THE EDITOR'S WORD

TIM COSTELLO

We're off and running.

The NRL mens season started with an intriguing round of results - top sides Penrith and Melbourne getting expected victories in their season openers - but then a spate of arguable upsets, such as Brisbane up-ending Souths, Canterbury pipping the Cowboys and Newcastle's stunning win over the Roosters.

The women's season is past its midpoint now as well and is delivering its own intrigue - similarly the top side Brisbane is flying along, but the battle for the other three spots in the top four looks intriguing with the Dragons, Eels, Titans and Roosters all comfortably in the race. As for last-placed Newcastle - while they'd like to have had a more significant impact so far, they're not done yet either. Hear from coach Casey Bromilow and fullback Romy Teitzel on the pages that follow for how they see their inaugural campaign so far.

Happy reading!

LEARNING CURVE

Luckless Knights still searching for that winning feeling

The Telstra Women's Premiership competition ladder doesn't make for pretty reading on the surface if you're a Newcastle fan.

Three games into their inaugural season, the Novocastrians haven't scored more than 12 points in any of those matches. But if you dig a little deeper, they've been more than competitive.

The Knights were left languishing at the foot of the ladder following last weekend's 28-12 loss to Sydney Roosters in another match where they had no luck.

Maddie Studdon's right boot was enough to get Parramatta over the line in the season opener, before the Knights were competitive but lacked polish in a round two defeat to Brisbane.

It was a similar story in their 28-12 loss to Sydney Roosters last Sunday.

Coach Casey Bromilow summed it up best post-match, but don't for a second think the red-and-blues will give up.

It's not in the Novocastrian psyche.

"Losing ... it sucks and it's not fun," he said.

"If the bounce of the ball goes our way, or we don't make that error, or we do get given that penalty then it's a different story, but they're all coulda, woulda, shouldas at the moment.

"It hurts to lose, so it's just a matter now of working out how do we win."

Newcastle will have to regroup ahead of their first double-header with their Telstra Premiership counterparts on Sunday at McDonald Jones Stadium.

Captain and fullback Romy Teitzel preferred to look at their situation as a glass-half-full scenario.

"There are still two more chances to win and that's what we're looking forward to, but yeah, it's very disappointing and everyone feels it, but that's rugby league," Teitzel said.

"It's going to be disappointing coming off the back end of three losses, but I think we had plenty of opportunity to capitalise and unfortunately we couldn't.

"We'll let it soak in today, but moving forward we'll start looking into next week."

The Knights face second-placed St George Illawarra before a final-round clash with Gold Coast in their final two games of the season.

ROOSTERS FIND THEIR GROOVE TO DOWN TENACIOUS KNIGHTS

In a match that went largely as predicted, the Sydney Roosters have accounted for Newcastle to keep their NRLW finals hopes alive, with a 28-12 victory at the SCG.

The result leaves the Knights winless from three games and depending on results tomorrow, possibly even out of finals contention with two rounds remaining. For the Roosters, it was a welcome reprieve from a tough opening fortnight which saw them fall to losses against both Queensland club and running the risk of not featuring in the top four come the end of Round 5.

It started brightly for the Tricolours, opening up a 10-0 lead after just 15 minutes, with Isabelle Kelly and Brydie Parker providing tries for one another. Despite looking fairly listless in the first part of the match, Newcastle turned it around with Romy Teitzel reaching out through multiple defenders to score in the 24th minute, narrowing the margin to four. The Roosters would take the 10-6 lead to halftime, but not before two brain explosions from Ngatokotoru Arakua saw Newcastle short one player going into the break, sin-binned for a spear tackle just one minute after being placed on report for high contact.

Just after the break, the Roosters took advantage of the extra player advantage, with Parker securing her second and shortly after Olivia Kernick pushing the score out to 18-6. Once the squad numbers were back at parity, Newcastle clung to the contest with Annetta Nuuausala surging over and the gap was narrowed to 18-12. Newcastle stayed right in the contest until the 61st minute when Keilee Joseph scored the Roosters fifth try, soon followed by Jess Sergis claiming one for herself four minutes from fulltime.

The win sets up the Roosters nicely with a clash against Parramatta looming at Newcastle next Sunday, while the Knights are hosting the Dragons later the same day in a match will likely confirm whether they can make the top four or not.

OUR REPORT with JOSH ROBERTSON

BRONCOS STAY TOP OF THE LADDER AFTER TOUGH FIGHT AGAINST DRAGONS

The Brisbane Broncos have held onto top spot of the NRLW ladder following their 22-18 victory over a spirited St George Illawarra Dragons side at Parramatta.

Both sides came into the contest sitting at 2/2 although the Dragons were missing three key players through injury which was expected to hamper their performance. The Broncos were able to cross for the first try of the afternoon when Tallisha Harden was on the spot to collect a deflected grubber from Lauren Brown at dummy half to score. The Broncos went close a number of times again but it was the Dragons who scored as Keele Browne was able to get over as the Red 'V' went left and found the gap in the line to score and level the scores after Rachael Pearson's conversion. Neither side were able to get a sense of dominance over the other and it was the Broncos who hit back soon after with some more luck off the boot. Tarryn Aiken was in the right stop after an awkward bouncing ball caused all sorts of issues at the back for the Dragons and Aiken plucked the ball from Emma Tonegato's hands to score.

Trailing 12-6 at the break, the Dragons were able to level the scores with some beautiful play set up by Page McGregor who drew defenders in with her dummy and then the long pass gave Shaylee Bent space on the outside and the second rower raced away to score. Repeat sets put pressure on the Dragons defence and they took their toll when the Broncos were able to create space out wide and it was Emily Bass who was able to get over in the corner. A beautifully struck conversion from Lauren Brown pushed the lead back out to six.

The Dragons weren't giving up without a fight and it was Elsie Albert who charged onto an inside ball from Quincy Dodd to score the third for the Red 'V' when the PNG Orchids captain scored. Strength and class ended up prevailing for the Broncos when they were able to score inside the final five minutes as repeat set pressure again mounted on the Dragons and it told when Hagiga Mosby was on the outside of her defender and crossed in the corner. Lauren Brown pushed the conversion wide but it didn't matter.

The Broncos next week have their first Queensland Derby against the Gold Coast at Cbus Stadium whilst the Dragons head up to Newcastle to take on the Knights.

OUR REPORT with JOSH ROBERTSON

EELS CELEBRATE IN FRONT OF HOME FANS FOR WIN TWO

The Parramatta Eels have taken their second victory of the NRLW season with their 24-14 win over the Gold Coast Titans in front of a home crowd at CommBank Stadium.

Strange is the only description for the first half that was essentially two halves in one with the Eels dominating one half and the Titans dominating the other. The Eels started quickly and Maddie Studdon was able to get on the board first when the Parramatta attack wasn't conventional but was effective when a low pass was kicked forward and regathered by Tiana Penitani who found Maddie Studdon who scored for the Blue & Gold.

Parramatta were able to add another try inside the first ten minutes when rookie Abbi Church was able to fight her way over the line in the corner after being set up by Tiana Penitani who had her second try assist of the game. Both conversion attempts from Maddie Studdon were waved away after coming off the posts. Things continued to go against the Titans when Tazmin Gray was put on report and given ten minutes in the sin bin by referee Kasey Badger for a crusher tackle. Strangely though, things actually fell nicely for the Titans who actually were able to dominate during the ten-minute period Gray was off the field.

Celebrating her 40th birthday during the week, Steph Hancock kept the celebrations going with the veteran scoring her first NRLW try for the Titans and the Titans were back within just four points. If 12 players was meant to be a disadvantage, the Titans didn't show it as they levelled the scores when rookie Hailee-Jay Maunsell scored out wide as they managed to build an overlap and score out wide. The conversion was waved away and the scores were level. At the half-hour mark, the true strangeness really hit when the Eels were disallowed a try for an obstruction that was originally awarded but after bunker review it was knocked back. The strangeness continued when despite having more than five minutes remaining the siren went around the stadium. Thinking it was half time, Kimiora Breayley-Nati tapped the ball and kicked it out on the full, only for it to not be half time and the Eels had the ball inside the Titans 10m zone. A penalty in front of the posts meant that the Eels were able to level the scores at 10-10 which left Titans fans a bit frustrated.

