Melbourne take revenge in epic GF rematch as Penrith lose Cleary

AJ Lucantonio

In an epic grand final rematch between the Melbourne Storm and the Penrith Panthers, the Storm scraped home with a 30-24 verdict as the Panthers battled without halfback Nathan Cleary who was concussed in the 8th minute.

The game had a frantic feel early as Penrith started on the backfoot. Off a cheap yardage penalty, the Storm worked down the short side and got the first try of the contest after five minutes. It was a great ball from Ryan Papenhuyzen that saw Grant Anderson step inside the Penrith left edge defence to score the opening try of the contest.

The game's turning point happened in the corresponding set. A high ball was allowed to bounce, Nathan Cleary then launched himself at the ball and the adjacent Jahrome Hughes. Cleary landed worse for wear and was deemed to be suffering from a Cat 1 concussive incident and would not return. This thrust club debutant Blaize Talagi into the hot seat.

Initially, the Panthers struggled to settle to their new changes. Once the dust settled, the Storm crossed for a second try off another late tackle count penalty against the Panthers. Munster kicked early in the set and it was in the arms of Eliesa Katoa to score for the Storm. Nick Meaney added a penalty goal as the Panthers early discipline woes intensified to trail 14-0.

Penrith forced some pressure and a cheap Melbourne error which gave the Panthers some possession inside the opposition 20 and hit back in style 13 minutes before the break. It was great shape out to the right hand side which saw Jack Cole combine with Thomas Jenkins and Izack Tago with the latter holding up the pass brilliantly to Paul Alamoti who scored out wide.

Five minutes later, it was a case of rinsing and repeating as the same players combined to send Alamoti over for his second. This time, the makeshift kicker Alamoti nailed the conversion to keep the Panthers in touch. The carnage continued before the break when the returning Nelson Asofa-Solomona collided with Nick Meaney which left the latter with a suspected fractured jaw. With that news in tow, the grand finalists went into the break at 14-10.

From the scrum four minutes into the second half, Melbourne failed to execute in defence and Casey McLean crosses, exploding off a Tom Jenkins pass and they can take the lead in a moment. Four minutes later, it took a great kick under pressure from Munster to allow Xavier Coates to fly over the top of several Panthers defenders to slam the football down.

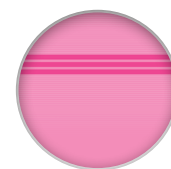

With Melbourne's outside backs dropping like flies with Anderson leaving the game with a knee injury. The middle needed to stand-up and they delivered with a nice 1-2 combo with Tui Kamikamica and Alec MacDonald getting the Storm within inches of the line. On the ensuing play, a beautiful pass from Hughes found Tyran Wishart and the young Mr Fix It crossed out wide. Penrith capitalised on some poor discipline and handling from the home team to get to within a possession of the Storm. Some great set play saw the Panthers move left and Brian To'o crosses in the left corner.

Penrith failed to complete their set after points and the wheels of the Melbourne machine entered over drive. Munster again had it on a silver platter with a pinpoint grubber and who else but the flying mullet of the one, the only Papenhuyzen to make it a two possession game.

Penrith refused to give up and got the game back to within one possession as To'o avenged his moment from last week and trucked the Storm defence to make it a one possession game. Despite some frantic final moments, Melbourne got their revenge in an epic arm-wrestle.

Leiataua's double gets the Wahs up the ladder

Rob Crosby

A seven-year drought has come to an end for the New Zealand Warriors following a 14-6 victory over the Sydney Roosters in Auckland.

Breaking a run of eight consecutive losses dating back to 2018 against the foundation club, a double to young centre Ali Leiataua saw the Warriors record their lowest score in victory since 2017 - incidentally also against the Roosters in Auckland.

Following a tightly-fought opening which saw both sides unable to execute their attacking chances, a hit-and-spin effort from Naufahu Whyte (21st minute) next to the posts saw the Roosters open the scoring.

Having waited a quarter of the match for first points, the Warriors needed mere minutes to respond as Leiataua (25th minute) slid his way over for his second four-pointer in as many weeks.

Despite a mounting HIA toll which saw Victor Radley cleared to return and Connor Watson ruled out, the Roosters came close to extending their lead with Mark Nawaqanitawase streaking down the sideline, chipping for himself and regathering, only for the former Wallaby to put a foot on the dead ball line before grounding to leave the visitors ahead 6-4 at the change of ends.

Beginning the second half in a similar vein to the first with neither side able to gain any ascendancy, the Roosters looked to capitalise on a 40/20 from Chad Townsend only for Roger Tuivasa-Sheck to produce a try-saving effort on Dominic Young.

Tuivasa-Sheck's heroics came at a cost with the dual international sustaining a hamstring injury, while the Warriors woes were compounded as James Tedesco stopped Adam Pompey from scoring a certain try by holding the ball up over the line in a last-gasp defensive effort.

Taking the lead for the first time after Chanel Harris-Tavita (65th minute) contested his own bomb to the delight of 23,219 supporters in attendance, the Warriors secured the result with Leiataua (70th minute) running onto a pass from Charnze Nicoll-Klokstad - celebrating his 50th game for the club - to put the home side up beyond a converted try.

Next week, the Warriors will face the Wests Tigers at Campbelltown on Sunday evening, while the Roosters will host the Titans on Friday night.

Haas inspires Broncos to victory

Andrew Jackson

Pressure will continue to build on Todd Payten, but the Cowboys showed signs of life as they came up short against a Payne Haas-inspired Broncos side 26-16 at Suncorp Stadium on Friday evening.

While the loss condemns North Queensland to a 0-3 start to the season, this was a far more spirited showing from the Cowboys after two concerning performances to open 2025.

The Cowboys had the better chances of the two teams early in Friday's game, with 20 tackles inside Brisbane's 20-metre zone compared to just one for the hosts.

But Todd Payten's side were unable to convert those scoring opportunities into points, unlike the Broncos, who went ahead 6-0 in the 22nd minute after Jack Gosiewski pounced on an Adam Reynolds grubber.

Brisbane had been struggling for yardage before a Reece Walsh 40/20 set Michael Maguire's men up in scoring territory and it didn't take long for the Cowboys to gift the Broncos more chances to extend their lead as errors started to pile up.

