Canberra pull a Magic Trick to spook Cronulla

AJ Lucantonio

24 – 20

A spectacular last minute try to Seb Kris was enough to secure victory for the Canberra Raiders, who overcame a Hudson Young sin-bin to down the Cronulla Sharks 24-20 at GIO Stadium.

Canberra opened the scoring inside the first five minutes when Kao Weekes took Nicholson underneath and he broke through some poor defence from Oregon Kaufusi and Blayke Brailey to get over the line. The theme early was capitalising on poor discipline and the Sharks were rewarded when Mawene Hiroti continued to tear apart Canberra's right edge as Matt Timoko was burnt for pace to allowed the Newtown centre to get a try on NRL return and it was 6-6 inside the first 10 minutes.

As both sides settled, eventually it would take a magical moment to get either side the the lead. Fortunately, a clever play from Raiders hooker Tom Starling saw the home side take the lead. After scheming out of dummy half, a clever kick saw a flying Hudson Young fly through and ground the ball to give the Canberrans a 12-6 lead. Cronulla answered swiftly following a cheap yardage error. A simple crash ball from Braydon Trindall to Briton Nikora sent the backrower through the left edge defenders to ground the ball into the in-goal to level us back up with just over ten to go.

Following a lethal Jamal Fogarty bomb that was spilled by Sam Stonestreet, the Raiders went on the attack. Despite a good read on Seb Kris by the Sharks edge defence, he was able to get a cracking offload away to Young who crosses for his second try. Just before the end of the half, Nikora got the ball in an impractical position on the last, a great grubber which went into the legs of Corey Horsburgh, it allowed Nikora to kick it again and he beat Weekes to the ball to score and it was 18-18 at the break.

The second half started with a bit of chaos, there was plenty of ball in play but no big moments in that period. That all changed in the 57th minute when Young hit Cam McInnes high with "direct contact and no mitigation". With those words, the referee had no alternative than to despatch him to the bin. Following an additional high tackle, Nicho Hynes added a penalty goal to give the Sharks a narrow two point lead. Again, the rest of the half brought little joy to either fan base as Canberra failed to bring the margin back while Cronulla didn't add to their two point margin.

In the final moments, Canberra attempted a magic trick. Young ran the ball on the last, before getting an offload away to Xavier Savage. After skipping across the field, Savage put boot to ball. The bounce was a nightmare for the Sharks, as Kao Weekes recovered it, before a magical flick pass sent Simi Sasagi into space. He got it away to Sebastian Kris and the Raiders' completed their trick to run away with victory after back to back away losses. Cronulla have now dropped two straight and concerns continue to linger around their ability to close out tight matches.

Cowboys upset patchy Panthers

Justin Davies

18 – 22

North Queensland Cowboys won 22-18 against Penrith Panthers in front of 10,320 fans at Western Sydney Stadium on Friday night.

The Cowboys dug deep after being behind twice in the game to earn back-to-back wins. Drinkwater led the way with a pair of try assists and was solid at the back throughout the game.

Cowboys were the first side to hit the scoreboard. They earned the six again bell, flew down the left side and Jaxon Purdue offloaded to Murray Taulagi who strolled over.

Panthers hit back in classic fashion. It was a swift left side movement from their own half, led by Nathan Cleary who found Tom Jenkins who in turn fed Casey McLean for 6-all.

Next, it was a wicked kick from Cleary which handed the Panthers their first lead. It bent into the path of centre Izack Tago, who touched down expertly for the hosts.

The visitors were dealt a blow when representative hooker Reece Robson was sin-binned for his high shot on Daine Laurie. They defended their own line and forced a pair of errors.

Cowboys drew level while a man down with another passage of play. This time, they swept it right and Viliami Vailea used his strength to slice through and make it 12-all.

It was the Panthers who took a lead going into the break though. Milestone man Isaah Yeo produced a pearler of a pass for Luke Garner, who was elevated to the starting line-up, to steam over.

The visitors showed grit once again and clawed back within two. Drinkwater was involve again, this time from the boot, he punches through a kick which Jaxon Purdue touches down.

They hit the lead soon after to shock the Panthers. They didn't adhere to beware the second kick, Dearden's effort was swept up by Taulagi for his second of the contest.

Panthers threw everything they could at the Cowboys. They had a two-on-one but McLean decided not to pass it then Paul Alamoti tried to go higher but he dragged a foot on the line.

There was one more moment which might garner some more attention. Tago was binned in the last minute for a high shot in the previous set which left the Panthers with 12-men to chase the game.

They tried to fling it around to no avail as the Cowboys held on for back-to-back wins and condemn the four-time champions to a one and four start to the 2025 NRL campaign.

Brave Bunnies boil over rusty Roosters

Justin Davies

20 – 14

South Sydney Rabbitohs won 20-14 against their old enemy Sydney Roosters at Stadium Australian on Friday night.

It is a win that might help define the Rabbitohs season. They lost both halves then a winger but through magic from Latrell Mitchell and Jye Gray the Rabbitohs downed a error prone Roosters outfit.

The game didn't take long to open up. Roosters struck first, through Sandon Smith. He sliced through a razor thin gap and stepped towards the line to make it 6-0 for the visitors.

Rabbitohs responded in kind themselves with a velvet smooth move close to the line. It was a short pass from Lachlan Huber who found Tavita Tatola to stroll over under the sticks.

Latrell Mitchell thought he had the dream return to the side with a four-pointer. He barged over from close range but the bunker got involved and saw a brave save from James Tedesco to keep it 6-all.

Next, the Roosters were denied by the bunker. Dom Young thought he had streaked away from a charged down kick but it was ruled that he was offside and the game remained deadlocked.

The Rabbitohs had a glut of possession in the first half but they only had eight points to show for it after Mitchell piloted through a penalty goal in an error filled half of footy.

Souths were dealt a further blow at the break, Cody Walker succumbed to a hamstring injury after Jamie Humphreys left the game early for the same ailment which left them down both halves.

Roosters took advantage of that with their own weight of possession. Billy Smith finished off a backline move to push them ahead 10-8 then Young finished off a move from Tedesco and Wong put them six ahead.

The Rabbitohs refused to surrender despite Mikaele Ravalawa joining the injury ward. Jayden Sullivan sliced through the gap and positioned Jye Gray to score to lock it up again.