The Titans were able to take the lead early in the second half when Destiny Brill continued her starring season when she was able to fight her way over the line and the Gold Coast lead 16-10. Things changed for the Eels when they were able to dominate thanks to Botille Vette-Welsh and ran in three unanswered tries started by an effort from Emily Curtain to fight her way to the line and get the ball down. The Eels continued their dominance when Botille Vette-Welsh was able to get her way over the line. The Eels sealed the victory with a beautiful angled run from Christian Pio to score and seal the victory for the Blue & Gold.

Next weekend, the Eels take on the Roosters in Newcastle whilst the Gold Coast get their first home game when they host the Broncos in the first NRLW Queensland Derby.

THE PREVIEW

with Tim Costello

Derby delight as Broncos look to secure minor premiership title

The NRLW gets its first true derby in its fourth season, with the two South-East Queensland clubs coming face-to-face for the first time.

Taking place at Robina's Cbus Super Stadium in the lead-up to the men's clash between the Titans and Warriors, the Titans and Broncos are sure to set the field alight in a match that will hold plenty of significance for both sides.

And not just for derby bragging rights either.

For the Titans, a win would put them in the box seat to secure a finals spot and make it difficult for the Roosters to go past them. Brisbane meanwhile will be looking to al-but secure their fourth straight NRLW minor premiership with a round to spare, should they be victorious in this clash.

Gold Coast's Tazmin Gray will miss the contest after copping a two-game suspension for a Crusher Tackle in Sunday's loss to Parramatta. Instead, Shaniah Power will start in the second row in her place. Further up the teamlist, Brianna Clark comes in at prop after missing last week's contest. Ngatupuna moves to the bench.

Brisbane's lineup is hugely impacted by the absence of fullback Tamika Upton, who hasn't passed concussion protocols to take her place in the lineup after a head-knock in the win over St George Illawarra. Maddick replaces her at fullback. Jad Ferguson and Kaitlyn Phillips join the bench.

Who to watch: The two number 10's were teammates at the Broncos up until this season, and will likely form the front row pairing for Queensland in June's State of Origin match in Canberra. For this week though, they're mortal enemies and will both be key. Steph Hancock was a standout for the Gold Coast in their loss to the Eels and will be primed for a huge showing against her former club, while Chelsea Lenarduzzi will need a big performance after not seeing as much ball in the win over the Dragons last weekend.

Favourite: Brisbane, of course.

My tip: Whenever I see a derby clash like this, I tend to throw the formbook out the window and tip with the emotion of the game rather than any kind of logic. Brisbane went very close to losing their perfect record last round and without Upton, there is weakness there. Gold Coast could just do this. Titans by 2.

THE PREVIEW

with Josh Robertson

The first of Sunday's NRLW games sees the Parramatta Eels looking to secure their spot in the top eight as they take on the Sydney Roosters who are looking to rebuild their season after their first victory last week.

Cheered on by a home ground, the Parramatta Eels scored their second victory of the NRLW season with their 24-14 victory over the Gold Coast Titans last week. The Blue and Gold were missing a number of key players and it didn't look to affect them all that much with the added players starring including five-eighth Emily Curtain and winger Abbi Church.

Bouncing back from their rain-soaked defeat, the Eels didn't have things their own way against the Titans and despite an early good start that saw the Blue and Gold take an early 8-0 lead, the Eels had to fight their way back after the Gold Coast were able to level the scores whilst Parramatta had the extra player. Parramatta had to fight their way back after the Titans lead 14-10 just into the second half and ultimately took the 24-14 victory.

The Eels will welcome back Rikeya Horne and Nita Maynard into the starting line-up after missing the Titans clash last weekend. The performance of Emily Curtain last weekend as earned her a starting spot this weekend, with Serena Naitokatoka named on the interchange bench along with Shirley Mailangi who started in the number 9 last week.

Sitting winless, the Sydney Roosters season need a kickstart and they got it last weekend following their 28-12 victory over the Newcastle Knights at the Sydney Cricket Ground. The Roosters whilst not playing badly had yet to their straps this season and needed a win if they were wanting to keep their finals hopes alive.

The Roosters were impressive to start with last week with two tries inside the first fifteen minutes that gave them the early dominance although the Knights were able to put pressure on the Tricolours although the Roosters continued to dominate the clash and take victory 28-12 although it should have been more had goalkicking not been an issue.

Brydie Parker misses out on selection for the Roosters with Taylor Mapusa returning to the line up after missing the last few matches following injury in Round 1. Coach John Strange has also switched around with his halves combination again with Zahara Temara set to start again with Jocelyn Kellher dropping to the bench.

Who to watch: Becoming the first player to run 200m in an NRLW match, Bottille Vette-Welsh continued her stunning form this season and broke history in the competition for the Eels. There will be extra attention on the Eels fullback this week as Vette-Welsh comes up against her old side the Roosters and there will be plenty of pressure to back up last week. Arguably, the fullback of the competition so far, the Eels will need the speed and power of their fullback against the Roosters.

Coming back into the starting line-up, there is pressure on Zahara Temara who has been a star for the Roosters since season 1. Temara initially started as the Roosters second choice halfback but quickly took the reins through the competition until this season where the Queensland representative has struggled. The Roosters will need Temara on fine form if they want to get past an Eels side that has been impressive so far.

Favourite: The Roosters are the slight favourites for the contest which is a slight surprise given their form this season.

My tip: The Roosters may be favourites, but there is so much to like about this Parramatta team. They have a good backline that can split any team and then their forwards and second row have as much power. The game will be a close one but I think the Eels just have that better side going forward. Eels by 6.

THE PREVIEW

with Josh Robertson

The final match of Round 4 of the NRLW sees the Newcastle Knights looking for their first win of the season when they take on the St George Illawarra Dragons.

Sitting at the bottom of the ladder, the Knights are still looking for the maiden win in the competition after three straight defeats. Last weekend the Knights fell to their third straight defeat following their 28-12 loss to the Sydney Roosters at the SCG.

Whilst being competitive at times, the Knights haven't really matched their opponents this season barring their opening round defeat to the Eels. Last weekend, the experience of the Roosters was too much to handle for the Knights and they weren't able to match it with their more credentialed opponents for the full 70 minutes.

The Knights have been forced into one change this week although the exact knowledge of the change won't be known until later in the week after Ngatokotoru Arakua was suspended for 1 match after a dangerous throw charge last week. The Kiwi Ferns prop was named in the unchanged 17 so her replacement isn't known as yet.

After being undefeated until last week, the St George Illawarra Dragons have proven they could more than match it with the Broncos following their 22-18 defeat last week when it does have to be remembered the Dragons were heavily under-strength.

The Dragons matched it with the Broncos right through the 70 minutes in their contest and never let the Broncos get away from them with the Red 'V' able to go try for try with their much-fancied opponents until Brisbane were able to score late in the game to seal the victory.

Returning to full strength, the Dragons welcome back Kezie Apps and Talei Holmes from injury whilst Madison Bartlett and Kody House return to the side following suspensions.

Who to watch: Experience needs to show for the Knights if they want to get their first victory of the season and being given another chance in the halves, Charntay Poko is the player that needs to be standing up for Newcastle. Poko's experience will be important if the Knights want to win.

Strong in attack and strong in defence, Taliah Fuimaono has been a key player for the Red 'V' this season. The Dragons youngster has been strong and her playmaking has been excellent as well her defence which has seen her pull off some very strong tackles. Fuimaono might not be one of the biggest names in the competition yet, but she is still a player to watch.

Favourite: The Dragons are favourites given their good form this season and their stronger line-up.

My tip: It's hard to go past the Dragons, the Knights have been struggling and the fact that the Saints were able to match it with the Broncos for the full 70 minutes when they were understrength and with four key players returning, they will be stronger. Dragons by 16.

PANTHERS WIN THEIR HOMECOMING AGAINST TEPID SEA EAGLES

In their first home game in front of fans for 240+ days, the Penrith Panthers put down an early marker with a 28-6 success against Manly Sea Eagles tonight at Penrith Stadium.

The Panthers were welcomed back after their Premiership win with a comfortable 22-point win against the Sea Eagles which saw backup halfback Sean O'Sullivan star in the game in the stead of Nathan Cleary, who will miss the first three weeks of the season with an injury.

Penrith looked like they hadn't missed a step after the Premiership win. Their defense was ferocious and kept the Sea Eagles side hemmed in their own end for much of the first half and helped them take a six-point advantage into the break.