The Broncos weren't at their best when it came to executing on those opportunities though, but the pressure eventually led to more points as Reynolds put Gehamat Shibasaki through a gaping hole and then later in the set dummied and ran past a tired John Bateman to score, making it 12-0 at halftime.

It was a demoralising first half for the Cowboys considering the field position they enjoyed earlier in the game, but instead of folding North Queensland scored on its opening set of the second period.

The Cowboys came out with plenty of intent and marched up the field before Jesse Arthars failed to come down with a Jake Clifford bomb, with Sam McIntyre on the spot to pick up the scraps and find Griffin Neame in support for the try.

That reduced the deficit to 12-6 and then a Murray Taulagi try in the 54th minute levelled the game up with 25 minutes left.

But just as the Cowboys looked to be on the verge of taking the lead for the first time in the game, Brisbane hit straight back through Jesse Arthars in the 60th minute go ahead again by a converted try.

Haas then capped off an impressive individual performance with a stunning solo try in the 72nd minute to seal the win, exploding with the pace off the mark of an outside back to score.

A Jaxson Purdue try helped keep the scoreline respectable for North Queensland.

The Broncos face the Dolphins next week while the Cowboys host the Raiders.

First half flurry fires Sharks to win over Souths

Tim Costello

27 – 12

A 20-0 halftime lead was more than enough for Cronulla to cruise home to a comfortable 27-12 win over South Sydney at home on Saturday afternoon.

Braydon Trindall starred for the home team, particularly with a pinpoint kicking game in the first half, and was eventually rewarded with a second-half try.

Trindall's two 40/20s were fundamental in getting the hosts into the ascendency at various points in the game, but the true highlights of the game were long-range tries scored by Kayal Iro and Will Kennedy in the first half.

Early on, it looked like the Sharks would keep pace with the clock - polarising halfback Nicho Hynes crossing for the opening inside the opening five minutes, before an excellent line-run by Briton Nikora had the home team 10-0 clear after as many minutes.

Iro's long-range try - laid on by Mulitalo and Kennedy - was next in queue at the 20 minute mark, and a chaotic Will Kennedy try followed on the half-hour mark, surging the Sharks to 20-0 leaders.

By contrast in the first 40 minutes, the Rabbitohs seemed to have nothing. When they got their hands on the ball they were listless in attack and totally lacked imagination.

Soon after halftime, Cronulla's lead extended to 26-0 with Trindall scoring out wide off a clever set play.

After the 50 minute mark, the contest dried out somewhat - perhaps a result of the warm weather - and the scoreboard went untouched til the 70-minute mark.

Souths finally pierced the Sharks line when Jack Wighton crossed with a pounce on a grubber, and that margin narrowed further when Jamie Humphreys ducked through the line with five to go.

With the result tucked away well and truly, Braydon Trindall took advantage of a zero-pressure situation to hammer over a field goal on the final siren, settling the final margin at 15 points.

Next week the Sharks host Canterbury at the same venue while the Rabbitohs host Penrith at Accor Stadium on Thursday.

Galvin leads Tigers to come from behind victory as pressure mounts in Redcliffe

AJ Lucantonio

Despite trailing 18-12 with less than 20 minutes to play, the Wests Tigers led by young gun Lachlan Galvin have recorded back to back victories away from home for the first time since 2021, downing the Dolphins 30-18 at Kayo Stadium.

One feature of the Dolphins attack we missed in the opening fortnight was the running game of Jeremy Marshall-King. A smart run out of dummy half gave the Dolphins their first golden opportunity. From the ensuing play the ball, a great ball from Isaiya Katoa to Herbie Farnworth allowed the English international to draw and pass to find Jack Bostock to score the first try of the contest after 4 minutes.

The Tigers capitalised almost immediately on the Dolphins failing to complete the set after points. Some sharp work from their marquee man Jarome Luai to skip and dance fooled the Dolphins left edge. From there, it was quick hands to allow Sunia Turuva to cross for his fourth try in a fortnight and we were level at 6 apiece.

After a disappointing end of set from Lachlan Galvin at the midway point of the first half, the Dolphins capitalised with a beautiful set play. Farnworth got out of dummy half to unload to Kodi Nikorima who ball played magically to Daniel Saifiti to bust away before finding Herbie Farnworth to score after setting up the earlier try.

The Dolphins got back-to-back tries as they built momentum off the back of second phase play. Nikorima threw a dummy and went straight through some poor left edge defence and touched down despite the desperate cover tackle of Luai. The home side would later punish the Tigers for their poor first half discipline with an Isaako penalty goal.

Just when it looked like the Dolphins were going to run away with the contest, the Tigers capitalised on their first penalty of the opening stanza. A smart run from Tallyn Da Silva out of dummy half saw him outmuscle several Dolphins defenders to get the visitors to within 6 at the break.

Despite a shaky second half where both sides made mistakes and invited each other into the contest, it was the Tigers that opened the second half scorers' sheet in the 63rd minute. A beautifully weighted pass from Galvin landed on the chest of Starford To'a who drew the defence and found Turuva to cross for his fifth try in a fortnight.

The Tigers carried all momentum for the next little period and the Dolphins alarmingly high error count was their own undoing. A terrific crash ball from Apisai Koroisau found Alex Seyfarth and the rangy backrower crossed on the right edge to give the Tigers their first lead of the night.

In the dying minutes, the visitors were setting for the field goal but their captain Apisai Koroisau had different ideas. He caught the defence focusing their energy on Luai and he went all the way to score to seal the game. The only concerns for the visitors were leg injuries to outside back Jeral Skelton (knee) and Samuela Fainu (calf).

Titans too good for Knights with first win of 2025

Rhys Sullivan

26 – 6

The Titans have proven a step above the Knights to pick up a 26-6 win at home on Saturday night.

The Knights started with multiple attacking chances, but a series of Kalyn Ponga errors and some great defence kept them away from the try line. This allowed the Titans to score first, when a Tino Fa'asuamaleui hit up and offload set the stage for Jayden Campbell and Keano Kini to put Jojo Fifita over and take a 6-0 lead.