Enter Mitchell. He produced a stunning cut-out pass which sent Isaiah Tass tight rope walking down the sideline to score. He followed it up with a bending conversion which made it 20-14 for the Rabbitohs.

Roosters tried to throw what they could at the Rabbitohs but the hosts held firm, it is a quite gutsy and dare I say, famous win for the Rabbitohs who get their fourth win of the season.

For the Roosters, it will be like last week, a game that they threw away really. They had enough chances against a downcast Rabbitohs side and couldn't get it done tonight.

Lomax clinches a (blue and) golden point win

Rob Crosby

23 – 22

Zac Lomax nailed a golden point field goal against his former club to hand the Parramatta Eels their first win of the season.

Nailing the decisive point three minutes into golden point after levelling the match with a long-range penalty goal, the former St George Illawarra outside back proved the difference as the Eels clinched a 23-22 result to hand Jason Ryles his first win as a first grade coach.

In a match which saw the lead change on multiple occasions, former Parramatta captain Clinton Gutherson looked set to be the difference with a brace of tries only for Lomax to step up to the delight of 19,302 supporters at CommBank Stadium.

After conceding first points via a Lomax penalty goal, Gutherson (16th minute) crossed for his first try in new colours with an inspired run to capitalise on an offload from Valentine Holmes.

Holmes pushed the visitors to a converted try lead midway through the opening half, however minutes later the Eels drew the scores level at 8-all after Isaiah Iongi demonstrated some classy footwork to send Josh Addo-Carr (25th minute) over in the corner.

A try to Christian Tuipulotu (35th minute) closed out the half with the Dragons taking a 14-8 lead to the change of ends.

Pushing their lead into double digits minutes after ill-discipline gifted the Dragons field position, Gutherson (45th minute) barged through the Eels' defence, including Iongi - the man who took his spot at fullback - to collect a second four-pointer.

Having been upstaged by his predecessor throughout the match, Iongi (56th minute) showcased his youthful class by exposing the Dragons' defence with a dummy to reduce the margin with an incisive run.

Drawing the scores level at 20-all after Tuipulotu failed to hold onto a cross-field kick from Dean Hawkins, the loose ball was pounced upon by Kitone Kautoga (63rd minute), who claimed his first try in the top grade.

A misdirected drop out from Hawkins saw the Dragons regain the lead with a penalty goal in front of the posts, while Tyrell Sloan looked to have iced the game only for the bunker to rule he had his foot on the sideline prior to scoring.

With five minutes remaining, Lomax levelled the scores once again with a 45 metre penalty goal; both Lomax and Holmes failed to seal the result in regulation time with long-range field goals, resulting in the first golden point game of the season.

The Eels made the most of field position after Lachlan Ilias kicked out on the full, allowing Lomax to seize the moment and nail the match-winner in the first half of golden point.

Dolphins break 2025 losing streak in style

Josh Robertson

10 – 36

The Dolphins have taken themselves off the bottom of the NRL ladder picking up an impressive 36-10 victory for their first win of the season over the Gold Coast Titans.

It was early-on that it was going to be one of those nights for the Titans when after just three minutes, the officials went back a set prior to bin Tino Fa'asuamaleaui for a high shot on Felise Kaufusi. The Dolphins took advantage at the back end of the ten minute period when the Hammer was able to go through as the Dolphins spread the ball from their own end.

Daniel Saifiti crashed through the front door with the Titans defence soft in the middle and the Dolphins had a 12-0 lead. Jamayne Isaako put over two penalty goals in the 19th and 36th minute to put the visitors up 16-0. The Titans couldn't take advantage of their own 10 minute period with an extra man late in the first half before

The Dolphins took a late two-point field goal attempt which went wide which didn't change the score and the visitors had a 16-0 lead.

A second half comeback was needed from the Titans, and early in the second half the Gold Coast thought they were going to score first when Jaylan De Groot crossed however despite it being awarded live by Wyatt Raymond, the bunker overturned it deeming an obstruction in the lead up.

The bitter punch came for the hosts when Max Plath was on the spot to catch a Titans error and plant the ball down, Isaako's conversion made it 22-0 to the visitors. The Dolphins then added a fourth try of the night when Connelly Lemuelu scored just after the hour mark to seemingly put the game beyond reach at 28-0 following the conversion.

Titans fans were given hope with quick back-to-back tries Phillip Sami and AJ Brimson scoring within five minutes to give an outside hope at 28-10 but an error burst the momentum bubble. Another Isaako penalty goal put the game beyond doubt at 30-10 before Isaako added his name to the scoreboard with a try in the last 70 seconds of the game and his 8th goal of the night sealed the 36-10 win.

Next week, the Dolphins take their good form into a Thursday night clash against the out-of-form Panthers at Suncorp Stadium, whilst the Titans need to put their ideas together when they take on the Dragons at WIN Stadium next week.

Broncos blowout Tigers despite error-riddled performance

Rhys Sullivan

The Broncos have overcome 14 errors, a 10-5 penalty count and a 4-2 ruck infringement margin to pick up a dominant 46-24 win over the Wests Tigers.

The Broncos opened the scoring early, when a seven-tackle set led into a Ben Hunt grubber, which bounced squarely into the hands of Jesse Arthars for his first try of the night. But the Tigers hit back soon after, when a period of sustained pressure made them crack, a Lachlan Galvin grubber weighted perfectly for Luke Laulilili to score in the corner.

Brendan Piakura was sent to the sin bin for a high tackle not too long after, and while the Broncos weathered the storm well in the early part of being down to 12, the Tigers soon scored through a ridiculous series of events - Galvin forced a dropout, which Adam Reynolds put deep trying to find the sideline. Adam Dueihi picked up the ball, which soon made it's way to Jahream Bula picks it up, who beat Jack Gosiewski in the middle of the field and found Sunia Turuva to score in the corner. Then minutes later - with the Broncos back to 13 men - Starford To'a crossed for his first try after a slick play by Latu Fainu and Bula.

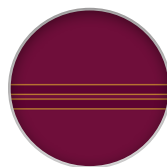

But the Tigers first three conversion attempts - firstly by Apisai Koroisau, then Tallyn Da Silva, and finally Doueihi - all missed, leaving the score 12-6 after 35 minutes. Just as it seemed the Tigers were happy to take the score into half time, the Broncos struck - first through Xavier Willison scoring with a stretched arm out of dummy half, and then an Adam Reynolds two-point drop goal to give them a 14-12 lead at the break.