Third time was a charm for the Panthers when they scored through youngster Izack Tago dove over in the left corner for his second four-pointer in his career for a 6-nil lead. Prior to that, the Panthers were denied twice due to obstruction which chalked off efforts for Stephen Crichton and Brian To'o.

Crichton was everywhere in attack tonight. He added a penalty goal to stretch the Panthers to 8-nil before the centre strode over himself from a delightful pass from O'Sullivan to give the hosts a 12-6 lead at

Manly were under the kosh for much of the first half but found some joy right near the break. It was the one time they found space through Kieran Foran and Tom Trbojevic which sent their new recruit Ethan Bullemor outpaced the defense to give them some spark going into the break.

The second half followed a similar script for the Panthers. They struck within five minutes of the second half whistle when five-eighth Jarome Luai found some space after the kick was caught from the Panthers attack to make the lead 18 points to six. Apisai Koroisau extended the lead with a burrowed effort from close range to give the Panthers a deserved homecoming after a long time.

It was a homecoming for Sean O'Sullivan as well who played his first game in Panthers colours since the SG Ball Grand Final. The former Broncos and Warriors halfback was the perfect stand-in for Cleary. He provided the last pass for three of the Panthers tries and lapped up the support back in his home colours.

For the Sea Eagles, it was another Round 1 loss which adds to their terrible record to open the season. Their star players were well handled against the Panthers defense and Trbojevic couldn't spark any attack in the second half. They now face another tough challenge in facing the perennial contenders Sydney Roosters at the Sydney Cricket Ground next Friday night.

Canberra have won a messy but exciting clash at GIO Stadium tonight, fighting off a Cronulla comeback and Matt Moylan field goal, recording a 24-19 win in Jack Wighton's 200th appearance.

While Cronulla were expected to dominate coming into the contest, it would be Canberra who started the stronger side, with Wighton celebrating in perfect fashion, dotting down for the Raiders' opening try after eight minutes.

Having earlier spilled it over the line and costing his side a four-pointer, Semi Valemei scored the home team's second try at the 17 minute mark. Brad Schneider's conversion - his second from two attempts - saw the Raiders lead 12-0.

After barely seeing their opposition goalline all game, Cronulla strolled over relatively easily with Blayke Brailey sneaking around the scrumbase to open the Shire club's account for 2022.

In the shadows of halftime it was Charnze Nicoll-Klokstad who ensured the Raiders had a scoreline representing their relative dominance after 40 minutes, pouncing on a Starling grubber. The Green Machine went to the break 18-6 up.

Cronulla looked much sharper after the break, dominating possession and territory - though it took until the 50th minute for them to turn that advantage into points. Will Kennedy busted through the line for his side's second try, which after being converted by Nicho Hynes narrowed the gap back to six.

Hynes would play a crucial role in the next Sharks try, putting Teig Wilton into space and ultimately levelling the scores.

The 18-all scoreline remained for nearly 20 minutes more despite Canberra's best efforts - including Wighton being denied a try by the Bunker after Schneider touched the ball, knocking it on the lead up.

With seven minutes on the clock, Matt Moylan casually knocked a one-pointer between the sticks to give the Sharks their first lead of the day, but it would be short lived.

Three minutes later it was Raiders forward Hudson Young scoring off a near-perfect inside offload by Matt Timoko. The conversion from Schneider saw the Raiders five-point leaders with about 3-and-a-half minutes left to hold out their opponents.

Try as they might - including Matt Ikuvalu being held up with mere seconds remaining - Cronulla couldn't crack the Canberra line and will head back up the Hume without anything to show for their troubles.

Next Saturday the Sharks are at home to Parramatta, while Canberra are off on a Townsville trip to face the Cowboys on the same evening.

CAPEWELL KICKS BRONCOS HOME OVER BUMBLING BUNNIES

A Kurt Capewell field goal sealed a 7-point win for Brisbane tonight at Suncorp Stadium as runners-up South Sydney capitulated on the road tonight.

Named captain for the day with fellow new signing Adam Reynolds sidelined due to COVID protocols, Capewell's 73rd-minute one-pointer secured a victory that will live long in many Brisbane fan's memory.

Denied twice early, the Broncos scored first through Albert Kelly after he picked off a Cody Walker wayward pass, running 80 metres off a superb intercept. Crucially, Jamayne Isaako converted. The next points came for the Bunnies, Josh Mansour squeezing inside the touch-in-goal line to get the visitors on the board. Jaxson Paulo was unable to convert, so Brisbane took a two-point lead into the sheds at halftime.

Payne Haas was enormous for the Broncos, picking up where he left off from an huge 2021 season for the prop. His dominance laid the platform for the home team to edge ahead 11 minutes after halftime, Corey Oates scoring in the corner, extending Brisbane's lead to six.

The twenty minutes after followed were a grind, with Souths trying to get back into the contest and Brisbane looking for a way through, each to no avail.

Enter Capewell and his heroics to push the margin to seven and force Souths into two scoring plays to win the game with just seven minutes left. They did get a penalty goal attempt with three minutes left, but Paulo's attempt went wide and handed Brisbane possession, snuffing out any chance of a Rabbitoh revival.

Souths do have good news on the horizon - they'll welcome back Latrell Mitchell for Thursday's trip to Melbourne to kick off Round 2. Brisbane have an extended layoff, with a Sunday night clash against Canterbury at Accor Stadium. They'll be boosted further by Reynolds' debut NRL appearance for the club as well as the return of Kobe Hetherington.

New Rabbitohs coach Jason Demetriou was full of praise for his opposition post-game.

"I think Brisbane's last ditch defence was pretty good - we had three or four chances and they kept finding blokes to cover it," he told media post-game. Equally, he was happy enough with his own side's performance without the ball.

"I was really happy defensively with how we kept turning up. We've just got to bottle that, and sharpen our attack a little bit."

Asked about Reynolds' departure and whether his presence was the missing ingredient, he told the media that was "irrelevant".

Kevin Walters was circumspect - while happy with the victory, acknowledged there's plenty still to work on. Capewell agreed.

"We left a couple of tries out there and I think some of our shape coming out of our own end could be better as well."

OUR REPORT with JUSTIN DAVIES

KNIGHTS AMBUSH ROOSTERS IN UPSET WIN

Newcastle Knights picked up a rare win in Sydney against the Roosters in a 20-6 success this afternoon at the Sydney Cricket Ground.

It has been a surprise start to the 2022 season but this result might be the biggest of all. Newcastle Knights were impressive in their work against a Sydney Roosters side which were tipped to be challengers this season. The Knights scored four tries to the Roosters one on a bright afternoon.

Dane Gagai made a welcome return to the Knights side, and the veteran centre was involved in all the Knights best work this afternoon. He also scored the first four-pointer of the afternoon after James Tedesco made a mess of a bomb and gave the centre a stroll to the line.

Next, it was some Bradman Best magic which stretched the lead to 10-nil. The centre who had an indifferent 2021, showed off all the skills with the fend on the defender then he flicked it out to Enari Tuala who had a saloon passage to the tryline.

Roosters looked disjointed and discouraged as the errors and penalties piled up. The home side thought they had the first points when James Tedesco finished off a linebreak from Luke Keary but it was brought back for interference. From there, it became a horror show for the tri-colours, who failed to fire a shot in the first half with a token penalty goal to Sam Walker, making it 10-2 at the break.

Maybe a half-time rev up might get the Roosters going? nope. Knights were the first side to post second half points. Jake Clifford, who joined the side mid-season last year, scooped up a loose pass from Jared Wearea-Hargreaves to scoot away to make it 16-2. There was a small window when Phoenix Crossland was sent to the sin bin for a professional foul on Keary. The Roosters dominated possession in the period but were unable to make any inroads, due in part, to some stellar defense from Knights winger Dom Young.

The English product put the icing on the result for the Knights in the 73rd minute. Adam Clune started the move with a linebreak on the left before the Knights swung it wide right for Young to dive over in the corner for 20-2.

Roosters got some late consolation from former Panther Paul Momirovski. He cleaned up a crossfield bomb which was spilled and dived over to make the scoreline 20-6 which honestly flattered the home side.

OUR REPORT with AJ LUCANTONIO RAVALAWA HAT-TRICK DERAILS SCRAPPY WARRIORS

The St George Illawarra Dragons have claimed their first win of the season downing the New Zealand Warriors 26-16 at Sunshine Coast Stadium in a scrappy and fiery match to kickstart both side's premiership campaigns.