The Knights continued to try and press the Titans line, but their attack looked increasingly disjointed as the game went on. Then when the Titans got a chance, they capitalised with Campbell brushing through a tackle attempt to score himself. While he missed his own conversion, he knocked over a penalty goal not long after to give the Gold Coast a 12-0 halftime lead.

A second penalty goal not long after the break gave the Titans a three possession lead, which they extended just before the hour mark when Beau Fermor carried four Knights across the try line and still somehow grounded the ball, giving them a commanding 20-0 lead.

While Newcastle still pushed for a try to get themselves back into the game, they just never looked comfortable inside the Titans' 20. And then when Phoenix Crossland threw a forward pass after multiple sets on the attack, Gold Coast were able to ice the game when Greg Marzhev dropped a kick and David Fifita picked up the ball to put it over the line and put the score to 26-0. And while the Knights did finally get across the line through Bradman Best, the fat lady had already warbled through most of her opera.

The game did see the debut of highly-rated Knights junior Jermaine McEwen, and while GR had a rough debut trying to handle some of the Titans forwards, he did almost pick up a try assist in Newcastle's last set of the game, however his offload to James Schiller was called forward.

Next week, the Titans head to Sydney to face the Roosters on Friday evening. Newcastle on the other hand, will recuperate with a bye before waiting til the Sunday night of Round 5 to visit Canterbury at Accor Stadium.

The Wrap: NRL Round 3

Canterbury grind out win over tenacious Parramatta

Tim Costello

8 – 16

In a low-scoring gritty contest at Commbank, the Bulldogs held on to win 16-8 over the Eels in front of 24,059 boisterous fans.

There were signs of worry early for the Eels when Canterbury went over through a soft Parramatta middle, Daniel Suluka-Fifita opening the scoring for the Belmore club.

The Eels' resolve tightened somewhat before 19 minutes in Will Penisini scored the hosts' first to narrow the margin to 6-4.

A quickfire double from Canterbury-Bankstown either side of the half-hour mark - first for Bronson Xerri sliding to the left edge before Blake Wilson scored acrobatically in the right corner - put the visiting side up by ten points, and they retained that 14-4 lead heading into the break.

Only one try was scored after halftime where former Bulldog Josh Addo-Carr surged over on the right edge at 48 minutes, but the Eels wouldn't trouble the scorers further after that.

In fact - the only other points after that moment were a Stephen Crichton penalty goal on fulltime after a needless penalty conceded by Kitone Kautoga in the dying moments for an escort on a Bulldogs chaser.

The grinding contest will be a relief for the Eels' faithful - few would've expected a win but would have been heartened by a much-improved effort given their first two performances this season.

Canterbury meanwhile showed they have some work to do despite winning - they still have a few weeks before five-eighth Matt Burton and second rower Viliame Kikau return and their attack suffered in those two being missing.

Parramatta will head to Brookvale next Sunday to face the Sea Eagles in the same timeslot, while Canterbury will visit the Shire, where Cronulla host them on Saturday night.

Sizzling Sea Eagles roast rubbish Raiders

Tim Costello

A 23rd-minute sin-bin has unravelled the Canberra Raiders at Brookvale today, with a late first-half avalanche of points by Manly ultimately delivering the Sea Eagles a 40-12 home win in front of 16,125 fans.

Despite the scoreline, there were no points scored in the opening quarter of the contest, despite both sides claiming four-pointers through Ben Trbojevic (Manly) and Seb Kris (Canberra), both of which were denied by the Bunker.

Corey Horsburgh was then sin-binned at the 23rd minute for an infringement, and so began Manly's speedy march to a half-time rout.

Moments after Horsburgh was marched, Reuben Garrick scored the opening points, taking advantage of Canberra's one-man disadvantage to the right side. A quickfire double to Ethan Bullemor followed, and with Horsburgh still stewing in the sheds, Manly led 18-0 at the half hour mark.

The red-headed Raider had barely made his way back onto the pitch at the 33 minute mark when Jake Simpkin crossed for the hosts' fourth try, and Garrick had his second of the evening just short of halftime to bring the scoreline to 30-0.

Manly didn't relent after the break, Garrick grabbing two tries in the first ten minutes after halftime, but that would be the last time Manly's prolific scoring made an impact.

Canberra picked up two consolation tries - at the 64th and 77th minutes through Kris and Young, but it would've bought Ricky Stuart little joy ahead of next week's trip to Townsville where the Green Machine will face the Cowboys on Saturday evening.

Manly will take an inspired strong victory into next week's Sunday arvo home clash with Parramatta.

Match preview

Andrew Jackson

The Panthers may be on a two-game losing streak, but the defending champions have been presented with a perfect chance to bounce back into form on Thursday night when they face an unconvincing Rabbitohs outfit.

It is hard to get a read on South Sydney, having started the year with back-to-back wins over the Dolphins and Dragons before crashing back to earth in a heavy defeat to the Sharks.

Perhaps the results and quality of opposition are a proper indicator of where Wayne Bennett's side will likely be all season long, or at least until Latrell Mitchell and Cameron Murray are back in the line-up.

At this stage, the Rabbitohs look to be a class below the genuine top-eight contenders, although they have a chance to prove why that isn't the case on Thursday against their bogey team.

While most South Sydney fans need not be reminded, the Panthers have long had the wood over the Rabbitohs, winning 12 of their last 14 games against the pride of the league.

There is a realistic chance for the Rabbitohs to reverse that trend this time around though, with Penrith down superstar halfback Nathan Cleary and fullback Dylan Edwards for Thursday's game.

The Panthers lost Cleary early in last week's gallant loss to Melbourne, while Edwards' absence was notable from the jump as third-string fullback Tom Jenkins was caught out of position on at least three of the Storm's tries.

While it may be harsh to expect Jenkins to have been on assignment for all three, it speaks to the high standard Edwards has set when it comes to his positioning at the back.

As for Cleary, his early departure didn't trigger the collapse many would have expected given Penrith trailed 12-0 at one point, with Jack Cole instead stepping up to steer the Panthers around, while Isaah Yeo once again proved himself to be the connective piece in the defending premiers' attack.

