The Wrap: NRL Round 1

Brisbane provides some temporary joy for its fans after thrashing the Roosters

Olivia T

The Sydney Roosters lost at home on Thursday night at Allianz Stadium to the Brisbane Broncos 14-50.

For the first game of season 2025 in Australia, the Roosters and Broncos did not disappoint! What a night it was, 12 tries across both teams, a sin bin, debutantes and unfortunately Victor Radley suffering a head knock. Radley collided heads with teammate James Tedesco in the 13th minute and did not return to play, as he was determined with having a Category 1 HIA. Besides that, no other injuries were reported, but Brendan Pikakura and Angus Crichton are facing time on the sidelines after a sin bin and being put on report, respectively.

The Broncos started off their new era under coach Michael Maguire in a dominant way, their 50-point win is their biggest ever over the Roosters. Brisbane looks revitalised this season, a lot fitter and faster than I've ever seen. Patrick Carrigan played about 50 minutes in his first stint, which is quite long for him. The Broncos didn't use an interchange until 28 minutes in, by that time the Roosters had used three. You can see that the Broncos have the stamina and awareness on the field that is required to beat quality teams.

In saying that, the Roosters did have some debutantes and no big names, among them missing was Sam Walker - which according to the commentators means they had no creativity in the halves - and it was evident. They were hardly cracking the Broncos 20 or half for that matter until the later part of the game. They had a few good moments though, like Toia's line break that let Young open the scoring and Smith's try in the 59th minute. I think that once they get their team back together, they will be more confident and not let another scoreline like this happen.

Brisbane really showed up tonight - and I like to think it was because they knew us Brisbanites needed something to distract us from our... friend - 9 tries totaling in 50 points. Cobbo scored a third of those tries whilst the rest were spread out amongst the team. It was really a team effort, the Broncos are looking cohesive and happy with one another, which makes for good viewing (when you're not desperately inputting all the tries they're scoring).

Haas and Carrigan were stand outs. Haas had 15 runs for 165 metres and Carrigan made 24 runs for 246 metres. I think Carrigan and Haas will work well as props together this season, knowing that they're fit and have that experience puts Brisbane in safe hands. However, I would've liked to see a little bit more from Walsh. He is still the best fullback in the comp, don't get me wrong, but I feel is a bit weary and hesitant and for good reason, he copped a few high hits which were not called out. This is really a competition wide issue, as fullbacks are targets of sorts for the opposition team and it needs to stop. Player safety is paramount and with fullbacks being some of the most 'marketable' players the NRL has, everyone should want them to be healthy and thrive on the field. He did have a bit of the talk with the trainer at one stage, so maybe he is harbouring a small issue, but hopefully we get to see him back at full confidence soon.

For the Roosters next week, they take on the Panthers at Commbank Stadium, possibly without Victor Radley, while the Broncos fly to the nation's capital to play the Raiders.

Knights edge past Tigers in Campbelltown

Justin Davies

8 – 10

Newcastle Knights started their season with a 10-8 win over the Wests Tigers at Campbelltown Stadium on Friday night.

The Knights had to dig deep to get themselves over the line. Trailing by eight at the break, they struck twice in the second half through Fletcher Sharpe and Greg Marzhev to take the points.

The Tigers new era started with a bang. They kept the ball alive and found new recruit Jeral Skelton on the wing and he slammed it for a 6-0 lead for the hosts in front of a good crowd.

Newcastle were clunky to start the game, they had chances but at the crucial moment they either dropped it or put in a tepid kick which was taken easily by Heath Mason at the back for the Tigers.

The hosts extended their lead from the tee on the half hour mark. Knights were pinged from the scrum which allowed Adam Doueihi to pilot over the kick which made it 8-0.

Both teams would be disappointed with their handling in the first half with over a dozen errors. The Tigers will be pleased though to keep a team to nil for the first time in three years.

Newcastle got on the board in the second half with some smart play. Kalyn Ponga earned them seven tackles which saw Dylan Lucas split them up the middle and Fletcher Sharpe scooted over.

The visitors had the option to level the game after Ponga was clipped high. They opted for a tap and the Tigers defense held firm and the game headed into the final twenty in the balance.

Knights struck again from long range. This time, James Schillar broke them open to get them on the front foot then the final pass hit the ground but Greg Marzhev was able to find the line for 10-8.

You could see the raw materials was there for the Tigers tonight but their final pass and kick were awful. They will be better once Api Koroisau and Jareem Bula come back into the line-up.

For the Knights, it is always good to start the season with two points, especially on the road. They had to dig deep after going down 8-0 but Ponga powered them towards a season opening win.

The Wrap: NRL Round 1

Bennett claims the crown over apprentice Woolf in dramatic contest

AJ Lucantonio

A try in the last 10 minutes to Isaiah Tass has claimed victory for South Sydney over a brave Dolphins side by two points to kick the second Wayne Bennett era off in style.

In what was a week full of turmoil and anxiety for the Dolphins players, staff and families as Tropical Cyclone Alfred bares down on the Brisbane region, their effort in the season opener deserves full praise.

Following a back-and-forth start. Sustained possession allowed South Sydney to camp inside the Dolphins 20m line. Some great passing created the extra man and Tyrone Munro crossed out-wide for the home side. In his maiden appearance in the cardinal and myrtle, Jamie Humphreys made no mistake from outside to give Souths a converted try lead.

The Dolphins dominated the next portion of the game and crossed back midway through the first half. In a play that would've had the Harlem Globetrotters proud, there was two kicks, it went through several sets of hands before Jamayne Isaako crossed out wide in the corner. The goal kicking from Isaako was waved away and it remained a two-point game.

The kicks were proving to be a problem for both sides. This time the Dolphins struggled to take the Humphreys bomb as Munro toed it ahead and won the race to ground the ball first to score his second try to make it 12-4. The score would remain the same, despite both sides having scoring chances.