The Dragons won their first match since the infamous BBQ scandal and turned around a recent poor record against the Aucklanders in a match that wasn't settled until the final 20 minutes. The Dragons came in with 6 club debutants for their opening round clash and seemed to click into gear early with Tyrell Sloan throwing a lovely cutout ball to Mikaele Ravalawa to claim the opening try of the contest. Zac Lomax playing in game number 50 knocked over the sideline conversion to put the visitors up by 6-0. After scrappy play from both sides leading to multiple errors and try-scoring opportunities going astray, a neat set play from Ben Hunt and Tyrell Sloan netted the visitors an early 2 try lead after Jack Bird stormed onto an inside ball from Tyrell Sloan to score next to the posts. Lomax once again made no mistakes and the Dragons marched to a 12-0 lead.

The Warriors would later settle into this match with Dallin Watene-Zelezniak capitalising on poor clean-up work by Sloan and Hunt to score the Warriors' first try of 2022. Shaun Johnson's kick would go to the right of the uprights. The Dragons seemed to have collapsed before half-time when Josh Curran went through some poor St George defence to put Wayne Egan under the posts. Some poor Warriors discipline cost the Warriors before the break with 2 sloppy penalties setting Zac Lomax up for a gift shot at goal. He made no mistakes and put the Dragons up 14-10 at half-time.

Immediately after the break, Shaun Johnson booted a 40/20 (really was a 30/20) to set the Warriors up with prime attacking field position. From there, Eli Katoa barnstormed his way to the line and with SJ's conversion, the Warriors led for the first time in the match. The Warriors from there just seemed to be on auto-pilot with elementary mistakes from reliable winger Dallin Watene-Zelezniak giving the Dragons golden field position. Mikaele Ravalawa was giving opposite number Marcelo Montoya nightmares on the right-hand side of the field, powering his way to the line to retake the lead for the Red V.

From the ensuing kick-off, Ravalawa did his best impression of his half-back's infamous 2015 grand final moment and gave the Warriors another prime attacking opportunity. Fortunately for the Red V, this chance went astray. After a crazy early tackle kick from the Warriors deep in their own half. The Dragons took this opportunity with both hands and scored with Mikaele Ravalawa completing his hat-trick. Shaun Johnson rallied his side back with an impressive 90m dropout, but unfortunately for him and the Warriors, they allowed the Dragons to march down the field and concede possibly the softest try so far in 2022. Moses Mbye threw a dummy and beat 2 lazy Warriors defenders to wrap the game up.

For the Dragons, they next take on the defending premiers Penrith at Kogarah's Nestrata Jubilee Stadium next Friday in what is sure to be an emotional night as the club pays tribute to immortal Norm Provan who passed away last year. For the Warriors, they stay in QLD as they go down to the Gold Coast and play the Titans next Saturday afternoon in what will need to be an improved performance with the ball completing at just 66%.

OUR REPORT with ADAM HUXTABLE TIGERS START FAST BUT CAN'T HOLD OFF FAST-FINISHING STORM

It was a first round win for the Storm, but it came at a huge cost, with key players Brandon Smith, Christian Welch and George Jennings all sustaining injuries in a 26-16 triumph over Wests Tigers.

Perhaps Brandon Smith going down 3 minutes into the contest was an omen for things to come, but despite all the injuries, the Storm were still able to rally from what was at one point a 10 point deficit with half an hour to go to come back and win by 10 points themselves.

The Tigers attack looked about 10 times better than some of what they dished up in 2021, with the joint venture getting on the board in just the 7th minute. The momentum was too much for the Storm to overcome, as Kelma Tuilagi got an offload away to Luke Brooks, who did well to throw an over-the-head pass to Gildart, who swung it to Maumalo who went over untouched to give the Tigers the early lead.

The Storm were able to hit right back just 5 minutes later however, getting into good field position and creating an overlap with ease that George Jennings found himself on the end of, himself going over untouched. The score remained 4-4 as both Brooks and Meaney had rough nights with the boot.

Both sides went set for set for a period of time, the Storm were the first to blink and gave away a piggybacking penalty in the 18th minute. Meaney had an opportunity to put the Storm ahead minutes later but his penalty goal was no good.

The Tigers took the lead back in the 32nd minute courtesy of a brilliant sweeping play that saw Laurie insert himself into the line and find Nofoaluma with a crisp cutout pass that he did well to finish. A penalty right on halftime in front of the posts made it 10-4 at the break in favour of the hosts.

The Tigers started the 2nd half right how they'd been playing in the first, with Brooks putting in a pinpoint kick to find Ken Maumalo, who picked the pocket of Reimis Smith to score the Tigers third and his second.

The Storm again responded with a try of their own, again exposing the weak edge defence of the Tigers through Trent Loiero, who dummied his way over the line. The Tigers kicked another penalty goal to make it a converted try the difference, but the Storm tied things up 5 minutes later courtesy of some individual brilliance from Jahrome Hughes.

From there, it was all the Storm. They grabbed their first lead of the night in the 67th minute after a line break from Hughes lead to Xavier Coates getting his first try as a member of the Storm. Meaney missed the conversion, and then the penalty goal moments later to give the Tigers some hope, but Daine Laurie knocked on coming out of his own end and the Storm scored through Smith on the ensuing possession, creating the final score of 26-16.

Next week, the Storm take on the Rabbitohs on Thursday Night at AAMI Park - their first game back home in 316 days - while the Tigers will take on the Knights away on Sunday Afternoon.

OUR REPORT with JUSTIN DAVIES EELS SLIP PAST TITANS IN POINTS FEST

Parramatta Eels register their first win of the 2022 season in a 32-28 success this afternoon at Western Sydney Stadium.

It was a game where defence was definitely the thing that goes around the stadium. Both teams piled up nine tries in the first half but it was the steady foot of Mitchell Moses which drove the Eels towards two points tonight.

The highlight of the first half was for young winger Sean Russell. He scored a hat-trick of tries in the left corner to make it five tries in only two appearances in first grade and will think this first grade malarkey is easy. The Eels looked forboding when they switched the ball to the left but the half ended on a sad note for Russell, who left the field with a rib injury scoring his third.

Parramatta's attack was in fine fettle to open the game. They scored the first two tries of the game to stride out to a 10-nil lead which included a freakish try that thundered off the post and positioned well for Russell to pick up another four-pointer. If 2022 might be the last chance for this Eels squad, they will want to finish inside the top four again and started the season off right.

The Titans showed some resilience after the two early scores. Young half Toby Sexton has been handed the halves mantle and started the season off on the right foot with two terrific passes for Phillip Sami and Brian Kelly to get them back in the contest at 14-10 Eels.

For the rest of the first half, the game resembled a pendulum as both teams found point scoring easy. Waqa Blake and Russell pushed the Eels further ahead at 26-12 before the Titans dug deep to make it 26-22 at the break. Hooker Erin Clark found a pocket of space behind the markers then Kelly got involved again to complete his brace and let everyone take a breather after a pulsating half.

Compared to that, the second half was a snoozefest. It was more tough, grinding football. The Eels only points came from the kicking tee with Moses piloted through three penalty goals to hand the Eels a four-point lead. There will be frustration for the Eels despite the win, as they were camped on the Titans line for a majority of the half without getting across the line again.

Gold Coast Titans will feel slightly aggrieved after that game. They hit the front for the first time in the 45th minute. Sami came from the clouds from a huge Sexton kick and put some extra sauce on the celebration after he fended off Eels fullback Clint Gutherson, giving them a 28-26 lead.

One positive for Justin Holbrook will be the goal-line defense of the Titans. They had to dig deep several times to deny an Eels line-up which has shown they can score points at will and forced them to take the two points on several occasions.

OUR REPORT with JOSH ROBERTSON BULLDOGS START 2022 WITH SCRAPPY VICTORY IN TOWNSVILLE

The Canterbury Bulldogs are in the NRL top 8 for the first time since 2017 following their scrappy 6-4 victory over the North Queensland Cowboys in Townsville.

Despite not being an NRL classic, there were a few highlights in what could only be described as a dumpster fire of a game (sorry Cowboys and Dogs fans).