In terms of team changes, the Rabbitohs welcome back Alex Johnston but his inclusion is offset by a leg injury to Campbell Graham.

Meanwhile, the usually conservative Ivan Cleary has made a surprise call to name impressive pre-season standout Trent Toelau at halfback.

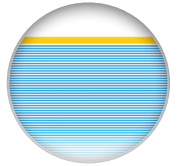

Elsewhere, Daine Laurie has been named at fullback but is still in some doubt with a niggling calf injury while Casey McLean has been replaced by Jenkins, who while struggling with the positional work of defending at No.1 looked every bit like a first-grade caliber player on Thursday night last week.

Who to watch: The Panthers have been uncharacteristically loose in their middle defence to start the season, and that could mean scoring opportunities for Peter Mamouzelos. It is going to take time for Mamouzelos to really hit his stride, having not played consistent big minutes in first grade before this year. But he has been building his game in the first three weeks of the season, picking his moments with short kicks close to the line when called for and defending well despite the size mismatch against bigger defenders. Against a Panthers side with plenty of size up front, Mamouzelos may struggle to assert himself early but as the game wears on he is as good a chance of any at breaking it open.

As for the Panthers, with Cleary set to return for next week's game against the Cowboys, this shapes as the perfect opportunity for Jack Cole to continue to develop as a more ball-dominant playmaker. Like Cleary early in his career, Cole also has the fundamentals down pat which make him a solid option in first grade. He can handle the physicality, is strong with his first-up contact in defence and has a solid running game. The passing is a work in progress, but it seems like, as was the case with Cleary, Cole too may only really show off his full arsenal when given the keys to the attack. James Maloney's departure paved the way for Cleary to grow into that role and similarly, when Cleary went off Cole seemed to rise in confidence as the chief playmaker. He played with great tempo, made the right decisions with his short-range kicking game and just looked ready to lead an NRL team. Of course, it was just one game so proceed with caution but Thursday night presents Cole with another opportunity to take that next step.

Favourite: The Panthers are well-backed to halt their two-game losing skid.

My tip: Cody Walker has caused problems for Penrith at times in recent years, even if the head-to-head record between the two teams doesn't suggest it, so the Rabbitohs are in with every shot of causing an upset. That is especially true if Laurie is out again given the reshuffle it would cause for Penrith. But based on the spirit the Panthers played with last week, if Ivan Cleary can harness that again on Thursday night it should be enough to see the defending premiers home. Panthers by 7.

If form is any guide, good luck trying to predict what happens in this match. We may only be 3 weeks into the season, but these two sides have been as inconsistent as any two teams could be.

If form is any guide, good luck trying to predict what happens in this match. We may only be 3 weeks into the season, but these two sides have been as inconsistent as any two teams could be.

The Roosters opened their season with their second worst Round 1 performance in their entire history, losing 50-14 to the Broncos – only their 52-12 loss to Souths in 2009 was worse. They followed it up with an entirely unexpected and vastly improved performance as they beat defending Premiers Penrith 38-32. But as quickly as it appeared the Roosters impressive attack was switched back on, it got switched off by the Warriors in Round 3, as the Roosters lost 14-6.

The Titans had a Round 1 bye, but the rest didn't seem to do anything to prepare their defence as they were soundly beaten by the Bulldogs 40-24 in Round 2. Last week the Titans took on an undefeated Knights and most pundits backed the Titans to struggle again, but instead they completely controlled the game and ran out impressive 26-6 victors.

The Titans are averaging 38 missed tackles per game, with only the Rabbitohs and the last placed Eels performing worse. However to help them in this area is the fact that the Roosters are the third worst side when it comes to post contact metres, averaging 478.9 per game – a whopping 140 metres less than the Titans. If these figures are to continue in this contest, don't be surprised to see the Roosters playing wide of the ruck and trying to create 1 on 1 situations, while the Titans will be relying heavily on making big metres up through the middle of the field.

Typically in these situations, the team attacking through the middle dominates play and the scoreboard, but the Titans inability to break tackles or through the line means they will be relying heavily on offloads to create their opportunities.

The Roosters middle defence needs to improve immensely if they are to win this contest, while the Titans edge forwards and outside backs need to run better lines, while their halves need to straighten their runs more often to help create more line running opportunities.

Who to watch: One of the best forwards in the game right now is Tino Fa'asuamaleaui who is a much of a workhorse as he is a classy x-factor. He makes big metres especially beyond the advantage line. He always posts great numbers for post contact metres, tackle breaks, offloads and tackles made. He cannot be contained. Clubs can only hope to minimise his impact.

James Tedesco has been playing strong consistent footy, still producing his trademark strong ball running ability, with his scheming ball playing skill. He's another player that is hard to contain. The Titans halves will need to keep their kicking game varied and away from Tedesco as much as possible.

Favourite: The Roosters will be the clear favourites for this match, which may be due largely to them being at home and less severely impacted by injuries.

My tip: If the Titans forwards get the upper hand, they could well run over the top of this Roosters side, if however they struggle, the Roosters attack could well get away from them. This match genuinely can go either way. I'll play it as safe as I can. Roosters by 8.

The Battle of Brisbane returns to Suncorp Stadium as the Dolphins play host to the Brisbane Broncos in the Broncos' favoured Friday Night Football.

The Dolphins are still searching for their first win of the season after a frustrating 30-18 loss to the Wests Tigers in Round 3. Despite an impressive first half that saw them take an 18-12 lead into the break, they failed to register a single point in the second half as the Tigers ran in three unanswered tries.

Jack Bostock opened the scoring in just the fourth minute, while Herbie Farnworth crossed for a well-worked try off a Daniel Saifiti break. However, their defensive structure fell apart late in the contest, a recurring issue in their winless start under Kristian Woolf.

Meanwhile, the Broncos are coming off a confidence-boosting 26-16 win over the Cowboys in their first Queensland derby of the year. A pair of moments of magic from their star players in the first half saw them take a 12-0 lead into the break, with the Cowboys only briefly threatening early in the second half.