The Broncos started the second half the way they ended the first, with a Hunt 40/20 paving the way for Willison to crash over minutes into the resumption, before a successful chip-and-chase by Reynolds gave them a 26-12 lead wfter 45 minutes. The Tigers were able to stem the bleeding, and even hit back through a charging run by Sione Fainu, but it was clear they had been shell shocked.

Arthars was able to pick up his double shortly before the hour mark of the game, the try coming off the back of a lovely pass by Reece Walsh, then went back to back for the second time in the game after Kotoni Staggs and Selwyn Cobbo combined to put Billy Walters over. The Broncos added to their score 10 minutes later when Gehamat Shibusaki scored off a Walsh kick, and the Tigers picked up a consolation try through To'a. The Wests centre then went to the sin bin for a professional foul on the last play of the game, with Walsh knocking over a penalty goal after the siren.

The Broncos will be left stressing however, with Reynolds exiting the game after 45 minutes with what he described as hamstring tightness he picked up while converting his own try. While no one in the Broncos seemed to think the injury was overly serious, he will be unlikely to feature next week given the clubs six day turnaround.

Two players who will certainly be ruled out for Round 6 however are Latu Fainu, who was left needing a category 1 head injury assessment shortly after Reynolds' injury, and Brendan Piakura, who was left unconscious after a sickening collision with Alex Twal just minutes out from full time.

The Wrap: NRL Round 5

Storm spine crush Sea Eagles' spirits

James Robertson

24 – 48

It was billed as the Battle of Brookvale, but it was a blugeoning at 4 Pines Park as the Melbourne Storm bounced back from their tight loss to the Dragons last weekend with a 48-24 win over Manly.

The first 20 minutes of both halves laid the platform for the road warriors as they went to work after an early penalty goal somewhat seemed to settle things 2-0 a few minutes into the contest.

From there it was 3 tries in 8 minutes as Cameron Munster and a returning Jahrome Hughes orchestrated some exquisite artistry to guide Utoikamanu, Anderson & Munster himself crawling over the line in quick succession.

They were up to the task defensively as well 14 minutes from the half-time when Loiero came up with a brick wall effort to stop the dangerous Tolu Koula.

Melbourne however could not hold on for much longer as Brooks and the Manly speedstar Koula combined for their opening try as the fightback began.

The Sea Eagles opted to take the long range shot as the siren sounded off the back of a Melbourne penalty and was successful from 40 metres out, closing the Storm's halftime lead to 18-10.

Manly looked to have the better of the Storm in the early stages of the 2nd half, with Haumole Ola'kauatu treating defenders like a holey pair of socks, disposing them at will. But once again it was an absolute rampage spearheaded by one of the most cashed up spines in the competition, the 1, 6 & 7 having their hands all over the next 3 tries as another 8 minutes of agony began for the home side. Silencing a normally deafening crowd.

Bronson Garlick joined in on the fun chasing a delicate little punch into open space from Harry Grant as the Storm took their largest lead of the contest with still 20 minutes remaining.

Koula was easily one of the best on ground for the home side, as he found himself in the in-goal once again to bag a double, followed shortly after by a galloping Ola'kauatu giving something for the Manly fans that stuck around to cheer about flicking the ball for Jason Saab in the corner.

The cue did not go in the rack from Manly as they were starved of possession for large portions of this match. When they had repeat sets they argueably put on attack more impressive than the Storm, but despite 3 tries to end the matchup it was a case of too little and far too late as the Sea Eagles faithful did not have a good day on the hill or the Bob Fulton stand end of a disheartened 4 Pines Park.

Dogs capitalise on Crossload trip-up

Andrew Ferguson

20 – 0

A trip by Knights rake Phoenix Crossland early in the second half gave the Bulldogs the upper hand and ultimately a 20-0 victory in the final match of the round.

It was a defensively epic first half by both the Knights and Bulldogs, but neither side saw any advantage from it, and left this match in the balance at the halftime break.

The first two minutes were catastrophic for the Knights, with Jacob Saifiti injuring his calf as he ran onto the field. He would succumb to the injury just a few tackles after the game began. Winger James Schiller then copped a nasty headclash to the side of his head, which saw him bleeding from around his ear. Both players were ruled out for the match. Dane Gagai shifted to the wing, Thomas Cant moved from the back row to centre and Jermaine McEwen came from the bench to play the entire match in the second row. Then in the 23rd minute, Jack Cogger had a dislocated figure put back into place.

An illegal strip by Tyson Frizell in the third minute of the match gave the Bulldogs a penalty and Stephen Crichton kicked a penalty goal. This would be the only points scored in the entire first half.

Both sides played predominantly in the middle of the field. The Knights opting for running plays close to the Dogs line while the Bulldogs consistently went to the air, trying to find points for winger Jacob Kiraz.

But by halftime, both sides had failed to score a try.

Two minutes after play resumed, Toby Sexton kicked to Kiraz but the ball was not taken by the winger, however it went back off him. Josh Curran cleaned up and got the ball down on the tryline. Crichton converted from the right sideline.

The turning point of the match came just 3 minutes later when Phoenix Crossland was sent to the sin bin for a flagrant trip.

On the first play after Crossland was binned, The Bulldogs found touch from the penalty, 20 metres from the Knights line. Reed Mahoney took the tap and passed to Jack Todd who ran through everyone to score. Crichton converted from in front.

The Bulldogs almost scored off the next set when Kiraz batted a bomb back infield to Kurt Mann who regathered and dived over to score, however the Bunker ruled the ball went forward off Kiraz.

The Bulldogs lifted a gear and begun to dominate field position. In the 70th minute a Crash ball play close to the Knights line saw Kurt Mann barge over for a try. Crichton converted.

The scoreboard wouldn't be troubled again as the Bulldogs won 20-0.

Match preview

Rhys Sullivan

Two 1-4 teams, the Penrith Panthers and the The Dolphins, are set to do battle in a match that could already dent the finals hopes of the losers not even a quarter of the way into the 2025 campaign.