The young guns of Humphreys and fullback Jye Gray were the story of the first half, with the former Manly half dictating terms brilliantly in attack before allowing Gray to be a perfect energizer bunny in the middle of the field in the later plays of the set.

The second half began with sad news for the Rabbitohs with early indications suggesting Munro suffered another relapse of a collarbone injury which ruined his 2024 season. Hopefully, further testing comes back in favour of the flying winger. The Dolphins capitalised on an early Tallis Duncan error to cross for the first of the second half. A beautiful cut-out pass from Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow hit Isaako on the chest as he raced away for his second of the contest.

Off another Souths error, the Dolphins continued to camp down the South Sydney end. A ricochet off Campbell Graham allowed Herbie Farnworth to get within metres of the line. From the ensuing play, a Rabbitohs defensive breakdown saw Max Plath beat the Graham tackle to level the scores at 12-12. Isaako finally found the radar to give the Dolphins an unlikely 14-12 lead.

Midway through the second stanza, Farnworth was pinned for an over-reaction after losing the ball in a strong Lachlan Hubner tackle. The attempted penalty goal hit the posts and it appeared the Dolphins would get off the hook. After several errors from both sides threatened to take the game into a tough slog, the Rabbitohs capitalised on some field position and worked play over to the left as Humphreys and Gray combine with Jack Wighton who finds Isaiah Tass to score in the left corner. It would be a nervous conclusion with the gap just two points.

Defence proved the name of the final ten minutes as the Dolphins were desperately searching for a winner. Graham (who shifted to right wing) made the game's biggest tackle, stopping new Dolphins flyer Junior Tupou firmly in his grasp in the final ten minutes. Souths were denied a potential game winning try when Jack Wighton was ruled to have stripped the ball in a highly controversial decision which left commentators and fans perplexed. Fortunately, that decision didn't haunt Souths as they escaped with a two-point verdict.

Late Dragons surge denied as Dogs claim derby spoils

Rhys Sullivan

20 – 28

The Bulldogs have opened 2025 by surviving a late scare to claim a 28-20 win over the Dragons.

The emotion of the rivalry between these two proud and historic clubs was on show early, with the Bulldogs crowing after an Emre Guler error off the kickoff before the Dragons returned the favour when Viliame Kikau did the same a minute later.

Once the game settled, the Bulldogs began to show their consistency, and it resulted in their opening try when Marcelo Montoya crossed in the corner. But before they could celebrate their lead, the Dragons hit back, with Christian Tuipulotu picking up a Stephen Crichton-sized knee to the head and a subsequent penalty try, leaving the Red V up 6-4.

As it looked the Dragons were headed to half time with the lead, the Bulldogs struck twice - first capitalising on a dropped Matt Burton bomb by putting Blake Wilson over in the corner, then getting a penalty off the kickoff and marching down the field, where a Kikau offload allowed Connor Tracey to fight over the line and give the Berries a 16-6 half time lead.

The next period of play can only be described as the Sitili Topounia legacy minutes. The former Rooster, making his club debut for Canterbury, gave his side momentum with some strong hit ups before scoring two short ball-assisted tries in the space of six minutes. Suddenly the lead had blown out to 28-6, and the Dogs looked to be coasting to victory.

But fatigue started to set in, with Dogs captain Crichton visibly struggling with cramping. The Dragons took advantage, attacking his side of the field to give Tuipulotu his second of the night. The clock, however, continued to tick, and 18 down inside the final 15 minutes, the Dragons chances seemed slim to none.

But like most sides coached by Shane Flanagan, they will not quit until the fat lady sings. A penalty allowed Jacob Liddle to take a quick tap, and the diminutive backup hooker raced away 65 metres, making Tracey look sub-par at the back as he cut the lead to 12. Then frantic movement saw the Dragons travel 50 metres in two plays, with about 17 offloads in between, before Tuipulotu completed his hat trick and made Kogarah roar with hope.

But Valentine Holmes' sideline conversion devastatingly faded too far left, and a few errors as the desperate Dragons searched for two more tries helped the Bulldogs hold on for the win despite captain Crichton leaving the field with 10 minutes remaining.

A few players are facing some scrutiny from the match review committee - most notably Crichton for his dangerous contact in the Tuipulotu penalty try, and Guler for a late hip drop tackle on Jacob Preston. Worse still for the Dragons, young forward Ryan Couchman's season may be over before it really could start, with the 21-year-old set for scans on a suspected ACL injury.

Manly start 2025 with a Turbo Charged thrashing

Josh Robertson

42 – 12

The Manly Sea Eagles have started the 2025 season with arguably their best performance in a long time with a 42-12 win over the North Queensland Cowboys.

The opening forty minutes was just one-way traffic as the Sea Eagles found their form quickly as possible and burnt the Cowboys out of the game. The hosts scored after just three minutes when back-to-back penalties helped them upfield and Haumole Olakau'atu scored out wide after steam rolling three defenders.

Another penalty against the Cowboys saw Manly go upfield and with ease Jason Saab was able to score. The Cowboys could only touch the ball for taking the kick-off with Ben Trbojevic scoring after Lehi Hopoate won a kick contest. Garrick added his second conversion of the night for a 16-0 lead after just 11 minutes.

Things weren't going right in any facet for the Cowboys as they could barely touch the ball and after 25 minutes Reuben Garrick added a penalty goal before just two minutes later, Tom Trbojevic found space through the middle before linking with Ethan Bullemor to score.

A couple of late first half penalties pushed the Cowboys upfield but their attack was just not in sync including a couple of passes that went more towards Kasey Badger on the sideline than the intended target.

The second half was a fast start for the Sea Eagles and they extended their lead to 30-0 when Tof Siplej was able to keep the ball just off the ground before reaching out to score. A burst down a narrow side from Jason Saab created space before a kick back into the middle of the field for Reuben Garrick to score. Garrick converted for a 36-0 lead.