The first half was a drab affair although the Cowboys were able to score inside 15 minutes when Tom Gilbert backed up some good work from Tom Dearden and Murray Tualagi to score. Valentine Holmes pushed the conversion away.

The start of a new season saw Jack Hetherington reunited with the Sin Bin after 20 minutes though at least in good news for Jack it was as a result of repeated ten metre infringements and not a high tackle that Ben Cummins gave him his marching orders.

Both sides had chances but humid conditions meant that neither team could fully execute their attacking plans and the Cowboys lead 4-0 at the break despite a chance on the stroke of half-time for the Bulldogs that was knocked back by the referee and bunker.

A half-time chat between Ben Cummins and Josh Jackson about the lopsided penalty count (it was 8-2 at the break) seemed to work for the Bulldogs as they were able to get two penalties in quick succession and put the Blue and White into good field position.

The Bulldogs were able to put their field position into use eventually when a great tip on from Braidon Burns found Jayden Okunbor who scored out wide for Canterbury. New recruit Matt Burton nailed the conversion from the sideline to give the Bulldogs a 6-4 lead with 25 minutes to play.

The last twenty minutes would have been a nervous watch for the Bulldogs fans who have done it tough and, in a game, where ball security was questionable, the Bulldogs losing players to concussion wouldn't have helped their fans.

If there was ever a gif that summed up a moment, it would've been the Ralph Wiggum heart-breaking gif for Bulldogs fans when in the final two minutes Hamiso Tabuai-Fidow scored after Coen Hess outjumped Matt Dufty and tapped it back to the 'Hammer' who scored.

Canterbury fans got a second life though, when the try was overturned by Steve Chiddy in the bunker after it was ruled that Tabuai-Fidow was offside and the try would not stand. The Bulldogs held on for the remaining two minutes to hold onto the 6-4 victory.

Next week, the Bulldogs have the Sunday night spot once again, this time against the Broncos - whilst the Cowboys stay in Townsville with the Raiders travelling to take them on Saturday.

THE PREVIEW

with Jason Hosken

Rabbitohs travel south to bury the Melbourne curse

In a week laced with upsets, if the opening round taught us anything, it's that the script can be thrown away.

Blindsided by an unfancied Broncos, an off-track Rabbitohs looked a shadow of the side that finished within a kick of last season's title.

Now on the road to Melbourne, rookie coach Jason Demetriou faces an awkward reality. With the Roosters and Panthers to follow, it could still be weeks before Souths celebrate their first victory in the post Wayne Bennett era.

As the Adam Reynolds void gets bigger by the week, it was Lachlan Illias who copped the brunt of the Suncorp fallout. But behind a sloppy 66 per cent completion rate, the young playmaker could do little more than tread water.

Latrell Mitchell's return from suspension makes the Rabbitohs look infinitely stronger. With Alex Johnston able to slot back onto his favoured wing, Cody Walker now has a familiar face to target along a lethal left edge.

On Saturday night the Storm didn't have it all their own way against Tigers and as Craig Bellamy prepares for his 500th game in charge, he'll welcome a much friendlier script.

Jahrome Hughes' class and nous proved the difference, but in return for the two points, Melbourne were made to pay with long term injuries to prop Christian Welch, Brandon Smith and George Jennings.

But with an embarrassment of riches, when Melbourne finally hit AAMI Park for the first time since Round 8 last season, it will be with a stronger line-up. Skipper Jesse Bromwich returns at prop alongside a refreshed Harry Grant, while Cameron Munster's return will ease the pressure on Hughes.

Last season on their home turf, the Storm averaged 34 points in five matches. It spells danger even this early in the season given the Storm host five of their next six at their Melbourne home base.

For fans of the red and green it's a horror story only Alice Cooper could love. After 10 attempts at AAMI, Souths are still duck eggs.

Long term the story isn't much better with Melbourne holding the whip in 30 of the 35 meetings since their inception back in 1998.

WHO TO WATCH: With the Tigers on route to an upset at Commbank Stadium, Jahrome Hughes single-handedly dashed their hopes with a try and two line breaks. Playing just his third full season in the No.7, the one time Titan and Cowboy now finds his name alongside the premier playmakers in the NRL. His presence alone might just be enough to spark Cody Walker, and if the narky Rabbit shakes the trap, be prepared for the lights to be blown out of the scoreboard.

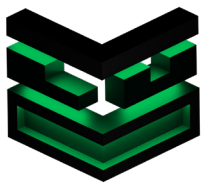

Keaon Koloamatangi was one of several Souths big boppers who failed to ignite against the Broncos. Maybe it was magnified by his side's lack of respect for the Steeden. Either way, his 73m compared to last year's 130m per match was flatter than AM radio.

Now on Thursday night when stares into the eyes of the Bromwich brothers and Nelson Asofa-Solomona, there will be at least one coach hoping he packed the short fuse.

FAVOURITE: Shorter than Alfie Langer stuck in a ditch, that's the Storm this week.

MY TIP: Throw away the script they say, round 1 was living proof. Not when it comes to the Rabbitohs in Melbourne it's not. Like oil and water, they just don't mix. The rumble and tumble will be real, but the Storm, like a slimy slick, will once again finish on top. Storm by 8.

THE PREVIEW

Dragons paying tribute to an immortal against the defending premiers

St George Illawarra returns to Netstrata Jubilee Stadium for the first time since June 3 last year, for their first home game of the season against defending premiers, the Penrith Panthers. It will be an emotional night for the Red V, with a special tribute match to honour 13th immortal Norm Provan, who sadly passed away over the off-season. Provan played over 250 games for St George in their golden era and was an integral part of the 11 straight premiership triumphs by the Dragons between 1956 and 1966. He was inducted into the Australian Rugby League Hall of Fame in 2004 as well as being named in the ARL Team of the Century in 2008. It will be a touching night for all in attendance and Dragons fans will be hopeful the current players encapsulate the spirit of 'Sticks' against the defending premiers. St George Illawarra will retire the number 9 jersey that Provan made famous over his illustrious career for this match, with hooker Andrew McCullough instead donning #19.

The Dragons come into their home opener following a 28-16 win over the Warriors. Anthony Griffin would've been pleased with most aspects of their performance, especially the combinations between Tyrell Sloan and Ben Hunt who linked up on multiple occasions to place the Dragons in try-scoring situations. What could be a damaging sign of things to come was the lethal combination between Zac Lomax and Mikaele Ravalawa down the right edge. They gave Rocco Berry and Marcelo Montoya nightmares last week and will look to outmuscle their opposite numbers on Friday night. What 'Hook' wouldn't have been pleased with was the mini-collapse his team had before halftime after getting out to an early 12-0 lead. The Red V slacked off in defence and allowed a lot of offloads and fell off many tackles, most notably Jack Gosiewski's efforts which led to Josh Curran bursting through to set up Wayne Egan's try. To the Dragons credit, they did bounce back well frustrating their opponents by forcing brain snaps and lackadaisical play, which set up field position and allowed Mikaele Ravalawa to score his second career hat-trick. St George Illawarra will be without Aaron Woods who left Saturday night's game moments after returning for his second stint with a hamstring injury. QLD origin rep Francis Molo gets his first starting opportunity at the Red V and will look to continue his great form to start 2022 with George Burgess being selected on the bench for his 150th NRL match. Tariq Sims is named on the extended bench but is unlikely to play.

Penrith was convincing on opening night, defeating a much-fancied Manly side 28-6. Most pundits thought Penrith would struggle without Nathan Cleary, however, Sean O'Sullivan played his hand perfectly, setting up two tries and placing Manly under plenty of pressure with an effective kicking game. Their forward pack is among the best in the premiership with workhorses like James Fisher-Harris, Isaiah Yeo and Viliame Kikau who'll play his 100th game for the Panthers in this one. The forwards constantly get on top of their opposition and will give the reborn Dragons pack their toughest test thus far. Out wide, Izack Tago proved his doubters wrong with an excellent performance on the edges seamlessly sliding into Matt Burton's vacant centre spot. Penrith will once again be without Nathan Cleary as he continues his rehab on his shoulder, Panthers officials are hoping he'll return in two weeks for the grand final rematch with South Sydney. Otherwise, the major injury concern is prop Moses Leota who left the field in the latter stages of the opening night win over Manly. Leota will be out for an indefinite period, a blow for a Penrith pack that was dominant against Manly. Spencer Leniu is promoted to the run-on side with Matt Eisenhuth filling the vacancy on the bench.