Payne Haas was the standout performer, notching 23 runs for 210 metres and scoring an incredible solo try to claim the Carl Webb Medal. Adam Reynolds also hit a major career milestone, moving to third on the NRL's all-time points-scorer list.

For the first time this season, Kristian Woolf has named an unchanged Dolphins lineup, hoping some consistency will help them gel after a slow start. Key players Jack Bostock and Kulikefu Finefeuiaki will be better for the run after making their return from injury last week. Kenny Bromwich has been named 18th man, but the real focus will be on Herbie Farnworth, who has a history of finding the try line at Suncorp and will be keen to continue that form against his former club.

The Dolphins have shown in the past that they can upset the Broncos, and they'll need to rediscover their attacking rhythm to have any chance on Friday night.

Brisbane has made just one change for this clash, with Kotoni Staggs returning for his first game of the season. He partners Gehamat Shibasaki in the centres, with Deine Mariner moved to the extended bench. The Broncos will be out to avenge last year's loss in this fixture, which was their first-ever defeat to the Dolphins in The Battle of Brisbane.

With a second-straight win over an in-state rival on the line, Brisbane will be aiming to build momentum and reinforce their status as the dominant side in Queensland.

Who to watch: The return of Kotoni Staggs bolsters Brisbane's attacking weapons. A strike centre who can create something from nothing, his presence could be crucial in breaking down the Dolphins' defence.

Herbie Farnworth will be playing against his old side for the first time, and he has a habit of lighting up Suncorp Stadium. He has scored two tries in each of his last two games at the venue and will be looking to extend that streak to help his side claim their first win of 2025.

Favourite: The Broncos are firm favourites, with the Dolphins struggling to find form and still without a win this season.

My tip: The Broncos are back in their favoured Friday 8 pm time slot at Suncorp Stadium, and with Payne Haas in dominant form and Staggs returning, they'll be tough to beat. Broncos by 18.

This is a contest that could get real ugly for the winless Dragons as they take on the undefeated Storm.

The Dragons are at home for their third game of the season, having played at Netstrata Jubilee in Round 1, where they went down 28-20 to the Bulldogs and then followed with a trip to their second home at WIN Stadium in Round 2, where they threw away a victory to a fast finishing Souths side 25-24. This match will be back at Netstrata after they had a bye last week. A loss here puts them in a precarious place as they will be playing games against equally desperate sides, most of which will be away from home in the following month.

The Storm similarly have yet to play an away game yet, having opened their season with an emphatic destruction of Parramatta 56-18 in Round 1. Last week, after they had a bye, the Storm faced off against the Panthers in a Grand Final rematch, which again was an entertaining spectacle that went down to the wire, this time resulting in a Storm victory 30-24.

Melbourne have not had much success at Netstrata Jubilee Stadium in recent times either – just 1 win from their last 5 trips to the ground – that win was in Round 1, 2015. In the two games after, the Dragons racked up 30 points both time (in 2018 and 2020).

The Dragons though have won just 2 of their last 7 games at their Kogarah home and have lost all of their last 3 there.

Dragons coach Shane Flanagan has somewhat of a reputation of building defensively solid sides whose attack relies heavily on their forwards. His sides inability to put 2 strong halves of footy together so far would be concerning for him, especially when coming up against the attacking might and prowess that Melbourne Storm possess.

60 of Melbourne's 90 points scored this year have come in the first half and if the Dragons defence isn't up to the task, they may well find themselves on the back foot early and unable to ever get themselves into the game.

Who to watch: Storm playmaker Cameron Munster was sensational last week and looks to be in sparkling form. If the Dragons defence give him too much room, he's going to carve up their edges and the Storm will put on plenty of points. Ryan Papenhuyzen has also been threatening in attack every time he gets involved. Harry Grant has been directing the team around the paddock with the guile of a previous Storm rake, which is ensuring the Storm are getting out of their own half and into attacking zones on a regular basis.

The Dragons winger Christian Tuipulotu has been racking up the tries, already with 4 to his name after just 2 games. His powerful kick returns and ability to get across the tryline has been one of the shining lights for the Dragons at the start of this year. Fullback Clint Gutherson is heavily involved in the Dragons red zone attack while Jaydn Su'A has been solid up front.

Favourite: Storm are favourites here, but not by as much as many might suspect.

My tip: Hard to see anything other than a Storm victory here. Their attack is red hot right now and the Dragons still look clunky. Storm by 14.

Redemption on both teams minds' as they head to Townsville

The North Queensland Cowboys are looking to avoid their worst start to a season in four seasons when they host the Canberra Raiders at Queensland Country Bank Stadium.

Watching the Cowboys play this season has been a frustrating experience as a general observer of the game. When they get going, they are one of the most exciting teams to watch in the game. But, this year it is taking a little longer to get back to the magic of old. Three straight losses to start the year has left everyone wondering if the Todd Payten magic is running out, but there was enough fight in their loss to Brisbane to indicate they haven't thrown the towel in on their coach just yet.

To beat Canberra, they need to win the ruck. Jordan McLean and Jason Taumalolo had much needed bounceback games last Friday night and will need to go stride for stride against a full strength Raiders pack who welcome Joe Tapine back from suspension. Defensively will be a challenge as the visitors have speed advantages on the flanks.

The Cowboys need to keep the game in the train-tracks (scrum-line to scrum-line) to keep in touch as well as limit the effective kicking game of Jamal Fogarty. They remain unchanged with Viliami Vailea's eye injury the only concern for the hosts.

Canberra will have to forget two big scorelines of late, last year's hiding at the hands of the Cowboys at this ground, as well as last week's opening loss of the season to Manly. Last week was a really disappointing effort with their discipline with a 17-5 infringement count against the Raiders. That will have to be rectified as the Cowboys are one of the best attacking sides with sustained possession.

To beat North Queensland, they need to look at the tape of the last few weeks. Target the edge defence. As strong as likely John Bateman has been with the ball, defensively it has been a nightmare with several bad reads (on-top of missing eight tackles last week). The shape Canberra ran over the first fortnight threw some of the strong defensive sides off and has the potential to do so here in this one. As mentioned, the visitors get Joe Tapine back from suspension. With Morgan Smithies in concussion protocols, this sees Corey Horsburgh move to lock.