Daly Cherry-Evans then added Manly's next just short of the hour mark as he went through some space and some poor defence to score. The conversion was good for a 42-0 lead.

The Sea Eagles eased up on the pressure leaving what looked like an almost certain 50 points in the bag as the Cowboys were able to pick up two late tries with Scott Drinkwater going through before Braidon Burns scored to put some respectability in the scores.

Next week, the Sea Eagles have a trip to Auckland to take on the Warriors on Friday night in front of a big crowd whilst the Cowboys return home for another tough task up against the Cronulla Sharks.

Storm defeat Eels, master defeats apprentice

Rob Crosby

56 – 18

Craig Bellamy's unbeaten opening round record has continued with the Melbourne Storm obliterating the Parramatta Eels 56-18 at home.

In a contest pitting Bellamy against his former assistant Jason Ryles, the veteran mentor oversaw a stunning performance with last year's beaten grand finalists scoring ten tries to the delight of 23,369 supporters at AAMI Park.

The damage was done for the Storm in the first half with eight tries before the intensity subsided to allow the Eels to win the second half.

Taking little time to assert their authority on the scoreboard with a try to Ryan Papenhuyzen (5th minute), the Storm reached double digits with Cameron Munster sending Josh King (11th minute) into a yawning gap next to the posts.

Making metres at will and strangling their opponents into self-inflicted errors, a rush of tries to Coates (21st minute), Katoa (24th minute) and Coates (26th minute) saw the score go from 12-0 to 28-0 without the Eels touching the ball.

Continuing the onslaught with Harry Grant (30th minute) and Nick Meaney (34th minute) bringing up 40 points with time to spare in the half, a try against the run of play to Jake Tago (37th minute) spared the Eels the ignominy of being held scoreless.

Finishing the half as it started with a solo effort to Papenhuyzen (40th minute), the Storm headed to the sheds up 46-6.

Hitting the half century mark with Will Warbrick (55th minute) racing the length of the field in his 50th game for the club, a blockbusting run by Jack Howarth was finished off by Jahrome Hughes (59th minute) who earned an early shower with a quarter of the game remaining.

A late consolation try to Will Penisini (68th minute) saw the blue and golds hit double figures, while a final four-pointer to Isaiah Iongi (76th minute) saw the visitors "win" the second half.

Next week, the Storm will have the bye, while the Eels will host the Wests Tigers at home next Sunday.

A milestone game for both clubs, the Knights and the Dolphins both have something to play for.

Coming back from 8-0 down at half-time, the Newcastle Knights beat the West Tigers 10-8 at Campbelltown last week. There was a lot of promise for the Knights in their first game of the season. Besides a few errors and the inability to capitalise on tries they were most likely to get, Newcastle can be seriously dangerous if the Dolphins don't bring their A-game. If they do, then we're in for a close and exciting match.

This game will be the 500th premiership game played in Newcastle, so it's a big deal for rugby league fans in Newy and no doubt they're confident with the Knights having won their last 3 games against the Dolphins, each time by twice the margin of their previous win. If they win this by 16 points, I'm going into hiding because that is a crazy coincidence FOUR TIMES IN A ROW!

Now, where do I begin with the Dolphins? This is not the start to the season any team wants, having their first match relocated, some players choosing to stay in Queensland, getting caught in the weather when trying to return home and now leaving earlier than planned for Round 2, the last week has been difficult for the Dolphins. They lost 16-14 to the Rabbitohs, but did lead at one point and didn't play bad footy at all, just got unlucky with a few errors and the like.

The Dolphins lost Kulikefu Finefeuiaki and Connelly Lemuelu as a result of injuries from the match and Kurt Donoghoe avoided suspension after he received a grade 1 dangerous contact charge. However, in more positive news, this will be the Dolphins 50th game since entering the competition in 2023 and the first ever match where the Saifiti brothers go head-to-head, another reason for excitement this Thursday.

In team news, the Knights welcome back Adam Elliott who takes Brodie Jones' spot on the bench, pushing him 18th man. There are no other changes for the squad.

For the Dolphins, Finefeuiaki is out due to concussion protocols and Lemuelu due to a fractured eye socket. Mark Nicholls replaces Lemuelu on the otherwise unchanged bench. Kodi Nikorima come back at five-eighth so Sean O'Sullivan drops to 18th man and Oryn Keeley moves up from 18th man last match to start in the second row replacing Finefeuiaki.

Who to watch: I think the fullbacks will be instrumental in this weeks match, with the winning side being better set up by their number one. Ponga was key in the Knights comeback in the second half last week. Throughout the match he was everywhere he was needed, resulting in the most runs and metres – 20 for 201 – along with two line breaks and a line break assist. He is an attacking machine, but also made some very good tackles to stop the Tigers from getting anymore points. He played very well (evident through the Dally M votes) so I think it will be on the rest of the team to listen to him and step up to the challenge.

Tabuai-Fidow played well, but could've played better. He didn't seem to be as involved as Ponga was, so if he is to win the fullback battle he needs to step up and play more of a part in the attack. This isn't to say he didn't, he had one try assist and the most run metres for the team (seems to be a pattern for the fullbacks) with 21 runs for 228 metres. I think to be on the level a winning team is, more defensive plays are needed. The Munro try in the corner could have been avoided if the team communicated better which would allow for the Hammer to stop the play before it turned into a try. Having their first choice spine together will most likely help improve this.

Favourite: The Knights are predicted to get the win over the Phins

My tip: I don't have a lot of phaitn in the Phins (in the process of trademarking) this week, so Phins down in advance. Knights by 16.

Match preview

Andrew JACKSON

The Warriors will be hoping a trip became home is exactly what they need to rebound after a disappointing Round 1 loss to Canberra cast serious doubts over their finals credentials.