The Panthers are in the midst of their worst start to an NRL campaign since 2002, a far cry from their reign of terror as the leagues back-to-back-to-back-to-back-to-back premiers. A Round 1 win over Cronulla is all they have to show for their first five matches, and losses to the Roosters and Cowboys, both of whom sit well outside the top 8, have raised questions as to where their ceiling is this season.

The Dolphins meanwhile picked up their first win over the weekend with a thumping 36-10 victory over the Titans. Their losses are less concerning than Penrith - three being teams in the top 8 - however dropping a fifth game from their opening six will still leave them with an uphill battle to claw their way back into finals contention, particularly in a competition as tight as what this season shapes up to be.

The Panthers are buoyed by the return of star fullback Dylan Edwards, who has missed the last three weeks with a groin strain. Edwards' importance to the Panthers can not be overstated, and the last three matches have proven that. Having their core of Edwards, Nathan Cleary and Isaah Yeo healthy will always make the Panthers a side that can win matches.

It's not all sunshine and rainbows for the Panthers however, with five-eighth Jack Cole and hooker Mitch Kenny forced out of the side through injury. They're replaced by Blaize Talagi, who will line up in the position the Panthers signed him to play for the first time, and Luke Sommerton.

It's better news in the ins-and-outs department for the Dolphins, with captain Tom Gilbert returning from a one game suspension for a high tackle. It comes at the perfect time, given they just lost fellow back rower Ray Stone to a (you'll never believe this) one game suspension for a high tackle.

Who to watch: The rumour mill has been working overtime for the past week with speculation Isaiya Katoa is wanting a return to New South Wales. Putting aside his contract with the Dolphins until the end of 2028, a matchup with the Panthers is the perfect way for the Tongan international to show the value he can bring to clubs. Katoa has been relatively quiet during the Dolphins start to the season - a try and two try assists - but he continues to show himself as an aggressive number 7 who puts defences on the back foot and makes them uncomfortable rather than the other way around.

Despite certain columnists writing his style of play has been hurting the Panthers this season, it is undoubtedly clear the way they revive their season is through the form of Nathan Cleary. Cleary's had a rough start to the campaign - missing virtually all of Round 3 and 4 with a concussion - however he still has four try assists (tied for fourth in the league) and 5 linebreak involvements (tied with Braydon Trindall at the top of the pile). If Cleary continues his form, or even turns it up further, the Panthers will return to winning ways sooner rather than later.

Favourite: The Panthers are heavily favoured in this one, people overlooking their recent slide due to the return of Edwards.

My tip: I think this will be closer than many think, although I still think Penrith are a class above. Panthers by 12.

Things to know

- No Gold Coast side has won at WIN Stadium since the Seagulls sole win at the venue in 1989 against Illawarra. They lost their next 6 games there and the Titans have lost all 6 of their games there as well.
- Dragons have won 4 of their last 5 games against the Titans
- Christian Tuipulotu (St Geo Illa) will play his 50th NRL game
- Chris Randall will play his 50th club game for Gold Coast

Josh Robertson

Friday night NRL action hits Wollongong as two teams looking for consistency in form do battle as the St George Illawarra Dragons take on the Gold Coast Titans.

The Dragons have won just one of their four matches to start 2025 and sit in 12th spot thanks to a bye helping them off equal last spot. The big thing though for the Red 'V' is that their only win in 2025 came at home a fortnight ago when they beat the Melbourne Storm 14-8.

2025 was meant to be a revival for the Red 'V' with big recruits such as Clint Gutherson, Valentine Holmes and Damien Cook amongst others but they just haven't found form and despite that win against Melbourne, things just don't seem to be clicking for the Dragons. Although losing 3 matches, the Dragons biggest losing margin was 8 points which came in Round 1 against the Bulldogs so there are signs and they only lost by a point to South Sydney and Parramatta respectively although last week was a concerning performance.

Despite some criticism on key players not delivering at key moments, Dragons coach Shane Flanagan has elected to keep the same 17 as last week meaning Lachlan Ilias who has come under a fair bit of scrutiny keeps his spot despite a potential game deciding error last weekend.

The Gold Coast Titans have looked both excellent and poor at times this season none more so than their past fortnight where they picked up an impressive win against the Roosters before a performance against the Dolphins last week where the Titans looked about two grades lower than their opponents last week.

The Titans season was meant to be one of improvement but so far in 2025 it has looked very similar to previous seasons where the Gold Coast side couldn't find consistency during the individual games let alone across the season. The Titans had moments of good against the Bulldogs during their first game of the season in Round 2 after the bye but were outplayed for the majority of the contest before a strong performance against the Knights and the Roosters. The game last week, the Titans showed very little energy and their play didn't show anything from their wins.

A suspension to captain Tino Fa'asuamaleaui has forced Gold Coast coach Des Hasler into a number of changes with players also returning from injury. Chris Randall moves into the vacant lock position with Sam Verrills returning to the hooker role. Jojo Fifita also returns to the side after missing last week with injury seeing Beau Fermor move back to the second row after playing at centre last week.

Who to watch: Coming up against his old team for the first time last week, Clint Gutherson has been under pressure in the Red 'V' and a performance where he failed to get the two points will drive Gutho this week. The performances from Gutherson have been strong but inconsistent as he hasn't probably fully delivered what the Dragons have wanted from him. After last weeks, defeat it feels hard not to see Gutherson firing up again this week.

After last week's disappointment, Gold Coast halfback AJ Brimson will need to step up as he has done in the performances that saw the Titans get their two wins so far this season. The performance from Brimson last week looked uninspired and just bereft of ideas where as the Titans in their win has had strong attack. Brimson pulls out a big performance and the Titans can do things in attack that get them the win.

Favourite: The Dragons are strong favourites for the contest

My tip: This is a hard game to decide because both teams bring their own pros and cons to the game. Consistency has been a problem for both sides and as much as I draw myself to tipping one way, it doesn't feel right which is the problem with this game. The Dragons being in Wollongong I think just holds sway but I hold almost zero confidence in it. Dragons by 4.

Kelly Hollis

With the Broncos coming off three straight wins and the Roosters coming off three straight losses, Friday night football is expected to produce an interesting game at Suncorp.