Who to watch: After what can be considered an underwhelming start to 2025, the pressure is on Reuben Cotter to deliver. Your probably thinking that there's other guys that should be under pressure and your right, but the fact is Cotter hasn't delivered the numbers that we've seen over the last few seasons (which is a testament to his work-rate). So far, he hasn't cracked 100 metres running over the first three weeks and has missed three or more tackles in the last two matches. Watch for a bounceback game from the Cowboys co-skipper.

Kaeo Weekes had an underwhelming return to Brookvale Oval last week, unable to contest several kicks which led to the Manly avalanche of points in the first half. Weekes has normally been strong competing for the ball and being involved in games, so to see this raised some concerns. Watch for a bounce-back from the Raiders fullback as they look to forget last week's horror show on the Northern Beaches.

Favourite: Canberra open up as slight favourites although they haven't won in Townsville since 2020 and have only won in Townsville three times since 2005.

My tip: It's a hard game to tip, the Cowboys have to offer something at this point. There was enough signs there to suggest they will be competitive, but a Ricky Stuart coached side is never down for long. They also get Joe Tapine back and should have enough cattle to get over the top of the Cowboys in this one. Raiders by 12.

Cronulla-Sutherland
Sharks

Canterbury-Bankstown

Match preview

Andrew Ferguson

Undoubtedly the match of the round as two top 6 sides from last year, and also currently, square off in the Shire.

The Sharks had a Round 1 loss, but it wasn't a disappointing loss, as they went down narrowly to the defending Premiers in Las Vegas 28-22, never allowing the Panthers to breathe comfortably the whole game. Since then their defence has improved markedly, but their attack has lifted even further. They easily accounted for the Cowboys 36-12 in Round 2 and last week handled the Bunnies without threat, scoring a 27-12 victory.

The Sharks forwards are a united and cohesive unit, including on the bench, making it very hard to get on top of them, let alone for an entire match. They get phenomenal service and direction from the underrated hooker Blayke Brailey, while half Braydon Trindall plays more like an organising halfback than the actual Sharks halfback, Nicho Hynes, does.

The Sharks back three are a menace to edge defences, while the edge ball carriers, especially Kayal Iro, Briton Nikora and Teig Wilton have brilliant line running instincts and are able to find the gaps between two defenders regularly. The varied aspects of their attack makes the Sharks a constant and genuine threat to every opponent for all 80 minutes in a game.

The Bulldogs adopted one of the stingiest defensive systems throughout most of 2024 and not much has changed in that aspect in 2025, although there is room for improvement. They too possess a brilliant pack which has plenty of variation in styles through the middle and on the edges. Their spine lacks some of the polish of their more experienced counterparts here, but they are plenty skillful enough and have proven to be very effective thus far.

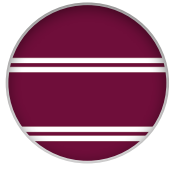

The Dogs may struggle to match up when it comes to the forward rotation, but if they can go toe-to-toe with the Sharks defensively, the scoreboard will remain close. This is the key for the Dogs, because the Sharks have shown in previous seasons that if they get frustrated by a good defensive unit, they start to panic in attack, forget their very effective systems and typically end up throwing the match away. The Bulldogs need to be defensively strong and patient – two things they have become very good at over the last 12 months - and the win could very well come their way.

Who to watch: For the Sharks, Braydon Trindall is in great form, taking control of the side when they need a playmaker to step up. He has a great short kicking game and an equally good passing game. His kicks for his wingers are always threatening, especially towards Ronaldo Mulitalo who has a great leap and is a regular try scorer. Hooker Blayke Brailey continues to get better every year, he has always been a very skillful ball player, often able to drop out to first receiver to take pressure off his halves, can score from close range and continues to get stronger and more effective defensively. If he can continue playing great footy, he will be in the conversation for a Blues jumper this year.

Stephen Crichton is undoubtedly the Bulldogs key man for the Sharks defence. He will likely line up opposite Jesse Ramien, who is a good defender, but lacks the footspeed of Crichton. The Bulldogs captain will use this pace to get outside Ramien, draw in the Sharks outside defender and then create some space for Marcelo Montoya. Toby Sexton is also capable of mixing up his kicking game enough to try and keep the Sharks back three either start their sets being flat footed or having to turn around to retrieve a kick. This will be vital for the Bulldogs defence to shut the Sharks down early in the set.

Favourite: The Sharks are clear favourites for this match, but it could well prove to be a closer encounter than the bookies suggest.

My tip: Sharks should be able to get the win here, but the Dogs are one of the teams that could trouble them. Sharks by 8.

Sunday afternoon football returns to Brookvale Oval this weekend as the Manly Sea Eagles look to soar over a struggling Parramatta Eels

It really has been two very different starts to the season for both sides, as one teams looks to continue on a wave of momentum while the other is searching for something to latch onto in 2025

This very previewer last week predicted that Manly would struggle against the Canberra Raiders and boy, wasn't I proven wrong. It may have taken the sin-binning of Corey Horsburgh to get the Manly attack going, but once it started, they didn't stop once the scoring began as the Maroon and White went on to score 40 points in half an hour to end up winning 40-12.

With the questions surrounding how Manly would handle losing Tom Trbojevic, Manly proved that he isn't the only attacking threat as Reuben Garrick scored 28 on their points while Daly Cherry-Evans guided the team with gusto - something he now won't do past the end of 2025.

Parramatta, on the other hand, could not get the job done against a Bulldogs side that did everything in their power to let the Eels take the game away.

It's quickly becoming a re-building year for the Eels, with Dylan Brown leaving at the end of the season, Mitch Moses out for what already feels like an eternity and the roster rotating more than a restless child!

It is looking incredibly ominous for the Eels, as they venture into enemy territory on Sunday with a team that at the best of times, struggles to win at Brookvale - never mind undermanned.

In great news for Sea Eagles fans, and abysmal news for Eels supporters, Tom Trbojevic has been named as a "certain starter" by Anthony Seibold this week. He shifts Lehi Hopoate to the wing and Clayton Faulalo out of the side. Josh Aloiai also comes into the starting line up for Taniela Paseka, who will be out for the season with a torn achilles. Nathan Brown returns to the line-up via the bench.