But as if facing a red-hot Raiders wasn't hard enough, Andrew Webster's team now have to brace for a Sea Eagles side coming off one of their most complete 40-minute performances.

Sure, the second half was a bit underwhelming in comparison but it was frightening to see just how potent Manly could be in attack when everything was clicking, as was the case last Saturday against the Cowboys.

The Sea Eagles raced out to a 24-0 halftime lead, going on to win 42-12, in stark contrast to the 30-8 scoreline the Warriors were on the wrong end of.

Tom Trbojevic was at his devastating best, capitalising on North Queensland's disjointed ruck defence to wreak havoc on his way to 213 run metres, seven tackle busts, four linebreak assists and two try assists.

Haumole Olakau'atu, meanwhile, was a menace in both creating opportunities for himself and his outside men as he rampaged for 122 run metres and eight tackle busts in the win.

On the flipside, the Warriors were largely dominated through the middle and hence it was hard to draw too many conclusions about Chanel Harris-Tavita and Luke Metcalf in the halves.

But the Warriors were still able to get into Canberra's 20-metre zone and once there, Harris-Tavita and Metcalf lacked direction and assertiveness in their decision-making, which is to be expected one round into the season.

In team news, Webster has stuck with the same 17 despite the heavy loss in Vegas while there is one forced change for the Sea Eagles as Josh Aloiai replaces Siosiaua Taukeiaho (knee).

Who to watch: For the Warriors, all eyes will be on Luke Metcalf, whose usually dangerous running game was largely ineffective against the Raiders. Without much of a platform to play off and having been forced into more of a playmaking role, Metcalf was looking for the pass first and it meant he pivoted away from one of his biggest strengths. The tricky reality for the Warriors is the fact that if Metcalf reverted back to being more of a run-first halfback, it would require Chanel Harris-Tavita to take on more of the burden when it comes to organising the attack and that isn't really his natural game either.

As for Manly, this may be the type of game where interchange hooker Jake Simpkin can emerge as an unsung hero. Tom Starling had success through the middle of the Warriors defence last week using his speed off the mark and while starting Sea Eagles rake Jazz Tevaga is more of a bruising runner, Simpkin is a nippy player who has a nose for when to take off out of dummy-half. He isn't the same threat Starling is, but if the Warriors' middles are caught out again Simpkin could be in for a solid day.

Favourite: The Sea Eagles are well-supported to make it two from two to open the season.

My tip: History is against the Warriors, who have lost five of their last six games against the Sea Eagles, and it is hard to see that trend changing based on what both teams dished out in week one. Of course, Manly has had a habit in previous seasons of backing up big wins with flat performances and the extra travel could also lead to a slow start from Anthony Seibold's side. But at this stage there is just nothing to suggest that the Sea Eagles don't have the attacking firepower and defensive resolve to win this quite comfortably. Sea Eagles by 10.

Panthers return 'home' as Roosters rely on rookies

The high-flying Penrith Panthers will begin life at their temporary home against the out-of-sorts Sydney Roosters on Friday evening.

Returning to the Southern Hemisphere after hitting the jackpot in Las Vegas, the Penrith Panthers will make their first home appearance at CommBank Stadium while redevelopments take place at their traditional Mulgoa Road base over the next two seasons.

Holding off a fast-finishing Sharks side to claim a 28-22 opening round victory, coach Ivan Cleary will welcome back Brian To'o in a backline reshuffle that sees Luke Garner drop to the bench and Luron Patea relegated to the extended squad.

Winning their past ten straight matches against the Roosters, including five victories by 20 points or more this decade, the Panthers have won six out of ten previous appearances at CommBank Stadium.

Sitting in 16th position after a humbling opening round defeat, the Sydney Roosters will be braving for the toughest possible follow up against the four-time reigning premiers.

Going down to the Broncos 50-14 last Thursday, in a result that will require the side to defy history in order to win the premiership, coach Trent Robinson has named Salesi Foketi in place of Victor Radley (concussion) and handed former Eels forward Makahesi Makatoa a club debut off the bench.

The Roosters have enjoyed strong success at CommBank Stadium with eight wins from ten visits; the last time the side defeated the Panthers was the penultimate round of the 2019 season.

Who to watch: Liam Martin will be aiming to achieve a feat on Friday night that has so far been elusive throughout his esteemed career: scoring a try against the Roosters. Playing against the Tricolours 11 times to date in his career, the 28-year-old has been a prominent figure in achieving ten wins during that time through an application that has been at the forefront of Penrith's sustained success. Regarded among the best forwards of the decade so far, Martin picked up from his Clive Churchill Medal winning performance with a strong display in Las Vegas, running for close to 100 metres to go along with 40 tackles.

Coming into Roosters' pack two years ago amid a wave of hype and potential, Sua Wong will be aiming to recapture that buzz after an underwhelming 2024 campaign. Going from a starting first grade second-rower to a middle forward in reserve grade last season, the 21-year-old will need to play beyond his years given the challenges confronting the side's present forward depth. Named in a starting jersey for the first time in nearly a year, a strong performance from the Tongan and Fijian representative will be essential if the Roosters are to defy the odds with an upset.

Favourite: The Panthers are heavily favoured to account for the Roosters in the first meeting between the two sides at CommBank Stadium.

My tip: The disparity between the Panthers and Roosters can best be summed up by the gap in first grade experience. The Panthers have 1,869 first grade games – including 12 premiership winners – in their named 17. The Roosters have 1,465 games – including five players with fewer than five NRL games. Panthers by 20.

Match preview

Josh ROBERTSON

Saturday afternoon footy heads down the South Coast as the St George Illawarra Dragons take on South Sydney at WIN Stadium in Wollongong.