One of the fiercest rivalries of the modern NRL era writes another chapter this Friday night at Suncorp Stadium, as the Brisbane Broncos host the Sydney Roosters in their preferred 8 pm slot. Since 1998, the two sides have met 50 times, splitting the ledger right down the middle with 25 wins apiece. The winner of this clash won't just bag two competition points – they'll take the historical edge in this long-standing rivalry.

The Broncos are flying high after notching up three straight wins, their latest a clinical 46-24 triumph over the Wests Tigers. While it was close at the break, Brisbane shifted gears in the second half with Reece Walsh producing two try assists and Jesse Arthurs and Xavier Willison both bagging doubles. Adam Reynolds chipped in with a two-point field goal and a try of his own, while Ben Hunt's 40/20 set up a crucial momentum shift. Selwyn Cobbo, Billy Walters and Gehamat Shibusaki added late polish to the scoreboard. Despite Brendan Piakura being sin-binned and later stretched off, the Broncos showed their depth and cohesion to blow the Tigers off the park.

Heading into Round 6, Kevin Walters' men are brimming with confidence – and for good reason. Adam Reynolds, who was under an injury cloud with a hamstring concern, has been named to play, much to the relief of Broncos fans. However, the side will be without Brendan Piakura (suspended) and Koton Stagg (also suspended), with Jayden Hunt and Martin Taupau set to step in. Jordan Riki also remains sidelined due to suspension. Even so, Brisbane's spine – Walsh, Reynolds, Paix and Hunt – continues to fire, and Jesse Arthurs currently leads the NRL try-scoring tally.

On the other side of the fence, it's been a grim few weeks for the Roosters. They've now slumped to three straight losses, the latest a frustrating 18-12 defeat to arch-rivals South Sydney. The Tricolours matched the Bunnies on the try count but couldn't convert their chances – both figuratively and literally – with missed conversions proving costly. James Tedesco was immense with 220 run metres and 12 tackle busts, but he's been a one-man band far too often. Halves Chad Townsend and Sandon Smith were again under the microscope, struggling to provide direction and composure in clutch moments.

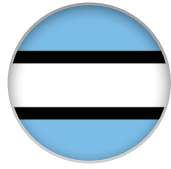

Coach Trent Robinson has made a bold call for this week, replacing veteran Chad Townsend with 23-year-old Hugo Savala, who will make his first NRL start after three games off the bench. Victor Radley returns to his customary lock role, with Nat Butcher shifting to the front row to cover the loss of Lindsay Collins (MCL – six weeks). Mark Nawaqanitawase has been named 18th man and could come in for Dom Young if he passes a fitness test. The Roosters are desperate to find some spark – and fast – with just one win from five starts and a tough road trip to Suncorp, a venue where they've lost three of their past four.

Who to watch: Xavier Willison was explosive off the bench for Brisbane last week, scoring a double in just 41 minutes. The young forward has emerged as a real X-factor and will look to continue his impact against a reshuffled Roosters pack.

All eyes will be on rookie Sydney halfback Hugo Savala as he steps into the starting role for the first time. With the Roosters' attack lacking fluency in recent weeks, the pressure is on the 23-year-old to spark some much-needed creativity and control.

Favourite: Although the Broncos haven't beaten the Roosters twice in a season since 2018, they enter this one as clear favourites.

My tip: The Broncos are purring with confidence and playing in front of a packed Suncorp crowd in their favourite Friday night slot. With Reynolds fit to play and the spine humming, they'll be tough to stop. The Roosters have made changes, but still look disjointed and under pressure. Expect Brisbane to make a statement. Broncos by 16.

Andrew Ferguson

A clash that should be great to watch however due to recent form, this contest is nothing but a massive question mark.

The Sharks defence has confused itself and got lost somewhere. There's been communication breakdowns on the edges of the ruck and they were exploited by the Bulldogs and Raiders – two sides that possess strong running games for their edge forwards and centres; and a department that this Manly side is also no slouch.

The Sharks attack was pedestrian against the Bulldogs in Round 4. Last week though, their attack was much improved, which coincided with halfback Nicho Hynes running the ball more and five-eighth Braydon Trindall getting more ball than Hynes. The club needs to stop pretending that Hynes is a halfback and put him in the 6 jumper already and allow hooker Blayke Brailey and fullback William Kennedy to start working more regularly with Trindall – who looks like a much more competent organiser than Hynes. While Hynes' strength – his running game – gets put on the shelf as he tries to be a halfback.

Brailey too need to back himself more and not be too reserved when it comes to running from dummy half. It's an absolute strength for him, but last week he only made 3 runs. He has so many great ball running options all round him in the middle and the luxury of a recognized hooker in Cameron McInnes playing at Lock, who can come into dummy half at the drop of a hat.

Manly last week looked like a side in mourning, over the injury to fullback Tom Trbojevic the week before. Replacement fullback, Lehi Hopoate was very good and is only going to get better every week. The Sea-Eagles edge running game was in strong form last week despite the heavy loss to the Storm. Centres Tolutau Koula and Reuben Garrick made 143 and 93 metres respectively, while back rowers Haumole Olakau'atu and Ben Trbojevic made 141 and 124 metres respectively.

Manly will be aiming to make the bulk of their metres in the middle of their sets on the edges, targeting Mawene Hiroiti more often, while halves Luke Brooks and Daly Cherry-Evans will likely pepper Sam Stonestreet and Jesse Ramien with kicks.

Who to watch: Briton Nikora was huge last week and will be keen to back the performance up again here. If Kennedy or Hynes can hang around him more when he is doing ruck runs, the chance of second phase play will increase, which is something the Sharks are very good at turning into points. Addin Fonua-Blake has also been immense for the Sharks this year and he'll be keen to rip in even harder against his former club.

Haumole Olakau'atu will be used frequently in Manly attacking raids. His powerful running game, good offloads and fast play-the-balls make him a massive asset on the edge. Luke Brooks was also good last week and if he is given space to run, he can be quite devastating.

Favourite: The Sharks come into the match as favourites, with Siosifa Talakai and Teig Wilton both returning to beef up their pack, however Manly will see Josh Aloiai, Tommy Talau and Lachlan Croker all returning which could have a bigger positive impact on their lineup.

My tip: Sharks will have been doing nothing but defence training all week and will be out to prove a point in this match, which could see them get the job done. Sharks by 8.