The luckless Eels have brought Sean Russell (wing) and Dan Keir (bench) back into the team, with Jordan Samrani and Sam Tuivaiti named in the reserves. Notably, Brendan Hands is not named at all in the top flight this week - named at 9 for NSW Cup alongside Ryan Matterson (bench, NSW Cup)

Who to watch: Tom Trbojevic, fresh off a week watching his Sea Eagles tonk the Raiders, will be looking to pile on the pain against the Eels. Supercoach players will be looking to put the C on him this weekend, while Manly fans just expect Turbo to turn his form around after a disappointing last game in Auckland. It is also worth noting that Trbojevic has scored in each of the last three games he has played against the Eels.

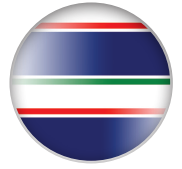

Isaiah Longi has been one of the very few shining lights over the first three weeks in the blue and gold. He's had moments of absolute brilliance, without shirking the responsibility of running hard from the back to try and get his side on the front foot. While it is obvious that his combination with Dylan Brown isn't quite there yet, there is something with this kid that, if Manly take him lightly, could break open the game for the Eels.

Favourite: Manly's scintillating performance last week, coupled with the Eels' 0-3 record... this is an easy one.

My tip: A near full strength Manly side, against an Eels side that is yet to put a scare into their opposition this year. Tom Trbojevic is fully fit, Daly Cherry-Evans will want to show the fans that he is still committed to the end of the year, and the Eels just aren't showing enough to scare Manly. This could get very ugly... Manly by 20.

Wests and Wahs look to end the weekend with a win

The Wests Tigers will be aiming to win three in a row for the first time since Benji Marshall's playing days when they close out the round against the New Zealand Warriors on Sunday evening.

Returning to Campbelltown buoyant after posting back-to-back wins over the past fortnight, the Wests Tigers will be out to break a record that has stood since 2018 by claiming three wins in succession.

Clawing back a double-digit deficit to register a 30-18 win over the Dolphins in Redcliffe last Saturday, coach Marshall has retained the same squad despite injury concerns over Jeral Skelton and Samuela Fainu.

The joint venture has struggled at Campbelltown this decade with a paltry three wins from 16 appearances – however two of those victories occurred under Marshall's watch last season.

Making their first premiership appearance in Australia this season, the New Zealand Warriors will be aiming to extend a dominant run over the joint venture.

Winning seven consecutive matches against the Tigers this decade, including the most recent meeting between the two sides at Campbelltown, coach Andrew Webster has been forced to change his backline with Adam Pompey shifting to the wing for Roger Tuivasa-Sheck and Rocco Berry coming into the centres.

Posting a comeback win of their own to defeat the Roosters 14-6 last Friday in Auckland, the Warriors have enjoyed the highest completion rate of any team this season at 85% over the opening three rounds.

The Warriors have won 11 out of 27 matches in Australia since Webster took charge as coach in 2023; the side's record in Sydney during that period stands at five wins from ten visits.

Who to watch: Becoming a fan favourite in a short space of time at the joint venture, Royce Hunt will be aiming to make a big impact in limited minutes. Averaging 70 metres, including close to half in post-contact metres, in just under half an hour of game time over the opening three rounds, the 29-year-old prop has revelled off the bench after establishing himself at the Sharks over the past five seasons. With the Tigers scoring a third of all their tries in the ten minutes either side of halftime with Hunt on the field, the Warriors will need to be on high alert when he enters the field midway through the opening half.

Taking the most of his opportunity in the centres with three tries in as many appearances this season, young gun Ali Leiataua has provided a fresh injection of attacking spark to the Warriors right edge. Managing seven appearances over the previous two seasons in first grade, the 22-year-old looks set for an extended stay in the number three jersey following a game-breaking brace of tries last week. Crossing for a four-poster when the two sides clashed in Auckland last year, look for Leiataua to continue his strong start to 2025 on Sunday evening.

Favourite: The Wests Tigers are expected to improve upon their record over the Warriors at Campbelltown, having won five out of eight meetings at the venue this century.

My tip: The last time the Wests Tigers defeated the New Zealand Warriors occurred in the early rounds of the 2019 season on a Sunday night at Campbelltown. As the only surviving player from that team, Alex Twal will be hoping history repeats six years later. Tigers by 6.

Salford 23 Huddersfield 10

Salford push money troubles aside to down lowly Huddersfield

Despite off-field dramas engulfing Salford throughout the 2025 season, the club was able to have a drama free week, and it showed on the field, defeating Huddersfield by 13 points to open Round 5.

It was a tense opening to the game, but it seemed even early on that Salford seemed to be one step ahead of the Giants. Six minutes in, a brilliant pass from Ryan Brierley found Esan Marsters who used his strength to get over the line and give the Red Devils the early advantage.

The sides went set for set with limited attacking opportunities before Salford broke away with two tries before the break to lead 16-0. The first came after 21 minutes when experienced prop Chris Hill delivered a magic offload to boom youngster Harvie Wilson who raced away to score. Seven minutes later, a beautiful shift inside their own end saw Ethan Ryan break away before linking up with man of the match Jayden Nikorima to lead by three possessions at the break.

Matters worsened for the visitors with new signing Niall Evalds feared to have broken his foot and took no further part of this game. Despite this, the Giants would suffer a further blow when Nikorima burst through some feeble middle defence of Huddersfield to score a scintillating individual try.

Huddersfield managed to play some good football in the latter stages to make the scoreline respectable through Adam Swift and Tui Lolohea with a Brierley field goal squeezed in-between the Giants' tries. Post game, Giants coach Luke Robinson slammed his team's performance as the "worst of the season".

Warrington 14 St Helens 12

Wire show their class in tough slog with Saints

Warrington have recovered from their Las Vegas nightmare with a courageous 14-12 win over St Helens away from home.

Both teams started the game with intent and were looking for the upper hand in the opening exchanges. St Helens opened the scoring with a Mark Percival penalty goal after seven minutes to give Saints the early lead. That lead didn't last long thanks to the new look halves combination of Marc Sneyd and George Williams.