The Red 'V' suffered a narrow defeat to the Canterbury Bulldogs, going down 28-20 in a heated contest at Kogarah last week. The performance from the Dragons was far from perfect and may have flattered the Dragons after the Bulldogs opened up a 28-6 midway through the first half.

The Dragons have had a strong pre-season, and some key signings such as Valentine Holmes, Clint Gutherson, and Damien Cook put the Dragons higher up the expectations, and they were somewhat met but also left to be questioned. The impact of Gutherson was clear, but at times, it was a struggle for Holmes to get involved at times which would be a concern for the Dragons.

Dragons coach Shane Flanagan has been forced into one change, with Ryan Couchman being ruled out for the season due to an ACL injury. This sees experienced prop Blake Lawrie come onto the bench in place of Couchman. Tyrell Sloan is named in the reserves after a strong game in NSW Cup last week.

The pending appearance of Cyclone Alfred threw a spanner in the works for the Rabbitohs with their game against the Dolphins moving back to Sydney as South Sydney took a narrow 16-14 victory over the Dolphins at Commbank Stadium. The performance from the Rabbitohs was far from crisp as inconsistencies rued both sides' game, and the circumstances regarding the Cyclone could have played a big part in the Dolphins' performance with a less-than-fluid week.

Souths have had a mixed pre-season leading into Round 1. Still, the performances of Jamie Humphreys left many impressed. His performance in Round 1 showed that it could be a long wait for English import Lewis Dodd to get his go in Souths colours in the NRL. Two inconsistent performances in the trials, including a significant loss to the Dragons, might have Souths fans worried.

Team-wise, the Rabbitohs are forced into two changes, with Jack Wighton serving a suspension for one of his two charges out of last weekend's game. Fletcher Myers is named at centre, replacing Jack Wighton, whilst Tyrone Munro, suffering yet another collarbone injury, sees Bayleigh Bentley-Hape set to make his NRL debut on the wing. Lewis Dodd and Jacob Host are still chances to come into the side.

Who to watch: Dragons halfback Lachie Ilias comes up against his old side for the first time. There was a lot of commentary around his Round 1 performance, which was harsh because it wasn't a bad performance. Ilias was playing his first complete game in almost 10 months after suffering a broken leg during last year's NSW Cup game. The game time will do Ilias well, and developing new combinations with a pretty new spine is also going to take time.

On the other side of the teamsheet, Jamie Humphreys has caught the eye of many people for many reasons, but for his footballing skill, he's impressed many. Humphreys may have only played two NRL games, but he is already being touted as a lock for the famous seven jersey at the Rabbitohs. Humphreys's control of the game was key last week, and his impact during the pre-season challenge temporarily got Souths back into.

Favourite: The Dragons are hot favourites for the contest.

My tip: The Dragons should have enough to beat Souths here but the contest is not as cut and dry as the market as it expected. The Red 'V' have a more potent lineup, and despite the moments when the Bulldogs completely outplayed them, there is still enough for them to beat the South. The Rabbitohs have the power to surprise, but key players being ruled out hurts them further. Dragons by 12.

AJ LUCANTONIO

Will the Cowboys be Cronulla's first victims of 2025?

Two first round losers, but in contrasting ways do battle on Super Saturday as the North Queensland Cowboys take on the Cronulla Sharks from Queensland Country Bank Stadium.

The Cowboys endured what can only be described as an opening round nightmare in Sydney as Manly put the cleaners through them at Brookvale Oval. They were simply out enthused across all aspects of play in the opening 15 minutes which saw them trail 18-0. Essentially, by that point the game was over. The game would only derail from there, trailing by as much as 42 points midway through the second half.

What would be most concerning to Todd Payten was the side's lack of discipline, conceding 9 penalties and missing 46 tackles (36 missed, 10 ineffective). A more equal spread of possession will almost certainly go a way to claiming some sort of result against the Sharks. Tom Duffy had a rough NRL debut but dominated the kicking game and defended brilliantly. John Bateman had a sound Cowboys debut, defending well and being one of a rare few Cowboys to run with intent along with Viliami Vailea and Braidon Burns. To beat Cronulla, they will need to dominate the middle and contain Addin Fonua-Blake on-top of the back five which are among the NRL's best coming out of yardage. With more ball down Cronulla's end, they should be able to run some shape similar to what Penrith threw at the Sharks in Vegas.

Onto team news. Todd Payten has made one man accountable after the disappointing season opener. Jeremiah Nanai has been dropped with Kai O'Donnell coming in for his first NRL game since 2020. Jake Clifford and Jason Taumalolo are listed as reserves.

On the other side of the ball, Cronulla were within minutes of running down the undisputed premiers at Allegiant Stadium in Las Vegas. That being said there were some signs of hope and optimism. Nicho Hynes and Braydon Trindall combined brilliantly in the halves, complementing each other well despite media reports suggesting Hynes needed to do more. Will Kennedy showed flashes of brilliance and also some intriguing moments with some poor positioning. New recruit Addin Fonua-Blake was easily their best on ground, giving the Sharks needed forward momentum and allowing the halves to dictate the attacking terms.

To beat the Cowboys, they need to earn the right to play in good ball territory. They managed four tries against the Panthers which didn't come against the run of play and they earned the right. Against arguably a weaker pack, there's no excuses for the Sharks not to be running down-hill all night long. Out wide, the execution needs to be on point again because the Cowboys can attack and score quickly. Onto team news, the Sharks are as per program from their trip to Vegas showing a settled lineup.

Who to watch: For the Cowboys, the focus is on new Cowboy Kai O'Donnell. Having missed selection in Round 1, Todd Payten has given him the chance that I have been calling for in the NRL. O'Donnell was one of the form try-scorers for forwards in the Super League, running great lines and defending well. We didn't see him stand out in the trials but a major test comes this weekend in his Cowboys debut.

