot a few times in their 36-20 loss.

Titans coach Des Hasler has been forced into bringing Tom Weaver into the halves after the head knock to Jayden Campbell. The other change sees Tino Fa'asuamaleaui and Mo Fotuika returning to the starting side after being named on the bench last week after their origin effort.

Arguably the most out of form team in the competition, the North Queensland Cowboys have won just one of their past eight matches which came against the Tigers back in Round 13 and even then that performance almost saw them crumble from a 32-6 lead to almost losing the game and before that a fortunate draw against the Panthers. Since that win, the Cowboys have conceded 138 points in three matches (38, 58, 42) in their losses to Melbourne, Dolphins and the Roosters.

The performance last week again from the Cowboys was insipid with no real spark from the side and even though they were missing Origin players, the Cowboys still have enough talent on the park to compete with the best sides but there was a complete lack of effort. The defensive fragility has been a major issue and there is a big issue again especially with the ease the Roosters had.

Team wise, after being "praised" for bringing Jaxon Purdue into the halves, the subsequent performances have forced Todd Payten's hand into moving Purdue back to the centres whilst Jake Clifford comes back into the halves. The Cowboys also have Origin representatives Reece Robson and Ruben Cotter returning into the side.

Who to watch: AJ Brimson is a lightning player when he's at his best and he showed it during the victory over the Manly Sea Eagles a few weeks ago. Last week, he struggled and this has been the problem for the Gold Coast for a while that Brimson can turn up and star one day then go missing on the next. The Titans will need Brimson to take control if they want to beat the Cowboys.

Coming into the side, Jake Clifford doesn't need to be a miracle worker (just yet) but the decision to bring a proven half back into the side is a big step forward for the Cowboys. Clifford's control of the game will be vital to a side that can sometimes inflate it's ego a bit much and settle the Cowboys down.

Favourite: The Cowboys are favourites.

My tip: The Cowboys have been horrendously out of form but they have enough on paper to get the win. It is a game that could go in so many different directions that there is very little confidence in my tip. Cowboys by 4.

Hull KR 48 Castleford 0

Rovers continue ruthless footy against Castleford

The Hull Kingston Rovers have continued their ruthless displays of attacking football with a 48-0 massacre of the Castleford Tigers.

Alarm bells were ringing early for Danny Maguire's side when Rovers scored their first points after just three minutes through a familiar set play. A lovely shift down the left hand side put Jack Broadbent over and the signs were ominous for the Tigers. Six minutes later, the left side were at it again and Broadbent turned provider with a lovely catch-and-pass to Noah Booth who touched down in the corner.

Despite a brief resistance from the Tigers, Rovers struck with force 15 minutes before the break down the right edge when Arthur Morugue delivered a lofted pass to Tom Davies who had too much pace for the cover and strolled over out wide. Morugue then added his name to the score-sheet before the break after being on the end of a Sam Luckley offload to lead 20-0 at the break.

Zac Cini nearly stunned the visitors with a great team try seven minutes after the restart, but the effort was denied by video referee Aaron Moore. That was as close as the Tigers got and the Rovers ran riot in the second half. After 52 minutes, Broadbent broke away again before finding Jai Whitbread who strolled across to give Rovers a commanding lead.

In the last 15 minutes, the Tigers resistance slowly evaporated. A chaotic sequence of play led to Booth's second try, following some wild Rovers play. Further tries to Tyrone May and doubles for Davies and Broadbent added to Castleford's woes to be soundly defeated at the Jungle.

St Helens 18 Leeds 4

Saints prove it all with backs against the wall

St Helens minus several injured stars have proven that they are a force in this season's competition with an emphatic 18-4 verdict over the Leeds Rhinos.

An early high tackle penalty against the Rhinos allowed Saints to dictate early terms. A Kyle Feldt penalty goal gave the hosts a 2-0 lead. The slow start continued with another lapse in discipline costing the Rhinos, Feldt doubled the advantage to continue holding Leeds at bay.

Leeds looked destined to score the first try after half an hour when Ryan Hall was streaking down the sideline. But, from no-where it seemed, the Saints scrambled and held up the try-scoring sensation. Right on the break, new signing Deon Cross made his impact known at the Totally Wicked Stadium, crossing for an individual try to make it 8-0 at the change of ends.

Straight after the break, Leeds looked the more dangerous of the two sides and Lachie Miller burst through the defence. After being ankle-tapped, he got up and launched a great pass to Ash Handley before finding Riley Lumb out wide to cut the gap in half. That was the closest Leeds got to the lead.

Just on the hour mark, some quick hands to the left edge saw young winger Owen Dagnall go across and make the gap ten points. Tristan Sailor wrapped this ball game up on full-time with a scintillating effort, running at full pace through a gap to slam the football down and give Paul Wellens a relieving victory.

Wakefield 16 Wigan 10

Gigantic upset sees Wakefield dethrone the champs

Wakefield have delivered Super League's biggest upset this season, downing Wigan by 16-10 at home.

It took 17 minutes for the game to open up and it was their rampaging forward from the Sunshine Coast that got them across the line. Caius Faatili has proven to be quite the pickup for Trinity this season and he charged through some pedestrian defence to get on the board first.