A perfectly weighted Sneyd grubber sat up perfectly for Williams to ground it in the in-goal and Warrington would lead by four points. A further penalty goal had the gap at a converted try at the break.

St Helens hit back through the one thing that Wire have struggled with in defence in 2025, second phase play. NRL bound Morgan Knowles eventually reached out for the line and the ball was grounded to get Saints level. Three minutes later, disaster struck Saints. Some more second phase turned into a nightmare as Matty Ashton scooped onto a poor Jack Welsby pass to sprint 70 metres to score and make it a 6 point game.

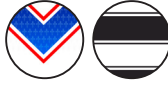

St Helens wouldn't die wondering and it was debutant Dayon Sambou who lept over the Warrington defence to score. Unfortunately, Percival's conversion was waved away. Despite desperation in attack, the Saints wouldn't claim the big scalp of Warrington as Sam Burgess' side escaped with a narrow victory.

Hull FC 16 Wakefield 12

Hull the comeback kids as they pounce to beat Wakefield

Hull FC have continued their shock start to 2025, producing yet another come from behind victory to down Wakefield Trinity.

After an early penalty goal gave Trinity the early advantage, their attack which stunned Warrington last week again was on full display. A terrific bit of deception from Liam Hood out of dummy half set up Jack Croft to charge over for an 8-0 lead.

As has been a theme of the Hull FC season, they refused to let any deficit get the best of them. After 24 minutes, the black and whites crossed when Herman Ese'ese decided to join the circus, courtesy of a juggling act of the ball to force it with downward pressure. Despite further chances from both sides, the score remained 8-6 at the break.

Hull started the better of the two teams in the second half and crossed for two tries to open up a 16-6 lead heading into the final ten minutes. The first came just after the hour mark, courtesy of a beautiful pass from Aidan Sezer to a flying Ed Chamberlain who had too much pace for the cover to score.

The game sealer came courtesy of a terrific Sezer grubber where Lewis Martin won the race to the ball to make it a ten point game. Wakefield grabbed a consolation try inside the final five minutes when Cam Scott was on the receiving end of a great offload in traffic to make the score respectable.

Catalans 26 Castleford 4

Momentum at last for Catalans as pressure eases on McNamara

Catalans have won back-to-back games, taking pressure off embattled coach Steve McNamara with a 26-4 win over Castleford in trying conditions at the Jungle.

The Dragons opened the scoring in slippery, wet and windy conditions after 17 minutes. It came courtesy of a crash ball from Alrix Da Costa to Tevita Pangai Junior who burrowed under the Castleford defence to score the first try of the contest.

Four minutes later, Da Costa decided to take matters into his own hands, fooling the Castleford defence to give Catalans something they haven't had a lot of in 2025, a comfortable lead. Sam Tomkins added a penalty goal to give the Dragons a 14-0 half-time lead.

The Dragons opened the second half scoring six minutes into the second half thanks to a grubber kick from replacement half Guillermo Aispuro-Bichet. The kick sat up perfectly for Fouad Yaha to ground it in the field of play. Just shy of the hour mark, Luke Keary delivered a terrific tap on to Tomkins who fooled the defence to give Catalans an unassailable 26-0 lead midway through the second half.

Castleford did manage some consolation in the final quarter hour with Innes Senior scoring in the left corner after some great leadup work in the middle third. Tomkins ended up in the sin-bin during the final moments for a professional foul, but it didn't take the gloss off a much needed Catalans win.

Leeds 12 Wigan 10

Tough duel sees Wigan crack once more

Leeds have spun another upset, continuing Wigan's recent poor domestic form courtesy of a 12-10 win.

Wigan suffered some last minute drama with Abbas Miski injured in the warmup. This saw youngster Jacob Douglas come into the team and Leeds targeted him all night long. The first big moment of the game occurred 10 minutes in, when Douglas dropped a tough high kick and some quick hands saw Riley Lumb score in the corner to give Leeds the early ascendancy.

It was a tight first half, with neither team giving an inch. But with Wigan being the champion team they are, there wasn't a chance they were going to go into the sheds with no score. Right on half-time, a clever Harry Smith chip sat up perfectly for Liam Marshall to score outside to trail by only two at the break.

Wigan landed the first punch in the second half with a beautifully worked move down the left edge. Bevan French was able to step his way through several defenders to get the ball down. Despite an anxious video review, the try was given to the Rob Burrow Trophy winner.

Leeds hit back to take the lead with 13 minutes to play. A terrific step and move gave Jake Connor the space to put up the high ball. It was contested by Ryan Hall who batted it backwards into the waiting arms of super sub Jack Sinfield who crossed for the Rhinos to give them a two point lead. Despite some anxious moments, the Rhinos held on to leave Wigan with some work to do after a difficult acclimatisation period back from Vegas.

Hull KR 30 Leigh 0

Hull KR have shown their championship credentials in a ruthless 30-0 massacre of the Leigh Leopards at Craven Park.

In trying conditions, Rovers played some enterprising attacking football leaving Leigh to rue several scoring opportunities. The scoring began inside the opening 10 minutes when Oliver Gildart showed his strength and power to beat a pair of Leigh defenders to muscle over the try-line.

Six minutes later, a late offload from Elliot Minchella landed in the arms of Mikey Lewis who ran untouched to score under the posts. Despite a lengthy video review, the try was awarded to last year's Man of Steel. Leigh thought they hit back midway through the opening half, but Bailey Hodgson was denied for a double movement by video referee Ben Thaler.

Leigh had several chances throughout the remainder of the first half, but every time the Rovers were there to halt their scoring raid. Against a class team like Rovers, converting these chances is paramount. Five minutes before time, Lewis got a terrific offload to Kelepi Tanginoa to score next to the posts as Rovers led 16-0.

Right on half-time, Rovers played some champagne rugby league. A shift left saw Joe Burgess into space before he kicked in-field. It was fitting that after having a hand in everything in the first half that Mikey Lewis ended up crossing for a double to lead 22-0 at the break. The second half only saw a penalty goal and a Tom Davies try added to the scoreboard as Rovers flexed their championship credentials.