Given the sad ACL injury to Liam Ison. This season has now become the audition for Will Kennedy. Kennedy had an okay performance in the opening round, running over 140 metres and having a hand in a big game play setting Ronaldo Mulitalo down the wing as well as save a try and 40/20 in the first half. To counter that, he was caught out of position for a critical Tago try. With a big chance to prove his worth, it is now or never for Kennedy if he wants to stay at the back for the Sharks.

Favourite: Cronulla are well backed to win this one after the Cowboys' first round slip-up.

My tip: North Queensland have to be better than what we saw last Saturday. Their task doesn't get any easier than one of the predicted form sides of the upcoming season. Cronulla's pack has versatility but will need to capitalise on attacking field position, just like they did in the semi-finals. If they do that, they will walk away in the two points fairly well. Sharks by 8.

Beth NICHOLLS

The Raiders play their first game of the season on home soil at Canberra, with the Broncos travelling south to the capital for their second away game of the season.

Starting their 2025 campaign on a high in Las Vegas and convincingly defeating the Warriors 30-8, the Raiders will be looking to continue their strong start to the season.

Joe Tapine and Xavier Savage respectively accepted two and one match bans, sees them miss this clash, with a few players shuffling around to make up for it. Josh Papalii moves to prop, whilst Morgan Smithies starts at lock, and Matty Nicholson joining the bench. Albert Hopoate fills the hole left by try scoring machine, Xavier Savage.

The Broncos started their season with a bang, beating the Roosters with a hefty 50-14 scoreline, with a total of seven try scorers across the team, including Ben Hunt's first try with the Brisbane side since 2017.

Michael Maguire names an unchanged starting 17 for this Round 2 clash, with the only change being the inclusion of Jock Madden in the reserves after suffering a hamstring injury during the pre-season trials.

In recent times the Raiders haven't had much luck against the Broncos, only winning one of the last four, however they have a good record at home, winning their last three of four matches at GIO Stadium.

Who to watch: Versatile and speedy, Kaeo Weekes seems to have found in his home in the fullback role in 2025, after playing across the spine in 2024, his debut year for the Green Machine. During 2024, Weekes played 17 games, scoring eight tries, and making five try assists.

Opposite Weekes is the Broncos' Reece Walsh, who had a rough 2024 season after an impressive season in 2023. 2024 saw Walsh play a total of 14 games, scoring 14 tries, along with making 8 try assists and 13 linebreaks.

Favourite: The Broncos are favoured to add another win to the 2025 tally.

My tip: Both sides started the season strong, but the Raiders must deal with the losses of Savage and Tapine due to suspension. The Broncos have a strong forward pack and spine lineup and will be hard to stop. Brisbane by 20.

Match preview

Lachlan McINTYRE

Eels need Brown's leadership to beat Tigers

Sunday afternoon in Parramatta will see the Eels host the Wests Tigers in a good chance for both sides to secure their first competition points. Adding an extra layer of storyline to the game is that Parramatta have been in the headlines all week, specifically over the departure of their five-eighth Dylan Brown. With rumors swirling that Tigers youngster Lachlan Galvin is in the Eels' sights, plenty of eyes will be on the battle of the number sixes.

Parramatta were always going to struggle against a powerful Melbourne side to open their campaign, but the extent of the blowout has left the Eels reeling. Comfortably beaten 56-18, perhaps the most concerning part was how quickly Melbourne raced out to an insurmountable lead. 8 tries in the first half (an average of 1 every 5 minutes) saw the Eels down 46-6 at the break - if they had allowed that to continue, a margin of over 80 could've been expected.

The halves pairing of Dylan Brown and Ronald Volkman remains, with halfback Mitch Moses still at least a month away from returning to the fold. Brown will no doubt be feeling the pressure to perform considering his personal circumstances over the past week. Shaun Lane is a massive inclusion in the back row, taking the place of former Tiger Kelma Tuilagi. Two former Bulldogs have been added to the 17 - Jordan Samrani will make his debut on the wing, whilst Kitione Kautoga slots onto the bench. Jake Tago and Charlie Guymmer make way.

Meanwhile, the Tigers will be disappointed by a blown opportunity in their first round clash against the Knights. Despite looking somewhat lost in attack and coming up with 51 missed tackles, they scrambled effectively to lead 8-0 at the break. The Knights gave Wests every opportunity to close the game out, but they were unable to take them - with the Knights eventually overcoming the Tigers goal line defence, winning 10-8.

Jahrome Luai notably stood back in attack, allowing Lachie Galvin to take the reins for much of the game. He had some solid effort plays which Tigers fans would be heartened by, but the kicking game from both halves left much to be desired. In team news, Api Koroisau and Jahream Bula are both back in the 17, meaning last week's debutant Tristan Hope and young fullback Heath Mason head back to reserve grade. Starford To'a is included in the centres at the expense of Solomon Faataape.

These two sides met in the 'spoon bowl' last season, with Parra coming up trumps. Despite this, the Tigers recent record against the Eels is one of their best, having won two of their past five NRL meetings, and beating Parramatta 30-18 just a few weeks ago in the pre-season challenge.

Who to watch: Eels front rower Joe Ofahengaue spent over two seasons with the Wests Tigers before seemingly being forced out of the club mid-season in 2023. The 29 year old will be keen to show his old team exactly how well he can play. Ofahengaue is definitely one of the most experienced players in the Eels 17, having appearances for Queensland and Tonga under his belt. He had a disappointing round one by any measure, playing only 28 minutes for a total of five runs. He will be looking to play some more minutes and make a much bigger impact in order to help out his spine in this game.

Lining up against Ofahengaue is new Tigers number eight Terrell May. Joining the club from the Roosters over the off-season, his signing came as somewhat of a surprise to the NRL community. The Samoa international has only 54 NRL appearances to his name so far in his career, but in contrast to his opposite (and more-experienced) number, May had a stand-out game in round one. On debut for the Tigers against Newcastle, May played a whopping 65 minutes, making five offloads, 21 runs, and 34 tackles for none missed. His impressive performance on the statline saw him lead the charge in fantasy points for his team, accruing 76. He'll be out to replicate his performance, but this time with the aim of getting his side over the line to victory.