Just before the break, the Wakefield side launched a hammer blow on the defending premiers. A deft kick by Mason Lino at the line saw Josh Griffin win the race to the ball and ground it. Wakefield went into the break with a shock 10-0 lead.

Right after the break, whatever Matt Peet said to his troops appeared to do the trick and they hit back with almost immediate effect. A delightful pass from Bevan French hit Adam Keighran on the chest and saw the former Australian journeymen crash across.

Wakefield added a third and what would turn to be a decisive try after 53 minutes. A great lofted pass from Jake Trueman found Tom Johnstone who beat the cover defence and touched down in the corner. Wigan added a late consolation try when Jai Field split the Wakefield defence but it was all in vain as the Wakefield side delivered a gigantic upset.

Huddersfield 24 Warrington 16

Wire trounced as Huddersfield move clear from bottom

Just under 24 hours after Wakefield's humongous upset against Wigan, Huddersfield delivered an upset to rival it with a 24-16 verdict over an underwhelming Warrington side. The win was overshadowed by Taane Milne being placed on report over an alleged eye-gouging incident.

Huddersfield started the game in fine fashion, capitalising on a George Williams pass which was intercepted by Tui Lolohea. Lolohea ran up to the 30 metre line before finding Jacob Gagai to finish off the long-range movement and open the scoring. Five minutes later, the wizardry of George Flanagan Jr created a chance down the left hand side before Sam Halsall quickly got it onto Jake Bibby to make it 12-0.

With fifteen to go before the break, Wire hit back with a scrum play. Marc Sneyd put on a step and a jink to go over for the Wolves to cut the gap in half. A late penalty goal made it a two-possession game before fireworks erupted on half-time. A scuffle resulted in an eye-gouge allegation being made against Milne and the former Rabbitho was put on report.

Milne would have the last laugh five minutes into the second half when he got on the outside of some woeful defence to make the score 20-6. Gagai put the game beyond doubt with fifteen minutes after a well worked set play down the right edge gave the Giants some real estate to work in. Warrington managed two consolation tries to Toby King and Jake Thewlis but it didn't stop the Giants partying hard after their second win of the season.

Leigh 26 Catalans 12

TPJ's brain snap gives Leigh the edge

Warm conditions and a second half brain snap from import Tevita Pangai Jr have undone the Catalans Dragons as they were defeated by 14 points against Leigh at home.

Scorching temperatures around 35 degrees meant the players were allotted drinks breaks midway through the half. It impacted the game early, with Catalans dominating possession but unable to capitalise and trouble the scorer. Leigh opened the scoring after 30 minutes thanks to a well executed set play which saw Tesi Niu score in the left corner.

Catalans were thinking about last week's horror show in Hull when they conceded a second try shortly afterwards. The halves of O'Brien and Lam combined brilliantly down the right edge to send Irish international Keenan Brand over in the corner. Despite their recent scoring troubles, the Dragons ended up with a try in the shadows of half-time. Pangai Jr charged across to cut the gap in half at the break.

After the break, a Luke Keary bust set the hosts on their way. He found support in the returning Sam Tomkins who fired a pass to Tommy Makinson to tie the scores at 12-all. With fifteen minutes to go, TPJ's aggression went too far and he was sin-binned for a high tackle and as he departed from the field, so did Catalans' chances of winning.

Leigh fired in a further two tries to claim victory. The first came from big Joe Ofahengaue who charged across not long after TPJ's yellow card to cement the gap. Before Newcastle's own David Armstrong sealed the game eight minutes from time with a scintillating individual try.

Hull FC 36 Salford 6

Confident second half continues Salford woes

Despite a tight first half which saw Salford play some of their finest football of 2025, a strong second half from Hull FC was enough to turn the tide and claim a 38-6 victory.

It was a tough and hard fought first 40 minutes. Hull wasted no time racing down field after a brief bit of defending on their own line and scored the opening try. Cade Cust dipped in and out of the line before stepping past the fullback to dive over under the posts. Salford wouldn't go away, levelling the scores through Chris Hankinson. The centre finished off a great try after Johnny Vaughan fooled some defenders before unloading back inside to level the game.

Hull managed two tries before the break to go into the sheds up by two possessions. A last tackle sweep to the left edge was enough to send team leading try-scorer Lewis Martin over in the corner to regain the lead, this lead was doubled in the shadows of half-time when Davvy Litten crashed over on the same side to make it 14-6 at the break.

The second half was one way traffic for the Black and White's. Sam Eseh crashed over shortly after the break and that was a sign for Salford that their positive first half was about to become a fast-fading memory. Zak Hardaker crossed after 53 minutes and the points were continuing to flow steadily for the visitors, rewarding the 20 coach loads of spectators that made the trip from Hull.

Two late tries to Tom Briscoe and Harvey Bannon put the icing on the cake for Hull as their strong away record this season in Super League continued. Briscoe's effort saw him become the ninth joint top try scorer in Super League on 173- joint with former legend Leon Pryce. Salford can take solace from their best forty minutes of the season in the first half, but once the teams adjusted at the half... it was clear the talent disparity would see them run down.