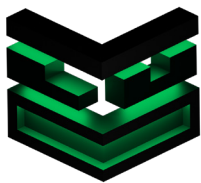

WHO TO WATCH: Many St George Illawarra fans found it surprising that Blake Lawrie was given a starting spot ahead of QLD representative Francis Molo. But he has repaid the faith coach Anthony Griffin has in him with an impressive performance to kick off season 2022. Lawrie's workload last weekend against the Warriors is a testament to the hard work he has put in over the off-season carrying the ball 15 times for 138m and 20 tackles in a solid 50-minute stint. Lawrie will have the tough task of matching it with Penrith's James Fisher-Harris.

The absence of Nathan Cleary for the first few rounds wasn't only going to place pressure on Sean O'Sullivan and Jarome Luai. One man who stepped up in a big way for Penrith was Dylan Edwards, who showed that he wasn't the handbrake in Penrith's attack many thought he was last season. When given open space, few fullbacks match his workload. An impressive opening match for the Penrith custodian carrying the football over 30 times for over 330m. This is mightily impressive considering he didn't play any trials and was playing his first match since returning from off-season foot surgery.

FAVOURITE: With how well they dismantled Manly on opening night, Penrith will start short-priced favourites. St George Illawarra hasn't defeated Penrith since 2017 when the Dragons had a season sweep over the Panthers including a 42-10 thrashing at Kogarah.

MY TIP: It will be one emotional night at Kogarah as St George pay tribute to one of the best to have ever pulled on the famous Red V. However, the Panthers are just too strong in many areas and it will take a monumental effort from the Red V to pull off the upset. Look for Penrith to be dominant in defence denying the Dragons the opportunity to work it off their line, as they did against Manly last Thursday night. Penrith by 12.

THE PREVIEW

with Lachy MacCorquodale

It wasn't the start that either of these teams were expecting, now one of these 'star' teams will begin the season with two losses and no wins to their name.

The Manly-Warringah Sea Eagles liked their chances against a Nathan Cleary-less Penrith; however, they were quickly proven wrong as the Panthers picked up from where they left off. The Sea Eagles did well to trail by a single try at the half time break, but they failed to conjure any second half points as the Panthers strolled through for three tries in the second half. Manly's defence was poor, missing 16 more tackles than their opponents whilst turning the ball over twice as often as the Panthers. It follows a particular defensive trend for Manly since the start of last season. Against the top three from 2021 (Melbourne, Penrith, Souths), the Sea Eagles were a dismal 0-6, scoring just 80 points and conceding a baffling 204 points. To the eye, it looks like Manly's attack are over-reliant on scoring long range tries and Tom Trbojevic. Penrith were able to limit Trbojevic's effectiveness and as a result, took a lot of the sting and unpredictability out of the Sea Eagles attack. Last season, Manly showed what they can do to the teams below them on the ladder, but if they are to take the next leap up, they're going to have to start performing and winning against the best clubs in the competition. The Sea Eagles have made only one change for their clash on Friday night, with 19-year-old Tolutau Koula dropping out of the 17 as Dylan Walker returns to the side.

Looking to this weekend, Manly should watch how the Newcastle Knights defended against a strong Sydney Roosters side. The Knights tried to limit Luke Keary and Sam Walker's time on the ball and doing so put pressure on the two halves to distribute the ball quickly. However, I'm sure the Roosters will try this exact tactic with the likes of Trbojevic and Daly Cherry-Evans.

The Sydney Roosters will be infuriated by their poor outing against the Knights on Saturday. Credit to the Knights for taking down Trent Robinson and his Roosters, but they'll be out for revenge this Friday. They'll need to be more clinical this weekend, with two of Newcastle's first three tries coming directly from dropped balls. In fact, they'll need to be more clinical all over the park as the 2019 Premiers failed to break the line at any stage during the game and broke a mere 13 tackles in comparison to the Knights 35. The clubs' leaders, such as James Tedesco and Luke Keary will take the onus upon them to deliver the two points for the Eastern Suburbs this Friday. Both had lacklustre games on Saturday afternoon, with neither excelling, albeit it was Luke Keary's first game in almost 12 months. Another leader who will be fired up to take on the Sea Eagles is Victor Radley. Radley, concussed after just 26 minutes on Saturday lines up against the New South Wales 13, Jake Trbojevic, in a mouth-watering contest. Victor's absence for most of the game stunted the Roosters attack who were suddenly without one of their best ball players. Radley's game is crucial for the Roosters attack as he takes the ball deep into the line, creating spaces around nearby defenders for his teammates to take advantage of. He's been named to start this week, after just playing 26 minutes before coming off on Saturday in an unchanged line up from their clash on Saturday.

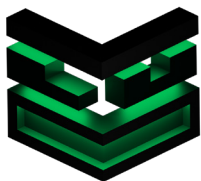

WHO TO WATCH: Well, it's hard to look past these two Dally M Medallists when you look at the team list and given their team's performances last week, you could expect fireworks from these two. James Tedesco and Tom Trbojevic, New South Wales teammates and arguably the two best fullbacks in the game line up against each other on Friday night. Firstly, Tedesco will be putting Round 1 in the back of his mind, after his dropped ball in the 12th minute led to Dane Gagai scoring in his return match for Newcastle whilst giving his side the lead. Tedesco finished with just 150 run metres and failed to break the line at any stage against the Knights. However, don't expect this to be a trend for Tedesco, who has broken the line 70 times in his 91 appearances for the Roosters whilst averaging 201 run metres per game. 'Teddy' will be back to his best and with bragging rights on the line between the two rep teammates, he'll be hunting for chances.

His opposite number, Tom Trbojevic again had a relatively quiet game despite assisting a try, breaking the line once and running for 157 metres. Although, when you compare this with his performances from last year, it leaves a little to be desired. Trbojevic is in a similar boat to Tedesco, both underperformed 'to their standards' in Round 1 and very rarely do these players underperform for long. We saw what Trbojevic can do during the 2021 season and hopefully from a viewing perspective he delivers. If both players can turn it on for Friday night's blockbuster, we could witness an incredible game.

FAVOURITE: The Roosters are slight favourites heading into Friday's clash but this game could honestly go either way. Their 2021 head to head clashes prove this (Round 1 - Roosters 42 point win & Semi Final - Manly 36 point win). This is an important match as no premiership contender wants to start the season 0-2 so both teams will be fired up and raring to go.

MY TIP: As mentioned earlier, I could see this game going either way. It's hard to judge these teams after one round and given the lack of points these two teams scored, we don't really have a clear idea on each side's respective attack. I'm going to back it to be a close game with the Sydney Roosters coming home as winners. Roosters by 4.

THE PREVIEW

with Andrew Jackson

They have long been the league's great entertainers but are the Titans and Warriors serious contenders this time around?

If there was any game to sum up the reason why the Gold Coast Titans are rarely considered genuine premiership contenders, it was last week's against the Parramatta Eels.

This is a team that is a joy to watch with the ball in hand but defensively for too long the Titans have lacked the mettle and fortitude to become a more complete force in the league.

It was a problem for the Gold Coast last year and it looks like little has changed this year either.

That has to be the focus for the Titans this week as they face a Warriors side down on troops.

In many ways, the above summary of the Titans can also be applied to the Warriors, although it is hard to be critical of Nathan Brown's men given the injury news that emerged out of Saturday's game.

Shaun Johnson, Dallin Watene-Zelezniak and Viliami Vailea all played out the 80 minutes despite picking up injuries that will rule them out for the next few weeks.

The Warriors did well, like the Titans, to claw their way back into the game after a slow start against the Dragons but also failed to build enough pressure to hold the Red V out long enough.

In positive news for the Warriors, Reece Walsh and Matt Lodge return from suspension, seeing Kodi Nikorima dropping out and Chanel Harris-Tavita to five-eighth, where he will partner Ash Taylor.

Jesse Arthurs also fills in at centre with Adam Pompey on the wing while for the Titans, they are bolstered by the return of AJ Brimson at five-eighth.

WHO TO WATCH: While Brimson's return will offer the Gold Coast yet another option in attack, it is also worth keeping an eye on fullback Jayden Campbell. The youngster tore the Warriors apart in their last meeting, scoring two tries, running for over 230 metres and busting eight tackles in an electric performance.