Favourite: The Tigers are strong favourites to get their first competition points of the season.

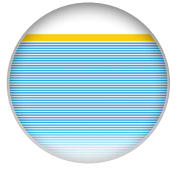

My tip: I can't bring myself to place any faith in the Tigers to win the games that they are supposed to win. Eels by 14.

Things to know

- The Bulldogs have won 8 of their 9 games at Belmore against all Gold Coast sides.
- Titans have won just 3 of their last 15 games played in Sydney, dating back to the start of the 2021 season. Their last Sydney win was Round 9, 2023 against Manly – they've lost all 7 Sydney games since then.
- Kurt Mann (Bulldogs) needs three tries for 50 NRL tries
- David Fifita (Titans) needs one try for 50 NRL tries

The final game of Round 2 will take place at Belmore Sports Ground on Sunday evening. The Canterbury-Bankstown Bulldogs, who won their opening game, will face the Gold Coast Titans, the team coming off the Round 1 bye. The game will kick off at 6.15 pm.

The Canterbury-Bankstown Bulldogs return to their spiritual home at Belmore Sports Ground on Sunday evening, looking to build on their strong start to the 2025 NRL season. They opened their campaign with an impressive 28-20 victory over the St. George-Illawarra Dragons at Netstrata Jubilee Stadium, with Sitali Tupouniua making an instant impact in blue and white, crossing for two tries in just six minutes. Marcelo Montoya also made his presence felt in his return to the club, while club debutant Daniel Suluka-Fifita stamped his authority early with a crunching opening tackle. However, the Bulldogs' win wasn't without controversy, with Stephen Crichton placed on report for a knee-to-head incident that resulted in a penalty try for the Dragons. Despite a late fightback from the Red V, Cameron Ciraldo's men held firm to secure the two competition points.

Ciraldo has named an almost unchanged lineup for their Round 2 clash, with the only major addition being the return of Josh Curran, who joins the interchange bench. Suluka-Fifita retains his spot in the starting front row after an impressive club debut, while Tupouniua will again provide impact from the bench. The Bulldogs have a strong record at Belmore, winning three of their past four matches at the venue, and they'll be eager to maintain their dominance over the Titans, having won three of their last four meetings against the Gold Coast.

For the Titans, this game marks their season opener after having a Round 1 bye. Des Hasler's side will be eager to banish the memories of their last visit to Belmore, where they suffered a humbling 32-0 defeat and lost captain Tino Fa'asuamaleaui to a season-ending ACL injury. With Fa'asuamaleaui back on deck and fellow enforcer David Fifita looming large, the Titans will be determined to make a statement in their first hit-out of the year.

The Gold Coast's forward pack has received a significant boost with the addition of Reagan Campbell-Gillard, who will make his club debut after overcoming a shoulder injury. His inclusion sees Jaimin Jolliffe shift to the bench, adding further depth to the Titans' middle rotation. Meanwhile, Brock Gray will finally make his long-awaited NRL debut, running out for his first-grade bow after an incredible 129 NSW Cup appearances. With Klese Haas starting in the back row, David Fifita has been named on the bench to provide impact later in the game. The Titans will also be without young forward Josiah Pahulu, who has been ruled out as a precaution following a concussion in their recent trial match against the Dolphins. In the backline, AJ Brimson and Jayden Campbell will steer the team around in the halves, with the electric Alofiana Khan-Pereira looking to add to his remarkable strike rate of 44 tries in 44 NRL games.

Who to watch: Daniel Suluka-Fifita had a standout club debut for the Bulldogs in Round 1, setting the tone with a dominant first hit-up. The young front-rower will be eager to continue his strong form and provide early go-forward for the Bulldogs.

The return of Tino Fa'asuamaleaui is massive for the Titans. The skipper hasn't played an NRL match since suffering his ACL injury at this venue last year. His leadership and physical presence will be crucial as the Titans look to match the Bulldogs' aggression in the middle.

Favourite: The Bulldogs are firm favourites heading into this clash after their solid Round 1 performance and their strong record at Belmore.

My tip: The Bulldogs have the benefit of an early season run under their belts, while the Titans are still shaking off the rust from their extended break. With Belmore behind them and momentum on their side, it's hard to go past Canterbury. Bulldogs by 12.

Hull FC 22 Leigh 22

Hull FC and Leigh share points in thriller

Hull FC and Leigh Leopards played out a 22-all draw at MKM Stadium on Thursday night.

It was the hosts who struck first after getting the ball alive then Jed Cartwright hit the hole for the four-pointer.

The Leopards hit back immediately with a flowing back line move that ended with Tesi Niu powering over.

Leigh were almost caught out on last but a high tackle penalty bailed them out and Aidan Sezer was binned quickly followed by Jordan Rapana who also earned a rest.

The Leopards made use of the two-man advantage. They potted a penalty goal for the 6-4 lead then Umyla Hanley manufactured a try.

Hull FC saw out the remaining time in both sin bins and went into the break trailing by a converted try.

They got back on level terms early in the second stanza. Hull FC's kick bounced kindly for Harvey Barron to touch down.

The hosts hit the lead again through David Armstrong. He used his pace to slice through and slam it down for 18-12.

This game remained a blow for blow affair. Herman Ese'ese steamed onto a John Asiata pass to lock it up again.

Armstrong again popped up for an important try for Leigh when he found the line from a Lachlan Lam pass for 22-18.

Hull FC forced this game into Golden Point by the skin of their teeth. They swept it wide and Lewis Martin dived over then Sezer hit the post!