Lachlan McIntyre

Spirited Bunnies side aim to stop North Queensland reaching three straight wins

In the second game of round six's Perth double header, the South Sydney Rabbitohs are the 'home' team hosting the North Queensland Cowboys on Saturday afternoon. Injury chaos headlines South's camp, with fans set to see a completely new halves pairing from that which was named last week. The Cowboys are looking to keep up their new-found momentum, with a win this weekend resulting in them pulling back their 0-3 start to 3-3.

It was the boot of Latrell Mitchell that proved the difference in South Sydney's 20-14 victory over the Sydney Roosters last week. His return to the side had a big effect on the game, at times also admittedly negatively for the Bunnies. Souths looked down and out when Dom Young crossed in the 52nd minute, and injury concerns for a number of their stars saw their bench looking woefully sparse. But the Rabbitohs kept fighting, and it was a 70th minute try to Isaiah Tass that saw them reclaim the lead that they had held at half-time. The victory sees their record go to 4-1 (despite a points differential of only 4), and they are sitting pretty in 5th on the ladder.

The effects of last week's hamstring injuries to Cody Walker, Jamie Humphreys, and Mikaele Ravalawa will certainly be felt by the Rabbitohs in this match-up. All three will be watching from the sidelines, with Latrell Mitchell and Jayden Sullivan set to form an unlikely halves pairing this Saturday. Big money Englishman Lewis Dodd is unavailable for selection due to a suspension picked up in reserve grade. On the plus side for South Sydney, Alex Johnston and Euan Aitken have both been named to return from their respective injuries.

Despite a disappointing start to the season, the Cowboys have bounced back in recent weeks with two wins on the trot. Breaking their duck against the Raiders, they went on to travel down to Parramatta and beat none other than the Penrith Panthers, 22-18. Trailing 18-12 at the half after having to deal with Reece Robson being sin binned, North Queensland were able to effectively control a low-scoring second 40 minutes to wrestle the game into their grasp. With the score remaining unchanged for nearly the last half an hour, it was a tense finish to a physically demanding game.

Cowboys long away trip continues this weekend, heading all the way West to Perth, over 3000 km away from home. Reuben Cotter has been named at lock after being a late withdrawal last week. This inclusion forces Sam McIntyre to the bench and Harrison Edwards to 18th man. The game will be North Queensland's first in Western Australia since their 1997 6-4 loss to the Western Reds.

Having met 41 times across their history, the Rabbitohs have a slight advantage with 21 wins to 19 (one draw), so the Cowboys will be keen to close that gap.

Who to watch: With Walker, Humphries, and Dodd all unavailable, Jayden Sullivan takes the helm in the number seven jersey for South Sydney. Partnering with Latrell Mitchell who is admittedly inexperienced in the halves, Sullivan will bear the brunt of playmaking responsibilities. Sullivan was thrust into the halves early on against the Roosters following injuries, getting a line break, try assist, and 23 tackles to his name. Although Sullivan has played in every game so far this season, this will be his first start for the Rabbitohs. He joined South Sydney at the start of this year following a short stint with the Tigers and has faced a long line of preferred half choices ahead of him. With that road cleared out, for better or for worse, Sullivan has a golden opportunity to prove his worth in this crucial game.

Cowboys 2nd rower Kai O'Donnell is seemingly settling in well to his new home in Townsville. The 26 year old has spent the past few seasons playing with Leigh in England, a consistent starter as the club received promotion to the Super League and won the Challenge Cup under Adrian Lam. Getting an opportunity to return to Australia, Proserpine-local O'Donnell jumped at it. Although he only has eight NRL appearances, he has plenty of big game experience and is proving to be a good addition to NQ's pack so far. He made 38 post contact metres and a tackle break in 45 minutes of game time last week, and with his contract lasting until the end of next season, Cowboys fans should be excited about his potential as he continues to grow whilst readjusting to life back in the NRL.

Favourite: The Cowboys hold a narrow edge in the odds as they search for three wins on the trot.

My tip: So far this year, the Bunnies have shown they know how to win. They might not have everything going for them on paper, but I think they can get the job done in Perth. South Sydney by 4.

Last start winners dream of a win in Darwin

Rugby league's annual pilgrimage to Darwin takes place on Saturday evening as the Parramatta Eels take on the Canberra Raiders in a contest between two teams coming off last-gasp victories.

Going beyond 80 minutes last Saturday to claim their first win under rookie coach Jason Ryles, the Parramatta Eels will be hoping to back up their breakthrough performance with a strong showing in the Northern Territory.

Clinching a 23-22 victory over St George Illawarra in golden point via the boot of Zac Lomax, the former Dragons outside back will wear the number five jersey as coach Ryles formalises the backline changes that reaped rewards last week.

The Eels have won six out of ten visits to Darwin since taking home matches north in 2014; the blue and golds have lost their past three matches at TIO Stadium by an average score of 35-12.

Coming off a euphoric performance which saw the side score an exhilarating try to win on the final play of the game, the Canberra Raiders will be hoping to continue a dominant record over their weekend opponents.

Securing a 24-20 win over Cronulla last Thursday at home, coach Ricky Stuart has retained the same squad with Josh Papalii named in jersey eight despite coming off the bench over the past fortnight.

Canberra halfback Jamal Fogarty will make his 100th appearance in first grade on Saturday night; the 31-year-old Queenslander joined the Raiders in 2022 after beginning his career with the Titans.

The Raiders have won ten out of 17 matches against the Eels during Stuart's tenure at the club, including the side's second largest win over the Eels in the NRL era last season.

Parramatta and Canberra have met twice before in Darwin with the Eels winning both previous meetings in 2014 (18-10) and 2019 (22-16).

Who to watch: Having a hand in the good – and not so good – of last week's breakthrough win in golden point, Isaiah Longi has offered the Eels with a youthful injection of spark over the opening rounds. Scoring a try, setting up another and running for over 200 metres last week, the 21-year-old's exuberance almost proved costly with some ill-advised attacking options putting his side under pressure at key moments in the contest. Growing in confidence with each performance after only managing a single NRL appearance during his time at Penrith, expect Longi to feature prominently as the Eels strive to record back-to-back wins.