The Titans have seemingly found a long-term spine to build around in Campbell, Brimson, Toby Sexton – although there is still some uncertainty over the solution at hooker. But regardless, Campbell will only continue to grow in confidence as his body and game develops.

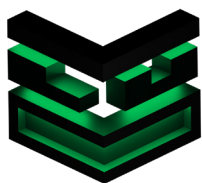

On the other side of the field will be a former Titan in Ash Taylor who was supposed to be the team's franchise halfback. Instead, just a few years after making the switch from the Broncos, Taylor finds himself on a cut-price deal from the Warriors. He may not be the million-dollar man but that does not mean he can't play like one. In many ways, not having that price tag slapped on him and the pressure that comes with it could work in Taylor's favour.

What won't work for him though is the countless changes this week that will have disrupted the side's rhythm and will require Taylor to adopt a more simple game plan. The former Titans halfback is capable of that though and will know the ins and outs of how to take down his ex-teammates.

FAVOURITE: Injuries and round one form sees the Titans installed as strong favourites.

MY TIP: The Titans will field a very different halves pairing to the one that tore the Warriors apart last year but don't be surprised if there is a similar scoreline again. The Warriors are still figuring out their identity and the injuries won't help. Titans by 20.

THE PREVIEW

with Hamish Parker

Horror Start vs Dream Start?

The Cronulla Sharks and Parramatta Eels will do battle on Saturday night at a newly refurbished PointsBet stadium. The Sharks will be looking to avoid an 0-2 start to the season, whilst the Eels will be vying to add two more competition points to their tally after taking down the Titans in a high-scoring affair last weekend.

Craig Fitzgibbon will be coaching his first game for Cronulla due to missing round 1 after contracting COVID-19. He'll be hoping this week he can rectify what went wrong for the black, white and blue down in the nation's capital last Friday. No doubt "Fitzy" will be happy with what he saw in his team's resolve to claw themselves back into the contest from 18-6 down to eventually lead 19-18. They did however let the narrow lead slip late in the contest, bringing to the forefront the age-old cliché that you have to play for the full 80 minutes.

The former Roosters assistant coach has stuck solid and backed the same 17 to start and finish the game better than what they did last week. They will need to be at their best defensively against a team who showed last week that they can post plenty of points, and quickly. If they can't match it with the Eels early, the game has the potential to get away from Cronulla before it really starts.

The Eels are coming off a win last week, but they'll be looking to improve in some key areas, especially in defence. The blue and gold were involved in a game that saw 48 first half points scored, with that half alone producing more points than any other full game over the weekend of action.

The fast-paced intensity of the game against the Gold Coast did not come without its repercussions. Brad Arthur was forced to move Waqqa Blake to the left wing for this weekend's game, after 19-year-old winger Sean Russell suffered a broken rib and punctured lung scoring the try that completed his hat-trick. Injuries to Maika Sivo and Haze Dunster have left the Eels short for options when it comes to wing replacements. Tom Opacic will come in at centre and fill the void left by Waqqa Blake moving to the fringe. Ryan Matterson is also out this weekend. This sees Oregon Kaufusi, who funnily enough will join Cronulla in 2023, promoted from the bench to the starting lock role. The new faces on the bench are Bryce Cartwright and Nathan Brown, who returns to first grade after a brief stint in Knock-on-Effect Cup last week. Jakob Arthur misses out on the 17 and is selected in the reserves.

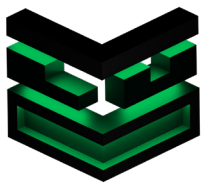

WHO TO WATCH: With Braydon Trindall set to return from suspension next week, Matt Moylan will be hoping to stamp his credentials as a legitimate starter in this team. The off-season recruitment of Nicho Hynes has seemingly shut down the competition for one spot in the halves and with Will Kennedy only getting better at fullback, Moylan may be hard-pressed to keep his spot in the starting 13. By all reports, the former State of Origin representative has been impressive all throughout pre-season in the shire and if he can propel his team to their first win of 2022, it may be enough edge out Trindall before his ban is up.

With greats like Peter Sterling formerly wearing the number 7 at the Eels during their period of success throughout the 70's and 80's, the jersey always comes with the weight of expectation. Images of Mitchell Moses shaking his head despite the win last weekend shows a growing level of maturity within the Parramatta halfback and an acknowledgement that leaking 28 points wasn't an acceptable standard. Moses made his State of Origin debut in Game III last season and at the age of 27, he appears ready to take his game to new heights. His kicking game and game management as a whole will be crucial this weekend against what is a relatively unpredictable Cronulla side who have so many new faces in their team. If the Eels can start fast again and Moses can rally his troops not to lapse again, Brad Arthur's men will give themselves a very good shot at winning this one.

FAVOURITE: The Eels are slight 3.5-point favourites to take the win.

MY TIP: I saw Cronulla losing to Canberra as a shock last week, and I certainly didn't see the Titans pushing the Eels the way they did. It goes to show that rugby league is an unpredictable game and anything can happen. The Eels though, are notoriously fast-starters to the season and I didn't think I saw enough from Cronulla last week to suggest that their new combinations are going to click just yet. Your guess is as good as mine, but I'm taking the Eels by 8.

THE PREVIEW

with Rob Crosby

Contrasting fortunes face off in Townsville

Coming off last-gasp results in the opening round respectively, the North Queensland Cowboys and the Canberra Raiders will be out to improve when they face off in Townsville on Saturday evening.

Opening a season with back-to-back home matches for the first time since the club's victorious premiership campaign, the North Queensland Cowboys will be looking for greater cohesion in attack after managing a single try over the opening round.

Going down to the Bulldogs 6-4 last Sunday after a late bunker intervention correctly denied the side victory, coach Todd Payten will be hoping his side can deliver a win on home soil for the first time since Round 12 last season. Elevating young forward Griffin Neame onto the bench with Jordan McLean starting in place of injured prop Jamayne Taunua-Brown, Mackay junior Mitchell Dunn will celebrate a milestone by playing his 50th game for the club.

Hoping to open a season with back-to-back wins for the third year in succession, the Canberra Raiders will be out to continue a strong recent run of form in Townsville. Winning three of their past four visits to North Queensland, after losing nine straight visits between 2007-17, coach Ricky Stuart will be eyeing another committed performance from his players to back up last Friday's come-from-behind 24-19 over the Sharks.

Elevating Tom Starling to the starting side with Josh Hodgson sidelined with a knee injury, Adrian Trevilyan will make his first grade debut in jersey 14, while Matt Frawley will take over at halfback after Brad Schneider was forced to isolate due to a positive COVID-19 result.

WHO TO WATCH: Producing an eye-catching display last Sunday in only his fifth appearance in the top grade, Cowboys young gun Jeremiah Nanai will be looking for further improvement in a bid to elevate the side towards their first win of the season. Running for over 150 metres and producing a line-break against the Bulldogs, the 19-year-old second-rower garnered plenty of plaudits for his efforts, most notably being the youngest current forward to play 80 minutes during the opening round. Set to attract plenty of attention in the transfer market as an off-contract forward, expect Nanai to enhance his value with another strong showing on home soil.

Finishing the opening round with the third most tackle breaks of any player in the league, Raiders young gun Matt Timoko will be out to continue his impressive start to the season. Producing a strong showing against the Sharks with 85 running metres, a try-assist, two offloads and eight tackle breaks, the 22-year-old Auckland native has yet to cross for a try in his previous 12 appearances in the top grade. Facing off against Peta Hiku in a key personal battle, look for Timoko to stake a strong case for more game time as Jarrod Croker continues his recovery from injury.

FAVOURITE: While the Cowboys hold a slender 7-6 advantage over their weekend opponents in the years since Ricky Stuart reteamed with the Green Machine, the bookmakers have favoured the Raiders to get the job done on Saturday evening.

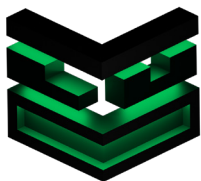

MY TIP: Having shown greater aptitude in attack and the resilience to snatch victory at the death during the opening round, the Raiders will rate their chances of leaving North Queensland with a 2-0 record. Raiders by 10.

THE PREVIEW

with Lachlan McIntyre

Knights aim to build on impressive first round win

Both sides will be looking to back up their respective first round showings when the Newcastle Knights meet the Wests Tigers in Newcastle on Sunday afternoon.