The Golden Point period was a frantic event but neither team could find a winning point so the points were shared.

Castleford 22 Salford 14

Tigers roar to first win against Salford

Castleford Tigers won 22-14 against Salford Red Devils at The Jungle on Friday night.

The Tigers open their account for 2025 with a gritty win against a low confidence Red Devils side at home.

Our first contentious point of the night saw Kallum Watkins sin binned after a high tackle on a Tigers attacker.

The Tigers were able to the extra man to their advantage. Daniel Okoro poked his nose through and slung it to Liam Horne to score.

Watkins made up for his indiscretion after setting up Salford's first four-pointer. He passed to Ryan Brierley who weaved to the line for 6-6.

Coming out of the break, Tigers felt just fine. Judah Rimbo found some space and fed Muizz Mustapha to go over.

Rimbo then earned the whistle which allowed Tex Hoy to kick them ahead for a eight-point lead early in the second half.

The Red Devils reduced the deficit with a long range score. Ai Morgan scooted through from dummy-half then found Watkins who finished the move.

Marc Sneyd kicked a pair of important goals which levelled the game at 14-all and set up a grandstand finish.

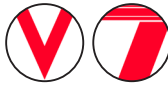

Rimbo capped off a wonderful performance with his own four-pointer. He spotted a gap at the play-the-ball to dive over then a late penalty goal to round off the win.

Hull KR 20 St Helens 10

Robins hand the Saints first loss

Hull KR won 20-10 against St Helens down at Totally Wicked Stadium on Friday night.

The Robins remain the only unbeaten side through four rounds of the nascent Super League competition.

Hull KR were the first side to get on the scoreboard. Tyrone May piloted a kick that was fumbled and Mikey Lewis picked up the scraps.

It was almost the May and Lewis connection again. The halves combined for the latter to go close but he couldn't reel in the pass.

Saints responded from a kick of their own. Jack Welsby floated across before he punched a kick low for Curtis Sironen to latch onto for 6-4.

Hull KR went right for their second four-pointer of the game. May linked with Jack Broadbent who fed Tom Davis for an acrobatic finish.

Next, the visitors showed off their aerial ability. Joe Burgess rose highest in the pack then popped it for Oliver Gildart to get the easy score.

The two backline men combined again to make it 20-6 Hull KR. Burgess broke through then passed inside for Gildart to get a second.

Welsby gave the Saints a lifeline back into the game in the final quarter. He sliced through the defence and nudged over.

The Saints huffed and puffed but they couldn't inch closer to Hull KR and suffered their first loss of the season.

Catalans 11 Leeds 0

Dragons shut out Rhinos

Catalans Dragons won 11-0 against Leeds Rhinos at Stade Gilbert Brutus on Saturday afternoon.

The Dragons picked up their first win of the season in a low scoring affair in a wild weekend of Super League action.

The first half was a studious affair where chances were at a premium. Dragons did have Romain Navarrete was binned for a dangerous tackle.

Helping the odd nature of the first half, Dragons won a scrum against the feed then Rhinos Kyle Connor also went to the bin for a dangerous tackle.

Dragons authored the only point of the half from a field goal. Luke Keary positioned himself to punch over the one-pointer.

The Dragons found the stripe in the second half. The ball pinballed back to them Tariq Sims head sup play and Reimis Smith stepped to the line for a 7-0 lead.

The hosts went to the kick again for their second four-pointer. Theo Fages put the kick high and it fell right into Smith's lap to score.

While it wasn't the most aesthetically pleasing contest, Catalans won't care about anything but getting off the mark.

Wakefield 30 Warrington 16

Trinity bounce back with win against Wolves

Wakefield Trinity won 30-16 against Warrington Wolves at Halliwell Jones Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

Trinity were impressive across the full game including leading 12-10 at half-time against a star-studded Warrington side.

The hosts scored first from the boot. George Williams roosted one high and Arron Lindop snaffled the ball to touch down.

Wakefield responded from a kick themselves. It was punched through and Jack Croft produced the put down after it was checked off by the video for a 6-4 lead.

Warrington struck back with Williams again the architect. He unfurled a pass for Alfie Johnson who strode over in the corner.

The tit-for-tat nature of the first half continued with Wakefield scoring again. Liam Hood sold the defense a dummy and dived over for 12-10.

Trinity gave the ball air after half-time which underlined their confidence. They exchanged passes and Matty Russell finished off the move.

Hood was heavily involved in the next Trinity raid. He scooted out and found a rampaging Matt Storton to slam it down.

The visitors built on their lead again with Hood starring. He provided a short pass for Caleb Hamlin-Uele to make it 30-10.

Warrington did get a late consolation score to reduce the deficit. Stefan Ratchford served up the kick right to Josh Thewlis to score.

Wigan 44 Huddersfield 18

Warriors pile on points against Giants

Wigan Warriors won 44-18 against Huddersfield Giants at Brick Community Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

The reigning champions continued their form from Vegas with another high scoring win early in the season.

Huddersfield Giants opened the scoring in this game with a cut-out pass finding Adam Swift to go over in the corner.

Wigan responded with their own free-flowing attack. Passes were exchanged in quick succession and Liam Farrell finished the move for 6-6.

The hosts took their first lead from another backline move. Bevan French started it taking it to the line and Eckersley was on the end of it.

The Giants weren't wilting in the first half. Adam Clune provided a short pass for Sam Hewitt to crash over for a 12-10 lead.

They extended their lead from a solid play with a chip kick that George Flanagan scooped up for an eight-point advantage at the break.

From there, Wigan turned on the screws to take the win. Farrell got his second then follow Liam of the Marshall variety touched down to give them the lead.

Next, it was the French show. He spied a gap, motored through it and wrestled his way towards the turf for the score.

Jake Wardle, Jai Field and Kruike Leeming all found the line to round off for an eventually comfortable win for the Warriors.