Coming off the jubilation of crossing for the match-winning try at home last week, Sebastian Kris will have his sights set on making a similar impact in enemy territory. Beginning the year in fine form with four tries from five appearances – including the opening try of the season – the New Zealand representative has enjoyed great success against the Eels with five tries in six meetings. Set to celebrate his 26th birthday next week, look for Kris to mark the occasion with a gift of two premiership points on Saturday night.

Favourite: The Raiders are expected to register their first win in the other Australian territory.

My tip: If the Raiders can be level or ahead at the change of ends, they should be good enough to record their fourth win of the season. Raiders by 10.

Luke Jobson

The ANZAC Day clash between the Melbourne Storm and the NZ Warriors have been brought forward a few weeks this season, as the two sides come together at AAMI Park on Sunday afternoon.

Melbourne very nearly put the Sea Eagles premiership hopes on ice, putting 48 on Manly at Brookvale Oval last weekend while the Warriors were able to enjoy a nice weekend off.

The Storm came out firing against a pretty meager Sea Eagles line-up, with Cameron Munster and Jahrome Hughes controlling the Storm attack in the first half before absolutely unloading in the second to put Manly to bed.

It got to the point where Scott Bailey was on speed dial, with the Storm up 48-10 at one point before taking the foot off the accelerator to allow Manly to make it look a little more respectable.

It wasn't as if Manly weren't attacking well, but the Storm just did not allow the Sea Eagles attack to get rolling until it was way too late.

The Warriors, coming off the bye last weekend, are riding a wave of momentum thanks to a three-game winning streak. Having taken down the aforementioned Sea Eagles, alongside a gritty win against the Roosters and a win away from home against the Tigers, the Warriors will look to take the scalp of the arguable title favourites back to Auckland for a three game home stretch.

The Storm have gone with the same 17 that ran Manly ragged last weekend, with Ryan Papenhuyzen and Xavier Coates both good to go. Will Warbrick remains at least a week away, so Moses Leo gets a second game in the centres. Joe Chan is the 18th man this week.

The Warriors welcome back Rocco Berry to the side, who missed the game against the Tigers two weeks ago thanks to a hamstring injury. That pushed Adam Pompey to the wing, with Ed Kosi dropping to the reserves. The rest of the side remains unchanged, with Te Maire Martin waiting in the wings for his first top flight action in 2025.

Who to watch: Jahrome Hughes came back remarkably early from his broken hand and it looked like he did not miss a step last weekend. Hughes set up two tries, with two line break assists and a line break for himself as well as 114 running metres to break the Sea Eagles wide open. His last game against the Warriors saw Hughes set up four tries in the 38-24 win last year, and he will be looking to re-create that performance as the Storm chase the top of the ladder.

Charnze Nicoll-Klokstad has arguably been the best of the Warriors during the first five rounds of the season so far. Whilst the statistics only show two try assists and a line break to his credit, the Warriors fullback is averaging over 200 metres a game and very quickly chiming into an ever growing Warriors attack. While there are still questions about the fluidity of the Warriors attack, there's no doubt that if the Warriors are to win in Melbourne, Nicoll-Klokstad will be a big focal point in the attack.

Favourite: Melbourne, comfortably.

My tip: Playing at AAMI Park is never an easy task for any side. Playing against a firing Melbourne Storm at AAMI Park is an even more daunting task. The Warriors haven't beaten the Storm in over 11 years, last time being Anzac Day in 2024. I expect this to be relatively close, but with the Storm now firing on all cylinders, it should be comfortable enough for Melbourne to keep their run against the Warriors going. Storm by 10.

Redemption on the menu as Newcastle hit home

Newcastle return home for the first time since Round 2 when they host the Wests Tigers in the final match of Round 6.

The Knights have had a mixed start to season 2025. After a strong opening fortnight, the Novocastrians have stumbled over the last fortnight. Two disappointing losses against the Titans and the Bulldogs have the Knights stumbling into this fixture. Yes, there have been injuries and you can make the argument that they have been brave, but overall they will admit that they are down on form from their lofty high standards.

Heading into this game against the Tigers, they are struggling on forward troops with Jacob Saifiti unavailable after an unfortunate injury as he was running out onto Accor Stadium last week. That makes the challenge of stopping the visitors pack even more challenging. Other players to not finish last week were Jack Hetherington and James Schiller while Jack Cogger had surgery on a dislocated finger.

That is priority one, their edge defence has been fairly good this season. Their attack also has to improve, players like Kalyn Ponga, Bradman Best and Fletcher Sharpe are still in this football side, so to score a combined six points in their last two outings is really unacceptable and has to change fast.

Onto team news and the Knights have been absolutely gutted ahead of this fixture. Out of the side are Jack Cogger (finger), James Schiller (concussion), Jacob Saifiti (calf) and Adam Elliott. NSW Cup outside back Kyle McCarthy gets a chance on the wing. Phoenix Crossland moves into the halves with Jayden Brailey at hooker. Brodie Jones starts up front with Kai Pearce-Paul returning from suspension in the backrow. Matt Arthur makes his Knights debut off the bench and we have an NRL debut for former rugby convert Tyrone Thompson.

Well for the Tigers you look at their record and you can easily make the argument that they could be 4-1. Last week's second half fadeout against the Broncos has been the only occurrence where the Tigers haven't been competitive this season. They will be looking for revenge after a narrow opening round loss at home to the Knights. Terrell May has shown signs of renewal at the club after his ugly exit from the Roosters, showing his leadership up front.

To beat the Knights they need to write the wrongs of those tight losses they have had this season. With ball in hand, they have just rushed a little with ball in hand. Lachie Galvin is the talk of the rugby league world amidst his contract talk, but he showed against the Broncos that he is ready to take that next step. They should get some readership back for this one, which will be a big help in their chance of winning.

Onto team news and while the hosts are gutted, the visitors welcome back Jarome Luai in the halves for the injured Latu Fainu. Jeral Skelton is on the wing for Luke Laullii. Samuela Fainu is a welcome addition back in for Jack Bird who reverts to the bench while Tony Sukkar is in the reserves.

Who to watch: The focus is squarely on Kalyn Ponga. After a quiet fortnight, Ponga is simply primed for a big one in this one. After being kept under 100 metres for the first time in what feels like an eternity, KP will want to attack this game with everything he has and go after the Tigers edge defence which did struggle at times last weekend.