The Newcastle Knights kicked off their 2022 season last weekend against the Roosters, coming away with a very impressive 20-6 win on enemy territory. The win was highlighted by an outstanding defensive effort, keeping James Tedesco's side tryless for 75 minutes before Paul Momirovski found his way to the line late on. There are still many question marks over the potential of a Knight's team that lacks experienced players in key positions, but their performance in round 1 shows that only a fool would count them out.

This weekend against the Tigers will be another big challenge for the spine. Inexperienced halves Jake Clifford and Adam Clune starred, and will need to do so again in place of now-Catalan half Mitchell Pearce. Hooker Chris Randall has seemingly cemented his spot in the 13 in the absence of regular number 9 Jayden Brailey, after a big showing in round 1 in which he made 50 tackles for no missed ones.

Eyes will be on the outside backs for Newcastle this weekend, with centres Dane Gagai and Bradman Best impressing in their first outing of the season. Promising young winger Dominic Young will get another opportunity to impress coach Adam O'Brien before injured wingers Edrick Lee and Hymel Hunt return later in the season.

The Wests Tigers nearly started the season with a huge scalp when they met the Storm on Saturday night. A lead of 14-4 wasn't enough against a fast finishing Melbourne side, with the Concord team going down 26-16 in a first round clash that showcased the clubs potential. New recruits Jackson Hastings and Tyrone Peachy will hope to keep their run of form from the trials going, while winger Ken Maumalo looked formidable on the left edge.

In a big boost for West's forward pack, co-captain James Tamou will return from suspension this weekend. The experienced prop should provide some leadership for a forward pack that has plenty of talent. Big Stefano Utoikamanu will be hoping for an origin call up this year, and young second rower Kelma Tuilagi demonstrated why he deserves a starting role in a great performance in round 1 when he played over 70 minutes.

Both teams are known for their inconsistent performances, and in the end it will come down to who can build on their start. For the Tigers, it is easy to see them crumbling under pressure and failing to do what worked for them against the Storm. A positive attitude will be needed if they want to find the first win of their season. For the Knights, a hard slog in the first round coupled with an injury hit team could see fatigue become a factor, which would be a worry this early in the season.

The Newcastle Knights were the only team that Wests Tigers beat twice in the 2021 season.

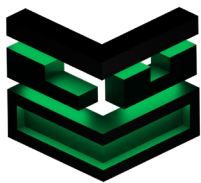

WHO TO WATCH: Two inexperienced number 9's will be battling it out for control of the ruck this Sunday. For the Tigers, Jake Simpkin is filling in for injured hooker Jacob Liddle. After making his NRL debut last year, he has only 10 first grade appearances to his name, with a number of them coming off the bench at the tail end of last year. He has recently been locked down by the club until the end of the 2024 season, and will need to live up to the hype that has surrounded him through the junior systems. He appeared to have injured his shoulder during the closing stages of their match against Melbourne, and fans will be hoping that he is at full fitness for this trip north to Newcastle.

For Newcastle, Chris Randall has shown that he is a more than adequate replacement for the injured Jayden Brailey. The hooker made his debut in round 3 of last year, and holds the NRL record for the most tackles on debut with 73. Coach Adam O'Brien will be hoping he can last the full 80 minutes, but experienced utility Kurt Mann could step in if that's not the case.

FAVOURITE: The Newcastle Knights are expected to continue their form and edge the Tigers at home this Sunday.

MY TIP: Both sides had quite encouraging first round games, but I just don't think Newcastle can perform so well for a second week running. A spirited Tigers side will make it 3 in a row against Newcastle in a nailbiter. Wests Tigers by 2.

RUGBY LEAGUE project

THE PREVIEW

with Emile El-Azar

The Canterbury Bankstown Bulldogs host the Brisbane Broncos on Sunday evening at Accor Stadium (formerly Stadium Australia/Telstra Stadium/ANZ Stadium but not the one that was in Brisbane), in a matchup that brings up two shock storylines:

1. Both teams come into this off a win; and
2. Brisbane aren't playing on Friday night!

The Bulldogs come into this clash on the back of a tough 6-4 win over the Cowboys in the torrential rain of Townsville, a game that very much was an advertisement for promotion and relegation in Rugby League. A late intervention from the video referee with a rare correct call to disallow a Cowboys try, gifted Canterbury the win in the end.

The Broncos defied all expectations and logic in an impressive win over South Sydney in Round 1. Having conceded 81 points in two games against the Rabbitohs last season, it was a massive defensive effort in the second half, as Souths threw everything at the Broncos. Cody Walker throwing another intercept at Suncorp ensures he'll never want to play there again.

Canterbury coach Trent Barrett makes a couple of changes of the team that beat the Cowboys, with Ava Seumanufagai being rewarded for a huge (and Dally-M-vote-getting) performance by being dropped to the bench, so Tevita Pangai Junior can be rewarded for his, um, questionable pre-season - with a free passage into the starting lineup.

Luke Thompson also starts, after being dropped to the bench on match day last week. Braidon Burns, Brent Naden and Jeremy Marshall-King are all named to start, despite head knocks last week.

For the Broncos, Adam Reynolds comes into the side to make his debut for the club, sending Billy Walters to the bench. Albert Kelly moves to five-eighth, Tesi Niu returns from injury and slots right back in as fullback, at the expense of Jamayne Issako, who drops out of the 17. Stability for the Broncos.

Last time they met was in Round 3 of 2021, where the Bulldogs put in one of the most inept 80 minute performances of all time to hand the Broncos a 24-0 victory. Interesting to note the massive change in both lineups since that game from early last season however. Nearly the only thing staying the same this time round are the club logos.

WHO TO WATCH: Oh it will definitely be Adam Reynolds in his debut for the boys from Brisbane, and for the dogs it will be Matt Burton and that beautiful kicking game. Worth the price of admission alone.

FAVOURITE: At the time of writing, Brisbane were $1.71 favourites.

MY TIP: Well, let's put it this way. If both teams play like they did last week in victory, the Broncos will win comfortably. However as last week showed us, these early rounds are no place for logic, form, or safe bets (gamble responsibly). So really, I have absolutely no idea how this one will pan out, I'm just looking forward to being back in attendance at my spiritual home ground after so long, so if I have to tip, I'll tip with my head, not my heart. Broncos by 10.

NRL MATCH REVIEW OVERHAUL

NRL Media Release, 10 March 2022

The Australian Rugby League Commission (ARLC) has approved enhancements to the Judiciary and Match Review Committee aimed at making the processes simpler to understand and more consistent for participants.

Judiciary

The pool of available Judiciary panel members will be expanded with former coaches and former referees now eligible to be members along with former players on two-member judiciary panels.

The Judiciary Chairman will now observe the judiciary panel's deliberations and will provide the casting vote where the verdict is not unanimous.

Once the verdict is announced, the Judiciary Chairman will now provide a summary which explains the reasons for the panel's decision. This will better inform clubs, players and the public of the reasons behind a decision.

Match Review Committee (MRC)

The pool of available Match Review Committee Members will also be expanded with former coaches and former referees joining former players as members.

The MRC Manager will have the casting vote on whether a charge is issued, if there is a deadlock. Former Player Luke Patten has been appointed the MRC Manager. The match review will remain independent, with the NRL CEO and ARL Commission having the ability to refer matters for the MRC to review an incident for charging not already captured by the Match Review Committee.

Charges and Penalties

The existing points system, including carryover points, has been retired and made simpler with players issued with fines or a suspension.

Every player will begin 2022 with a clean slate with player records reset on a rolling 12-month period since their last offence. Players serving suspensions from last season will be required to complete their existing suspensions.

All Grade 1 Offences will carry a fine except for a reckless high tackles, which is effectively treated as starting at an equivalent of a Grade 4, following on from careless high tackles.

The number of offences will be streamlined into 8 categories. Players who enter an early guilty plea will be eligible to have their suspensions reduced by one week. Additional guidance and video libraries of examples of each category and grading will be made available.

The changes will add more diverse experience to the decision making panels, simplify sanctions and reduce anomalies where players received significantly different penalties for similar offences because of carry over points. In particular, to ensure consistency, a decision tree with video examples will be used for each type of offence by the Match Review Committee. The process will be easier to understand and more transparent.

The changes will be effective from Round 1 of the 2022 NRL Telstra Premiership.

High Tackle Reckless is effectively treated as a grade up from High Tackle Careless.