For the Tigers, we are looking at Apisai Koroisau. In a side that was looking for leaders, Koroisau did all he could against the Broncos last weekend, guiding his team around the park in a potent 1-2 punch with Tallyn Da Silva. This season has been a quiet one for the hooker on the stat sheet. But his mere presence is a lifter and boost for this Tigers side.

Favourite: The Knights are favourites with the bookies for this one. The Tigers have only won twice against the Knights since 2020 with both wins coming in 2021.

My tip: Newcastle back at home on a Sunday afternoon with their backs against the wall just feels like a scenario too good to pass up for the home side to win. The Tigers will make them earn it though, it feels like a game where both sides have to win to set themselves up heading into the critical next stage of the premiership. With that in mind and the returnees, they should get revenge for Round 1 in a tight contest. Tigers by 4.

Catalans 20 Salford 12

Catalans Dragons won 20-12 against Salford Red Devils in their Challenge Cup Quarter Final clash on Friday night.

The Dragons were the first side to get on the scoresheet. Sam Tomkins provided the pass for Nic Cotric to muscle his way over.

They almost repeated the dose again from another set play. It was fired out to Cotric but this time he stepped on the line.

Next, Reimis Smith drifted across field before he found Arthur Romano to touch down in the right corner for Catalans.

The Red Devils needed a lift and they were helped when Elliott Whitehead was binned for a high tackle.

They used it to their advantage to bring it back to 8-6. Chris Hill drove forward before he popped it back to Joe Shorrocks to score.

The Dragons were on fire from the opening whistle to the second half. Whitehead after returning from the bin collected a four-pointer to stretch their advantage.

Another superb effort put the Dragons ahead 20-12 soon after. Theo Fages stepped past some flimsy defense to touch down.

Salford weren't going down without a fight. The visitor broke from their own end with Esan Marsters flying down the wing and connecting with Matty Foster.

The Red Devils huffed and puffed but they couldn't blow down the Dragons defense any further which meant their cup journey ended here.

For the Dragons, it is another semi-final appearance where they will face Super League leaders Hull KR. - Justin

Leigh 20 Wakefield 12

After being flogged by the same opposition just a week before, Leigh have scored revenge over Wakefield Trinity, winning by 20-12 to advance to the next stage of the Challenge Cup.

After a tense opening quarter of the game, dominated by Wakefield in the field position department. Leigh were able to withstand that and cross for the first try of the contest. A shift out wide saw Keenan Brand into space before kicking back in field, the bounce sat up perfectly for Lachie Lam who picked it up to score next to the posts. Despite both sides having scoring opportunities towards the break, the score remained at 6-0 in favour of the visitors.

Despite Wakefield having a handful of scoring chances, they crossed for their first try within 90 seconds of play resuming. A high kick from Mason Lino was allowed to bounce by the Leigh back three, it sat up for Matt Russell and the home side were back on level terms. That appeared to give the hosts an edge, a big break from Oliver Pratt had Leigh on the backfoot before finding Josh Rourke to give Wakefield a 12-6 lead.

But that was the end of the scoring for Wakefield. Just before the hour mark, following an error from the home side, Leigh capitalised off the scrum. Tesi Niu was bumping off defenders like a bowling ball as he charged across to level the scores at 12 apiece. A late shot penalty with twelve minutes to go allowed Leigh to retake the lead. Wakefield self-imploded after that, a long pass on their own goal-line was spilled, into the arms of Bailey Hodgson to score the game sealing try. - AJ

To be played 10-11 May

Hull KR v Catalans - LNER Community Stadium, Sat 10 May Warrington v Leigh - Totally Wicked Stadium, Sun 11 May

Hull KR 32 Hull FC 16

Hull KR have continued their undefeated start to the British rugby league season, trouncing rivals Hull FC 32-16 to advance to the semi finals of the competition.

It was a typical derby early on with both sides going end-to-end in a territorial battle. However, it was Rovers who broke through for the first points of the game. A nice shift down to the right edge saw simple passes through the hands that ended up in the arms of Tom Davies to score the opener. Off the next set, FC were in shock after a Tyrone May bomb was allowed to bounce into the arms of Joe Burgess and it was 12-0 in the blink of an eye. It soon got worse before the break. Peta Hiku could not be put to ground and he was able to get the pass away to Sam Luckley before finding Jack Broadbent to score and it was 18-0 at the break.

Straight after the break, a beautiful set play down the left edge saw Oliver Gildart deliver slick hands to Burgess to score his second try and it was 24-0. FC were struggling to keep the ball carrier on the ground, this time Rovers kept the ball alive and Jez Litten went straight through for a 30-0 lead. Hull FC finally got on the board with under half an hour to go. It was a beautiful pass from Jordan Rapana that landed in the arms of Lewis Martin to give the black and whites some scoreboard credibility. Three minutes later, it was a barnstorming run from import Herman Ese'ese who stormed across to give Hull a sniff.

A penalty goal meant that Hull FC's chances of a semi-final birth was out of the question and it was a 32-12 lead. A last minute try to Zak Hardaker was nothing more of consolation, despite being the comeback kids of the UK rugby league to date, this was one mountain too high to climb for Hull FC. - AJ

Warrington 20 St Helens 12

Warrington Wolves won 20-12 against St Helens in their game in their game at Halliwell Jones Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

It was a tight opening 15 minutes in this game as the teams waited for the first error. The Saints produced the first error which opened the door for the Wolves.

The hosts drew first blood in this Quarter Final clash. George William twisted an inside ball for Matt Duffy to stride over for 6-0. St Helens were able to draw level before the break. Jonny Lomax punched through a grubber which Tristan Sailor latched onto.

The Wolves roared into action in the second half. Matty Ashton broke downfield before being wrapped up close to the line. Warrington were awarded a penalty for offside then Marc Sneyd stepped up to pilot home the penalty goal for 8-6. They profited further from the boot soon after. Williams dabbled a kick through and Ben Currie was able to reel it in to score.

St Helens kept fighting for their survival in the competition. A kick was spilled into the path of Moses Mbye who found Daryl Clark to dive over under the sticks for 14-12. Williams turned from architect to author with a solo score. He sliced through the Saints defense and had enough legs to get to the line.

The Wolves held out for the final ten minutes and earned themselves a semi-final spot where they will take on Leigh Leopards. - Justin
